

Dean Young, Sociologist, Dies at Home

Veteran Professor Held Classes at Oregon for 33 Years; Was Active Man
Held High Historical Post in State Group
President Hall Lauds Him For Work at University

The death of Frederick George Young, 71, dean of the school of sociology here, at his home at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, brought to an end a career of devoted service to the university and to the public interests of the state at large.

He had been ill for several weeks prior to his demise, but continued to teach his classes and take an active part in progressive work for the university. No official word was available yesterday as to the successor to fill his position.
Dean Young was 33 years with the university, coming to the Oregon faculty as head of the department of economics and sociology in 1896. In 1920 he also took over the duties of dean of the graduate school, and the same year was made dean of the school of sociology.

With the state's welfare and progress at heart Dean Young was interested in several research projects. For years he entertained the idea of a state survey such as the one now being conducted, and at his death was engaged in the preliminary plans.

Dean Young was born at Burnett, Wisconsin, June 3, 1859. He was graduated from John Hopkins university in 1886 with the degree of B. A., and received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the University of Oregon in 1920.

Headed Normal School
During the period from 1887 to 1890, he was head of the state normal school at Madison, Wisconsin, then came to Oregon and was principal of the Portland high school 1890. In 1894 he became president of Albany college and two years later came to the university.

For thirty years Dean Young was secretary of the Oregon State historical association, being elected to the position in 1898 and holding it until his death. For several years he was secretary of the Oregon Conservation commission, and when he died was editor of the Quarterly Journal of the Oregon Historical society and of the Commonwealth Review. The latter publication is an outgrowth of the commonwealth conferences held on the campus between 1910 and 1915, which did much toward promotion of good roads programs, study of taxation problems, and similar public projects.

Edited History Volume
Dean Young edited the volume on "Sources of the History of Oregon," and wrote the book, "Financial History of Oregon," as well as many pamphlets and statistical works. The Oregon section of the Encyclopedia Britannica was edited by Dean Young. He served on the Oregon commission for the Lewis and Clark centennial.

A pioneer in walnut growing in this vicinity, his large walnut orchard near Eugene was regarded as one of the finest in the state.

Dr. Young married Mary Luella Packard of Manitowish, Wisconsin, July 25, 1887. She and two children, Frances Packard and Frederic Harold Young, survive him.

Hall Praises Professor
"Frederick George Young served the University of Oregon long and faithfully, and in addition he rendered great service to his state," said Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the university, upon learning of the death. "Always inter-

(Continued on Page Two)

Lighting Fixtures Need at Library

Help of Supply Houses Sought by Electrician

Half done—and there it stopped! The university library officials had planned diligently, had consulted all the eminent and proper consultants. They set everything in order for the electrician to install equipment, but he had only half the fixtures necessary. That new lighting system waited while telegrams sped to the contractors.

"More fixtures!" they cried. Completion of the new lighting arrangement in the main library is awaiting the arrival of fixtures from the supply house. Their entire supply but half filled the demand—installation proved faster than manufacture—so it's half done.

Billy Reinhart's Coaching Record At Oregon Good

Webfoots' Lowest Mark In Basketball Is Third In Northwest League

William J. Reinhart, Webfoot basketball coach, starts his sixth season at Oregon with an unusual record. In five years the Webfoot basketball team has twice won the title of the northern section of the conference, tied once, finished second once, and the lowest ever finished was third.

Oregon finished third in 1924, Reinhart's first year as head coach. The next year the Webfoots tied with O. S. C. but lost in the play-off. In both 1926 and 1927 Oregon won the northern championship, but on both occasions lost to California in the series for the title of the Pacific coast. Last year Oregon ended the season in second place, and defeated the championship-winning Washington team in the final game of the season.

Reinhart, besides being basketball coach, is the head baseball coach and frosh football coach at Oregon. Before coaching at Oregon, Reinhart was coach at Salem high. While studying at Oregon, Reinhart won letters in football, basketball and baseball.

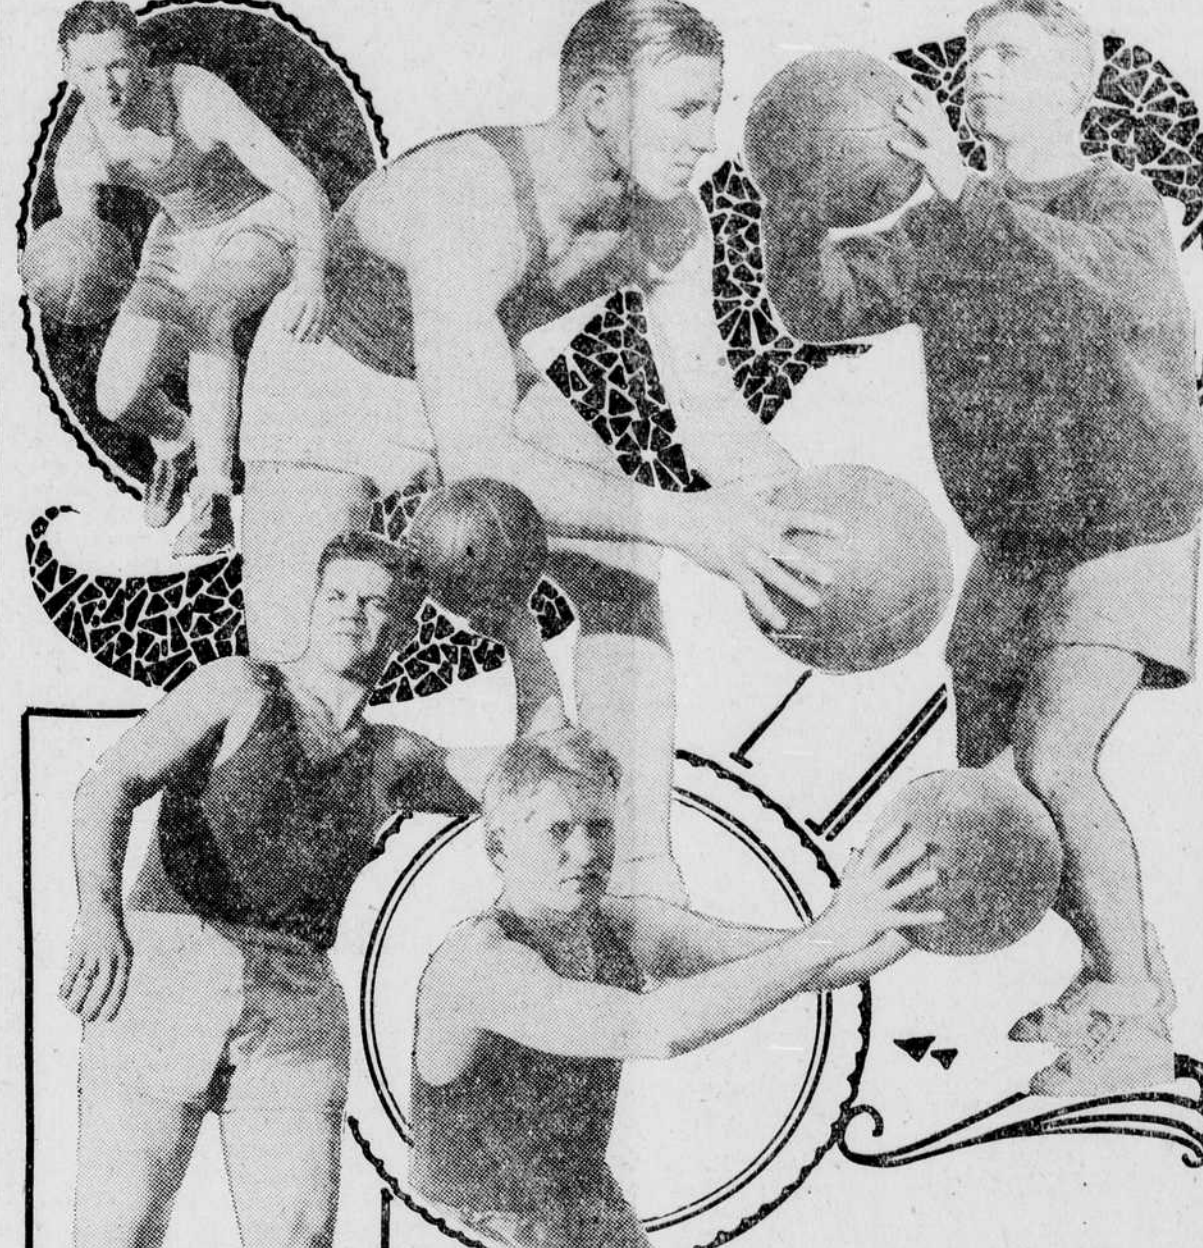

Thacher Will Make Tour of Northwest

To Speak to Spokane Club On Use of News Space

W. F. G. Thacher, professor of advertising at the university, will leave here next Tuesday for a tour of the northwest, during which he will be the principal speaker at the weekly session of the Spokane Advertising club. His topic will be "Making Your Newspaper Say 'Uncle,'" and in it he will outline the effective use of newspaper space.

Following the Spokane meeting Professor Thacher will go on to Moscow, Idaho, where he will inspect the advertising club of the University of Idaho, which is petitioning for a charter of Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising fraternity. Professor Thacher was one of the organizers of the Oregon chapter and is keenly interested in the work of the group. He will also visit the Alpha Delta Sigma chapter at the University of Washington on his return.

Webfoot Hoopsters Open Season With Bearcats

Here is the Webfoot varsity which will play Willamette tonight in McArthur court at 7:30 o'clock. Oregon, headed toward a championship in the northern division conference, already has won two pre-season contests. The players are Scott Milligan, upper left; Gordon Ridings, upper center; Mervyn Chastain, upper right; Ray Edwards, lower left; Don McCormick, lower left.

Phi Beta, New Music Honorary, Installed Here

California Members Put On Initiatory Rites; Ten Girls Join Group

Pi chapter of Phi Beta, national honorary professional music fraternity for women, was installed here last night at the home of Charlotte Carrl. Ten girls were installed.

Girls from Los Angeles, University of California and U. C. L. A., installed the chapter here. Members of the Pi chapter are: Carolyn Cooper, Diana Deininger, Marguerite Spath, Eunice Payne, Constance McKenzie, Agnes Talbot, Geneva Moll, Catherine Ross, Clara Belle Rogers, and Dory Barr.

Girls here from the Mu chapter, U. C. L. A., are: Catherine Stone, Marcella Kennedy, Margaret Head, Dortha Matson, Alberta Carlson, Grace Gosling, grand president, was also here for the installation.

Ralph Brockman Dies Following Long Illness

Ralph Brockman, sophomore in business administration, and a member of the Bachelorhood fraternity, died at the Eugene hospital during the Christmas holidays. He had been ill with pleurisy pneumonia since the last week in November. He became ill during Homecoming, and entered the infirmary, recovering sufficiently to drive to his home in Portland for the Thanksgiving holidays. Shortly after his return to school, however, he became ill again, and returned to the infirmary, from which he was transferred to the Eugene hospital when his condition became serious.

Three Former Students Visit Biology Dept.

Visitors at the biology department, yesterday were Frances Schroeder, class of 1928, Hazel Haden, '25, and Mary Druley, '24. Miss Haden, who obtained both her bachelor's and her master's degrees in biology from the University of Oregon, is now studying for doctor of philosophy degree at the University of California. Miss Druley and Miss Schroeder both received their bachelor's degrees in plant biology. Miss Druley is now teaching at Coquille and Miss Schroeder at Ashland.

Campus Chest Drive Due To Be Resumed
Campaign Will Continue Week To Fill Coffers

An effort to complete the Consolidated Campus Chest drive begun in the fall term will be made by teams from the campus Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A., it was decided at a meeting of the general drive committee recently. Robert Hynd was chairman. Marion Leach and Margaret Edmundson represented the women, and Al Bristol the men.

The work will begin Monday and continue for a week. New solicitation teams are being formed, which will work among the unaffiliated students not previously seen in the earlier drive. Fraternities and sororities will also be visited.

Desired results were not obtained in the fall because of the influenza epidemic.

Beginning the solicitation early in the term allows pledges to be paid with the university fees next month.

Women's Lifesaving Class Is Announced

A Red Cross Lifesaving class for women will be held this term on Tuesday from 4:00 to 4:10 and Thursday from 4 till 5:15, announces Miss Ernestine Troemel, instructor in swimming. Miss Troemel says that anyone who wishes to work for an examinership may come at this time, but she must have a Senior Red Cross certificate and be 21 years of age. Credit for gymnasium will be given for the course, but girls wishing to pass the examination, with working for credit, may do so, states Miss Troemel.

Prof. Stafford Well; To Start Work Soon

O. F. Stafford, professor of chemistry, who has been ill with sinus trouble for the past week, plans to return to his classes Monday or Tuesday.

Faculty Tickets

Faculty members may get season tickets at the A. S. U. O. office for $5.00 entitling them to permanent reserve seats for the basketball season. First game will be with Willamette tonight at 7:30.

Oregon's Basketball Five Meets Willamette In McArthur Tonight

Billy Reinhart's Quintet of Veterans Faces Tough Foe in Bearcats; Illness Hampers Webfoots; Seales, Ridings Are Expected To Star at Igloo

Oregon will open its home basketball season tonight against the Willamette Bearcats in McArthur court at 7:30 o'clock. The contest is the first of a three game series with the second and third games to be played January 8 and 12.

Willamette presents a strong line-up tonight while Oregon is still handicapped by illness and injuries among the veterans. Joe Bally guard, the most recent addition to the hospital list, received a deep cut above the eye in a scrimmage the first of this week.

Starting Line-ups

Oregon	Willamette
Ridings	F Adams
Chastain	F Seales
Edwards	C Cardinal
Milligan	G Houck
Epps	G Litchfield

Photoplay To Be Produced Here By Student Staff

Appointments Not Ready; Stars To Be Chosen by Tests; Story Collegiate

The University of Oregon campus will soon be the scene of a real, full-fledged motion picture, released by a student company, acted by students, and filmed by students.

Work on the production has been under way since the last part of winter term, and practically all of the necessary details have already been attended to. Casting and rehearsing will get under way in a few weeks and actual filming will be done during spring term. The production is expected to be ready for showing by the end of the school year.

The student staff which is at work includes at present the following: directors, Beatrice Milligan, Carvel Nelson, James Raley; business manager, Ron Hubbs; costuming, Louise Clark; properties, Fred Stanley; makeup, Rene Grayce Nelson; scenario staff, Henry Lumpee, Jean Patrick, Alex Tamkin, Myron Griffin, with Leslie L. Lewis, instructor in English, as direct supervisor; publicity, Myron Griffin, Lois Nelson. To this staff there will be further additions.

Story by Thacher
The scenario staff is basing the story of the film on a short story by Professor W. F. G. Thacher. A faculty committee consisting of Mr. Thacher, Mrs. Ottilie Seybolt, head of the drama department; S. Stephenson Smith, professor in English; George H. Godfrey, director of the public relations bureau, and Leslie L. Lewis, will supervise the work and pass on all phases of the production.

A board which is to act in an advisory capacity to the faculty committee and the student directors has been appointed by George H. Godfrey, chairman of the faculty committee. Its two members are Roy La Fever, secretary of the Portland Cine club, and Bert G. Bates, editor of the Roseburg News-Review. Both of these men have had extensive experience in both amateur and professional picture work and have expressed approval of the campus project.

The picture is to be filmed by two 16 mm. cameras, using panchromatic film, which is of the best quality obtainable.

Heavy Work Next Term
Unfortunately members of the drama department of the university

(Continued on Page Two)

With Gordon Ridings and Joe Bally just recovering from the flu, Scott Milligan out with an infected arm, and Chastain hampered by a sprained shoulder, Bill Reinhart, Oregon coach, has been counting on the reserve material to fill the gaps. Roy Hughes, Howard Eberhart, and Keith Emmons show up well, but only Cliff Horner of last year's frosh team displays any promise among the sophomore candidates. Oregon made a clean sweep of the Willamette series last year, but the opposition will be tougher tonight, according to Reinhart. Seales, a star with the Portland Checkers and Franklin High of Portland, is one of the Bearcats' scoring aces. Cardinal, center, an all-northwest conference selection last year, is back in the lineup. Adams, Litchfield and Houck complete the Willamette combination. Successful So Far

So far the Webfoots have been successful in their pre-season drive, but they are far from conference form. Their team work is slowly forming and by the time the season opens in Seattle against the Washington Huskies, Oregon should be in good shape. The Checkers were defeated 49 to 34 and the Multnomah club quint turned back 50 to 19.

Basketball dope in the northern division of the coast conference points toward a championship for either the University of Oregon or the University of Washington. All aggregations of the section have improved quints this season.

Aggies, W. S. C. Watched
Two teams, O. S. C. and W. S. C., will be watched this year as the dark horses of the conference. Both schools have new coaches, and coupled with veteran holdover material from last season, it is possible that there will be several upsets.

The Beavers played a two game series with the Beaverts Thursday and Friday nights. The Aggie outfit won the first game by a close score. Idaho so far is not faring so well and lost to Ellensburg Normal. The Vandals regulars, however, were out of the game with the flu. Montana placed fourth in the conference last year, and has an experienced team to start the season. Oregon's 1928 pre-season record:
Oregon47 Checkersboards23
Oregon50 Multnomah club30
Oregon36 Willamette17
Oregon30 Willamette23
Oregon48 Willamette33
Oregon54 Gonzaga15
Oregon53 Gonzaga42

Term's First Vespers Planned for Sunday

The first vesper service of the term will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 at the school of music auditorium. Since the program is to be broadcast over local radio station KORE, the doors will be closed promptly at 4:30.

Roy H. W. Davis will read the scripture for the service. John Stark Evans, organ instructor at the school of music, will be at the organ for the program. Other music for the service will be in charge of Roy Bryson, voice instructor.

Modern Girl is Happier Than Her Grandmother, Says Dean of Women

By MARY McLEAN
"Happiness cannot be measured in terms of generations," answered Miss Hazel Prutsman, acting dean of women, when asked which she considers the happier—the woman of today, or her grandmother. "I think Mrs. Bertrand Russell, in writing the article for the Forum, 'Are We Happier Than Our Grandmothers?' has presented her side of the debate very logically and fairly. Mrs. Cora Harris, who takes the opposite side of the question, has judged all women by only a small number. "Mrs. Harris says the modern girl is always doing something, never content to sit still for a moment—but why isn't that what she should do?" continued the dean of women. The representative girl of today is the one who is busy, living life in as interesting a fashion as she can, taking an interest in the things that concern here, and business, politics, and world events as well. "Happiness isn't a pursuit, Miss Prutsman thinks; it is more the result and the reward of pursuit. It is something in our nature that enables us to be happy—and because the women of today have so many more advantages, so many more of the things that make for happiness, they are happier than the girls and women of two generations ago. Women Helpers in Politics
"As for politics, which Mrs. Har-

(Continued on Page Two)

Romantic Oriental Street Crowd To Appear in 'Gods of the Mountain'

Weird oriental music, the dull beating of tom-toms in the distance, and the shrill wail of a flute, will mark the opening of "Gods of the Mountain," the three-act play being given next Thursday and Friday nights by the Guild Hall players, under the direction of Mrs. Ottilie T. Seybolt.
"Gods of the Mountain," one of Lord Dunsany's most famous plays, is the story of the rise and fall of the seven gods carved in jade on a far-distant mountainside.
The first act is indicative of the entire atmosphere of the play—the cruel, brilliant, romantic life of the ancient eastern world. There are slave girls, with their hands chained,