

Frosh Squad Goes Through Light Practice

First Conference Game Is With O.S.C. Rooks In Portland Saturday

Main Team To Be Picked And Drilled This Week

The freshman gridsters went through a light practice session yesterday to loosen up muscles stiffened in the game with Monmouth Friday. The entire squad reported and were none the worse for the tilt, with the exception of Disney, who started the game at half. He was kept from practice with a bad knee.

The frosh were given exercises, run through drill according to positions, and ended the session with a short dummy scrimmage.

The contest with the Normal school was rather ragged as a result of poor coordination. Although the frosh have been out since the first of October, much of the time has been spent on fundamentals. This week, in preparation for the O. S. C. rook game, a first squad will be picked and given work to polish up the team play.

In the game Friday, the line showed up well on the defense, but was poor on the offense. The main trouble was in the timing of plays. The freshmen will make their first conference appearance when they play the rooks in Portland this Saturday.

Eastern Oregon Cities Visited by President

President Arnold Bennett Hall is now making a somewhat extended tour of the eastern part of the state, Washington and Idaho, where he is speaking before high school student bodies, teachers' institutes, and other organizations, as well as conferring with alumni and members of the Association of Oregon Dads. Alfred Powers, dean of the extension division, and George Godfrey, director of public relations for the University, are accompanying the president.

Yesterday morning Dr. Hall addressed the students of Pendleton high school and later in the day visited the nearby towns of Athena, Hermiston, Weston, Echo, Stanfield, and Milton-Freewater. In the evening he attended a banquet given in his honor by the Oregon alumni and Oregon Dads of Pendleton.

This morning the president will address the student assembly of Whitman college, Walla Walla, Washington, and at noon he will speak at the luncheon of the Walla Walla chamber of commerce. Tonight he will be at La Grande where he will attend a banquet given by alumni and dads. He will return to the campus the latter part of this week.

Legal Honorary Will Hear Local Justice

Phi Delta Phi, legal honorary, will hold their second dinner of the year at the new men's dormitory next Sunday evening, October 28, at six o'clock. Justice Wells of Eugene will speak on "Procedure in the Justice Court."

Italian Prints Shown On Library Rent Shelf

Student interest in the 47 prints from the works of famous Italian painters, which the library is renting at ten cents a month, has been so great that a shelf of books on painters and their works has been put near the pictures. Twenty-one of the pictures are charged out at the present time, a larger percentage than the library expected so soon. Many students have also asked about the pictures and taken out books about them.

The prints were sent to the library from Florence, Italy. The idea of renting them to students is distinctive of this library, so far as the library officials know.

New Dorm Open House Set for November 3

Tentative plans for an "open house" for the new men's dormitory at 14th and Onyx streets were discussed by Elmer Shirrell, dean of men, and the presidents and sponsors of each of the units at a dinner held in the regents' dining room of the new dormitory yesterday.

November 3 has been selected as the date for the housewarming which will probably start at 7 a. m. and close in time for the sophomore informal.

Each hall, Alpha, Gamma, Zeta, Sigma, and Sherry Ross, will be open for inspection by students, parents, faculty, regents, and the governor.

Men's Doubles Tournery Starts This Afternoon

Cream of Oregon's Frosh And Varsity Candidates Will Show Their Skill

The doubles championships of Oregon, Washington and California—any one of these titles would be coveted by almost every pair of collegiate tennis players.

But for two men to have held all three of the above honors at the same time is exceptional. Yes, "exceptional" is just the word to describe Bradshaw Harrison and Sherman Lockwood, Oregon's premier tennis stars, for last year they held all three state championships for doubles competition.

Even if these two men were the only sensation on the Oregon squad, chances for Oregon to get favorable publicity would be good, but with six other men of known quality in school, it is safe to say, even at this early date, that the Lemon-Yellow team will be the greatest in the history of this institution.

An opportunity to see tennis of the type that wins titles in the stiffest class will be presented to all fans and followers of the game today when the men's doubles tournery starts.

There are four seated teams in the drawings. Those teams who by the brand of tennis displayed so far this fall are recognized as among the best, were given these positions. Besides the Harrison-Lockwood combination, there are three other teams who are far above the general run of college men. In this class are Bob Hoogs and Stanley Almquist; Henry Neer and Gordon Jason; Marsh Hopkins and Don Ragen.

The first round will begin today at 2 p. m. and as many matches as possible will be played on the library courts in order to accommodate the large number of spectators who are expected to view the tournery.

Drawings Made
Drawings for the tournery are as follows: Harrison and Lockwood vs. Mitch Mitchell and Boone Hendricks; Joe Kalisky and George Anderson vs. S. S. Smith and LeGrand; Winston Strong and Claire Kneeland vs. A. Neiveen and Al MacLaren; Marsh Hopkins and Don Ragen vs. Delmar Thom and Earl Miller; Stan Almquist and Bob Hoogs vs. Wilbur Adams and Warren Tinker; Tom Cross and Don Baird vs. Clayton Heiberg and Arthur Potwin; R. Rebe and Carl Gerlinger vs. Bill Whitley and Paul Wagner; Henry Neer and Gordon Jason vs. Jim Terry and Monty Jacobs.

Hoogs and Jason will not be seen in this tournament today because they will be playing off the finals of the donut championship.

Book Sales Tell Student Taste For Literature

'Swan Song' Heads Fiction Sold at Co-op; 'Disraeli' In Lead of Non-fiction

At last the Co-op has come out with a list of its "best seller" books. This list shows the trend of student buying in fiction and non-fiction books for this month.

Heading the rank of fictional best sellers at the Co-op for the present month is John Galsworthy's "Swan Song"; "Back in the Snow" by Edna St. Vincent Millay is firmly entrenched in second place. The management said this book has been selling very rapidly the past few days. In third place is the tremendously popular book "Bridge of San Luis Ray." It has slipped from first position to third. "Beau Ideal," P. C. Wren's new novel, is fourth in the list.

In the group of popular non-fiction books, Mauriso's "Disraeli" is in the lead, but it is being pushed hard by Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude," "Mother India" by Catherine Mayo and Emil Ludwig's famous biographies are also crowding the first rank in sales at the Co-op. "Goethe," Ludwig's latest production is also selling well.

"John Brown's Body" by Stephen Vincent Benet is the best potential seller of the month, it is reported at the Co-op. Another good group of sellers are the A. A. Milne books for children. "The House at Pooh Corner," the latest Milne work, is attracting a great deal of interest.

Pictures of Game To Be Shown Today

The high lights of the Oregon-Washington game will be shown at the Colonial theatre this afternoon and tonight, according to an announcement. The Pathe News gives about 200 feet of the most exciting moments of play. Kitzmiller's long run made in the early part of the game is shown in detail.

Freshmen at University of Hawaii Have Hard Set of Commandments

If the frosh at Oregon think that they are having a hard time, they ought to be glad that they are not going to the University of Hawaii at Honolulu, according to a clipping received here recently from the islands by a University student.

Here are some of the commandments set forth by the upperclassmen for the benefit of the freshmen there this year:

1. Thou shalt wear no other caps but green caps, and thou shalt press the button on said caps when ordered by any member of the U. of H., except freshmen. All freshmen must wear coats and ties, and shall refrain from wearing knickers or cords.

2. Remember the front steps of Hawaii hall and keep them holy. Ye shall use the back door at all times. Keep off the grass and always use the sidewalks.

3. Freshmen shall park their cars in the space in front of the gym and use no other place.

4. Freshmen shall be clean shaven at all times.

5. Thou shalt not talk to members of the fairer sex or be seen riding with them on the campus.

6. Ye shall not gather for worship in groups larger than two.

7. Freshmen will not be allowed to smoke or use any form of tobacco on the campus.

8. Every freshman will be required to carry at least two brands of popular cigarettes in an old sock—a clean sock with no holes—and will pass them out whenever asked.

9. All freshmen will be required to memorize all songs and yells pertaining to the university.

10. All freshmen will be required to discard all high school belt buckles, medals, and sweaters with high school insignias upon them and shall never be seen with them.

11. Honor thy upperclassmen and obey their orders in good spirit.

12. All freshmen will be required to do any type of work when called on by an upperclassman.

The yearlings have been excellent sports and the brunt of the traditional initiation falls on willing shoulders. Frosh girls are required to wear, on four consecutive days, the following costume: Curl papers in their hair, holokus (a variety of the grass skirt) which sweep the ground, goggles, no belt, black cotton stockings, men's shoes, handkerchiefs pinned to their shoulders, and no cosmetics. For the benefit of upperclassmen, the girls carry sacks of jelly beans which they disperse upon invitation. They mount the steps at Hawaii hall backwards, and detour at wide areas whenever an approaching sophomore shouts "Curtsy."

Now, frosh, don't you have a guilty conscience for getting off so easy?

Frosh-Soph Prexy's Kidnaped in Brawl

U. C. L. A., Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 22—(P. I. P.)—Characterized as the initial gesture of the sophomore class preceding the annual Frosh-Soph brawl, the presidents of both the freshman and junior classes were shanghaied several days before the event.

The brawl, which followed several days later, was won by the class of '31, as has been the procedure during the last four years; a freshman class winning in 1924.

Victor Morris To Speak At Bungalow Tonight

Victor P. Morris, associate professor of economics, will speak at the Y. W. C. A. at 7:30 tonight on "Economic Causes of Social Unrest."

After the address a discussion on economics and its relation to religion will be held. Anyone interested is invited to attend the lecture.

University Gets Olympic Flora For Herbarium

Mrs. Lilla Leach Spends Summer in Collecting Wild Flower Specimens

An interesting trip into the Olympic mountains to collect wild flora specimens of the country was made this summer by Mrs. Lilla Leach, a graduate of Oregon in 1908, and her husband, John R. Leach, of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Leach started with the Portland Mazamas' annual outing and were with them two weeks. They then spent one week in the mountains alone.

Leaving Olympia, the party went to Quinalt lake and Mt. Olympus, getting many good specimens on the trip. Mrs. Leach is now working at the herbarium in Friendly hall, classifying and cataloguing the plants. Professor L. F. Henderson, curator of the University herbarium, is assisting Mrs. Leach in the arrangement of the flora. A set of these plants will be given to the University soon.

Earlier in the summer Mr. and Mrs. Leach went down the Rogue river from Galice to Gold Beach. It was on this trip that most of their specimens were gathered. Two donkeys were used to carry their camp and botany equipment. One of the donkeys was used later on the trip into the Olympic mountains.

A complete list of the flora being classified now by Mrs. Leach and Professor Henderson will be published in "The Mazama," the official publication of the Portland Mazamas, around Christmas.

Last Psychology Exam For Freshmen Today

The final psychology examination for freshmen and transfers will be given in Condon hall, room 301, this afternoon, October 23, at 4 o'clock.

This will be the last chance for students who were excused from, or failed to keep appointments for Saturday, October 20, to comply with the regulations without penalty.
