

Oregana Nets 300 Orders From Drive

Fifteen Houses Go Over Hundred Per Cent in Campus Solicitation

Jim Raley Says Total Now 1800 for Year Book

Thirteen sororities and two fraternities went over 100 per cent in the second Oregana drive, Jim Raley, circulation manager, announced last night. The drive netted 300 new subscriptions, bringing the total subscriptions for the year book to approximately 1800.

The sororities on the "Oregana Honor Roll" are: Sigma Kappa, Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Xi Delta, Phi Mu, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Delta, Pi Beta Phi, Gamma Phi Beta, Gamma Nu, Alpha Phi, Delta Gamma, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Three Arts club. The two fraternities that went over the top in the drive are: Phi Kappa Psi and Theta Chi.

Betty Beam was in charge of the drive in the women's organizations, and Bob Miller directed the canvassing of the men's houses. Each of the houses that were 100 per cent will receive two free Oreganas, one for the house and one to be raffled off in the house, and also a group picture.

"Although we set our quota for the second drive at 400 subscriptions, the 300 obtained will put the 1929 Oregana on a sound financial basis," Raley said. "People can subscribe at Jack Benefiel's office till tomorrow night, and have the charges put on their winter and spring term fees."

John Nelson, business manager for the Oregana, said yesterday that the book had to be out and would be out Junior Week-end.

The drive among the unaffiliated Eugene girls under the direction of Alice Carter and Emmanje Rorer, and the Eugene men's drive headed by Delbert Addison will end tomorrow night. Faculty solicitation under the direction of Harriet Kibbee will continue through the week.

Students who subscribed to last year's Oregana and paid only a part of the subscription price can secure their copies of the 1928 book at Jack Benefiel's office by paying the remainder of their subscription, Raley announced.

House Dances Allowed on Jan. 19 Says Dean

House dances may be scheduled for Saturday, January 19, according to Miss Shirley Glad, secretary to the dean of women. The evening was kept closed in making out the social calendar, because of the understanding that the Military Ball was to be an all campus affair. With the announcement that the Military Ball is not to be open to the campus, the evening has been opened for house dances.

It is customary to require that dances be scheduled at least a week before they are given, but, because of this misunderstanding, it will not be necessary to observe that rule in scheduling dances for January 19.

All interested in the discussion are asked to be on hand by 8 o'clock.

Cosmopolitan Club Postpones Meeting

The Cosmopolitan club meeting which was scheduled for tomorrow night has been postponed to give the members a chance to hear Miss Gay McClaren, who is to present a play at that time. The meeting will be held next Wednesday evening, at which time final arrangements for the term's programs are to be made.

reason as expressed by Comte, the great French philosopher. Comte, said Mr. Down, believed in reason. He thought that the social order could not be transformed until all the theoretic conceptions that belong to it had been rehandled in a scientific spirit, and maturely gathered up into a systematic whole along with the rest of our knowledge. Not So Radical Such an institution was frowned upon, and yet it had not started to go as far in the direction of modern thought as the state colleges of today have, stated Mr. Down.

Attending the law school at the University of Oregon from 1906 to 1909, Mr. Down was granted the degree of LL.B.

In 1920, he took his M.A., also from the University of Oregon.

Salem Man Gets Presidency for Prepper Group

Delegates Choose Officers On Final Day of Meet; Favor School Dancing

Barney Cameron of Salem high school was elected president of the Oregon Association of Student Body Officers at the concluding session of the association held Saturday morning at the Music building in conjunction with the Ninth Annual High School conference held on the campus Friday and Saturday.

Other officers of the school leaders' group are: John Finley, Grant high school, Portland, vice-president; Helen Hall, The Dalles high school, secretary; and Ralph Rawie, Corvallis, treasurer.

Dudley McClure, of Benson Polytechnic school, Portland, was chosen as next year's leader of the High School Press association. McClure is editor of the Tech Pep, the newspaper which won the Arnold Bennett Hall trophy for the best all-around paper published by an Oregon prep school.

Gobel Vice-president Dick Gobel, Grant high school, Portland, was named vice-president of the press association and Julia Creech, editor of the Clarion, published at the Salem high school, was elected secretary.

Dan McDavid, head of the Journal Junior department of the Oregon Journal, spoke to the press conference Saturday morning instead of Marshall Dana, associate editor of the Oregon Journal.

Live discussions mixed with pro and con arguments featured the Saturday morning session of the Association of Student Body Officers. Faculty supervision of activities was taken up by the delegates, the association going on record as favoring student body government in school activities with faculty advice.

Put O. K. on Dances A resolution was passed favoring high school dances sponsored by the schools. Unlimited competition in all activities between the Portland high schools and other Oregon high schools was unanimously favored by the delegation. Student concerts were declared to be a failure in high schools.

Dancing exhibitions, a volleyball game, and a fashion show made up the Saturday morning program for the delegates to the conference of the Association of Girls' Leagues at the Woman's building.

Swim Aspirants Try for Varsity; Season Is Near

Schedule Not Completely Arranged; Silverman, Anderson Lead Team

Fifteen candidates for the varsity swimming team have been steadily getting into condition for the approaching season since the term began. Approximately 12 men will be selected for the actual team to enter competition with two north-west colleges and probably two or three California schools, according to Coach Edward Abererombie. Eight events, two men to enter each, comprise the usual meet, several of the men entering two events or more.

The schedule for this season has not been definitely arranged, according to Jack Benefiel, graduate manager. Two meets with Oregon State college are to be held but the dates have not been fixed as yet. Washington State will be the second northwest competitor for Oregon. A trip for the team into California to meet schools there has been proposed but not definitely agreed upon as yet. Oregon would probably meet Stanford, University of California, and perhaps other schools on the trip.

The Oregon team this year will be led by Johnny Anderson and Charles "Chuck" Silverman, consistent performers from last season's northwest championship team. Anderson's ability in the sprints and backstroke is well known. Silverman gathered many points in the distance races last year.

As possibilities Coach Abererombie has besides Anderson and Silverman, two men each for the distance races, sprints, and breast stroke events, as well as three divers and three back stroke specialists.

Johnny Creech and Bill Gillett, both from last year's frosh, are the distance swimmers mentioned. Harold Hatton, ineligible last year, and Chet Floyd, varsity swimmer last season, are sprint prospects competing with Anderson. Veterans of the 1928 team, Jim Sharp and "Wig" Fletcher are practically sure of making the team as breast stroke men.

Don Neer, Len Thompson and Joe Brown are Oregon's hopes in the diving events. Neer is up from the frosh, and Thompson was on the team last year.

John Allen, letterman last year, Bob McAlpin and Poard Smith will try for backstroke places. Anderson will swim in this event also.

Dr. E. T. Hodge Talks At Oregon State College

Dr. Edwin T. Hodge, professor of economic geology, in an illustrated address at Oregon State college last Thursday traced the history of Mt. Hood from the time when there was no Columbia river as it is known today. Dr. Hodge, whose subject was "The Geology of Mt. Hood," appeared at the annual banquet of the Mining club at the college.

Dr. Hodge described the mountain's several periods of volcanic activity, its defacement by glaciers, and its bodily transportation one mile to the north of its original position.

Episcopal Students Plan Informal Dance Saturday Night, Date for Affair; Campus Invited

A dance for all university students is being sponsored by St. Mary's chapter of the National Student council Saturday night, January 19, at 8:30. Bennett Swanton, president of the organization, extends a cordial invitation to everyone on the campus, whether he has a date or not. Two or three features are promised. The affair is informal, and campus clothes will be in order.

Patrons and patronesses will include Mr. and Mrs. Nowland B. Zane of the school of architecture and allied arts, Rev. and Mrs. Frederick G. Jennings of Saint Mary's Episcopal church, and Frank Palmer and Juliette Gibson, both teaching in the Eugene high school.

Bennett Swanton is in charge of the affair. He is assisted by Rita Harriman, vice-president of the Student Council, and Janet Osborne. The parish hall at Seventh and Olive streets, behind the church, will be the scene of the dance.

Last Day To Enter School, January 16

Wednesday, January 16, is the last day that students may enter the university or add a course. Until that time, a fee of one dollar will be charged for every course added.

Another "last day" date is January 19. After that, students who make up incompletes from last term will not have the grades count on their house grades. This means that the student must have cleared his incomplete by making up his work by the 19th, and that the professor must have turned in the grade to the registrar's office.

Regents Appeal To Legislature For More Funds

$90,000 Asked Research And Extension Division; Pension System Possible

An appeal to the Oregon legislature for additional funds to meet an emergency created by a rapidly increasing enrollment and a practically stationary income at the University of Oregon will be made at the current session, it was decided at the winter meeting of the university board of regents on the campus Saturday.

An appropriation of $90,000 will be asked for expanding the extension division, $73,000 for faculty pensions, in addition to the regular biennial appropriations of $246,607 for the Medical School and $170,000 for the Dorenbecher hospital. This request will not conflict with the recent decision not to ask for appropriations for new buildings.

It was pointed out at the meeting that since 1920, when the last millage bill was passed by the state legislature, the student enrollment has increased 86 per cent, whereas the income from the millage tax has increased but 13.5 per cent. The university has been forced to resort to the raising of student fees for the support of the regular instruction of the institution, but is now unable to divert any of the income to research work, or to the continuation of the extension work.

The proposed research program includes: Bureau of business research, $7,500; foreign trade investigation, $8,500; crime and criminal administration, $7,500; school administration, $5,000; and a grant to the research committee, $5,000. $60,000 of the requested appropriation will be used for the continuation and slight development of the work of the extension division.

The pension system, if it is adopted, will be worked out jointly with the Oregon Agricultural college. The faculties of the two institutions will bear half of the expense of the program.

The annual budget, submitted to the board of regents by President Arnold Bennett Hall, showed that the estimated resources of the coming year are $1,067,800, of which $913,800 is to be derived from the millage tax, and $129,000 from student fees.

Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va. Gentlemen:

Replying to your circular letter of June 29, be informed that your sample packages were received. With them I received the pamphlet describing your product, which I was able to enjoy reading because there was not in the circular matter the usual distasteful sales talk which makes the recipient of a sample package feel obligated or uncomfortable.

I believe your practice of giving your prospect a sample and then letting him make up his own mind will gain you many more customers than will the usual modern sales practice of pushing the product down the prospect's throat. As a matter of fact, since receiving your sample and your advertising matter I smoked up the sample package and have since purchased a number of cans from neighborhood dealers, all of whom carry this tobacco in a city of this size.

I have found Edgeworth to be a satisfactory blend at a very reasonable price, and although my past acquaintance is brief, I look forward to a long membership in the Edgeworth Club. Yours very truly, Jeff Corydon
