“Beat the Aggies; It's an Instinct”

This is Oregon's year. Coach McEwan's men have been delivering the goods. They lost to California and Stanford by very close scores only after great exhibitions of football skill and Oregon fight. The tide turned with the overwhelming defeat of Washington at Portland. Like the Democratic party, Oregon spirit is never dead; this year it is fired by the student's conviction that their gridiron representatives have the stuff.

Today the state college and the state university lock horns in the annual classic for football supremacy, a pageant of athletic splendor unrivaled by the gladiatorial combats in the Coliseums of Rome. As in those colorful days of old no quarter will be given or asked.

Have we forgotten that discarded phrase in Oregon's alma mater song—“O. A. C. will fight to the end, but we will win”?

Oregon invades the theater of operations at Corvallis this afternoon, the underdog again due to injuries and influenza. But Orange and Black paint spread conspicuously in Eugene is only one form of fuel which fans our flaming feeling for victory.

Massed support from Oregon students in the stands will do more to win than paint spreading. We assemble on the battle ground of Bell Field shouting the war cry “Beat the Aggies, it's an instinct.” The Aggies believe three successive wins have formed a habit for them. Habits thus easily formed are easily broken. Instincts are stronger than habits any day. Oregon's hour is come.—W. E. H. jr.

The Ambler

AMBLER
YESTERDAY WE SAW:
CLETA McKENNON tearing leaves out of a book—HARRY SCHENK up at 4 a. m.—ANDY STEVENS a visitor from O. A. C.—ROMA WHISNANT shaming a man—HARRY TONKON with a convoy of females—CATHERINE MILLER congratulating herself—RUTH HELMS arriving two minutes late—FRAN LEARNED talking about his fraternity—CHOWN PHILLIPS getting a haircut—JERRY VAN DERVLUGT in his gym suit—BOB ALLEN looking for a thing or two.

Spirit

There, he said, it will be possible for Webfoot enthusiasts to free their systems of the mysterious ailment in the unaffected Benton county air. McKeown further urged that all Oregon students conduct themselves as such, and show the true spirit of sportsmanship by not attempting to bring back to Eugene any souvenirs in the form of goal posts or other Aggie campus furniture. Regarding the depositions wrought in Eugene Thursday night by some group of Corvallis adherents, he stated that early in the season an agreement was signed by the presidents and student body presidents of the two institutions, forbidding such inter-campus invasions. Yesterday morning McKeown called the Aggie student president for an explanation, and last night the following telegram was the result: “Joe McKeown, A. S. U. O. president: “The O. S. C. student body regrets the spreading of paint on the university grounds last night. No real Oregon State man participated in this affair, and such action is condemned by our student body.” “Break the Habit” Following McKeown, Bart Brown Barker, vice president of the university gave a short address, saying that despite the outcome, Oregon has a team which will fight and will not break. Professor H. C. Howe, stated that in the 28 years in which he had followed Oregon teams he has seen them almost invariably outweighed by the Aggies, but never outfought. “O. A. C. has beaten Oregon three times in succession,” he said, “and it has become a habit. It is a bad habit. But it is not yet chronic.

It is a habit that can be broken.”

Team Leaves at Eight

And following each speaker the Oregon Spirit, if that is the malady which has afflicted the students, burst forth with renewed vigor. There were yells, under the direction of Parks, the famous varsity yell, the team yell and others. And finally the band struck up Mighty Oregon, and the rally came to an end as the Oregon students left the building, thoroughly imbued with the spirit that will carry them to Corvallis today, and, perhaps, carry Oregon across the Beaver goal to victory this afternoon.

The Oregon football team will leave for Corvallis from the Southern Pacific depot at eight o'clock this morning, accompanied by the band and the members of the Order of the O, who will have charge of the Webfoot rooting section this afternoon.

At eleven o'clock the special rally train will leave Villard hall and will arrive at Corvallis just before the game. It will leave for Eugene on the return trip immediately following the contest.

Only 1500 tickets to the game and 500 tickets for the special train have been sold as yet, according to McKeown. Students may obtain tickets to the game by presenting their student body cards and their dollar at the Co-op before ten o'clock this morning.

Turning... Back Pages-

In Campus History That Tell How The Collegians Used to Act.

Fifteen Years Ago

From Oregon Emerald, November 18, 1913
Oregon and O. A. C. may play a second football game this season, if agitation at Albany for a game there is successful. The clash between the two teams two weeks ago ended in a 10 to 10 tie.

The Peter Pan will donate half of its proceeds from next Wednesday's sale to the Y. W. C. A. The women of the university will serve at the Peter Pan during the day.

There are nine fraternities and eight sororities on the campus at present.

Twenty-five Years Ago

From Oregon Weekly, November 23, 1903
Complete defeat, as usual, was O. A. C.'s portion in the annual game with Oregon, which was played Saturday, Oregon winning by a score of 5 to 0.

The field on West Eleventh street, where the game was played, was wet and muddy, and greatly slowed up Oregon's attack, thus accounting for the lowness of the score.

To escape the mud, the crowd of some 500 people stood on planks and straw along the sidelines, and cheered the combatants with various noises.”

WHOLE WEBFOOT TEAM WILL START IN AGGIE BATTLE

(headline in Guard)

This nails the story that only 8 men could play today.

Due to the expected condition of the field at Corvallis today, Coach McEwan is making a few changes in the lineup. Johnny Anderson will start at one of the halfback positions and “Wig” Fletcher at the other.

TODAY'S PUTRID PUN

“habit”

The Aggies HABIT off more than they can chew.

One of the little ducks that was not yet made into soup was waddling down Thirteenth street yesterday when he suddenly became embarrassed. He discovered that his pants were “down.”

DRUNK: “Where ya live?”
ALSO DRUNK: “On Thirteenth street between Hilyard and Alder.”
DRUNK: “Between Hilyard and Alder, eh? Well, why doncha make up your mind.”

SOME OF THE BOYS ARE WONDERING WHY NOBODY EVER REFERRED TO IT AS “PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT.”

THE EMERALD SAID SOMETHING THE OTHER DAY ABOUT THE ETNA ERUPTION.

The prize dumbell wants to know if it's catching and if he'd be sent to the infirmary if he got it.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD THAT O. A. C. IS AFRAID OF THE FLU.

Our suggestion for winning the game, then, would be that all our linesmen be supplied with snuff. As the team lined up it would be easy for our men to take the snuff and sneeze heartily. This would so demoralize the Aggies that Oregon could put over several touchdowns without any effort.

OUR OWN SLOGAN—
“BEAT THE AGGIES. EVERYBODY'S DOING IT.”

Program for Sunday Vespers Announced

Program for the Sunday afternoon vespers service at the music auditorium was announced yesterday and is as follows:

Organ, John Stark Evans.
Piano solo, Mrs. Jane Thacher (numbers from Chopin.)
Reader, Rev. C. L. Trawin of the Baptist church.

The program is scheduled to start at 4:30 p. m. On account of the fact that it is being broadcast over KORE, the doors will be closed promptly at starting time.

Brawl

gle game with Washington than they have for several seasons. Two men, Howard Maple, Beaver quarterback, and Johnny Kitzmiller, Oregon quarterback, will be watched today. Each team bases its offense on these players. Kitzmiller, the flying Dutchman, is a giant on the defense and easily the equal of the flashy Maple. On the defensive, however, the Oregon backfield star far outshines the Beaver. Against California two weeks ago it was Kitzmiller alone who stopped the scoring pace of Benny Lom.

The rest of the Oregon backfield is the same which started both the Washington game and the California game. Charles Williams and George Burnell will be at halves and Cotter Gould at full. Burnell, the acting captain, and Gould are playing their third and last contest against the Beavers.

The Oregon linemen who will oppose the Beaver are: Woodward Archer and Ted Pope, ends; George Christensen and Austin Colbert, tackles; Merrill Hagan and Marshall Shields, guards; and George Stadelman, center.

Vern Eilers, guard, was selected captain of the Beaver team for the Oregon game. Eilers, who was an all-coast guard last year, is playing his last year with the Staters.

The condition of Bell field today may be a deciding factor in the outcome of the game. Bright blue weather Friday afternoon has brought with it the possibility of a fine day for the battle. Canvas has been spread over the Aggie field for several days, and the last report declared the ground to be surprisingly firm and dry.

Captain Speier Slated For Address Monday

Captain J. Speier, superintendent of terminals and harbormaster of the Port of Portland, will speak to business administration students next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 105 Commerce, according to Harold Gulde, president of Pan Xenia, international foreign trade fraternity, which is sponsoring the talk.

Captain Speier, who has been connected with the Portland harbor for 21 years, is to talk on some phase of foreign trade. A dinner is to be held in his honor on Monday evening at the new men's dormitory.

Free Theater Passes To Go To Humorists

Emerald Contest To Be For Duck Soup Jokes

Six individuals, students of the university, in the past three weeks have seen shows at the McDonald or Rex theaters through the courtesy of the Emerald and the management of the shows, and thanks to their own brilliant wits or poetic pens.

Next week's contest for two free passes to the theaters will again be for the humorists. Contributions for the Duck Soup column came in so plentifully a week ago that it has been decided to put the contest on again for the week's best campus wit. There may be placed in the special box in the lobby of the main library and Saturday the winning “bon mot” will be picked and announced by Don Johnston, feature editor of the Emerald.

Sport fans after today's game at Corvallis will have plenty of food for thought and can start thinking over who they will put on their all-star all-coast teams. In store for the person coming nearest to picking the same first and second teams as the Oregon Sportswriters association picks, will be a month's free pass offered by the Emerald and the theater management.

In Manila... they say “E-SWAN”

SURE, you know what the occasion calls for—except maybe this. It calls for Isuan, from the Philippines. Now huddle, come close:

Here's a ginger ale, old timer, to make bigger and better nights and take the curse off tomorrow! Sparkling, inspiring water, from the famous volcanic Isuan Spring. Fresh limes. Fresh ginger. A smooth, mellow blend such as only the tropics can produce. Gorgeous when you drink it, kind in the after effects.

For home parties, there's the Isuan 12, a handy carton from grocers and druggists. But you're stepping out? Then just say “Imported Isuan” to the waiter—he'll get you the very first time!
