

Torrid Battle In Donut Tilt

Sigma Nu Takes Tilt From Bachelordon, 21-12; Kappa Sigs Win

What a ride the donut baseball took Tuesday afternoon! The Sigma Nus must have thought they were playing a hand ball game for when the final ball was pitched they had sent 21 men around the horn. Bachelordon also seemed to have a grudge against the platter for they sent 12 men across in the five innings of the tilt.

Pitching and fielding for both the clubs looked pretty ragged most of the time, and errors ran a close second to the total score. Bauman started in the box for Sigma Nu and was relieved in the third canto by Forsstrom. In the fourth inning the invincible "Scotty" Kretzer took up the battle, and allowed only one run for the remainder of the tilt. Rogers and Carrol did the chucking for Bachelordon.

The result of Tuesday's game puts Sigma Nu on the top of the league A standing, with a win for every game played. Bachelordon still holds the cellar position of the league.

Kappa Sigma and Theta Chi also met Tuesday afternoon in a tilt which appeared more like a baseball game than that of the Sigma Nus. The windup of the tilt showed Kappa Sigma with four runs against Theta Chi's one.

Eberhart did some good chucking for the Kappa Sigs, allowing only three hits and one run. Peterson did the throwing for Theta Chi. Three hits were also chalked up against his pitching record.

Two games are scheduled for Thursday: League A—Phi Delta Theta vs. Bachelordon, 4 o'clock; league B—Sigma Chi vs. Phi Sigma Kappa, 4 o'clock.

Summaries of Tuesday's games:

Lawyers Settle Old Feud With Scribes In Ball Scrap, 10-0

Big league pomp attended the opening game between the Scribes and the Barristers yesterday afternoon when, after sixteen lawyers and nine journalists had ambitiously swung the willow poles, the final score stood 10 to 0 for the lawyers.

Before the main activities commenced between the two rivals the festivities were opened in grand style with Dean Carpenter of the law school on the mound, Professor Turnbull of the school of journalism behind the bat, and Hugh Rosson of the law school calling the balls. After three strikes had whizzed by him Mr. Turnbull retired to the bench and the game began.

Denson, pitching for the lawyers, helped win the game for the Barristers by connecting with two singles and crossing the plate twice. Ansnes, first bagger, further helped the team win by some beautiful catches and by knocking a single and a double, the last play bringing two men across the plate.

The main thing that seemed to stand out among the scribes was the large number of errors. Nine of these featured the seven innings, and the boys just could not hang on to the ball. Milligan was hit severely in the first five innings, and in some of his wild moments advanced three lawyers on wild throws. Noer, who replaced him in the sixth inning, tightened the net, and only two of the thirteen hits were made off him.

Mathematics Club Elects 29 Members; Initiation May 23

Twenty-nine students have been elected to membership in the Mathematics club. They are: Olive Adams, Paul Anderson, Elva Balsiger, Iowa McCortlon, James Coombs, Charles Dawson, D. Devaputra, Bruce Foster, Charles Goodwin, Irene Greenbaum, Wallace Griffith, May Hewes, Clarence Hill, Floyd Hornbrook, James Jower, Edna Keepers, Karl Klemm, Elsie Moller, Eline Olsen, Charles Peters, Ruth Porter, Richard Roehm, Eleanor Schroeder, Dalton Shinn, William Thomas, Grace Vath, Ethel Wicks, Alun Williams, and Lyle Wynd.

Election to membership in the Mathematics club requires an average grade of III, a grade of II in all Math courses, and two terms of Calculus.

Initiation will be held at the annual picnic, Wednesday, May 23, at Hendricks park, at 4:30 o'clock. Election of new officers for next year will also be held. The retiring officers are: Edna English, president; Robert Jackson, vice-president; Eric Peterson, treasurer; Beatrice Mason, secretary.

Seven Picked for Jewett Contest

Choosing Winner From 12 Entrants Hard

Seven women were picked for final competition for the Jewett extempore speaking prizes totaling fifty dollars from the twelve who spoke in the elimination contest Tuesday night in Villard hall.

Choosing the best to compete in the contest was a matter that took the judges half an hour to decide. The topic they drew to speak on under the general subject, "Woman's Place in the Modern World," which was studied for some time, follows the respective name.

Marguerite Looney, "Is it good social ethics for married women to work?"

Mary N. Caniparoli, "The new economic independence of women and its influence on morals."

Mary Klemm, "The right of women to demand a single standard of social conduct."

Lavina V. Hicks, "Co-education, desirable or not?"

Jessie M. Winchell, "Is woman's place in the home?"

Lou Ann Chase, "The reasons for woman's growing equality with men."

Florence A. McNeerney, "Women as business executives."

Others who entered the competition are: Grace K. Vath, Renee Grayce Nelson, Wilma H. Bevercome, Virginia E. Peyton, and Ida J. Markman.

Miss McNeerney believes that women are not fitted to become business executives because men will not work for women and women will not work for men.

"Women," said Marguerite Looney, "should go into professions." A woman should take her part in the world in positions that are suited to women.

Miss Caniparoli thinks that woman's place in economic progress is changing the moral code of our country. Woman is half the human race, thinks the speaker, and she is holding her place.

Marriage in the fabulous forties, stated Miss Klemm, was a puncture to the tire of love; marriage in the present is a try to apply the patch.

Miss Chase, the last speaker, stated that a woman is capable of having a career and a home at the same time.

One hour before the final contest takes place on Wednesday, May 23, in room 107 Villard, the contestants will draw the subjects on which they will speak.

Stafford and Boynton To Go To Science Meet

O. F. Stafford, head of the department of chemistry, and Dr. W. P. Boynton, head of the physics department, will represent the University of Oregon at a meeting of the Pacific Coast division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science which will be held at Pomona College, California, June 13-15.

A. A. S. is composed of a federated group of all honorary scientific societies in the United States. Professor Stafford is a member of the executive committee.

Freshmen Plan Fun for Picnic

Six Committees Named for Outdoor Affair

Hungry freshmen will be given plenty of opportunities to burden their digestive organs with plenty of good food when they turn out to frolic at the frosh picnic to be held at Swimmers' Delight Saturday afternoon and evening. Freshmen who are hungry for a good outdoor swim will find the water at Swimmers' Delight in good condition for aquatic participants.

Members of the 1931 class may be the youngest class in school but they claim to be well adapted to the old-time game of horse shoe tossing. A large number of frosh lettermen are expected to compete in this event.

Eugene ball games will have no appeal to the yearlings on Saturday as the first-year students will be engaged in what should prove to be one of the best played baseball games on the picnic grounds.

In the evening the youngsters who have recently stepped out of the "green lid" stage will make merry with their sweethearts at the picnic dance which will continue till about 11:30, so that the frolicers may avoid further penalties of arriving home later than famous hour of 12:15.

A treasure hunt with prizes to be given to the winners has been scheduled for the program of entertainment. Details of the contest will be announced later.

Special picnic busses will leave the administration building Saturday at 3 o'clock and also at 3:45 o'clock. The picnic is a "no-date" affair and the committee urges every member of the 1931 class to join the party for a joyous time is assured all.

Bill Pittman, general chairman of the picnic, and George Christenson, assistant chairman, have announced the personnel of all the committees for the affair.

Florence King and Reba Brogden have been placed in general charge of the refreshments for the hungry yearlings. Other committee appointments are as follows:

Entertainment—Preston Gunther, chairman; Bob Miller, and Gladys Clausin.

Publicity—Samuel Luders, chairman; Marion Downs, Maurine Akers, and Jack Dent.

Tables—Eleanor Derby, Dorothy Palmer, Ruth Hardough, Lois Pierce, and Louise Pierce.

Sandwiches—Amy Porter, Dorothy Dunean, Margaret Underwood, Harriet Kane, Elizabeth Crissell, Jo Danmash, Loana Rancy.

Ice cream—Ralph Brockman, Kenneth Moore, Nelson McCook, and Ray Keefer.

Miss Calkins Returns From Alumni Council

Miss Jeanette Calkins, alumni secretary of the University of Oregon and editor of "Old Oregon," alumni magazine, returned to the campus this week after attending the annual session of the American Alumni Council, which was held in Minneapolis, Minnesota. More than 300 members of the council were in attendance, said Miss Calkins.

Problems and policies of alumni organizations were discussed during the three day session. Toronto, Canada, was selected as the next meeting place, and the council will meet in California four years from now, at the time the Olympic games are being played in Los Angeles.

Initiation Held By Honoraries

Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi Hear Hildebrand

Twenty-five new members were initiated into Phi Beta Kappa and thirty-four into Sigma Xi at their ceremonies held in the Woman's building last night. A joint banquet followed initiations.

After the dinner Dr. Joel H. Hildebrand, professor of chemistry at the University of California, spoke in the auditorium. His speech was entitled "Recent Developments in Scientific Thought." Dr. Hildebrand is a member of both Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi.

All members initiated into Phi Beta Kappa are members of the graduating class of the University. A 2.2 scholastic record and a high personal rating are required for membership.

Thirteen of the Sigma Xi initiates were chosen for active membership and the other twenty-one for associate membership. Five of the active members are members of the O. S. C. faculty and three from the Portland Medical School. Only those persons who have graduated from the college and have had papers published on scientific research they have done are eligible for active membership.

Fiji, Sigma Nu, Tie in Contest

Two Overtime Periods Fail To Decide

Voluminous clouds of sulphurous smoke issuing from the men's gym at a late hour last night nearly resulted in the calling of the Eugene fire department, but investigation disclosed that these heated vapors were merely the aftermath of the mighty verbal battle which concluded the Sigma Nu-Phi Gamma Delta water-polo game for the championship of the American league. When the regular time of the game had elapsed the two teams were deadlocked with two goals apiece. After some argument it was agreed to play off the tie in half-time periods. Two of these periods were exhausted and the count still remained two and two.

At this juncture, Johnny Anderson, Fiji pilot and star player, decided that his team had done enough for the evening and forthwith announced that the tie would be played off next Thursday or thereabouts. It is possible that his conclusion may have been influenced by the fact that his team was rapidly weakening, while the Sigma Nu's still had three or four fresh men to enter in the contest. On the other hand, the Sigma Nu captain, Bill Gillette, was of the opinion that in such a closely contested game the first team to exhaust its strength was the one which should lose the battle, and so the argument raged.

Abercrombie Stands Pat

Coach Abercrombie, who was the chief arbitrator and center of attraction, was the unwilling recipient of impassioned outbursts of oratory from both sides. Finally, however, Abbie ruled in favor of the discontinuance of further competition for the evening on the grounds that the extra strain might be injurious to the health of some of the contestants, and like the famed rock of Gibraltar, he has stood solidly behind his decision. The manner in which the tie between the two houses for the championship of the league will be played off has not yet been determined. The probable solution will be to have a round-robin tournament between the Sigma Nu, Fiji, and Phi Psi aggregations. The Phi Psi five being the winners in the National league, the group which comes out ahead in this round-robin series would then be declared winner of the intra-mural water polo championship.

Gillette, Anderson Star

The next meeting of these two teams should result in one of the most furious contests ever staged in the men's tank. Both houses will undoubtedly appear en masse and standing room will be at premium. Bill Gillette for the Sigma Nus, and Anderson for the Fijis will have an epic battle. Gillette easily outplayed Anderson last night, scoring one more goal than the blond easterner and playing for the whole game and both overtime periods, whereas Johnny was forced out most of the main part of the contest when he fouled Creech of the Sig aggregation. The date of the next clash will be announced soon.
