

Theta Chi Five Drops Game to Betas In Fray

Score of 30-12 Rolled Up by Star Players To Defeat Game Losers

Winners To Play Phi Psi Team This Afternoon

The Betas kept up their championship march and laughed themselves to a 38-to-12 victory over the Theta Chi quintet. The champs were never threatened and worked in baskets at will. Seigmund and Andrews, Beta forwards, added up 30 points between them and called it a day.

Theta Chi played good ball, a losing game from the first tip-off. The iron-side defense of the winners was impenetrable. Dave Epps' proteges took it easy, as today they play an elimination tournament with the lanky boys from the Phi Kappa Psi stronghold. Theta Chi looked bewildered throughout the match, for the Betas just couldn't be whipped. Hall and Kelley, center and guard, checked every man to death that tried to work himself into their territory. In the final quarter the losers made a gallant attempt for points and managed to scrape together 7 of their total sum. McNabbs, substitute, was responsible for 3 of them. As far as combination work and well timed shots were concerned the Betas had it all the way. Few of their attempted shots ever missed their mark, while the Theta Chi's, on the contrary, pushed balls from all angles. The final whistle blew as the Theta Chi's were scurrying for the ball in their own territory. Lineup:

BETAS (38) (12) THETA CHI
Andrews (17) F..... (4) Stanley Siegmund (13) F..... (3) Kiehn Hall (2) C..... (2) Jesse Kelley (2) G..... Haggerty Seales (2) G..... Davis Gauthier (2) G..... (3) McNabb

Referee, J. Eberhart.
Friendly hall forfeited their tilt to the Sphinx, which was to have been played at the Igloo. Phi Kappa Psi had no trouble taking in the Phi Sigma Kappa boys by a score of 28-to-17 in a sluggish match. No records were kept of the match.

Delta Epsilon played their last game and won their right to second place in league A by outplaying Alpha Upsilon by a score of 28-to-8 in an enjoyable game. Both teams frolicked over the men's gym floor and had a good time.

Delta Epsilon sent in an entire second team in the first quarter, with the exception of Director, whose checking was essential throughout the game. Polcar, forward, snatched off 15 figures, while Levoff, center, came right behind him with 11 points. Harris, forward for Alpha Upsilon, played a fast game and necessitated watching from the first to the final whistle. Lineup:

D. E. (28) (8) A. U.
Naimark F..... (2) Overhulse Lockitch F..... (5) Harris Levoff (11) C..... (1) Breese Feves G..... Anderson Director G..... Morgan Polcar (15) S..... Tamkin (2) S.....

Referee, N. Mays.
Today the Betas play Phi Kappa Psi in the second game of the finals. It is an elimination tilt. The game will be held at the men's gymnasium.

College Life Among Topics Covered by New Library Books

Two books having a direct bearing on college life are among the new books recently received by the university library. One is "Character Building" by W. A. Harper, president of Elon college, North Carolina. He advocates that colleges incorporate subjects in their courses of study that will teach effective methods of character building.

The other book is "The Professor's Wife" by Bravim Imbs, a satire on society in a small college town.

Other new books are: "The Thought Broker" a collection of essays by Samuel McChord Crothers, "Moses" by Louis Untermeyer, "Golden Complex" by Lee Wilson Dodds, "Skyward" by Richard Byrd, and "The Strange Case of Miss Annie Spragg" by Louis Bromfield.

A book of special importance is "A Son of Earth" by William Ellery Leonard, author of "Two Lives" and "The Locomotive God." "The Devil" by Alfred Neumann is also particularly recommended by the librarians.

Ye Tabard Inn Elects Five to Membership

Newly elected members of Ye Tabard Inn, Oregon chapter of Sigma Upsilon, professional writers' fraternity, will parade the campus today garbed in the mystic tabards of the order. These men are Al Bracher, Henry Lumpee, Bill Wilmot, Myron Griffin, and Ted Rice.

Professor Thatcher is advisor of the Oregon chapter, as well as being an officer in the national organization.

Other faculty members are Kenneth Schumaker, English department; G. Verne Blue, a winner of the Edison Marshall short story prize in his undergraduate days at Oregon, and now assistant professor of history; and Walter Evans Kidd, graduate student in English.

Present officers are Joseph Holaday, president, and Joe Brown, secretary-treasurer.

New Book Tells How Black Sadie Acquires Fame

Campbell's Story in Co-op Library Shows Whites Mingling With Blacks

"Black Sadie," and how she rises to fame through her beauty and attraction to artists, her adventures when she leaves her home in the south to work in the north, and her love affairs with a train porter, is the latest addition to the Co-op book balcony. It was written by T. Bowyer Campbell, and shows clearly how the whites mingle with the blacks, and the distinction between the higher negroes and those of the southern cotton fields.

Among other interesting books also on the book balcony is "Winged Sandals." It was written by Lucien Price, a graduate of Harvard who has made several trips abroad. The book is interesting, not in rousing adventure, but in excellent description. Another is the "Decameron of Boccaccio." A volume of 100 stories, supposed to have been written when, on account of a plague, a group of people moved to the outskirts of a European city. The stories originated during these 10 days, 10 each night. This book was translated by John Payne.

Perhaps the best books which have been placed on the "High Hat" rent shelves are "Darwin," and "Moses." In "Darwin," Garin Bradford relates the scientist's studies. He also reveals him as a lover of his fellow men, but as a destroyer, too. The book describes the spirit in which Darwin left the century.

When Louis Untermeyer wrote "Moses," it was one of his first excursions into novel writing. The story is a complete narrative, rising to a climax and showing the treatment of the Israelite, to his death. Untermeyer has also written many anthologies and one set of poems.

Orders for Flowers To Close Tomorrow

Proceeds of Sale Will Add To Foreign Student Fund

Students who wish to buy chrysanthemums for Homecoming at the reduced rates sponsored by the Women's league have only until tomorrow to turn in their orders. This is the announcement of Emmabelle Woodworth, who has charge of the flower sale.

This sale is a benefit sponsored by the Women's league in the interests of the foreign scholar who is brought to the campus each year to create a greater feeling of internationalism. The student here at present is Fraulein Lause Huls from Germany.

The chrysanthemums are being ordered from the Chase Garden florist. Students pay 50 cents a flower for the plain ones and 75 cents for the ones with a green "O" in the center. The Women's league makes a 20 per cent commission on the enterprise. So far, approximately 250 orders have been received.

The flowers will be delivered to each living organization before noon on Saturday. Each organization has its own representative who takes charge of the sale in his particular house.

Move To Slate Game Vetoed by Jack Benefiel

Contest With Cougars in Portland Meets Little Support by Manager

The move on foot in Portland to schedule a post-season football game between the University of Oregon and Washington State college is receiving little support on the campus here by authorities in charge of schedules.

With two games yet for Oregon to play, and one for Washington State, their positions as northwest leaders are too unsecure to bet on. Jack Benefiel, Oregon graduate manager.

"Let's get the Montana game over with this Saturday," Benefiel stressed last night. "When one speculates two or three weeks in advance, there is too much chance for a slip-up. Oregon still has that game and U. C. L. A. to get over and Washington may defeat the Staters."

"Too, what is the point in such a game?" he asked, "both teams have been defeated. Is it for a championship? The East-West games will take all interest from such a contest."

Jimmy Richardson, manager of the Multnomah club in Portland, has been leading the demand for the game between the two teams, neither of which has been defeated by northwest rivals. He picked December 8 as a tentative date, since the stadium is open then.

Thespians To Give Tea For Freshmen Women

Aid to Students Everywhere Is Committee's Aim

Frosh Commission Hears Henrietta Thompson on International Service

Helping students the world over to gain a common understanding and aiding them financially is the work of the International Student service as explained by Miss Henrietta Thompson, international secretary of Seabeck and Asilomar divisions of the Y. W. C. A. in her talk to the Frosh commission yesterday afternoon.

"Competition for education is very great in European countries," she said. If a student who is working as well as going to school flunks out, he is given no other chance. He must quit school. I. S. S. helps these students by granting scholarships.

Twelve dollars a month is enough to keep such a student in school, she explained. This amount pays for his fees, books, room and board.

Miss Thompson told of the strong racial feeling in most European countries, particularly in such countries as Czechoslovakia, where the mixture of races is great. Nevertheless, after the war, students there built themselves a "shack" with their own hands so that they might have a home where they could stay and study. Living there, they came to mutual understanding and learned to see each other's needs.

Part of the money which the Frosh commission raises from its permanent sale is sent to the International Student service to carry on this work.

Dr. K. Reinhardt To Talk Sunday Of German Youth

Faculty Member To Speak On Recent Movement Before Newman Club

Dr. K. Reinhardt, professor of German, will speak on the youth movement in Germany as well as in various other European nations, to the Newman club, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Reinhardt was a member of a number of unions participating in the movement, and was very active in their work. While in Germany he published a book on the history of Christian denominations and the relations between the churches and sects in the past and in the present time. This book was published as one of a large series of works produced by the German union of university graduates. He was at the head of a peace league of the Freiburg branch whose purpose it is to carry out the principles of the Christian doctrine toward international peace based on Christian faith. Dr. Reinhardt has travelled throughout Germany, Austria, France, Italy, Canada and the United States, and has attended no less than five national and international meetings of leaders of the youth movement.

"The German movement is active among the students and graduates of the universities," Dr. Reinhardt states. "The movement is very important all over Germany, and has spread to Switzerland, Austria and Holland, and to France, though in a different form."

It is significant for its attempt to solve such urgent questions as capitalism and socialism, and for its dealing with world peace and what part Christianity has in bringing about the solution.

The principles of the German youth movement in general, and how these principles reflect on the activities of the students and graduates will be discussed in his talk.
