Black Acclaimed Champion Fencer In Final Tourney

Victory Gained as Winner Bested Heicher in Fast Match Yesterday in Gym

Joe Black was acclaimed the fencing champion of the university yesterday when he bested Winchester Heicher in the final match of the tournament. The match will long be remembered by those who witnessed it as it was a stirring fight from start to finish with the outcome never certain.

Black was more or less of a dark horse and surprised many by battling his way into the finals. In the championship bout Heicher was conceded the edge, but this had little effect on Black, as he kept up his devastating attack of lunges and parries, finally managing to score two touches. Heicher did his best to stave off these thrusts, and more than once had victory almost within his grasp. Although he delivered but one touch, he gave a wonderful exhibition with the foils.

Warren C. Powell, instructor, was well pleased with the tourney and said that the last battle was indeed a fitting climax. It has created more interest in fencing, and several more have taken up the foils during the past week. Those who are more advanced are coaching the beginners and helping them to learn the fundamental positions.

This Saturday Reed College will send a fencing team to meet the Oregon squad. The teams will be comprised of four men and will clash in the men's gym. Powell will have tryouts during the rest of the week in order to pick his entries. Reed has several excellent fencers and some very fast matches are anticipated.

Whitman, Santayana Subject for Reading

Townsend Discusses Poets At Alumni Hall Meeting

Selections from the American poets, Walt Whitman and George Santayana, were read by H. G. Townsend, professor of philosophy, during the reading hour Sunday afternoon in Alumni hall.

Parts of Whitman's "Leaves of Grass," and some of his war poems were read. Of Santayana's works, "Resurrection," and several sonnets were selected for reading.

According to Mr. Townsend, the two poets were taken because of their very different viewpoints. Whitman said, "View the world with the wonder of a child."

Santayana was a philosopher, and very introspectively minded.

First Spring Baseball Training Starts Today

Leslie Urges All Freshmen Pitchers to Report Early

The first spring baseball training will begin early this week for the freshman pitchers and catchers was the word of Spike Leslie, frosh baseball coach. All battery men will report to the Igloo at 4 o'clock today to check out their equipment and receive instructions from the coach.

Spike is especially anxious to have every man who has had the least experience in pitching to report for practice, as throwing talent is scarce. "There are a great many good pitchers lost to the teams just because they don't have the confidence to come out for the team," Spike says.
