

Oregon Loss Alleviated by Strong Showing

McEwan Now Centers Work for Aggie Tilt At Corvallis, Nov. 17

By JOE PIGNEY

The Webfoots are back home but far from the proverbial situation of being broke. On the contrary everyone is hopped up over the strong showing made against the Bears. Thirteen to nothing is not indicative of the superiority of the Bears. Oregon played California to a standstill the entire first half, and the touchdown near the end of the game, scored on a pass, should have been easily prevented.

Benny Lom, the great California back, is credited with most of the glory for California's victory. It was Lom's punting passing and running that was chiefly responsible for the two touchdowns scored against the Webfoots. Had Lom been stopped the story might have been different.

Football experts along the coast still maintain that the Webfoots show astonishing form and rare promise of a powerful team. The team is young, and once it gains the necessary experience there will be no stopping it.

Oregon has never been outclassed by its rivals this year. In both conference defeats the Webfoots at times showed more strength than their rivals. This is, in spite of its two defeats, the greatest team Oregon has had in several years.

Oregon's failure to score against the Bears is the first shut out of the season. This is a remarkable contrast with the year before. In 1927 the only conference touchdown of the year was carried over in the Oregon Aggie game at homecoming.

No post-mortem inquiries into the game with California can bring back victory. McEwan will now center the whole of the next two weeks of practice toward winning the Aggie game at Corvallis on November 17.

In the grid history of Oregon and the Aggies, the Webfoot stands out as most successful. The Aggies, however, have made a brilliant record in the last few years and a decided drive toward regaining honors.

The Beavers won the first clash with Oregon in 1894. Oregon then won three successive tilts, two of them in 1896. An Aggie victory followed in 1897 and then the Corvallis gridders failed to come through for a whole decade.

Six Webfoot victories and one scoreless tie were recorded before the Aggies won, 4 to 0, in 1907. Another ten-year period of Oregon supremacy came unbroken until 1917. The greatest possible rivalry existed between the Green and the Orange elevens from the start, but the most even football was played in 1920 and 1921 when the teams battled two seasons in succession with neither scoring on the other. This brought enthusiasm in the annual battle to a high pitch, and the excitement has continued ever since.

In 1922 Oregon resumed its march of victories with a 10 to 0 triumph. The march was due to suffer a sudden termination. The Beavers came back in the succeeding season with a one-touchdown win. Oregon took its turn, 7 to 3, in 1924 in a game which will go down in Oregon athletic history for one sensational play after another.

This game revived the old dead man trick used in high schools since the inception of football. The trick was so obvious that no one on the Beaver team was watching. The trick worked in the "crucial" moment.

Since then the Corvallis gridders have won three times in a row. The Aggies triumphed 24 to 13 in 1925, 16 to 0 in 1926, and 21 to 7 last year. Members of the Webfoot team this season have not forgotten the sting of the 1927 defeat.

Oregon has won 18 games from the Aggies, and lost only seven and tied six. The Webfoots scored 296 points against 140 for the Beavers.

Radio To Bring Poll Returns to Infirmary

Sherman Clay & Co., who supplied an Atwater Kent six tube radio set over which infirmary patients heard the Oregon-California football game last Saturday, are also lending a radio to them for election returns Tuesday evening.

However, there are at present only two patients at the infirmary to take advantage of this courtesy. They are: Winston Strong, a freshman in business ad, and Jack Hart, freshman in pre-medics.

In one of the tightest and most exciting contests of the season, A. B. C. just barely nosed out S. P. E. by a score of 11-10 before a large group of fans yesterday afternoon.

At the end of the first half the score book read S. P. E., 6; A. B. C., 6, with both teams tensed. Thirty seconds before the close of the fray A. B. C. led 9 to 7, when Thomson of the Spe's broke through to sink a shot. The Spe's led by one point. Then Quinn, A. B. C. guard, seizing an opportune moment came through with a nice shot and won the game as the whistle blew. The game was held on the gym floor at 4:10 o'clock. Lineup:

Eight Students Guess Right Football Score

Eight Oregon students guessed the correct score for the Oregon-California game in the McDonald-Emorald contest sponsored last week. Since such a large number guessed the correct score it is only possible to award prizes to the two whose ballots were in first. Winchester Heiber and Bob Miller will be mailed passes to the McDonald theater.

Others who guessed the score correctly are: Augusto Espiritu, J. W. Jower, Patricio Paeua, Elden Perry, O. P. Huk, and Cerdia Nerthayr. A pass for two to the McDonald theater will be given this week for the best contribution to the Duck Soup column. Don Johnson, feature editor, will act as judge. The winner will be announced in Saturday morning's Emerald. Students entering features will drop them in the Duck Soup box in the entrance to the main library.

Unaffiliated Women To Be Given Dance

The girl's Oregon club will give a dance for unaffiliated women on the campus, at the Woman's building, Friday night, November 16. Mabelle Beakley is in charge of arrangements.

Journalism 'Jam' Comes On Nov. 23

Big Masquerade Follows Homecoming Rally

Masks and fantastic costumes will soon be unpacked in preparation for the Journalism Jamboree, annual masquerade bust of riotousness and fun, which is scheduled for the evening of November 23, it is announced by Chalmers Nooe, chairman of the dance.

The jamboree will follow the homecoming rally and will be staged in the men's gymnasium, scene of many jamborees of yore.

As has been the custom recently, the jamboree will be open to the whole campus and prizes will be given to the ones with the cleverest costumes.

"The 'Jam' is the most informal dance held on the campus and has never failed to pack 'em in," says Nooe. "Last year the mob was up to its knees in confetti and serpentine. This year it's going to reach their necks," he predicts.

Grads To Renew Old Friendships At Homecoming

Celebration Set Aside as Rally Time for Alumni, Says Directorate Head

An opportunity to renew old friendships and acquaintances is to be the keynote of this year's Homecoming and the directorate is bending its efforts toward seeing that everything possible is done to make the occasion a memorable one for the returning alumni.

"Homecoming," said Roy Herndon, chairman of the directorate, "is a time set aside as a rallying time for the alumni. The grads return to the campus for a day or two to see former classmates, undergraduate friends, and the familiar scenes. They come in a spirit of friendship seeking a similar spirit displayed on the part of those with whom they come into contact during their brief stay. While here, they are the guests of the Oregon students and should be accorded the friendliest welcome the student body is capable of extending."

Old Grads Invited
Leads of all living organizations are urged to see that all alumni are written letters inviting them for the week-end. With less than three weeks remaining before Homecoming, it is imperative that the letters be sent as soon as possible, said Mr. Herndon. The letters should emphasize the spirit of a friendly "get-together" which is to be the basis for all plans, as well as the traditional events and the presence of a real football team wearing Oregon colors.

Konton Hamaker, chairman for features, has prepared a letter stating the rules governing the Homecoming sign contest. The letter will be sent to all organizations. Construction on the signs should be started immediately, says Hamaker, in order that all may be ready on time and in the competition for the Bristow cup, won last year by Kappa Alpha Theta.

Decorations Planned
Several plans of decoration of the campus and Hayward field are being considered by the committee headed by Joe Holaday. A considerable amount of decorating for the week-end will probably be done by Eugene merchants, several of whom have already started work on projects.

Plans for the Homecoming luncheon under the direction of Luola Bengt call for a departure from some of the features of past luncheons without a sacrifice of quality or quantity. Care is being taken that service will be reasonably rapid whether the luncheon be held on the campus or in McArthur court.

Decorations for the Homecoming dance have not been definitely decided upon, said Tom Stoddard, chairman in charge, but will likely reflect campus atmosphere.

Johnny Anderson, junior man on the executive council, has been chosen to assist Ronald McCreight, finance chairman.

Arrangements for handling the large number of alumni expected for the week-end are rapidly being made by the committee on welcoming and accommodations under Bea Milligan. Windshield stickers will be distributed shortly as a means of advertising the celebration.

King Collects Problems For Business School

Vern King, graduate assistant in the school of business administration, recently returned from San Francisco where he has been engaged in collecting cases from department stores for use in the course in retail merchandise. The collection of these cases is part of the program of the bureau of business research in the school of business administration in getting practical business problems that can be written up for class instruction and discussion.

Mr. King has secured problems in inventory control, store location, and the buying for the women's ready to wear department.

Election Returns of National Race To Come In Tonight At 'Dog Watch'

Radio Party Commences at 3 This Afternoon; Journalism Organizations Invite All Students

When two dials are switched on at three o'clock this afternoon Oregon's first Dog Watch, an election return radio party to which every student on the campus is invited, will begin.

There will be a breathless second of hush—full of tense thrill—and then over the air will come a voice bringing preliminary reports of the 1928 presidential race in the United States, the results of which America awaits impatiently.

Campus walks will lead to the Emerald building this afternoon and particularly tonight when, it is expected by those in charge of the Watch, the "shack" will be the center of population on the campus.

"I believe the idea of the Watch has appealed tremendously to the students and that there will be a large crowd around the building having a good time tomorrow evening," declared Dean Erie W. Allen, head of the school of journalism, yesterday afternoon. The party has been arranged by the journalism school, the Emerald staff and the journalism honorary fraternities.

Miss Hazel Prutsman, dean of women has announced that all women on the campus may have late permission, allowing them to be out until twelve o'clock so that they may have a chance to attend the Dog Watch and hear election returns.

Theta Sigma Phi and Sigma Delta Chi will sell "hot dogs," doughnuts and coffee, in room 104, during the party. In the intervals between returns radio music will entertain the student crowd. And as one staff member put it yesterday afternoon, "Don't worry, there will be plenty of prompt entertainment. It is going to be one big time."

An election day feature for university students is the balloting prediction contest, prepared by Dean Allen who has asked all students to make their estimates on the printed forms to be found in this morning's Emerald. All predictions thus far submitted have been posted on journalism shack's bulletin board, and with a steady increase in the number yesterday the board today looks "snowed under" for once in its hectic career.

Willis D. Link and Louis C. Du-Buy, former Oregon students and owners of the Radio Service and Supply company, have loaned two American Mohawk radios to the school for the Watch.

Lohn J. Landsbury To Leave Thursday For Music Gathering

John J. Landsbury, dean of the school of music, is leaving next Thursday for a convention of university school of music deans at Iowa City, Iowa.

Ten or eleven years ago Dean Landsbury conceived the idea of organizing such a convention as he is to attend next week. After doing much of the preliminary work on the convention he was unable to attend.

A few years ago Dean Landsbury was again asked to attend a convention of college music deans but as before he was unable to go. Some time ago the dean received a letter urging his presence at the meeting of the central western organization of college music deans at Iowa City. It is this convention that he plans to attend next week.

Dean Landsbury will probably be in Chicago and may return by way of Los Angeles.

Frosh Commission Meets Today at Four

Plans for the frosh work are to be made at the Frosh Commission meeting which will be held this afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. Bungalow from 4 to 4:30.

Mrs. Murray Warner is to speak on "World Friendship." Other numbers on the program is a clog dance by Muzetta Blair and several musical selections.

The new Frosh Commission cabinet which has just been announced by Lois Nelson, president of the commission, includes: Jean Leonard, chairman of the social committee; Lenore Ely, chairman of the program committee; Eleanor Lewis, chairman of the membership committee; and Helen Marr Grisson, chairman of the minutemen.

The Frosh Commission staff held its first meeting last Wednesday at the Anchorage when it met with Eleanor Poorman, Frosh Commission advisor, to discuss the plans for the year.

W. A. A. to Consider College Meetings

Physical Ed Conference Problem up to Group

Whether or not it would be advisable to hold a college conference to further the interests of physical education in the various colleges of the state is the question to be raised at the first W. A. A. mass meeting of the term which will be held at 5 o'clock in the Woman's building, Wednesday, November 7.

In addition to the question of a college conference and closely related to it is the idea of holding a high school conference composed of representatives from the high school physical education departments. This plan has been proposed and will be discussed at the meeting on Wednesday.

A third topic of discussion will be a proposal whereby the Woman's building would be opened Saturday afternoon to all women desiring to take part in the various sports. This plan would make it possible for every woman to take advantage of her spare time in a very beneficial manner, according to Dortha Lensch, president of W. A. A., who has made a special request for all members to be on hand to take part in the discussion. She has also extended an invitation to all freshmen women and other women new on the campus to be present.

The managers of the various sports will be introduced at this meeting.

By RALPH MILLSAP

With the question of student voting in Eugene still unsettled, today will see many student going to the polls, some certain in their own minds that they are legal residents, others doubtful, but who nevertheless feel that they are entitled to vote, and who are prepared to establish their claims with the election board.

Students will not be challenged by the election officials, according to W. B. Dillard, county clerk, who stated yesterday that the officials of the various election boards will not have time to bother with challenging students.

Whether they will be challenged by anyone else is doubtful, although indications are that they will. No officials of the Eugene Federation of Church Brotherhoods would consent to being quoted on the matter last night, but it is their intention to challenge the illegal vote.

McKewon Advises

The advice of Joe McKewon, president of the student body, is that students should study the legal opinion that has been given on the case and try to reach a decision as to their qualifications to vote in Eugene. Any student who is doubtful over his qualifications should go to the polls anyway, and if challenged, the question will be settled by the judges of the election board.

What will happen to a student if his vote is challenged? Following are the instructions given to election boards on the matter of challenges, taken from a pamphlet of election laws issued for the use of election boards:

It shall be the duty of each judge or clerk of election, or any elector present, to challenge any person offering to vote whom he shall know or suspect not to be qualified as an elector.

Oath Will Be Administered

If a person offering to vote is challenged as unqualified . . . the chairman of the said judges shall administer to him the following oath or affirmation: "You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you will fully and truly answer all such questions as shall be put to you touching your place of residence and qualifications as an elector at this election." The chairman shall then propound such questions to the person challenged as may be necessary to test his qualifications as an elector at his election. The judges may hear such other testimony and consider such other evidence as is proper upon the question. If all the judges can not agree, the three clerks shall be called in and a majority of the whole board shall decide the matter.

Cannot Refuse Answers

If the person so challenged shall refuse to answer fully any question touching his qualifications as an elector which shall be put to him, the judges shall reject his vote. If the challenge be not withdrawn
