

Membership Of Orchestra Made Public

Rex Underwood Chooses Over Fifty Musicians For Oregon Symphony

Material in Excess This Year, Says Director

Fifty-two students have been selected to membership in the orchestra by Rex Underwood, director. Of these about forty-five will be selected to travel with the organization, final acceptance depending on practice, faithfulness, adaptability, and when it comes to the question of selecting people for the trips, according to Mr. Underwood, rehearsal attendance counts largely toward the final selection of the traveling orchestra.

"For the first time we have more orchestra material than we can use," Mr. Underwood said. "It will be no trouble to have available talent for all positions. The talent is better in quality than ever before. The players usually have to be in the orchestra about a year before they are any good."

The same policy of playing strictly high grade music will be adhered to this year, the director stated.

Orchestra Plays Exchange

Every year the orchestra has an exchange concert with Oregon State college. Last year this orchestra went over there to give a concert, and this year Oregon State college sends its orchestra here. The date of the concert has not been set.

The rehearsal plans which are being followed this year are different than those used before. A one night rehearsal is being conducted on Wednesday, and sectional rehearsal is held on Saturday mornings, according to Mr. Underwood. The orchestra is divided into a number of practice groups for intensive work.

Travel During Vacation

During spring vacation the orchestra travels, and this year Mr. Underwood states that he is hoping that the organization can appear in Portland during the whole week instead of traveling through the state.

The students who were selected are: first violin, Edward Best, Eugene; Kenneth Brown, Portland; Carolyn Cooper, Portland; Mabel Kullander, Independence; Beulah Wynd, Eugene; Bertha Alm, Silverton; Virginia Graham, Portland; Juanita Oskins, Eugene; Roy Ford, Eugene; Helen Elliott, Astoria; Josephine Howard, Portland; Helen Althaus, Troutdale; Weldon Hyatt, Enterprise; George Ketchick, Portland.

Second violin: Roma Gross, Estelle Johnson, Adris Gorrell, Thelma Lund, Douglas Orme, all of Eugene; Anne Dolph, Minnie Elmer, Glenn Potts, Ruth Van Schoonhoven, Ella Carrick, all of Portland; John Doherty, Lexington; Donald Nicholas, Oakland, Oregon.

Five Play Viola

Viola: Buck Nash, Martha Patterson, Francis Coberly, all of Eugene; Esther Wicks, Astoria; and Clarence Veal, Albany.

Cello: Katy Potter, Roberta Spicer, Miriam Stafford and William Booth, all of Eugene.

Bass: Mike Gross, Corriane Cams, and Helen Oskins, all of Eugene.

Flute: Maxine Moore, Dorothy Thompson and Thea Spicer, Eugene, and Robert Otto, Portland.

Clarinet: Marcus Woods, Ashland, who is president of the orchestra; and Kenton Hamaker, Klamath Falls.

Trumpet: Lawrence Wagner and Norman Johnson of Eugene; William Sievers, Portland.

Trombone: Dorr Hoffman and Roy Herdman, both of Eugene.

Horns: Eliot Wright, Pasadena, California, and Toby Burris, Eugene.

Tympani: Martin Geary, Portland.

Y.W.C.A. Membership Scudded by Big Drive

One hundred and sixty-two new members were gained by the Y. W. C. A. as a result of the membership campaign which was held recently.

Of these, the freshmen predominated with 125 of them, 17 sophomores, 11 juniors and nine seniors.

Town girls may still obtain membership cards at Miss Thomas' office in the Y. W. Bangalow. If there are any membership cards still out, they should be turned in immediately, announced Betty Higgins, chairman of the membership committee.

Vacation Will Come As Usual This Year

There will be a Thanksgiving vacation this year as usual, according to Karl W. Outhank, executive secretary of the university. It had been rumored about the campus that possibly there would be no vacation this year. Students were not allowed a vacation last year on account of the infantile paralysis epidemic about that time.

Students will leave for their vacation Wednesday, November 28, after classes and return for classes Monday, December 3.

Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the university, is an air enthusiast, especially since his ride a few days ago over the campus in one of the planes belonging to the Hobi Airways Co., Inc., of Eugene. Dr. Hall is very much in favor of airport development throughout the state as proposed by the American Legion. Above may be seen Miss Marion Phy, Dr. Hall's private secretary, who accompanied him on the trip, Dr. Hall, and H. H. Hobi, pilot.

Confetti, Serpentine, Syncopated Jazz on Journalism Jam Program

The coming of the University of Oregon Mardi Gras shambles, November 23, more familiarly known as the Journalism Jamboree, is filling the air with tall tales of former good times. Being the only costume affair of the campus social season, the jamboree is doubly dear to all adherents of the "Shack" and all others who have reveled in a night filled with confetti and serpentine, not mentioning strains of sweet music and clashes of syncopation.

Chal Nooe, chairman of the "hoodlumistic" affair, breathes assurance with every breath that the music will be right. The Benedict-Roy-nolds Royal Collegians with their golden crowns and kingly harmonies will cast music into all the crevices of the men's gymnasium, the palace for the night. It is also whispered that Edith Pearson and Jack Reynolds will put on another one of their torrid varsity drags as the feature of the evening.

Tickets Selling Fast For Corvallis Game

Only 100 Reserves Left; On Sale Benefiel's Office

It's all rumor, so says Doc Robnett, assistant graduate manager; we are almost out of reserve seat tickets for the game in Corvallis next Saturday, but not quite. The next hundred who go after tickets may have them, for there are about 100 reserve seat tickets left, on sale at the graduate manager's office for $2.50.

The reserves are grandstand seats. Two hundred field seats, uncovered, are still available in front of the side line grandstand, at the 25 yard line; the price is $2.00. Student tickets are on sale at the Co-op and according to reports are going rapidly—$1.00 and your student body ticket will buy one.

Reserve seats in Corvallis are completely sold out, as are those that were available in Portland, and the hundred which we have are all that remain. O. S. C. has sent over 2500 student seat tickets. Doc Robnett advises that everyone get his ticket early because there will be a greater demand for seats than the stadium can accommodate.

Army Uniforms Ready Tuesday For R.O.T.C. Men

Students To Wear Outfits Every Wednesday Drill Orders Major Barker

R. O. T. C. uniforms will be issued by the military department to its students beginning Tuesday November 13, and continuing until Saturday November 17, according to an official notice posted by Major F. A. Barker, head of the department.

The store room will be open for issue of uniforms to all basic course students on the following days: November 13 to 17, 8 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 5 p. m.

All students will be required to draw their fall uniforms during the above period, and be present for drill in uniform on Wednesday, November 21. Uniforms will be worn on all Wednesday drills hereafter. Before issue will be made to student, he will be required to present the receipt for military deposit at the issue window. This means that all students in basic military must pay their five-dollar uniform deposit and present the receipt at the storeroom where a uniform will be issued.

Last year, Friday was the day on which the uniform was worn. The major stated that he had changed to Wednesday in order to convenience the students who want to go home on Friday. Also, he thinks it will be more convenient for students during spring term when the five o'clock parades take place; saving them changing into uniform during the week, which was necessary when uniform day was Friday, and the parades were on Wednesday.

Four Guessers Tie In 'Dog Watch' Poll

Maryhelen Koupal Judged Closest on Popular Vote

The prize for the best election estimator of the University of Oregon will have to be withheld just a little longer, says Dean Allen, of the school of journalism, though it is practically certain to be awarded to Maryhelen Koupal as soon as all the final returns are known. Maryhelen Koupal, Wilfred Brown,

On account of the fact that downtown stores and campus news sources will not be open for business Monday, Armistice Day, the Emerald will not publish a Tuesday edition next week. The regular Wednesday paper will be issued.

Harris Ellsworth, and Neil Taylor guessed exactly the same in regard to states and electoral votes, but differed in estimating the total popular vote. At noon yesterday the Associated Press found that from about two-thirds of the precincts of the United States there was a poll count of around 26 million, divided into 11 million for Smith and 15 million for Hoover.

Should the number of votes continue in the same ratio, it will mean that 39 million people have voted. Since Miss Koupal estimated the total vote at 41 million, her "dog watch" ballot is at present in a very favorable position.

"These people conceded Smith only the solid part of the solid south," said Dean Allen. "It is significant to note that only the wildest of landslide predictions were counted as valid," he also said. The guess at electoral votes by the leading four was 467 for Hoover and 61 for Smith.

Campus Deserted as Extra Holiday Draws Students to Homes

What with autumn and the extra holiday afforded by Armistice day, November 12, Oregon's campus this week end will resemble the "scar and yellow" as Shakespeare would say.

A goodly number of the campus' population, when classes were over yesterday, threw socks and slippers into their suitcases and slipped away for home to spend the three-day week end. Many students who reside in Portland expect to attend the W. S. C. U. C. L. A. game in the Multnomah stadium this afternoon.

Those blessed (?) by poverty will remain clustered around the 13th street settlement to spend a three day period of research or nature study, according to their tastes.

Homecoming week-end will begin November 16 at the Oregon State College. The Chairman of the affair, who is Don Long, has announced appointments.

Years Alter Meaning Of English Language

Clerk Was Clergyman and Spinsters Really Spun

It is not considered complimentary to say of a woman that she is "no lady," but how many women are entitled to the name in its real sense? asks a contributor in "The London Daily News." I do not know one, but the true meaning of "lady" is a loaf-kneader—a noble art that is practically defunct today.

There are about 2,000,000 spinsters in Great Britain, but how many of them can spin? And although every man is Mr. So-and-so, very few are entitled to the Mr. in its true meaning of master.

My-grocer is certainly not an engraver, though he retains the old name in its abbreviated form; my chemist knows little or nothing of alchemy, from which his predecessors got the name of alchemist.

Costers no longer sell costard apples, some sailors have never been on a ship with sails, and the humble "navy" has long ceased to make navigation canals. The constable is not the court of the stable, the publican is not the tax collector, and the gaffer of a mill often behaves in a way very unlike his name, which is a shortened form of god-father. Of the thousands of clerks working today not one is a clergyman or cleric; the old name has come down from the time when the only people who could write were clerics.

My vulcanite self-filler pen with its gold nip is in no way like a feather, though it still keeps the name which was appropriate when a pen was made from a penna or quill. And though my penknife is never used for sharpening pens, the old name dies hard.
