

Distance Men To Take Trial Run at O.S.C.

Cross-country Men Not Named; Hill Brothers And Jensen Foremost

Hayward Says Work Builds Up Stamina of Milers

The varsity cross-country team will take a trial spin over the course at Corvallis Saturday in preparation for the meet there with O. S. C. November 17.

A ten-man team will compete against the state college, but this team has not yet been named. Some of the runners training for the event are Clarence Hill, Ralph Hill, Ed Jensen, Pat Beal, Kay Neil, Henry Fitch, Bill Winter, and Leonard Steele. These men and several others represent the nucleus of the distance department of next spring's track team, being quarter, half, mile, and two mile men.

"Cross-country work is the best training there is for them," says "Bill" Hayward, varsity track coach. "It's the only thing. It puts bottom and foundation under them."

The Hill brothers and Ed Jensen are perhaps the most outstanding members of the squad, though the running is close up, says "Bill." Clarence Hill is a senior with two track letters, but his sophomore brother, Ralph, is pushing him to the limit.

"Bill" says he's not working the men very hard, though once in a while he does have them open up a bit. Saturday, after the gridgraph, the squad went on a jaunt of five miles.

The course at O. S. C. is about three miles, and the one at Washington, where the northwest cross-country meet with five-man teams is to be held November 29, is five miles. Both courses include hills.

Every place in a cross-country meet is counted as a score. First place counts one, and, if there are ten-man teams, last place counts 20. The team with the smallest score wins.

Craftsman Club Plans Meeting for Thursday

The first regular meeting of the Craftsman club, 850 east Fourteenth avenue, will be held in the club house at 7:30 p. m. Thursday evening, November 8. All Masons who are affiliated in any way with the university are cordially invited to attend. This invitation is extended also to all sons of Masons and to all DeMoleys on the campus. A written invitation is being sent to all men who are known to have Masonic affiliations, but if some should accidentally be missed, this notice is to be taken as an invitation. The Craftsman club is the Masonic club of the university, and is glad to welcome as members all men who are eligible. Every effort has been made to make a complete list of these men. There will be a short smoker and a program of boxing and wrestling. The meeting will adjourn early so that it will not interfere with the study program of the men who attend.

Onthank and Evans Fill Varied Positions In Campus 'Who's Who'

Not a single freshman in the elementary newswriting classes failed to identify George Stadelman as a football player in a quiz given them recently to find out how much they knew about campus celebrities, but some of the other luminaries turned out to be all manner of individuals.

John Stark Evans, associate dean of the school of music, and Karl Onthank, executive secretary of the university, suffered most.

Evans was identified as a minister, dean of journalism, graduate of football, dean of education, band leader and dean of physical education.

Mr. Onthank was the manager of the Emerald, head of the board of regents, secretary of the A. S. U. O., director of activities, and director of the band.

One freshman said Jack W. Benefiel was editor of the Emerald, while Arden X. Pangborn, the actual editor, was director of athletics, and treasurer. Other bad guesses were:

- Q. Who is vice-president of the university?
A. Art Anderson, Burt, Francis McKenna, M. B. Parker.
- Q. Who is Burt Brown Barker?
A. Glee club leader, writer.
- Q. What is Mask and Buskin?
A. Fencing honorary, art, senior men's honorary, literature.
- Q. Out of a list of 19 names, Stadelman was the only man whom every freshman knew.

Large Attendance Expected at Meeting Of Theta Sigma Phi

That a large representation of women journalism majors will attend the open meeting to be conducted tomorrow evening by Theta Sigma Phi was the opinion voiced by members of the national women's honorary when they met for luncheon at the Anchorage yesterday noon in their semi-monthly session.

Dr. Clara Smertenko, assistant professor of Latin and Greek, is to discuss newspapers in the time of Pericles at the meeting, which will be the first of a series of six. It is to be held in the men's lounge of the Woman's building at 7:45 p. m.

"We feel that it is going to be a thoroughly interesting evening, and we would like to have every woman journalism major with us," said Dorothy Baker, president of Theta Sigma Phi, yesterday. A brief social period, during which refreshments will be served, will follow Dr. Smertenko's talk.

At the luncheon hour yesterday the chapter accepted an invitation from Alpha Eta, the O. S. C. chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, inviting the Oregon Theta chapter and alumni to a tea to be given at Corvallis following the Oregon-O. S. C. game November 17. Miss Baker announced that the national secretary of Theta Sigma Phi, Miss Edith Abbott of Spokane, will visit this chapter November 20.

Dance To Be Held for Unaffiliated Students

The Girls' Oregon club, Phi Theta Upsilon, honorary service fraternity, and the student body is sponsoring a dance for all unaffiliated students, to be held in the Woman's building Friday night, November 16. Both men and women are invited, and not women only, as yesterday's Emerald stated. It will be a no-date affair.

The following students are in charge of the arrangements: Ruth Johnson of Oregon club, publicity; Elizabeth Dimmitt, place; Josephine Koberstein, patrons and patronesses; Dorothea Bushnell, chairman of the reception committee; Mabelle Beakley, orchestra.

Those who have been invited as patrons and President and Mrs. Arnold Bennett Hall; Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Pallett; Joe McKeown, student body president; Diana Dinger, president of Phi Theta Upsilon; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Ross; and a representative of the Y. M. C. A.

Newport Place Of Seabeck Meet This Week-end

Y Groups Plan 'Retreat' For Christianity Study; Oregon Colleges Going

Approximately twenty-five students of the University of Oregon will attend the "Seabeck Retreat" held at Newport, the week-end of November 11.

The retreat is a conference made up of Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. representatives. "It will be purely a student gathering," said Elsie May Cimino, Y. W. C. A. cabinet member. "The general theme under discussion will be the importance of personal Christianity."

The retreat will include students from the University of Oregon, Oregon State College, Willamette, Pacific, Linfield, Albany, and Reed. This is the first time it has been tried in Oregon.

Cars for transportation will be furnished by the Y. M. C. A. The group will leave here Friday between 3 and 4 o'clock, and will stay at the Gilmore Hotel in Newport during the conference.

"A get together meeting will be held Friday evening," Miss Cimino said. "The main speaker, probably, will be Max Adams, university pastor of Westminster house. Others will be, Dorothy Thomas, University of Oregon, Dorothy Pennell and Dr. Warrington of Oregon State college, and speakers from the smaller colleges, also."

There will be a Seabeck rally Saturday night. Devotional services will be held Sunday morning. The theme will be "looking forward to world peace." Dorothy Pennell will lead the discussion. Miss Pennell

Amphibian Club Sees Exhibitions of Diving

Standing front dives, running front dives, back dives, swan dives, in fact every imaginable type of dive was demonstrated last night at the Amphibian club meeting held at 7:45 in the pool at the Woman's building. Don Neer and Leonard Thomas, stars from the men's varsity teams, exhibited their talents on the spring board.

Each week the Amphibians hold a business meeting followed by a program of instruction and pleasure. Usually they have some well-known aquatic star show them new features in swimming and diving.

Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism honorary, was reported yesterday noon when the organization held its semi-monthly luncheon meeting at the regent's room of the men's dormitory.

Questionnaires were mailed out to the daily, semi-weekly and weekly papers of Oregon and were concerned with newspaper problems. Editors were requested to answer them by Nov. 15, and, judging from the response so far it is expected that the survey will probably be completed by that time.

Business transacted at yesterday's luncheon included a discussion of the Journalism Jamboree, scheduled for Nov. 23, for which elaborate plans are being made.

Arden X. Pangborn, editor of the Emerald, will leave Wednesday, Nov. 15, for Evanston, Ill., where he will attend the international convention of the fraternity. Pangborn will be away for 10 days.
