

Eight Webfoots Playing Last Game For Oregon Team

Hawaii Fans To Get Final Look at Aces

Burnell, Hagan, Pope, Gould Are First String Players Graduating

Frosh Eleven Has Many Promising Candidates

Sorority pledging began once more at nine o'clock Monday morning when the first colorful ribbons blossomed forth on co-ed dresses. Pledging will continue until Sunday at midnight. Thirty-two have been pledged to various sororities so far.

Eight University of Oregon athletes will play their last football games for the Webfoots in Hawaii. They are: George Burnell, halfback; Merrill Hagan, guard; Coter Gould, fullback; Ted Pope, end; Everett McCutchan, guard; Bob Keeney, guard; Ira Woodie, quarterback; and Art Ord, halfback.

Speculations are now rampant as to who will fill these vacancies on the varsity in 1929. All eight men have been of inestimable value to the Webfoots this year, and it will be no easy task for the coaching staff to find capable material. John Donohue is a likely candidate for Hagan's job. Donohue played halfback on the 1927 frosh team, but was moved into the line when he graduated to the varsity. Donohue played excellent football in the Stanford game, but was moved back to half after Dave Mason was forced out with a broken ankle.

Yearlings Kated High

Si West, Gilbert French, and Henry Heyden, linemen of this year's yearling team, all have a good chance of breaking into conference competition next fall. West, an 190-pound husky, can punt farther than any player in school including Kitzmiller, and is a good interference runner, something which is necessary to the guards on the Oregon team.

Both French and Heyden weigh about 185. French is playing his first year at guard, and lacks the polish of a good offensive lineman. He is a sure tackler, however, and developing rapidly. Heyden is a stellar defensive player, and as soon as he can pick up a little speed he will be a wizard on the offensive.

Forsta Strong Center

Eric Forsta, Astoria, is one of the finds of the season, according to Bill Reinhart, the frosh coach, and should give George Stadelman a tough battle next fall for the center position. Forsta, weighing 185 pounds, has an ideal build for a center, he is fast, an accurate passer, and a sure tackler.

At the first of the season the tackle material was only mediocre, but since then Reinhart has uncovered some material which is liable to step in and take over Colbert's and Christensen's places on the varsity. These men are Irvin Schulz and Francis Keltner. Both these men looked better this year than either Colbert or Christensen did when they were on the frosh team, according to Reinhart.

Schulz Is Scrappy

Schulz weighs 185 and is equally powerful on the offense and the defense. Keltner's promise lies in his consistency. He is a hard worker, and gets into every play.

John Erdley, Dean Ricks, and Eugene Tarbell are all frosh ends of considerable promise. Both Erdley and Ricks are fine blockers and tacklers which makes them invaluable on the offensive. Tarbell is a good defensive end, but lacks the experience of Ricks and Erdley. Ricks played fullback part of the time this year, and may even make a bid for Gould's position in 1929.

Backs Show Power

Johnny Londahl, Steve Fletcher, Al Browne, Clarence Dizney, and Raymond Neveau are the outstanding backs on the frosh team. These men, along with Dave Mason, who has been out all season with a fractured tibia, and Ed Moeller, from the frosh team of 1927, will make strong bids for the varsity jobs open in the backfield.

The frosh lost only one game this year, and that to the Washington Babes at Seattle, 7 to 0. The touchdown scored in that game was the only one pushed over the frosh goal the entire season. The greatest triumph for the yearlings was their two victories from the O. A. C. rock team.

Prospects Good For Next Year's Swimming Team

Johnny Anderson To Lead Squad; Six Lettermen, Five Numeral Men Back

Six lettermen of last year's championship swimming team are at Oregon again this year and have boosted the prospects of another winning team for 1929. Other promising material, which includes three 1928 frosh stars, is eligible for this year's varsity.

Edward F. Abercrombie, head swimming coach, has had the team reporting for practice all year, but intensive work will not begin until the opening of the winter term in January. The squad will again be lead by Johnny Anderson, who broke three conference records last year.

The lettermen who are eligible for the swimming team are John Anderson, Charles Silverman, Bob McAlpin, John Allen, Willis Fletcher, and Jim Sharp. Chet Floyd, Don Neer and John Creech are the outstanding men from the froshermen. Hal Hatton, yearling star in 1927, and Art Larson, a member of the 1926 frosh squad, are turning out for the varsity.

Anderson is the star performer for the Webfoots. The 440-yard free style is his best race, but he has shown record pace in other heats. He holds the short pool records in the 40-yard, 100-yard, and the 150-yard back stroke. In the national intercollegiate championships last year Anderson won fourth place in the 150-yard backstroke and was semi-finalist in the 50-yard free style.

Charles Silverman, another Oregon star last year, holds the record for the Pacific Northwest 440-yard free style. Willis Fletcher, another letterman, had a comparatively poor season last year. This year, however, he is showing great promise in practice. His best race is the 200-yard breast stroke. Wade Newbegin also specializes in this distance.

strength to the Webfoot team. John Creech is an excellent swimmer in the 220-yard and the 440-yard free style. Don Neer is regarded as one of the leading divers on the coast and should star for Oregon in that event this year. Chet Floyd swims the relay, the 100-yard and the 220-yard free style. Floyd was captain of the Hollywood Athletic club team before coming to Oregon.
