

SOCIETY

By DOROTHY BAKER

It seems an entirely fitting circumstance that the round of winter activities for college folk be ushered in with the gay festivities that always accompany the Christmas holiday period. Dances, supper-parties, teas and rush parties of various forms all played their parts in the entertainment planned for students who returned to their homes throughout the state.

During the holiday season, too, weddings and engagement announcements absorbed the interest of university folk quite as much as the bright Yuletide festivity.

College Ball Event Of Portland Festivities

Among important social events for all Portland high school students and university folk during the past holidays was the Christmas College Ball which was sponsored by the Women's league of the University of Oregon. The dance, which was given in the grand ballroom of the Multnomah hotel, benefited the foreign scholarship fund. Louise Huls of Germany is the student taking advantage of this scholarship this year.

Miss Martha Swafford, general chairman, is responsible for the success of the dance. She was assisted by Florence McNeerney, who was in charge of patrons and patronesses; Dorothy Kirk, in charge of publicity, and Gladys Clausen, head of finance and sale of tickets. Those who assisted the committee chairmen were: Eleanor Flanagan and Jane Cullers, finance and tickets; Lavina Hicks and Margaret Clark, publicity; Wilma Enke and Agnes Palmer, patrons and patronesses.

Of interest to the campus will be the news of the wedding of Miss Ruth Bradley to Herbert Socolofsky which was solemnized on New Year's day at the home of the bride's parents in Sheridan. Both Mr. and Mrs. Socolofsky were on the campus last year and were prominent in student affairs. The bride is affiliated with Delta Delta Delta sorority and Mr. Socolofsky is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. Miss Joan Patterson, a sorority sister of the bride, and Harold Socolofsky, brother of the bridegroom, were the only attendants.

After January 14, the young couple will be at home at 1626 Interlaken Place, Seattle, Washington.

News of the engagement of Miss Beatrice Louise Harden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harden of The Dalles, to Daniel P. Cheney, son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Cheney of Enterprise, was made known at a bridge party December 22. The party was at the home of the bride-elect and her mother and sister, Mrs. Sidney Bloom, were hostesses.

Both Miss Harden and Mr. Cheney attended the University of Oregon, and were affiliated with Chi Omega and Sigma Alpha Epsilon respectively. The bride-elect is a member of the editorial staff of the Astoria Evening Budget, and Mr. Cheney is city editor of the Pendleton East Oregonian.

One of the most beautiful Portland weddings of the Christmas season was that of Miss Dorothy LeFevre, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. T. LeFevre, to Raymond Gebhardt, son of Mrs. Harry Gabel, on Christmas night. The ceremony was performed at the Central Presbyterian church.

The bride attended the University of Oregon and was affiliated with Chi Omega. Miss Eleanor LeFevre, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and other members of the wedding party were the Misses Dorothy Black, Myrtle Reed, Helene Oates, Margaret Seley, Bernice Allstock, Jeanne LeFevre, Mae Gammon, Mildred Tuggle, Jane Cochran and Mrs. Nina Mank, Mrs. Herbert Rose, Ronald McCreight, Eldon Lambert, Hal LeFevre, Frank Miller and Quenton Cox.

After a honeymoon trip in the North Mr. and Mrs. Gebhardt will make their home in Portland.

The Portland Alumnae Association of Kappa Delta honored active members who were in the city during the holidays with a fireside supper party December 30 at the home of Miss Marjorie Morton. Members of the University of Washington, Oregon Agricultural college and University of Oregon chapters were guests for the party, which was gay with Christmas decorations and college colors used about the rooms. A musical program entertained during the supper hour.

Delta Gamma entertained about 100 girls who are planning to enter the University of Oregon at an attractive tea, Saturday, December 29, at the home of Miss Elizabeth Chance. Miss Catherine Galbraith was in charge of the affair.

The tea table was in charge of Miss Myra Covington, Miss Inez Fairchild, Miss Helen Tutill and Mrs. Estes Snedecor, who were assisted by a group of girls from the Oregon chapter.

Outstanding of all weddings in Eugene this season was the beautiful ceremony December 27, which united in marriage Miss Sarah Rorer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude D. Rorer, and Dean Henry Dickason, son of Mrs. D. H. Dickason, of Butte, Montana.

Christmas greens with lighted white tapers added beauty to the stately wedding which was read by Rev. Frederick G. Jennings in St. Mary's Episcopal church. Miss Emmajane Rorer, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and other university folk who were members of the wedding party were Miss Eleanor Flanagan, Miss Ethel Lou Crane, Miss Margaret Muncy, Miss Esme Freeman, Robert McMath, Rosser Atkinson, Sam Lehman, Ivan Martin, and Frank German.

Mrs. Dickason, who has been much feted since the announcement of her engagement last summer, is popular in campus circles and is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta. Mr. Dickason is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and is a graduate of Boulder university in Colorado. At present he is engaged in the importing of semi-precious and oriental stones. He is much noted for his lectures throughout the country and is writing a book for Doubleday, Page Publishing Co. Sailing from New York January 7, Mr. and Mrs. Dickason will start on a five months' trip around the world, returning to Oakland, California, where they will make their home.

Christmas day was also chosen as the date for the marriage of Miss Constance Cleaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Cleaver, to Herbert H. Jasper, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Jasper of Butte, Montana. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents in La Grande.

Mrs. Jasper is a graduate of the University of Oregon and is affiliated with Delta Delta Delta, and Mr. Jasper is assistant in the psychology department of the university.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Eleanor Cleaver, and Francis Robinson served as best man for the bridegroom.

At a dinner at the Alpha Phi house Thursday evening, Miss Barbara Edmunds announced her engagement to Ted Roy. The engagement was also announced during the Christmas holidays by Gladys Grant at the Columbia Golf club in Portland. Miss Edmunds graduated from the University of Oregon last year and is now taking graduate work in music. Mr. Roy is a student at Oregon State college.

Mrs. Frances Poret, the district governor of the local province of Alpha Phi, arrived in Eugene on Thursday for a four day visit and inspection.

The marriage of Irene Bowlsby to Earl Nelson was announced at the Gamma Nu house last evening. Mrs. Nelson, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bowlsby, and Mr. Nelson, son of C. W. Nelson of Faco, Montana, were married December 5, 1927. Mr. Nelson is a member of Theta Chi fraternity. The dinner table was decorated with a center piece of ferns, sweetheart roses and carnations.

The couple will be at home after January 5 at 749 East Thirteenth street.

Success

there were five saloons. Drunks sprawled around the streets; after nightfall it was unsafe for a woman to be on the streets. Now we see one drunk to ten at that time.

"Drinking has certainly reduced the poverty of the workingman's family. It has become a class matter now. Only people with money to spare, can buy it now."

He said that delinquency has been materially reduced despite contrary statements. Statistics prove it. In certain circles it may not be true, but taken as a whole it is.

"There may be more crimes now than there were in 1914," said Dr. Townsend, "but we must take into account the fact that there are two thousand more laws. Total cases are not a true index of crime increase or decrease. There is a need to look further and analyze cases. As for being able to enforce it, any law curbing individual liberty for the general good is bound not to be enforced—though as generations come it will lessen.

"In the last analysis," he said, "it is the control of individual conduct for the general benefit. That is its great value. Statistics show its benefits in a social and economic way. Its total value lies in those two aspects. The industrial magnates promote prohibition. It has brought cleanliness, safety of travel, and a more general well-being to the American people."

'Singing Fool' Offers Novel Entertainment

By O. H.

The golden voice and elastic mouth of Al Jolson offer a novel sort of entertainment this week at the McDonald theater in "The Singing Fool." The famous black face comedian sways the audience from tears to laughter at regular intervals and seems to almost step out of the silver screen onto the stage. He sings his famous song hits as never before and succeeds royally in bringing out the old reliable bandanas and tear troughs.

Jolson is by far the best Vitaphone actor ever brought to the local screen and can tell bed time stories or mimic grand opera with equal success. He completely overshadows all other members of the cast and skillfully covers up the weakness of the plot. "The Singing Fool" is especially recommended to co-eds who long for "a good cry" as "Al" can shed tear drops as well as any old maid.
