Emerald Defies Convention; No More Editorials!

community where intellectual life is above average. To prove this, rather than test it, the Emerald will print no more editorials in the remaining few editions of the winter term.

What space was devoted to the editorial effusions of the editors will—at least for the next 14 issues—be devoted to communications from students. Since the first issue of the Emerald, communications have been welcomed by the Emerald, but these have usually taken the form either of criticism or backing of some stand already taken by the Emerald. Hereafter, students may editorialize on any subject they wish.

Provided sufficient interest is evidenced in the new plan, the Emerald is prepared to enlarge the space heretofore given to editorials to accommodate the voice of the student body.

of the bill in the legislature authorizing appropriations for the survey. Its stated purpose is "to provide for an annual appropriation of $7500 for five years for a crime survey to be conducted under the auspices of the University of Oregon with a view to a better understanding of the administration of criminal justice and the care and treatment of the delinquent classes."

"This bill has been recommended out by the ways and means committee," said Professor Parsons, "but the house has not acted on it as yet."

The purpose of this proposed survey, said Dean Carpenter yesterday, "is to get facts which may be used as a practical basis in working out a state program for the lessening of crime and bettering the organization of crime enforcement and punishment."

Survey Records Complete

"The survey will cover the re-

ords of police departments, sheriffs' offices, justice, juvenile, and circuit courts, criminal cases tried by jury, and all prison records of release, parole, and recidivism.

"The five year period will allow the following up to many criminal cases throughout their entire history—from the commission of the crime, through the trial, sentence, punishment, and release from jail. Investigations will be made into the histories of criminals, their life environments, and conditions which led them into a life of crime."

The Methodist Episcopal representative has not yet been named.

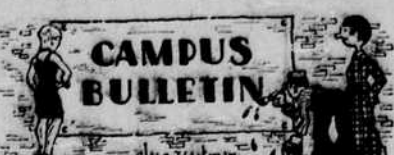

The school will be housed in some building conveniently situated with regard to the campus.

Bovard States Opinion

"The significant thing about the school is that it is not being promoted by any one group—it represents a co-operative effort on the part of Protestants, Catholics and Hebrews," said Dean Bovard. "We had a very encouraging meeting, and we feel that the method of procedure in organizing will work out satisfactorily."

My First Job Professors Relate How First Money Earned

John Stark Evans, associate dean of the school of music, bent over and went through the motion of blowing up a tire with a bicycle pump.

"No one," he said with a grin, "can be a really good organist unless he learns it from the bellows end."

"When I was about 10 years old, I used to be organ boy and pump the bellows for 35 cents a Sunday."

As Mr. Evans talked, thrilling notes came wandering like butterflies and deep ones zoomed humming like giant dragon flies from the great pipe organ which one of his students was playing.

Mr. Evans explained that the old time organs were run by a system of pulleys or bellows by some person other than the organist.

H. M. Douglass, head librarian, also earned his first money as a bellows boy.

When Mr. Evans was 14, however, he got a position as the organ player, $2 a Sunday. He lived in a middle-western town where, he remarked, "there were lots of pipe organs and no musicians."

"And then," he said, "when I was about nine or ten, I used to herd cattle. I'd drive them all over the pasture, riding bareback on my pony."

Mr. Evans has also had experience as a truck gardener. I used to raise radishes and lettuce, potatoes and sweet corn and then sell them in the little mid-western town. One summer I made $300."

As Car Drivers Women Would Be Good Butchers

She has no regard for proper meshing or timing of the gears, and the results are often very noisy and disastrous.

A junior in pre-medics said:

"When I see a woman driver ahead of me, I either take an awful chance, and pass her, or else slow down and let her eat about 15 miles ahead of me."

Another business student, also a senior, made the following comment:

"Women drivers are the bunk. They sure do ball up a lot of traffic, especially in a big town like Portland. I knew a woman once that was a good driver, but she drove into a train and got killed."

A graduate student from Redlands university said:

"Women are more excitable, less logically minded than men. In a pinch a woman is likely to shut her eyes and slam on the brakes, or else she will step on the gas, thereby making the situation very difficult."

Webfoots' Rifle Team Wins From Cougar Marksmen

Harvey Wright High Point Man for Oregon; Other Matches Are Scheduled

Washington State college was defeated by the University of Oregon in last week's rifle match, according to comparison of the scores. The Cougars' score, received by letter, was 3,473, while that of the Webfoots was 3,586, a difference in Oregon's favor of 113 points. Oregon showed an improvement of 65 points over its first match, held with the University of Washington and the University of Dayton.

Oregon's high point man was Harvey Wright, with 374 points. High point man for the northerners had a total of 365 points. Wright was high man in the match with Washington university, held two weeks ago. Firing took place from all four positions, prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing.

The ten men placing on Oregon's score list are Harvey Wright, Philip Livesley, Warren Powell, Kenneth Allen, Wayne Veatch, William Puustinen, Earl Nelson, Frank Hall, William Fowler, Keith Ingalls.

Scores from Kemper Military school, of Brownsville, Missouri, and from the University of Illinois, of Champaign, Illinois, have not been received by Capt. C. H. Bragg, rifle coach, but are expected this week.

Matches scheduled for this week are with Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, the University of North Dakota, and the University of Cincinnati.

First Round of Handball Doubles Tourney Played

Battles Closely Contested; Friday Will See Second Set of Games Finished

The first round matches of the handball doubles tourney were completed last week with some closely contested battles. In nearly half of the sets three games were necessary before the winner could be determined. Two of the second round matches have been settled, and it is expected to finish these brackets before Friday, according to Ray Jost, in charge of the tournament.

Strong and Niemi took Peterson and Davis into camp in two games, 21 to 16 and 21 to 18, but lost out in the second round to Deuel and Bauman, 21-5, 21-7. Deuel and Bauman had previously downed Rhine and Edleson, 21-5, 21-7.

Ristau and Colistro found things rather difficult with Shaw and Sargent but finally emerged the winners, 21-10, 13-21, 21-6. In their next bracket they were matched with Kashuba and Schneider. They won the first game but dropped the other two, 21-6, 21-17, and were eliminated.

Long and Neer found their battle comparatively easy and they emerged victors over McDonald and Burke in two lopsided games, 21-0 and 21-8. Wagner and Smith put the skids under Cobb and Jennings and eliminated them from the tournament by taking both the battles, 21-7 and 21-3.

Today's question: Do you think the night of the Senior Ball should be open to other dances?

Winona Hood, senior in education: "Since everyone has a right to his own opinion, I believe it should. Students should be allowed to make their own choice as to whether they want to go to the Senior Ball or some other place."

Lionel Lane, freshman in business administration: "No, because it is such an important affair that it would be foolish to have other dances open."

Alexis Lyle, freshman in business administration: "I think it should because there are lots of students who couldn't go to the Senior Ball and there should be other dances for them."

Stan Colwin, sophomore in business administration: "No, I don't think so, because everyone should go and make the dance a success."

Virginia Tomkins, freshman in journalism: "Surely, because freshmen are unable to go. Seniors are allowed to attend the freshman dance so why shouldn't there be some dance for them if they can't attend the dance given by the seniors."

Vodvil Scenario To Be Selected This Afternoon

Margaret Clark, Constance Roth Named by Hunt To Act on Committee

Constance Roth, graduate assistant in the department of drama, and Margaret Clark, junior in journalism, have been appointed members of the committee to select the manuscripts for Junior Vodvil this afternoon by Paul Hunt, chairman of the Vodvil. Rosser Atkinson, who was appointed by Hunt last week, will be unable to act as one of the judges.

The scenario for Junior Vodvil, musical comedy to be presented May 3 and 4 at the Heilig theater by the junior class, will be chosen this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the men's room of the Woman's building. In addition to Miss Clark and Miss Roth, the members of the committee to select the winning manuscript will be Mrs. Otilie T. Seybolt, head of the drama department; S. Stephenson Smith, associate professor of English; Madge Normile, junior in education, who starred in the Junior Vodvil for the last two years; Bob Warner, senior in the school of journalism; Sid Dobbin, general chairman of Junior Week End, and Paul Hunt, chairman of Junior Vodvil.

Each writer who is submitting manuscripts to the judges is to appear at the meeting this afternoon and read his scenario aloud, explaining any points which may not be entirely clear. There is a piano in the building which any music accompanying manuscripts may be demonstrated. The judges will attempt, Hunt said, to select a show which the campus as a whole will enjoy. The directorate has tentatively decided in favor of a musical comedy, but no vaudeville or revue will be barred from competition. It is probable that the good points of all the plays submitted will be combined as much as possible in the one selected.

10-Yr. Man Still Lauds This Smoke

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 30, 1928

Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va.

Gentlemen: Just a line to let you know where some of your tobacco has been going for the last ten years.

I have been smoking Edgeworth for the past ten years; in fact, since I started smoking, and it is just as good now as it was then. Have given other brands a fair trial, but there is none like Edgeworth. During that time I have had costly pipes and some not so costly, but I have decided that it is not the pipe but what is in it that counts.

With best wishes for your continued success in the manufacture of this high grade tobacco, I am,

Sincerely, (Signed) N. A. Vacht
