

Portland Tilt Arranged For Oregon Team

Basketball Boys Billed For Multnomah Club Christmas Vacation

Washington Huskies Listed For Season's Opener

The University of Oregon basketball team will journey to Portland to meet the quintets representing the Multnomah club and the Coliseum during the Christmas holidays, according to Jack Benefiel, graduate manager. The men will be allowed a couple days at their homes for Christmas and then will meet in the Rose City about December 28. The dates for the games have not been definitely set but, Benefiel declares, they will be played.

Negotiations for the proposed series of three games, between the University of Oklahoma five and the Webfoots, have been definitely called off. Mr. Benefiel received a telegram from the Oklahoma officials stating that their team would not be able to play in Eugene. The game between the varsity and the strong Kansas City independent team, tentatively set for January 15, also has been dropped.

Mr. Benefiel and Coach Reinhart decided that such a hard game, four days before the opening of the conference season, would do no good to the team. Oregon is scheduled to open away from home, meeting the powerful University of Washington Huskies in Seattle.

A game will be played with the Willamette university squad early in January, probably on the local floor, according to Benefiel. There is a possibility that more practice tilts will be listed as several other schools have suggested games. The local graduate manager is busy working out a satisfactory pre-season schedule.

eat that walked by itself. The reporter smiled sweetly at him, and he grinned back. Mr. Vincent has nice little laughing wrinkles at the corners of his eyes, but he doesn't talk readily.

"What do you think of college students?" "Oh, they're pretty nice," he smiled slowly, "—as a rule." Then Policeman Vincent, the watchdog of the streets, made a confession. "It would be pretty nice to be one."

"Are the students good at obeying traffic rules?" "The majority of them are," he answered. "At least they are much better than when I came. They used to park on both sides of the street, and they speeded quite a little."

"Are the professors and better?" the incorrigible reporter inquired. "You mustn't hit too hard at the pros," there was a twinkle in his eyes. "They are too old to know better," but a worried note crept into his voice. "They don't obey traffic rules as well as they should. I don't think they are as good as the students."

"Do you think," the reporter asked, "that these American youths are going to the dogs?" "I don't see why they should," he answered seriously. "No one has more opportunities than a bunch of students."

Campa Shoppe Will Be Scene Of Krazy Krawl

Alpha Delta Sig's Annual Caper Set for Jan. 12; Ten Co-eds Get Tickets

Advertising,—smeared, plastered, and thrown on the walls of the Campa Shoppe will be the decorations for the Krazy Kopy Krawl, Alpha Delta Sigma's annual caper, which will be held the first of next term, January 12.

"Next to good music and a good floor, features make the dance," says George Weber, general chairman of the dance. "Krazy Kopy Krawls are known for their features and this year's dance will have some of the best talent of the university on its list of entertainers."

It is rumored and whispered that about ten women in as many sororities will be given tickets to the affair and the man lucky enough to get a date with this fair lady will also be admitted without paying the usual price.

Committee appointments made by George Weber are as follows: Decorations, Bill Hammond; programs, Anton Peterson; tickets, Jim Manning; clean-up, Dick Horn; novelties, Charles Reed; patrons and patronesses, Bob Byington; advertising, Larry Thielen; publicity, Chal Nooe.

'Y' Hut To Be Scene Of Christmas Party

Everybody is welcome tonight at the Christmas party sponsored by the University of Oregon Cosmopolitan club, in the Y hut, according to Sam Whong, chairman of the committee.

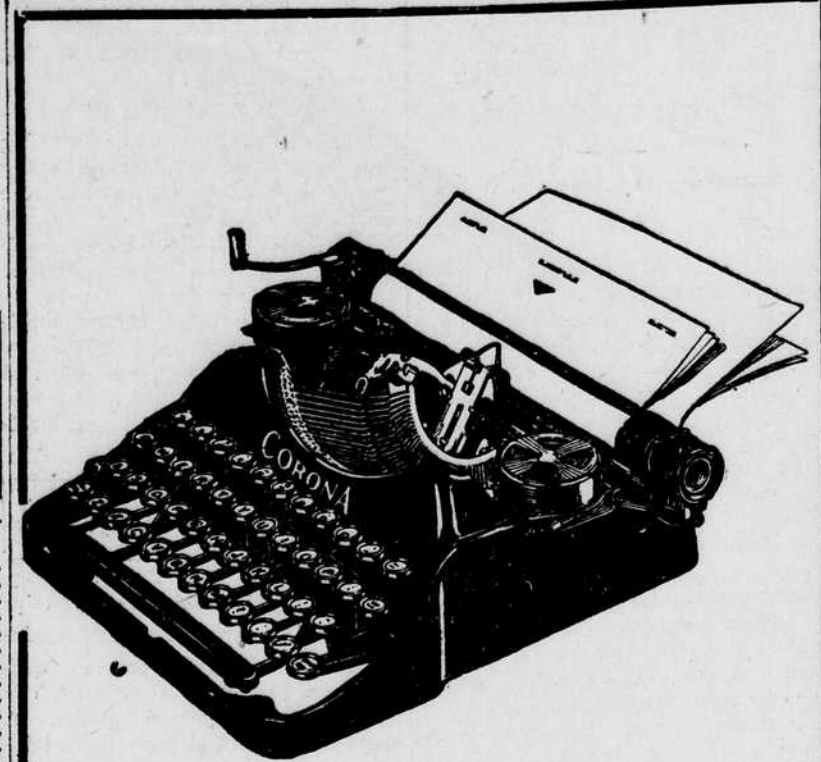

Mrs. Murray Warner will talk on a Christmas subject, and games and entertainment will prevail throughout the evening. A real American Christmas tree has been erected, one which reaches nearly to the ceiling. It is hoped that everyone desiring a real good time will attend.
