The Webfoot varsity raised their conference percentage to .429 Saturday night by winning a second game from the Agggies, 35 to 26, and the freshmen let the Beaver rooks take the four game series by dropping the last one of them 31 to 30.

The varsity team has three more games yet to play, and the frosh two. Oregon will meet Washington State here next Saturday. The Cougars are on their road trip. They will take on the Aggies Friday on their way to Eugene.

Must Win All Games

Oregon will have to win all three of the remaining games to finish above the .500 mark. The other two games will also be on the campus. Idaho will come here on February 18, and Washington will play the Webfoots their final game on February 22.

The University of California and the University of Washington will play for the coast championship. California won from Stanford and Washington won from Washington State to clinch the titles in their respective divisions.

Frosh to Meet Young Huskies

The Oregon yearlings will go north to meet the young Huskies on February 16, and will play them a return tilt as a preliminary to the Oregon-Washington varsity contest. The frosh lost the series, three to one, to the rooks. They won the second game, played a week ago at Corvallis.

Bishop Sumner Pays Fifteenth Visit to Campus

Student Conferences Set For Tuesday, Thursday At Y Hut and Bungalow

Bishop Walter T. Sumner of the Episcopal diocese of Oregon is paying his fifteenth visit to the University of Oregon in as many years. He will address the annual university convocation assembly Thursday morning on "The Genus Bradypus." He spoke at vespers Sunday, at an assembly of the University high school Monday afternoon, and he will speak at the Eugene high school Tuesday morning.

Bishop Sumner announced yesterday the hours at which he may be consulted by university students. He will confer with women students from 11 to 12 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Y. W. C. A., and with men students from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. He asks that all students who want to confer with him about religious problems do so at these hours.

At least once every year for the past fifteen years Bishop Sumner has visited the University of Oregon campus, and has been in contact with a large number of students both through his personal conferences and his addresses. His time has been much in demand for this visit, and his social schedule has been filled for some time.

His schedule of the rest of his visit is as follows:

Tuesday, February 12: 9:45, address at Eugene high school; 11-12, conferences at Y. W. C. A.; lunch, Sigma Phi Epsilon; dinner, Alpha Upsilon.

Wednesday, February 13: Dinner, Kappa Delta.

Thursday, February 14: Lunch, Beta Theta Pi; 4:30-5:30, conferences at Y. M. C. A.; dinner, Delta Zeta.

Bossing Cancels Talk To Seattle Y. M. C. A.

Because of the illness of his two children, Dr. N. L. Bossing of the school of education, cancelled his week end trip to Seattle where he was scheduled for an address at the opening of a Y. M. C. A. building fund campaign Sunday, February 10. Dr. Bossing will speak a week from today in Salem at a Y. M. C. A. dinner meeting.

Public Speaking Club To Assemble Tonight

Companionate marriage will hold the floor tomorrow night when The Congress, campus public speaking club, meets in the College Side Inn at 7:30. A. Harvey Wright, junior in pre-law, will introduce the subject with a five-minute speech. The meeting will be thrown open for discussion after his talk.

Foundation Gives U. of O. Medical School $400,000

Appropriation to Be Used In Maintaining Clinic; Gift Largest in History

An unconditional gift of $400,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation of New York to the University of Oregon medical school for a clinic, was announced Saturday by Dr. Richard B. Dillehunt, dean of the medical school. Funds are available immediately, according to a telegram received from the secretary of the general education board of the Foundation.

Three hundred thousand dollars of the money will be used to erect a new clinic building upon the medical school campus in Portland. One hundred thousand dollars will be spent to equip the structure.

Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the university, and the board of regents made a request for the gift more than a year ago, upon the recommendation of Dr. Dillehunt.

Largest of all gifts to the university, the present contribution brings a total of approximately $1,225,000 from all sources during the past ten years. The Rockefellers have already contributed $291,000.

The clinic will continue the work of the free dispensary now operated in Portland by the Peoples Institute in affiliation with the medical school, the Doernbecher Memorial hospital for children, and the Multnomah county hospital.

Anne Landsbury Beck Has Song Published In Music Text Book

Mrs. Anne Landsbury Beck, instructor in the school of music, has received word from the Silver, Burdette Publishing company that a song of her own arangement, entitled "Isalei," has been accepted by them and will be placed in the "New Public School Music Text Book" which they are now publishing.

Mrs. Beck picked up the melody and words for this song while she was on a cruise of the Fiji islands two years ago. Concerning the manner in which she came across it, she said: "'Isalei,' which is the name of the song, when translated into native Fijian means farewell. To grasp the true fooling of this melody, one must realize that the Fijians hold the bonds of friendship above all else.

"When I was on the inter-island cruise two years ago, I was on a small ship, the captain of which was an Englishman, well educated and who had evidently seen better days, and also there were several native Fijian stevedores who loaded and unloaded the cargo of the ship.

"At every port when we left all the people would come down to the wharf to see us off, and just as the boat was pulling out, the native song. The Fijians are natural singers, and the harmony and melody caught my fancy so that I proceeded to memorize it from hearing the natives singing it, and then I sat down and wrote an arrangement for it.

"The captain of the ship grew very friendly and I got him to translate the words or literal meaning into English for me. The thought of these words struck me as being very beautiful, so, carrying out the original meaning, I worked them into a poem which I fitted to the music.

"Upon reaching home I wrote voice parts and a suitable accompaniment for it and sent it away. It was immediately accepted and a request was made for any more Fijian songs which I might have. I have one of two others which I may send later."

While this song contains three verses, the real sentiment and feeling of the melody and of the spirt of undying friendship which exists among the Fijians may be found in the chorus, which is as follows:

"Isalei, sail not far away,
My best-loved friend from you I cannot part;
In my canoe, there's a place for you,
In my village a welcome in each heart."

Bad Weather Keeps Eight in Infirmary

King Winter, still holding sway on the campus, is keeping the infirmary filled with its usual allotment of colds. There are at present five cases of the popular ailment in the infirmary, one case of influenza, one of pneumonia, and a case of tonsilitis.

Those with colds are: Harper Barnard, junior in business administration; Vernon Arnett, sophomore in journalism; Weldon Hyatt, freshman in business administration, and John Gray. Eleanor Welcome, sophomore in education, has pneumonia. Harold Norton, freshman in business administration, has tonsilitis, and Aarne Pompel, sophomore in chemistry, has influena.

Plans for Liberal Club Formed at Luncheon

Looking to the organization of a Liberal club on the campus, a group of faculty members, Eugene citizens and graduate students met last night for dinner and an evening discussion at the Anchorage. Organization, setting of a meeting date and selection of officers was the anticipated program of the evening. The Rev. Clay E. Palmer, of the Congregational church, has been acting as chairman, directing formulation of which there was a preliminary consideration at a meeting two weeks ago. Discussion and study of current topics is the general purpose of the group.

Two More Games Will End Singles Handball Series

Wagner to Play Ristau and Winner Will Meet Shaw For Final Elimination

The play in the annual singles handball tourney has reached the semi-finals, and it is expected that the championship will be determined this week, according to Ray Jost, in charge of the tourney. Last week saw the defeat of some of the foremost of ball swatters. The play this year has been above the standard usually exhibited by the donut players, and fans are promised some real good matches during the remaining rounds of play.

L. Wagner eliminated B. Sargent in a close game 21 to 19. Harvey Benson met defeat at the hands of Ristau only after two hard games. In the first game between Alex Kashuba and Collistro, Kashuba was downed 5-21. He returned and swatted the ball like he never did before, taking the next two games 21-16 and 21-17. In the semi-finals he could not stand up under rapid-fire attack of H. Shaw and was defeated 21-3 and 21-17.

The meeting of L. Wagner and A. Ristau in the semi-finals promises to be a classic match. The winner of this will be pitted against H. Shaw for the championship.

Tickets for Swimming Meet on Sale at Co-op

Two hundred and fifty general admission student tickets to the swimming meet with Northwestern university were put on sale yesterday at the Co-op for 25 cents each, according to "Doc"Robnett, assistant graduate manager. Students may purchase them now to save delay in getting admission to the pool tonight.

No tickets will be sold at the door until 7 o'clock, although the doors open at 6:30, in order to protect those who bought the first 250 tickets. To facilitate handling of the meet and to safeguard those who pay in advance, no standing room tickets will be sold.

Reserved seats at one dollar each will be on sale at the Co-op and at the A. S. U. O. office until 5 o'clock, after which time no more may be obtained, even at the swimming pool.

Faculty and public general admission tickets can be had at the Co-op for 50 cents. Arrangements as to the seating will be the same as those permitted to students.

Thacher's Classes Now in Journalism

W. F. G. Thacher, professor of short story and advertising, has moved his office from the basement of the Ad building to a room in the Journalism building.

Hereafter, beginning Tuesday morning, he will meet his classes in short story in room 105, Journalism; authorship in room 102, Journalism; and advertising problems in 102 Journalism. His classes in general advertising will continue to meet in the Woman's building.

George H. Godfrey and Malcolm Epley, directors of public relations, are taking Professor Thacher's old office in the basement of the Ad building.

Library Seven-day Shelf Gets New Books

"That Mexican!", by Robert H. McLean, and "Travels in the Pyrenees," by V. C. Scott O'Connor, have been added to the seven-day shelf of the library circulation department, according to Mrs. Mabel McClain, circulation librarian. "That Mexican!" discusses not politics but people. It is a sympathetic survey of the problems of our country's southern neighbors. In this book McLean describes the Pyrenees of the east, as well as the Atlantic mountains.

F. L. Stetson to Take Eastern Oregon Trip

F. L. Stetson, professor of education and head of the appointment bureau of the school of education, will leave today for Eastern Oregon where he will spend the rest of the week reviewing the work of instructors who are University of Oregon graduates at Redmond, Prineville and Bend. Saturday he will address the Central Oregon Schoolmasters' in a session in Bend. He expects to return to Eugene by Monday.

Portland Conductor Will Rehearse Choir

William Von Hoogstraten, conductor of the Portland Symphony orchestra, will be in Eugene Wednesday as the guest of John Stark Evans, and will rehearse the university symphonic choir Wednesday night in preparation for the program which they are to give in conjunction with the Portland Symphony orchestra in Portland March 4. The practice Wednesday night will not be a dress rehearsal, it is announced.
