Many house and hall formals were crowded into the past week-end, but the coming week, also, will be crowded with formals, besides the Dime Crawl, Tuesday evening, and the special Women's league tea given in honor of Miss Hazel Prutsman next Thursday afternoon. The Delta Tau Delta open house, last Friday evening, was of unusual interest, as was also the bridge and tea, given by Alpha Omicron Pi in honor of their housemother.

Housemother Honored By Alpha Omicron Pi

Alpha Omicron Pi entertained with bridge and tea, Saturday afternoon at the chapter house, complimenting Mrs. Alberta T. Powell, who is acting as their housemother in the absence of Mrs. Lucy Abrams. About 50 town and faculty women were invited to come at 4 o'clock and the housemothers of the campus were invited to bridge at 2 o'clock.

The tea table was attractively decorated with a lace cover, daffodils and fresias, and green tapers. Mrs. J. J. Lange and Miss Sue L. Badollet poured. Receiving were: Mrs. Powell and Miss Luella Benge, president of the house.

An informal musical program consisted of: Miss Evelyn Hollis and Miss Werdna Isbell, vocal solos; Miss Muriel McLean and Miss Rae Stevens, piano solos; and Miss Chloethiel Woodard, violin solos.

Delta Tau Delta Gives Formal Open House

Many called to be the guests of Delta Tau Delta at the formal opening of their new chapter house, Friday evening between the hours of 8 and 11 o'clock.

In the receiving line were Dean and Mrs. John Straub, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton E. Spencer, Mrs. C. D. Rorer, Madame Rose McGrew, and Mrs. McAlpin from Portland.

Those who poured were Mrs. W. S. Jost and Mrs. William Stein.

During the evening Miss Agnes Petzold sang.

The Eugene hotel, Friday evening, was the scene of the Phi Sigma Kappa formal, dinner dance. Decorations for the event were of early spring flowers, cedar branches and candles. The orchestra was enclosed in palms. As a feature, Fred King, from Medford, gave a tap dance and John Mohr, of Hood River, a vocal solo. Kenton Hamaker and Paul Wagner were in charge of the dance.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Lynn McCready, Mr. and Mrs. Powell Plant, Mr. Murray Fowler and Mr. Louis Artau. Special guests were Earl Johnson, Eugene alumni, Don Long and George Wernmark of Corvallis.

Delta Tau Delta entertained at their chapter house with a formal grille dance, Saturday evening. The rooms were decorated with colored lights, palms and many spring flowers. Bob Keeney was in charge of the affair.

The feature numbers consisted of a trio by Bob Holmes, Robert McAlpin and Maurice Kinney; banjo solo by Joe Keeney and a vocal solo by Bob Hughes.

Acting as patrons and patronesses were: Mr. and Mrs. Carlton E. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Rorer, Mr. Verne Blue and Mrs. McAlpin.

At an informal dinner, Saturday evening, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Miller were hosts for Dr. and Mrs. Karl Reinhardt and Prof. and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher.

The chapter house of Alpha Delta

Pi, Saturday evening, was the scene of their regular winter term formal. The rooms were decorated to represent an Arabian desert and an oasis and fountain were placed in the fireplace. Harold Hatton gave a clog dance as a feature.

Guests from out of town were Eunice Northrup and Dorothy Mettler from Portland and Dorothy Stevens from Klamath Falls.

Invited to be patrons and patronesses were: Mildred Tuggle, Emery and Mrs. Gilvord Dyott, Miss Hazel Prutsman, and Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall.

Margaret Tucker had charge of the dance.

Kappa Kappa Gamma gave a formal supper dance at the Eugene hotel, Saturday evening. Red candles, colored lights, palms and St. Valentine's favors were used in an elaborate decorative scheme.

Alumnae who were present at the dance were: Mildred Tuggle, Emery Miller, Marion Look, Leslie Gage, Katherine Dearborn and Caulean Creath. Special guests were Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Chambers.

Those who served as patrons and patronesses were Mrs. W. H. Doane, Miss Hazel Prutsman, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Mamerud, Mr. and Mrs. Fowler Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Eric W. Allen and Miss Brownell Frasier.

Phi Chi Theta, national commerce honorary for women, held a formal tea in Alumni hall Saturday afternoon in honor of women who are majoring in the department of business administration.

Those in the receiving line included: Mrs. J. A. Johnston, Mrs. J. H. Bond, Miss Grace Griggs and Miss Katherine Bailey.

Mrs. A. B. Stillman and Mrs. O. K. Burrell poured. Alumni members of Phi Chi Theta assisted.

At the Osburn hotel, Saturday evening, Hendricks hall entertained with a formal dance to represent a movie idea. Pictures of movie stars were placed against a background of black on the walls. The feature was a short comedy reel.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance were Miss Consuelo McMillan, Mr. David Faville, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Hicks and Captain and Mrs. John J. McEwan.

The Girls' Oregon club entertained at their home, Saturday evening, with a formal dance. The rooms were decorated with cherry blossoms and wisteria to represent a Japanese garden.

Serving as patrons and patronesses were Dean and Mrs. Henry D. Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shumaker, Miss Hazel Prutsman, and President Arnold Bennett Hall.

Members of Chi Delta gave an informal dancing party at the Craftsman club, Saturday evening. St. Valentine was observed and the room was decorated with pussy-willows, red flowers and red and gold St. Valentine's favors. The feature of the evening was a St. Valentine's ballet.

Invited to be patrons and patronesses were Miss Margaret Daigh, Mr. Holmes Baldridge, Dr. and Mrs. Warren D. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hermance and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Knapp.

Pauline Anderson, Dena Licuallen, and Dorothy Thomas of the Sigma Kappa house spent the week-end in Portland. Miss Licuallen was a guest at the home of Miss Anderson.

Theta Sigma Phi and Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism honoraries for women and men, entertained jointly Sunday afternoon in the women's lounge of the Woman's building. The affair is an annual event of the two organizations. Stevenson S. Smith spoke on "We Need a Comedian." After the talk, tea was served.

Alpha Gamma Delta gave a formal dinner dance at the chapter house, Saturday evening. Eva Davis was in charge. The dance was decorated futuristically in cabaret style with bright colored drapes, palms, and colored floodlights. The dining room was of solid black with soft lights, serpentine and balloons.

Dorothy Chaney, Helen Rhodes and Merlaine Bryon, from the Corvallis chapter, gave a trio as the feature.

Patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Ida-May Garland, Miss Maude Kerns, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Holt, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Harpham and Rev. and Mrs. Adams.

Nine-letter Athlete In Major Sports Found

Rare Specimen These Days Discovered at W. S. C.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Pullman, Feb. 9.—Appearing on the horizon of Pacific coast conference athletics is a nine-letter major sport athlete, a rare specimen in this day of specialization of college sports. He is Teddy Rohwer, a stocky W. S. C. veteran in football, basketball and baseball.

For an athlete to win nine emblems in major sports during his three years of conference competition is just about the supreme test of all-around efficiency. Besides training continuously he must carry a full scholastic load as well.

Rohwer has accomplished all this and even more. He has been self-supporting throughout his college course. He is vice-president of the student body at W. S. C.

Equipment for Football Practice to Be Issued

Equipment will be issued this afternoon to football candidates turning out for spring practice, Captain John J. McEwan, coach, announced yesterday. There will be a meeting of candidates at McArthur court on Wednesday afternoon, and actual work will start Thursday.

McEwan plans a rigorous spring program through which he hopes to have the team ready to start serious training for the 1929 conference schedule. The importance of this preliminary work is emphasized by the shortness of the practice period between September 15, the date set for the first fall practice by the conference officials, and the opening game of the season.

Camden's Work

"Destructive Elements," modeled by Harry P. Camden, head of the sculpture department of the school of fine arts, will be displayed in heroic size, nine feet high, at the San Francisco exhibition of the National Sculpture society in April. The original statue was made in a three-foot size and is now being recast in Portland for the exhibition.

Davis Meeting Of Oregon Ministers

Henry W. Davis, director of the United Christian work on the campus, attended a meeting of the Oregon ministers which was held yesterday in McMinnville to hear Allan K. Foster speak. Mr. Davis expects to bring Mr. Foster to the campus to speak sometime this month.

While in McMinnville Mr. Davis visited his old classmate, L. W. Riley, president of Linnfield college. He also went through the new Administration building which was dedicated there recently.

Hodge Represents State Of Washington in Suit

Professor Examines Cause Of Accident to Tracks

Dr. E. T. Hodge, professor of economic geology, has been employed as a geological expert to represent the state of Washington in a suit now in the courts, it was learned yesterday.

"The state is being sued by the Spokane, Portland, and Seattle railroad on account of a great mass of rock that came down on the tracks near Cape Horn as a result of a tremendous explosion made during highway construction in November, 1927," Dr. Hodge said yesterday.

"The case is attracting great interest because of its fundamental bearing upon all damage caused to pre-existing property affected by ground movements that may or may not have been caused by highway construction," he stated.

Dr. Hodge has made a detailed field study of the geologic events leading up to the accident, and has studied the testimony offered in an attempt to discover the true cause and liability.

Because of the bearing of the case on future engineering work, legal and other expert talent has been gathered together for the suit.

W. S. C. Frosh Players Average Age 19 Years

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Pullman, Feb. 9.—The average Washington State freshman basketball player is 19 years old, weighs 159 pounds and is 5 feet 10 inches in height, according to statistics compiled on the 1929 Kitten aggregation.

Four of the yearling players are only 18 years of age, while the oldest is 21. The four "infants" are: Carl Jones, regular guard, and Gordon Burton, all forwards. Seven of the first-year cagers stand six feet and above, the giant of the lot being Clifford Bureham, center, who is six feet two inches in height. The husky of the 20 loopers is Dick Shannon, football and basketball player, who tips the scales at 190 pounds.

Honors for being the smallest man are divided between Bennie White and Wilbur Luft, forwards. Luft is five feet eight inches tall and weighs 143 pounds, while White is two inches shorter and weighs just two pounds less.
