

Oregon State Aquatic Meet This Week-end

Will Swim Oregon Here Saturday Afternoon; Opponents Said Weak

First Conference Contest; Aggies Lack Material

The first conference swimming meet of the year will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Oregon meets Oregon State in a dual meet. The varsity lost its first start against the freshmen last week but are favored to jump into the win column in Saturday's meet.

The Aggies are laboring under difficulties this season because of lack of material. Lee Hover, captain, is the only letterman on deck. Several promising last year's frosh did not show up for school this year and no exceptional men are in prospect for the team. However, John E. Kenney, O. S. C.'s new swimming coach, expects to bring a fairly good aggregation to Eugene this week-end, according to word from the Corvallis school.

The state team will probably offer most strength in the distance events, backstroke and diving. Captain Hover and Stuart George will swim against Chuck Silverman, Oregon star, and Johnny Creech in the 440-yard free style. Johnny Anderson will swim in the backstroke race since Chet Floyd, his team mate, can probably place first in the sprints. The Aggies have three men for the backstroke. They are Jubitz, Veghte and Disbrow.

In the dives, Thompson, Neer, and Brown will represent Oregon against two O. S. C. performers, Bob Matthews and Ed Sherman. Thompson won first place in the dives at the varsity-freshman meet last Saturday while Neer was unable to compete because of illness.

Equaling in interest the conference meet with the Aggies is the annual water polo game between the varsity and freshmen to be held afterwards. The freshmen have a fast team and should defeat the varsity ball tossers, who are scheduled to meet several coast schools in water polo. Frank Walton and McGowan Miller, freshman swim stars, are outstanding prospects for next year's varsity, both in swimming and water polo.

Reserved seat ticket sale for the Oregon - Northwestern swimming meet starts tomorrow. The A. S. U. O. office, the Co-op and Obaks cigar store will have the pasteboards for sale.

Shivering Boy Burnt Warming Before Fire

Beware all you shivering lads and lassies who have indulged in the comfortable pastime of toasting your shins before the open fire. It may prove disastrous, as Bertel Thorstenberg, son of the late Professor Thorstenberg, instructor in Scandinavian language department, and brother of Edward Thorstenberg, junior in biology, will probably testify.

Bertel, on Monday morning, went downstairs to build a fire in the fireplace. Clad only in pajamas and bathrobe, Bertel could not resist the temptation to edge closer to the blaze in an attempt to warm his shivering frame. He did so, and as a result his bathrobe burst into flames.

Bertel, who is a senior in Eugene high, is now confined to a bed in the Pacific Christian hospital, suffering from painful burns, although the doctors say his condition is not critical.

Bossing Will Travel 800 Miles to Lecture

Work Devoted to Y.M.C.A. Speaks First in Seattle

To make addresses in two cities in different states, Dr. N. L. Bossing, of the school of education, will travel more than 800 miles between this coming Saturday night and Tuesday.

Y. M. C. A. work will be the field to which both his talks will be devoted. Dr. Bossing plans to leave Saturday night for Seattle where he will speak at the launching of a drive for a million and a quarter dollars to be used by the Seattle Y. M. C. A. in erecting about five new buildings.

Returning here late Monday, he will go to Salem Tuesday evening to speak at a Y. M. C. A. dinner on vocational guidance. Dr. Bossing spoke Sunday morning before a Bible study group at the First Methodist Episcopal church here.

Carol Hurlburt has gained a post on the general assignment staff, making what is probably the first time that a freshman has ever held a position on this staff.

New reporters trying out on the news staff include Mack Hall, Mary Ellen Mason, Ruth Gaunt, Bob Guild, Ruth Campbell and Lenore Ely.

My First Job Professors Relate How First Money Earned

"It's a long story and it's not for publication," insisted Dr. Rudolf Ernst, associate professor of English, when asked about his first job. But he relented—so here it is.

"Through an accident, I was stranded in Europe at the age of 19, without enough money to get home. The check which my family had sent was partly destroyed by fire and I could not cash it.

"I managed to get enough money together to get to London where I borrowed more from my brother to return to America. In attempting to borrow as little as possible, I ran short and when I arrived in Boston I had about 60 cents in my pocket. My relatives in Boston were all out of town for the summer and I had no possible means of reaching them and I either had to find a job or go without food.

"I found a job—that of Western Union messenger in the city of Boston whose streets are the most complicated of any in the country. I didn't know one street from the other and for the three days that I worked, I was in a haze. Many Bostonians were surprised by a request from a Western Union messenger for directions to certain buildings.

"For three days, I existed on the tips that I received and I distinctly remember a 50 cent offering that a certain stock-broker gave me. At the end of that time I received aid from my parents and consequently was able to resign—but I felt quite pleased to think that I managed to hold the job that long. Possibly it was lucky that I resigned."

Arthur Riehl, 138 pound iron man of Friendly hall, threw Sidney Hoffman, Phi Psi representative, in a rough match held at the men's gymnasium yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the intramural wrestling tournament.

Hoffman put up a stiff resistance which was puzzling, and stood off Riehl until the final 15 seconds when an arm bar coupled with a half nelson gained the iron man the referee's slap. This makes Riehl's second victory in two successive days. Yesterday he threw Veryl Gard, Independents, in one minute with a half nelson and arm lock.

The closest bout of the afternoon occurred when Louis Feves, under Delta Epsilon colors, secured the nod over Clair Meisel, Independents, with a 40 second top advantage. The men were both exhausted at the end of the match. Feves weighed in as 136 pounds and Meisel as 135 pounds. Both these bouts were in the 138 pound class.

In the 148 pound class Lloyd Ruff, Sigma hall, won a minute advantage decision over Everett Horrell, Independents. Ruff weighed in 148 pounds; Horrell, 143 pounds.

All preliminaries are being run off daily with a finals match listed near the close of the week. Norville May has been acting as referee. In the Monday matches, Bernard Berenson, Sigma hall, threw Philip Livesley, Spe representative, in one minute and 10 seconds with a half nelson and body lock. They wrestled in the 148 pound class. Floyd Bowers, Independents, received a referee's decision over James Fletcher, Independents, after a five minute tussle.
