

Casaba Squad Out For First Real Practice

Five Lettermen Ready; Football Season's End Will Increase Number

Barnstorming Tour Is Set For Christmas Vacation

Varsity basketball practice started with a bang last night when Coach Billy Reinhart lost no time making speeches and started right out to show the large squad how it should be done. He lined them up on the west side of the Igloo and a peppy drill in setting up exercises was staged.

An intensive study of pivoting was next on the program, defensive work, passing, and drill in handling the ball were also practiced. All of the men were in good shape and Coach Reinhart does not expect the workout to bother any of the players.

Billy Expects Winners

Five lettermen from last year's runner-up team were on hand for the first session and several men from last year's freshman team were also out. Many more men are expected to turn out for the basketball season. Billy is confident that he can turn out a winning team with the material on hand but added that there is always room for more on the large floor at McArthur court.

At present the varsity tossers will work out three times weekly, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 5 o'clock, and as soon as the freshman football season closes daily practice will be in order. Coach Reinhart also handles the frosh gridsters.

Team Going South

A barnstorming trip through the south is planned for the Christmas holidays, and several inter-sectional games will probably be played on the home floor.

The lettermen turning out last night were: Joe Bally, Merv Chastain, Scott Milligan, Don McCormick, and Gordon Ridings. The other candidates are as follows: Howard Eberhart, Jean Eberhart, Jack Doucette, Reed Clark, Delmer Eger, Clifford Horner, Bill Pittman, Max Rubenstein, Ron Gimmel, Bill Baker, Elmer Pahl, Lester Smith, and Roy Hughes.

'Bobby' Robinson and Ira Woodie Are Experienced Varsity Lettermen

Two important members of McEwan's backfield are "Bobby" Robinson and Ira Woodie. Both have had previous varsity experience, Robinson being a one-stripe letterman and Woodie having two sweaters. Ira is a quarterback, while Bobby plays the halfback position.

A graduate of Jefferson high at Portland, Robinson came to Oregon a three-year letterman in both football and track, under the Jefferson coaches, Quigley and Nelson. He was located at half with the gridiron squad, and was a sprint man with track team. At the present time, he is rated as about the trickiest open-field runner on the varsity squad. Bobby is 21 year old, weighs 160 pounds, and stands 5 feet 11 inches in height. He is a junior majoring in zoology, and intends to take up medicine and coaching upon his graduation from the university. During the past summer, Bobby became interested in aviation, and kept himself in training by spinning the propellers to start the planes. Woodie is a graduate of Nampa high, Nampa, Idaho, where he earned four letters as quarter with the Nampa gridsters. He also earned official recognition as catcher on the baseball squad, under Coach Harrington. A senior in the school of economics, he plans for a career as a coach after his graduation. He is 23 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches tall, and tips the beam at 150 pounds. Ira is a clever field general and one of the most accurate passers on the Webfoot eleven. In addition to his gridiron activities, he is a two-stripe letterman on the varsity baseball squad, where he is first-string catcher.

ing Sunday night, November 4. Richard Burke, biology, was chosen president; Harold Davidson, law, vice-president; Harry Dunlap, economics, secretary, and Irene Moore, English, treasurer. A man and a woman were elected from each class to serve with these four officers on an executive council. The class representatives are: seniors, William Berg, law, and Grace Maxwell, education; juniors, Eugene V. La Clair, biology, and Eleanor Touhey, English; sophomores, Henry Prudhomme, economics, and Binny Burke, English; freshmen, Robert O'Leary, business administration, and Martha Moore, English. Merlin Blais, journalism, was chosen publicity manager.

The Newman club, which has 167 members this year, plans to hold weekly discussion meetings and a number of social functions, according to Mr. Burke, president.

Dr. Seashore To Speak To Psychology Club

The first meeting of the psychology club this year will be held this evening at 7:15 in the men's room of the Woman's building. Dr. Robert H. Seashore, professor of psychology, will give a paper on "An Analysis of Motor Skills."

The psychology club is a very informal discussion group, which has met at irregular intervals for several years. All those especially interested in psychology are welcome at the meetings.

Washington's Play Helped By Breaks, Puts Fight Into Oregon Territory

The Oregon freshman football team met the Washington eleven and were defeated last Saturday, 7 to 0, at Seattle. The Huskie yearlings were enough better than the Frosh to keep them on the defensive throughout the greater part of the game, and to score one touchdown.

Billy Reinhart freshman football coach, states that Washington has the best freshman team since the days when the Tesreau brothers and George Wilson were first year men. Oregon fumbled the first punt of the game and were kept in their own territory for most of the rest of the game. This had its effect on the team but didn't beat them as they held Washington scoreless during the first half.

The Huskie Pups, aided by an Oregon fifteen yard penalty, made their big drive and their only score of the game. This came late in the game after the teams had fought it out on fairly even terms although the northerners were forcing the play.

John Erdley and Dean Ricks, ends and Eric Frosta, center, turned in good performances, stopping many of Washington's thrusts on the line of scrimmage. Steve Fletcher, frosh halfback, did good work in the kicking department. He booted the ball around 40 yards most of the time, but a blocked punt brought his average to a lower figure.

The Frosh were continually kept

ASH TRAY?

Ash trays—their contents—are interesting. On the Book Balcony they speak of those who have enjoyed themselves there. Look:
The far smoked, corp tipped one—that belonged to a young erudite professor. Here is one of a more popular brand—smoked by a collegian. One page of a detective story and it was gone! This patch of gray—ashes from the dignified cigar of a dean as he pursued Bweridge's "Lincoln."
It all goes to show that the Book Balcony holds interest for every type of person on the campus. Come up the stairs some day and see for yourself.

in the hole by not playing heads-up football, and didn't get a chance to open up on their attack. They threatened in the last of the game when they threw a flock of passes, but Washington kept them from the goal.

The team will start their campaign tonight for the final game with the Frosh. Southern Oregon Normal comes here on November 12 and the Aggie yearlings will meet the Frosh on November 16 for the only conference game to be played on the campus this season.

Organist From Rome To Play November 19

Fernando Germani, young organist from Augusto, Rome, will appear at the school of music auditorium on the evening of Monday, November 19. Admission price will be $1.00.

According to Roy Bryson, voice instructor, who has heard Germani on the Wanamaker organ in Philadelphia, the concert will be well worth attending.

Combined Glee Clubs At Work on Selection

The university combined glee clubs, under the direction of John Stark Evans, are working at the present time on Gounod's "St. Cecilia Mass" for presentation Sunday afternoon, December 9. The selection may be presented again on December 16.

Hugh Miller and Geraldine Gardner have been appointed pianists for the men's and girls' glee clubs respectively.

Cecil Matson Directs Play at Lincoln High

Cecil Matson, graduate of '27, who was prominent in dramatic work being treasurer of the National Collegiate Players (Pi Epsilon Delta) and an active member of the Glee Club, is now directing a play "So This Is London" at Lincoln high school in Portland. He helped produce this same play for the University high school under Mrs. Assenheimer at the Guild theatre last year.

Mr. Matson has been chosen as one of the cast in Bernard Shaw's "Misalliance" which will be presented by the Bess Whitcomb players in Portland.
