Irregular Classes Will Hold Tests Whenever Teachers Fix Dates

Irregular class examinations have been changed from Wednesday, from 1 until 3, and will be given by the instructors at hours convenient to the members of their classes, Miss Gertrude Stephenson, secretary of the schedule committee, announced yesterday.

The change was made to accommodate the physiology laboratory students, as the large number taking the course made it necessary to set Tuesday afternoon for them alone. Examinations will be held in the regular class rooms unless otherwise announced by the instructor. The fall term examination is as follows:

- Saturday, December 15
1-3—Personal Hygiene for Women.
- Monday, December 17
8-10—Eight o'clock classes meeting Monday, Wednesday, Friday or any two of these days, and four and five hour classes at eight.
10-12—Eight o'clock classes meeting Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday or any two of these days.
1-3—First and Second Year French, all sections. Third year French Literature, all sections.
3-5—First and Second Year Spanish, all sections. Third Year Spanish Literature, all sections.
- Tuesday, December 18
8-10—Nine o'clock classes meeting Monday, Wednesday, Friday or any two of these days, and four and five hour classes at nine.
10-12—Nine o'clock classes meeting Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday or any two of these days.
1-3—Man and His Environment, three sections.
3-5—Report Writing, Business English, and Exposition classes, all sections.

Horn

motorcycle for their weekly trips instead of a car, last week they invested some of their surplus earnings in a second-hand model of one of the most approved makes. A side-car was added, and the equipment was complete.

The former owner of the motorcycle gave Trader Horn and Trapper Thompson half an hour of instruction in the intricacies of making the vehicle start, stop, back up, and stand on its hind wheels.

Minds Master Problems
The bright and receptive minds of our heroes completely mastered all these important points, in no time at all. All their fraternity brothers gathered round them and attempted to dissuade them from such a dangerous and foolhardy attempt, but Trader Horn and Trapper Thompson are of the stuff from which heroes are made, and with tears standing in their eyes, they took their leave, first, however, instructing their brothers carefully regarding the sororities wherein their pins might be found in case they did not return.

Sunday at sunset was the time set for their return. The sun set on schedule time, but the intrepid adventurers did not return. By midnight the brothers became alarmed and began to organize a relief expedition. But at two o'clock the trappers returned, bringing with them neither pelts nor motorcycle, only a tale of woe and woe, that would make an Armenian massacre seem like a chapter from the life of Pollyanna.

Don Dry Duds

Upon first arriving they were inclined to be a bit hysterical, but dry clothes, hot lemonade, and a few cigarettes, soon quieted them down, and all the gruesome details were exposed.

At seven o'clock Saturday evening they had reached a point 30 miles up the highway from Eugene. At this point the road parallels the McKenzie river. The motorcycle was tearing along at about 35 miles per hour, and the side car was not far behind. The lights refused to work after six o'clock, and Trapper Thompson, who was driving, trusted entirely to native capacity to keep him on the road.

At this point, enter the villain. A small boulder had rolled down from the overhanging bank, and was residing serenely in the middle of the road. The wheel of the side-car struck it amidships. The cycle careened wildly to the right, and before Trapper Thompson could bring his native capacity into control again, it dived into 15 feet of the coldest McKenzie aqua pura, and settled to the bottom without any hesitation whatsoever.

It took Trader Horn several seconds to extricate himself from the canvas windshield which covered the sidecar, but he soon rose to the surface, bearing with him a pair of high boots, a heavy topcoat, two sweaters, a flannel shirt, three quarts of water in the region of his abdomen, and a bundle of love letters.

When Horn's head appeared above the surface, Trapper Thompson was sitting upon a large boulder, staring over the angry waters and patiently waiting for his fellow-adventurer to show up.

A walk of three miles brought them to the little town of Vida, where first aid in the form of dry pajamas, and a warm bed was administered.

Salvage Sunken Ship

The next day was devoted to raising the sunken vessel. The combined efforts of a boat, a block and tackle, and a weary but willing crew finally brought the motorcycle from its watery grave.

It was set back on the road, and allowed to coast down the long grade. Just outside of Springfield the last bit of water gurgled out of the cylinders and the motor roared right merrily.

At their last interview Horn and Thompson bravely declare their intention of making a trip this weekend as per schedule. They say, however, that the lights have been fixed.

New English Course To Be Given Winter And Spring Terms

Elizabethan non-dramatic literature will be a new course to be given during the winter and spring terms if there is sufficient demand for it. The number of the new upperclass course is English 437 and will be conducted by George Williamson, assistant professor of English.

The title of this course is somewhat misleading, says Mr. Williamson.

Your reward for our work well done, is comfortable vision and satisfaction.

ENERGY and vitality are all-important in college life. But careless meals often bring about constipation—that thief of health and strength.

You can prevent constipation or secure prompt relief from it by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. This delightful cereal provides all-important bulk because it is 100% bran.

Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN by itself with fruit and honey or sprinkle it over other cereals. Order it at your campus cafeteria or in the fraternity restaurant.

Kellogg's
ALL-BRAN

The most popular cereals served in the dining-rooms of American colleges, eating clubs and fraternities are made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. They include Pep Bran Flakes, ALL-BRAN, Rice Krispies, Krumbles, Corn Flakes and Kellogg's Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit. Also Kaffee Hag Coffee—the coffee that lets you sleep.
