

McEwan Drills Line Reserves For California

Subs May Win Game; Men Expected Back Before End of Week

Monmouth Meets Supers In Game This Saturday

With the California game almost two weeks away, and no regular game before then, Coach McEwan is beginning an intense drilling of the reserves. The Bears will be met in Berkeley under the hot California sun, and the fate of the game will probably rest with the substitutes.

After the Stanford tilt McEwan personally began an exhaustive campaign to get the varsity line in condition for Washington. As a result the Webfoots completely outclassed the Huskie forward wall. Now with the California game in sight he is beginning the same process with the rest of the linemen.

The varsity will appreciate a rest after the terrific battering it received during the Washin' encounter. Yesterday was the first workout since the game and six men were still incapacitated. George Christensen, tackle; George Chappell, center; George Stadelman, center; and Ted Pope, are kept out of suit by minor injuries. In the backfield, Charles Williams, with a severe cold; and Cotter Gould, with a wrenched hip, watched practice from the side lines. All of these men are expected to be in shape before the end of the week.

A practice game with Monmouth Normal school is scheduled for this week-end. This game will be used for the second squad only. Last night Beryl Hodgen brought a bunch of yearling linemen down to Hayward field and sent them against the varsity reserves.

The varsity was divided in two lines and given the freshmen as opposition. As guards, Robert Keeney, 196, and Jerome Lillie, 185, were worked together; and Everett McCutchan, 175-pound letterman, and Ted Park, 186-pound sophomore, were teamed up.

The four tackles were: Tom Weems, 190-pound letterman; Homer Dickson, transfer from Monmouth Normal; Scott Warren, from last year's super-varsity; and Marion Hall, who won his numeral with the fresh last year. Weems played regular tackle last year but was succeeded by the sophomores, Colbert and Christensen.

Dick Reed, end coach, is spending most of his time this week on Walter Browne, Harry Wood, Willis West, LaSalle Coles, and Lawrence Slauson. The ends that started the Washington game, Ted Pope, two year letterman, and Woodward Archer, sophomore, are almost sure to need reserve help before the California game is over. Archer is developing nicely but needs more experience. Pope was injured in the Washington game.

Sigma Delta Chi Talks Open Meeting Series

Discussion of a proposed series of open meetings at which prominent members of the journalistic profession will be speakers, featured the weekly luncheon of Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalistic honorary, yesterday noon at the Anchorage. Walter Coover, president, took charge of the meeting.

No definite action was taken on the plan which will be discussed more thoroughly at a later session. The fraternity voted to hold its meetings twice a month instead of once each week as it has been doing so far this year.

A communication was read from Grant Showerman, northwest editor of the Oregon Journal, who accepted an invitation from the fraternity to become an associate member.

Homecoming Board To Meet at 4 Today

A meeting of the Homecoming directorate has been called for 4 o'clock this afternoon in room 104, Journalism building, by Roy Herndon, general chairman. It is expected that a general plan for celebrating the homecoming week-end, Nov. 23 and 24, will be outlined and that actual work will be under way in a few days with the appointment of additional workers on the various committees.

Seven Students Added To Y. W. C. A. Chorus

Seven new members have been added to the Y. W. C. A. vesper choir following the tryouts which were held yesterday afternoon at the Bungalow.

A second tryout which will be held today at 12:40 in the Bungalow will be the last chance given to would-be members. Those who passed the first tryout are: Virginia Vaughn, Jean Williams, Lenore Ely, Durene Larner, Bertha De Vancy, Jessie Lineicum and Beth Ann Johnson.

The regular song practice of the vesper choir will be held at the Bungalow this afternoon at four o'clock. All old and new members are asked to be there.

Libraries Too Small U. C. Woman Discovers

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Berkeley, Oct. 19.—(P.L.P.)—From observations made during a survey of twenty-four medical school libraries and a number of famous public libraries, from Denver to Boston, Miss Eva West, librarian at the University of California Medical school, has come to the conclusion that builders of libraries and architects do not use enough foresight in allowing for expansion.

She states that every library in the United States she visited is overcrowded, in spite of the fact that many of them are new structures built only a few years ago. And all of them are planning definitely or tentatively to enlarge or build again.

As one possible explanation of the failure of new buildings to keep up with demand, Miss West offers the fact that the number of libraries as compared with other public buildings is comparatively few, and architects are less familiar with their needs. Concerning medical libraries she says also, that architects perhaps do not realize the size of the average medical book, and allow space for the required number of volumes on the basis of smaller volumes with which they are familiar. Miss West spent five weeks in her survey, on her way to and from the annual meeting of the Medical Library association, which met at the New York Academy of Medicine in September.

Women's Journalistic Honorary Will Meet

Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalistic honorary, will conduct an open meeting for all women journalism majors next Wednesday evening, it was decided when the sorority met at the Anchorage yesterday noon. Miriam Shephard, vice-president, presided in the absence of the president, Dorothy Baker.

A special speaker, to be announced later, will be secured for the meeting next Wednesday, which is to be the first of a series of open sessions during the year. Two meetings will be held each term. At yesterday's luncheon members of Theta Sigma Phi set the time of the program for eight o'clock, but did not decide definitely on the meeting place.

President Addresses Baker Groups Today

President Arnold Bennett Hall, who is now making a tour of Eastern Oregon, Washington, and Idaho will go to Baker from La Grande today, stopping en route for a short time at Union. The president will speak before the student body of the Baker high school and later before a group of alumni and Oregon Dads in that city. Yesterday morning Dr. Hall spoke before the student assembly at Whitman College, Walla Walla, Washington, and at noon before the luncheon of the Walla Walla chamber of commerce. Last night he went from Walla Walla to La Grande where he attended a banquet in his honor given by Oregon alumni and Oregon Dads.

'Swede' Scoops World On Idaho Newspaper

News has filtered back to the campus through unknown channels that Algot "Swede" Westergren, once Oregon's peerless basketball ace, is occupying the position of reporter on an Idaho newspaper.

Westergren's present job is with the Twin Falls Daily Times. He gained much of his journalistic experience collecting advertising bills for the Emerald.

Y. W. and Y. M. Plan To Sponsor Parties

A series of small informal parties are being planned for this year by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. These parties are to replace the annual all-campus mix sponsored in other years. Dates for the parties have not yet been set.

Many Matches To Be Run Off in Tennis Tourney

Henry Neer Urges Players To Be On Hand for All Today's Scheduled Tilts

Though the men's doubles tourney had to take a back seat yesterday on account of the donut championship tilt between Donut Jason and Bob Hoogs, nevertheless, a few matches were played off to pave the way for a real start today.

Practically all of the seeded teams will get a trial against some good teams today. Harrison and Lockwood had a little workout yesterday when they easily defeated Mitchell and Hendricks 6-0, 6-0.

Every match which is slated for today must be played, according to Henry Neer who is handling the tourney. There was considerable confusion yesterday in getting the series under way, but now that all the difficulties are cleared up and each team is informed of the time and place of its games, there can be no excuse for further delay, explained Neer in commenting on the reason why so few matches were played yesterday.

Louise Clark Makes Survey of Past Work Of Women's League

A complete history of the Women's League is to be written and put in permanent form to be kept with the other records, it is announced by Edith Dodge, president of the league. Louise Clark has been appointed to make a study of the files since the founding of the league in 1913 on the local campus, and will write up these facts.

The sale of chrysanthemums at the homecoming game will again be in charge of the Women's League this year, it was decided at a league council meeting last week.

Committees will be appointed later to see to the details of the sale and will be announced in the Emerald. The money received from the flowers is to be turned into the Women's League fund.

Landsbury Will Talk Thursday to Students

Dean John J. Landsbury, head of the school of music, will speak to the student body at the assembly Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in McArthur court on "Some of the Pacific as Seen Through the Eyes of a Visionary."

This talk comes as a result of a trip which Dr. Landsbury took last summer to Japan. The speaker has also visited the South Sea Islands several times, and has been able to work up an address that will be of much interest.

Madame Rose McGrew is to sing several numbers. Dean John Straub will preside.

Women Athletes Plan Intramural Tourney

The class in basketball, coached by Miss Phyllis Gove, has proved so popular that arrangements are being made to provide several more such classes winter term. There are about thirty girls receiving instruction this term.

Plans are also being made to conduct intramural basketball games during the winter term. All girls interested in trying out for teams should begin practice as soon as possible for in past seasons the competition has been very keen and according to the popularity of the present class competition this year will be stronger than ever.

evening of Wednesday, October 31st, according to Reese Wingard, chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

"Dutch" Widmer and Herman Gower, instructors of the physical education department in boxing and wrestling, are lining up a number of bouts among their proteges for the occasion.

During the evening speeches will be made by Dean Carpenter, other members of the law school faculty, and by prominent members of the Oregon Bar.

School of Business Helps Lumber Survey

The bureau of business research of the school of business administration is participating in a nationwide survey on the part of the co-operative lumbering organizations in the northwest, to determine what the lumbering interests can do to promote a greater use of lumber in building operations in the face of the many substitute building materials which have entered the competitive field in late years. The participation of the school of business in such a survey has come through a request from the Botsford-Constantine advertising agency in Portland.

Harry Silke To Visit Oregon Campus Soon

Harry Silke, Pacific coast district counselor of the Alpha Kappa Psi national professional commerce fraternity, will be a guest on the university campus on October 25, it was announced recently by Ralph Guyer, president of the local chapter.

He will be entertained with a luncheon and dinner to be given in his honor that afternoon.

David E. Paville, dean of the business administration school, was initiated into the fraternity at a meeting of the group held Wednesday evening.

Hungry Cougars Need Lots of Eats, and How!

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Oct. 22.—(P.L.P.)—Forty gallons of soup, 1700 rolls or 60 loaves of bread, 300 pounds of meat, four sacks of potatoes, 500 pounds of squash or melons, 25 pounds of butter and 70 gallons of milk make a most satisfying meal, and the figures are not exaggerated.

That is a typical menu for a single meal at the Commons building where more than 750 students from four residence halls on the campus, besides a large number of independents, are fed three times daily.

'Cougars Paw,' W.S.C., Begins Seventh Year

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Oct. 22.—(P.L.P.)—With a "Freshman" copy appearing about November 26, The Cougar's Paw, local college magazine of humor, will start its seventh successful year. A new feature of the magazine will be the editorial page which has been abandoned for the last two years. This will also be the first time that exclusive reprint rights have not been granted to College Humor, believing that this magazine does not depict a true college atmosphere and spirit.

Illness Calls Shirrell Family to California

Dean and Mrs. Elmer L. Shirrell last night by auto for San Francisco on account of the illness of Mrs. Shirrell's mother. The dean says that he intends to be gone for about a week.

Thursdays Now Tea Days, Says Council Of Women's League

The Women's League tea will be given on Thursdays instead of Wednesdays, it was decided at the meeting of the League council last week. This change was made so that more of the university women might attend because there are fewer classes held on Thursday than Wednesday.

The first tea of the year met with great success, according to Florence McNeerney, chairman of the teas, and it is hoped that this revision of days will make it possible for more women to enjoy this social hour provided by the League.

Each women's living organization is to act as hostess once during the year. The list is being followed alphabetically, Alpha Chi Omega having charge last week with Alpha Delta Pi scheduled as hostess for the next tea.

Music for dancing and features is arranged for by the committees which have been appointed by Miss McNeerney.

Dr. Williams Lectures At Sigma Xi Meeting

Dr. R. J. Williams, professor of organic chemistry, spoke to the members of the Oregon chapter of Sigma Xi, professors and students, at a meeting last night in 105 Deady. The subject of Dr. Williams' address was "Where Biology and Chemistry Meet." The work of chemists in isolating, identifying and synthesizing gland products and the work of the biologists in determining their actions was discussed by Dr. Williams.

At the business meeting preceding the lecture, Dr. E. D. McAllister, of the physics department, was elected treasurer for the coming year.

The tentative date of the next Sigma Xi meeting was announced as November 23. Dr. E. T. Hodge, professor of economic geology, will be the speaker.

Bowen Writes Article For Southern Review

Dr. R. P. Bowen, head of the romance language department, is the author of an article appearing in the current issue of the Sewanee Review, a quarterly magazine published at the University of the South at Sewanee, Tennessee.

Dr. Bowen's article is entitled "Some Common Elements in Vigny and Maupassant," and was written to show that the two authors were alike in showing pity for human-kind and admiration for the Christ, and that Maupassant is not the consummate pessimist he is usually termed, nor does he treat all society with scorn, but only the idle rich classes.
