

Business Ad Group Appoints Committees

Opportunity Day and Drive For Members Discussed

The membership drive for the business administration student body association will be handled by the class representative of the group, said Ron McCreight, president of the group, which held its last meeting of the year yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Commerce building.

A number of committee chairmen were appointed: Carl Rodgers, Opportunity day chairman, with Grace Griggs, Wade Newbegin, Harold Gulde, and Ralph Geyer as committee members; "Ban" Stadelman, athletic activities chairman, and Bill Rutherford, social activities chairman, with power to appoint their committees.

In a brief outline of the plans for Opportunity day McCreight said that a number of leading men from various branches of business activity would be here for the occasion which is planned for next term, and would speak to the students on business as a profession. A dance will also be held next term, he said.

The association is getting a basketball team started, and issues a challenge to the other schools not only in basketball, but also in baseball or anything else. "We challenge the journalism school especially," the president told the reporter.

Volley Ball All-Stars Vie for Title Friday

First and Second Honors Given Women Athletes

After a season of hard playing and many close games the intramural volleyball season has drawn to a close. As in the nationally popular game of football, volleyball too has its all-stars. Two such teams have been selected and will vie with each other Friday at five o'clock for the championship.

The first all-star team which will attempt to capture the championship is composed of: Dorothea Lensch, Marge Landru, Dorothea Lensch, Hilda Top, Jeanette Hermance, Mary Agnes Hunt and Malhalab Kurtz.

The second all-star team which will also battle for the title includes: Juanita Young, Ella Redkey, Nellie McDonald, Blanche Griggs, Marjory Goff and Dorothy Dundore.

Letting his hair and beard grow (the latter experiment was not so successful) and looking as untidy as possible, the Y. M. president spent three nights with these people in the parks at the Battery and the Manhattan ell, where they spend the night.

A Tense Moment in "Pigs," Senior Class Play

hit men on the head with their clubs to keep them from walking into the streets and getting run over with a taxi.

"Prisons couldn't hold all the old men who want merely to forget. Old men with white hair and bleary red eyes come into the speak-easies, flop down on a chair or buy a drink if they have the price. And the operators of these places relieve them of their clothes after they're thoroughly 'sogged.' They have no purpose in living, but they haven't enough nerve to commit suicide."

Emphasis on dollar success Mr. Bristol names as one of the causes of the condition. "In giving up hope of success they've given up their only ideal," he explained.

Good Time Expected Greenwich Village, center of night life, where "artistic" night clubs abound, was frequently visited by Mr. Bristol in company with another student. The legal clubs, he says, close at 1 o'clock. Patrons on leaving are met at the door by a man who asks them, "Are you looking for a good time, drink, women?"

Mr. Bristol does not blame the municipal government of New York for the conditions there. He confesses he knows of no quick, far-reaching reform.

C. H. Hicks Talks To Aero Club Members About Aerodynamics

"The aerodynamics of different kinds of airfoils and other objects moving in the air" was the subject of a talk by C. H. Hicks, assistant professor of mathematics, at the meeting of the University of Oregon Aero club in the Commerce building Wednesday evening. He illustrated his talk with sketches on the blackboard.

One of the main points of interest to the club in Mr. Hicks' talk was presentation of the fact that the popular theory of a vacuum above a moving aeroplane wing is false, as there is no vacuum, but only a lessened air pressure.

The constitution of the club was passed upon at this time and permanent officers elected by the group were Leonard H. Delano, president;

George Tebbetts, vice-president, and Myrtis Gorst, recording secretary. Filling of the offices of corresponding secretary and treasurer were taken upon the constitution. Letters temporarily postponed in action and pamphlets received by the officers of the club pertaining to business of the organization were read at this time. Mr. Hicks announced that he would be glad to loan to any members any of his books on aviation.

Coolies Will Serve Women's League Tea

Luise Huls Makes Debut To University Women

Wisps of purple incense, Japanese coolies serving tea and great chrysanthemums to fill the room with fragrance. There will be Oriental music and an Oriental atmosphere at the Women's league tea given today from 3 to 5 in the sun parlor of the Woman's building, says Eva Davis, chairman of the tea for which the Alpha Gamma Deltas are acting as hostesses.

Fraulein Luise Huls of Germany, doctor of philosophy, who, under the auspices of the Women's league is studying on the campus this year, will be the guest of honor.

The Women's league extended its invitation to Luise to come here to study so that she might help perpetuate the spirit of internationalism which has been so vigorously stressed since the World War. This is her first official reception by the women of the campus.

The program for this Oriental tea, to which all women on the campus are invited, it to be continuous throughout the afternoon, and Carolyn Haberlach will play dance music. The Alpha Gamma Delta upperclassmen will act as hostesses, while the underclassmen, dressed as coolies, will serve the tea.

Pauline Schuele is the assistant chairman for the tea, and Florence McNeerney is head for all of the teas this year.

New Features Planned For Vespers Services

One of the most interesting programs of the term has been planned for the 4 o'clock vesper services which are to be held at the Y. W. C. A. Bungalow this afternoon, according to the announcement of Harriet Fuller, chairman of the program committee.

Luise Huls, German student on the campus this year, is to talk on "Christmas Customs in Germany." In addition, she will sing several German Christmas songs, furnishing her own accompaniment on the guitar.

The cloud of gloom over the University of Idaho campus spread with the rumor that there would be no Christmas vacation because of the influenza epidemic has lifted with the announcement that many ill are improving and will be out in time for the holiday. Many of the houses and halls on the campus have been converted into infirmaries to accommodate the number of persons ill.

Dr. Harry B. Yocum, professor of zoology, was named delegate to the national meeting of the American Association of University Professors, which will be held in New York City December 31 and January 1, at the first regular meeting of the year Tuesday night. Twenty-seven members of the order attended the dinner at the new men's dorm.

The local membership numbers about 45. Dr. E. T. Hodge, professor of economic geology, is president of the group and Dr. Yocum is secretary.
