Campus social affairs have declined rapidly with the advance of the major activity soon to be held, final examinations.

Prominent among last affairs are the Junior-Senior breakfast, and the annual Emerald banquet, both events of today.

Luncheon Honors Library Staff Graduates

Twelve of the University library staff who are to be graduated this spring were honored by a luncheon in the Palm room of the Osburn hotel Thursday noon. The luncheon is an annual affair, given by the library staff to their graduating members. Covers were laid for about 50.

A feature of the luncheon was the awarding of miniature diplomas to each of those who will graduate. M. J. Douglass, librarian, awarded the diplomas, remarking on the work of the students.

Those who were honored were: Harmon Chapman, Frances Cherry, Ethel Helliwell, Don Ostrander, John Scheffer, Florence Ann Ross, Jacquise Kirtley, Kenneth Baer, Ralph Highmiller, Louise Buchanan, and Raymond Thompson.

One of the traditional affairs of the year, which figures among social affairs, is the Junior-Senior breakfast which junior women gave this morning in honor of the senior women. The tables in the Woman's building were decorated in green and yellow, and about 220 were served.

Using the four-leaf clover as the symbol, short talks were given; Dean Judy Esterly speaking on "Luck," Dorothy Thomas on "Hope," Helen Webster on "Faith," and Gladys Calef on "Love."

Other features of the breakfast were several harp solos by Doris Helen Patterson, and a vocal solo by Pauline Guthrie.

Dorothy Turney was general chairman of the breakfast, and Margaret Edmunson was toastmistress.

Emerald Banquet To Be At Osburn Hotel

One of the major final social events of the year, the annual Emerald banquet given by the staff of the Oregon Daily Emerald, will be held tonight at six o'clock at the Osburn hotel.

Covers will be laid for about 120. Special features of the banquet will be the awarding of prizes to those who have achieved distinction on the Emerald during the year, and the initiation of the Amalgamated Order of Night Editors.

Among prominent faculty and out-of-town guests will be: Dean and Mrs. Eric W. Allen, Dean and Mrs. Elmer L. Shirrell, Dean Virginia Judy Esterly, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Turnbull, Mr. W. F. G. Thacher, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilderman, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Benefiel, Mr. William Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. George Godfrey and Edward M. Miller, of the Morning Oregonian, Portland.

Mrs. Augusta De Witt Godfrey, who will spend an extensive vacation in Europe, is leaving for the east on Monday, May 28. Mrs. Godfrey graduated from the University in 1925. She was very prominent in campus activities while she was in school, and was editor of the Oregonian in her senior year. For the past year she has been serving as secretary to Earl M. Pallett, registrar.

Miss Polly Price of Portland, a former University student, will accompany Mrs. Godfrey as far as Chicago. From there Miss Price will go on to Boston. Mrs. Godfrey intends to meet her mother, Mrs. Charles De Witt, in White Horse, New York, and they will join Miss Anna De Witt, who is returning from a tour of Europe, later in New York City.

Mrs. Godfrey will sail from Quebec, Canada, on the "Empress of Scotland," on June 6, arriving in Cherbourg, France, about June 14.

An interesting tour of several European countries has been planned by Mrs. Godfrey. She will spend a few weeks in Paris, and then travel to Italy, visiting Florence and Venice. Her return trip will be made through Switzerland. In England, Mrs. Godfrey plans to spend a week or two visiting the country, and she will sail for New York during the latter part of August.

Mrs. Godfrey will be joined by her husband, George Godfrey, director of public relations at the University, on her arrival in New York.

One of the last social events of the term will be the annual Delta Day to be given by members of Delta Delta Delta on Saturday, June 9. Delta Day will consist of a buffet dance at luncheon, a treasure hunt in the afternoon, and a dinner dance in the evening. Olive Ritan is general chairman for the day.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair will be: Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Ross, Mrs. Frank Carll, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Swan and Mrs. Jessie Singleton.

Robert Hunt, '27, was a visitor at the Alpha Tau Omega house for a few days this week. Mr. Hunt is now working in Seattle, Washington.

Of particular interest to the campus will be the large bridge tea and garden exhibition to be given at the beautiful home of Mrs. Arthur C. Emmons, Riverdale, Portland, on June 8. The tea is being sponsored by mothers and wives of Delta Tau Delta for the purpose of furnishing the new home, which the local chapter is erecting at Nineteenth and University street.

Mrs. Emmons, who is a former president of the Portland Garden society, is one of the foremost amateur authorities on landscaping and gardening on the Pacific coast, and the gardens of her home are noted throughout the northwest for their beauty and extensiveness. Mrs. Emmons has voluntarily taken charge of the landscaping of the new Delta Tau Delta chapter house.

Prizes are to be offered to the bridge players, and playing starts at 1:30 o'clock.

The seniors of Pi Beta Phi sorority will be honored at breakfast tomorrow morning at the Eugene hotel. Members of the freshman class have charge of the affair.

Ethel Montgomery and Eleanor Jewett, members of Kappa Delta sorority, have gone to Portland for the week-end.

Miss Betty Fairchild will be a week-end guest of the Kappa Delta house at Corvallis.

It's Worth It

We wish to thank one and all for the courtesies shown us during your brief sojourn here.

To those who have finished, we wish success in whatever undertaking you may become engaged in.

To those returning to us next year, may pleasure and profit guide you along your journey and finally may your efforts be amply rewarded.

The Souvenir Idea---

❖ And Is it a Thing of the Past? ❖

It wasn't long ago that the "Whatnot," that receptacle for bric-a-brac, used to stand in state in a corner of the parlor where portiers hung in graceful gradations. Sea-shells, pine cones, every remnant and reminder of a trip to the coast or the week-end in the mountains was put to rest on this institution of a Victorian age.

But in this age of sophistication we have dispensed with such an article and allow a lip to curl at even the mention of it. We still want to be reminded of pleasant times and places, but we surround ourselves with things of a different sort and we don't allow them to accumulate in a corner.

Some of the students are leaving for good—"collegiate" will no longer be a descriptive term for them. That class must fall back on memories of the past. Some will be going home for only the summer and will return again to school next fall.

But every one will want to remember Oregon—whether they are coming back or not.

Take a souvenir home with you—something that will conjure up phantasy of a year well spent. Take a souvenir of Oregon home to that younger brother or sister who, in all probability, knows more of "collegiate" life than you do—it will delight them.

Stop in at the Co-op and let us show you some of the things that will be appropriate for memories and are consistent with the sophistication of the age.
