

SOCIETY

By LAVINA HICKS

The past few weeks have shown a lull in social activities partly because they have been closed to social events and partly due to the short spring vacation. However a number of informal bridge parties, luncheons and engagements have been announced during the vacation week. Out tanding of these was the engagement of Miss Elma Inman to Donald Martin and the shower for Miss Katherine Winchell given by Miss Margaret Edmunson. The formal founders day banquet of Phi Mu was another interesting event. The coming spring term holds many delightful picnics and informals to look forward to and which will take the place of the usual winter term formals, although a few formals still remain. The Miami Triad given each year by Sigma Chi, Phi Delta Theta and Beta Theta Pi, was the only large dance given at the end of winter term just before spring vacation.

Annual Dance Given By Miami Triad Is Colorful Affair

Members of Sigma Chi, Phi Delta Theta and Beta Theta Pi fraternities entertained at the annual celebration of their founders at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio. The dance, which was a costume affair, was held at the Campa Shoppe, Saturday evening, March 16. Jack Jones, Edward Winter and James Swindells had charge of the dance. Thomas Handley and Marshall Brownell furnished the feature with a few tap dances. Those acting as patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henningson, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Romig, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rhinehart, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grey, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton E. Spencer, Mr. Roy Bryson, Mr. A. Holmes Baldrige, Mr. Verne Blue and Mr. S. Stephenson Smith.

Phi Mu Sorority Celebrates Annual Founders Day

Active and alumni members of Eta Gamma chapter of Phi Mu sorority celebrated the 77th anniversary of their founding at a formal dinner at the chapter house, Monday, March 4. The sorority was founded at Wesleyan college, Macon, Georgia, in 1852. The colors of the sorority were carried out in the table decorations of rose and white carnations and rose colored tapers. Miss Nan Cray, president of the chapter, acted as toastmistress, and toasts were given by the following during the course of the dinner: Miss Sue L. Badollet, Miss Nan Cray, Miss Amelia Kiblan, Miss Marian Lowry, Miss Dorothy Hoffman, and Miss Ruth Campbell.

Inman - Martin Engagment Told

Miss Elma Inman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Inman, of Eugene, announced her engagement to Donald James Martin, son of Mrs. A. E. Hartley, of Olympia, Washington. The announcement was made at a dinner at the Delta Zeta house, Monday evening, March 25. The table decorations were carried out in the colors of pink and green, with pink candles and Killary rosebuds. The engagement was told on tiny placecards about the table. Miss Inman and Mr. Martin attended the University of Oregon last year, but are now attending the University of Washington where Mr. Martin is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity and Miss Inman of Delta Zeta sorority. No date has been definitely set for the wedding.

Eugene University Girls' club gave an interesting dancing party for all students in town over the vacation week. The affair was given at the Craftsman clubhouse. Miss Lova Buchanan was general chairman for the dance.

Former Students Announce Engagement

Miss Catherine Martin and Alexander Sargent, both former students of the University of Oregon, announced their engagement during the past week-end, in Portland. Miss Martin is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and Mr. Sargent is affiliated with Chi Psi fraternity. The wedding is to be in June. Members of Alpha Xi Delta sorority entertained a group of prominent people at dinner, Saturday evening, March 9, at the chapter house. Guests included Richard Halliburton, author and adventurer; Judge Ben Lindsey, Mr. Walter Ricks, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bryson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenkins.

Shower Given For Bride Elect

Miss Katherine Winchell was entertained at the home of Miss Margaret Edmunson with a miscellaneous kitchen shower, Friday afternoon, March 22.

Guests for the afternoon included Miss Katherine Winchell, Miss Jessie Winchell, Miss Mary Klemm, Miss Jennie Klemm, Miss Gwendolyn Shepherd, Miss Ruth Johnson, Miss Margaret Fraser, Miss Ruth Jackson, Mrs. Mildred Crakes, Miss Louise Rickabaugh, Miss Mary Finley, Miss Lois Baker, Miss Lavissa Youngs, Miss Lucy Norton, Miss Elizabeth Hughes, Miss Juanita Hines, Mrs. Ella T. Edmunson.

Dr. Oscar M. Voorhees, secretary of the united chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary, was honored at a dinner at the College Side Inn, Monday evening, March 25, by the local members of the society.

Miss Sue Badollet, housemother of the Phi Mu house, returned to Eugene, Monday evening, after spending the campus vacation week in Cottage Grove as the guest of Mrs. D. R. Haman.

Double Wedding Soon

Miss Pauline and Katherine Winchell, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. George P. Winchell, are to be married at a double wedding ceremony to be held on June 28.

Miss Pauline Winchell, who is attending the University of Michigan, is to wed Dale H. Moore of Ann Arbor, Michigan. Miss Katherine Winchell of the University of Oregon, is to marry James D. Stewart, who is finishing work in the University of Oregon medical school in Portland.

A group of university friends were entertained by Miss Mary Elma Rendlett and Miss Reba Brogren at a small informal luncheon at the home of Miss Rendlett, on Wednesday, March 20.

Yellow daffodils and greenery were used for the luncheon table centerpiece and carried out the school colors of yellow and green. Covers were laid for Miss Amy Porter, Miss Iris Roadman, Miss Marian Keep, Miss Louise Smartt, Miss Dolly Horner and Miss Cecile Coss.

Birthdays Celebrated

W. F. G. Thacher and Mrs. Dean H. Walker were honored on occasion of their birthday anniversaries on Saturday evening, March 23, at an informal dancing party given by Mrs. Thacher.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Dean H. Walker, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Church, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Church, Mr. and Mrs. Claude D. Rorer, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Zane, Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Ables, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Hitchcock, Hugh Biggs and Dean David Paville.

An informal afternoon of bridge was enjoyed at the Delta Delta house, Thursday, March 21. Mrs. J. M. Singleton acted as hostess. Those invited included Mrs. Elizabeth Seafie, Mrs. J. J. Lange, Mrs. Alberta Powell, Mrs. D. J. McKinnon, Mrs. F. W. Hamilton, Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. E. B. Parks, Mrs. H. K. Adams, Mrs. Cassius Peck of Portland, Mrs. Kneeland, Miss Daisy Plant, Mrs. Gale H. Campbell, Mrs. Frank Carl, Mrs. Walter O. Swan and Mrs. T. H. Mehl of Mabel.

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth.

AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of all the scrip, for only the Athletes may enter into the Land of Collegia without these three.

And in my dream I saw Student forsake the Pathway of Pleasure and slowly begin to follow the other which led over the mountain pass into the Land of Collegia. For a time his way lay parallel to the one which he had just quitted, and often did he look longingly back toward it, but in his mind there rose up the vision of the dank Valley of Mediocrity which lay at the end of that pathway, and again he turned his face steadfastly toward the pass which led into the Land of Collegia.

At length he came unto a very narrow place in the pathway, where stood an armed sentry, blocking the way and menacing him. Student lifted his staff and would have smote the sentry, but that one raised his arm.

SENTRY: Desist, I beseech thee. I perceive that thou art properly armed with the Staff called Credentials, and that thou dost carry the change of raiment and the scrip, which is of most vital importance in the Land of Collegia. Take this and continue on thy way.

And he gave unto Student a great book, and a pen to write therein.

And in my dream I saw Student sit himself down by the wayside and open the great book. The volume was filled with pages, containing blanks to be filled in with the pen which the sentry had given unto him. Some of the pages were perforated in three places, some in two, and some only in one. Some pages were marked "Tear out," and others "Leave in." Some were labelled "To be Retained by Student," some "To be Adviser," some "File with Dean of Men," and some "File with Registrar."

On some of the pages of the great book were to be written one thing, and on other pages another thing, but on each and every one was to appear Student's name, the name of the Village of Ignorance, wherein he had dwelt before setting out on the pilgrimage to the City of Education, the name of his sire, again and began to write. And it was about the noon hour. The sun sank slowly down the heavens and vanished behind the mountain peaks in the west, but still Student wrote, as in a frenzy, until it grew too dark for him to see the pages of the great book.

PLEDGING ANNOUNCEMENT

Sigma Phi Epsilon announces the pledging of Lester Hanks of Eugene.

Drop in and get a hair cut from Mr. Knight, who has served students for the past 3 years.

Grey Bell Barber Shop

STUDENT: O woe is me. Why did I ever set out on so arduous a journey? I have climbed the steep mountain to the pass, and here I find this great book, which must needs be filled out before I may enter into the Happy Land of Collegia. He arose and would have turned back, but before his eyes arose the vision of the dank Valley of Mediocrity, together with the City of Illiteracy and the Morons and the Submerged Tenth, the dwellers therein. Whereupon he sat himself down

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of change of raiment and the scrip, which is of most vital importance in the Land of Collegia. Take this and continue on thy way.

And he gave unto Student a great book, and a pen to write therein.

And in my dream I saw Student sit himself down by the wayside and open the great book. The volume was filled with pages, containing blanks to be filled in with the pen which the sentry had given unto him. Some of the pages were perforated in three places, some in two, and some only in one. Some pages were marked "Tear out," and others "Leave in." Some were labelled "To be Retained by Student," some "To be Adviser," some "File with Dean of Men," and some "File with Registrar."

On some of the pages of the great book were to be written one thing, and on other pages another thing, but on each and every one was to appear Student's name, the name of the Village of Ignorance, wherein he had dwelt before setting out on the pilgrimage to the City of Education, the name of his sire, again and began to write. And it was about the noon hour. The sun sank slowly down the heavens and vanished behind the mountain peaks in the west, but still Student wrote, as in a frenzy, until it grew too dark for him to see the pages of the great book.

PLEDGING ANNOUNCEMENT

Sigma Phi Epsilon announces the pledging of Lester Hanks of Eugene.

Drop in and get a hair cut from Mr. Knight, who has served students for the past 3 years.

Grey Bell Barber Shop

STUDENT: O woe is me. Why did I ever set out on so arduous a journey? I have climbed the steep mountain to the pass, and here I find this great book, which must needs be filled out before I may enter into the Happy Land of Collegia. He arose and would have turned back, but before his eyes arose the vision of the dank Valley of Mediocrity, together with the City of Illiteracy and the Morons and the Submerged Tenth, the dwellers therein. Whereupon he sat himself down

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of change of raiment and the scrip, which is of most vital importance in the Land of Collegia. Take this and continue on thy way.

And he gave unto Student a great book, and a pen to write therein.

And in my dream I saw Student sit himself down by the wayside and open the great book. The volume was filled with pages, containing blanks to be filled in with the pen which the sentry had given unto him. Some of the pages were perforated in three places, some in two, and some only in one. Some pages were marked "Tear out," and others "Leave in." Some were labelled "To be Retained by Student," some "To be Adviser," some "File with Dean of Men," and some "File with Registrar."

On some of the pages of the great book were to be written one thing, and on other pages another thing, but on each and every one was to appear Student's name, the name of the Village of Ignorance, wherein he had dwelt before setting out on the pilgrimage to the City of Education, the name of his sire, again and began to write. And it was about the noon hour. The sun sank slowly down the heavens and vanished behind the mountain peaks in the west, but still Student wrote, as in a frenzy, until it grew too dark for him to see the pages of the great book.

PLEDGING ANNOUNCEMENT

Sigma Phi Epsilon announces the pledging of Lester Hanks of Eugene.

Drop in and get a hair cut from Mr. Knight, who has served students for the past 3 years.

Grey Bell Barber Shop

STUDENT: O woe is me. Why did I ever set out on so arduous a journey? I have climbed the steep mountain to the pass, and here I find this great book, which must needs be filled out before I may enter into the Happy Land of Collegia. He arose and would have turned back, but before his eyes arose the vision of the dank Valley of Mediocrity, together with the City of Illiteracy and the Morons and the Submerged Tenth, the dwellers therein. Whereupon he sat himself down

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of change of raiment and the scrip, which is of most vital importance in the Land of Collegia. Take this and continue on thy way.

And he gave unto Student a great book, and a pen to write therein.

And in my dream I saw Student sit himself down by the wayside and open the great book. The volume was filled with pages, containing blanks to be filled in with the pen which the sentry had given unto him. Some of the pages were perforated in three places, some in two, and some only in one. Some pages were marked "Tear out," and others "Leave in." Some were labelled "To be Retained by Student," some "To be Adviser," some "File with Dean of Men," and some "File with Registrar."

On some of the pages of the great book were to be written one thing, and on other pages another thing, but on each and every one was to appear Student's name, the name of the Village of Ignorance, wherein he had dwelt before setting out on the pilgrimage to the City of Education, the name of his sire, again and began to write. And it was about the noon hour. The sun sank slowly down the heavens and vanished behind the mountain peaks in the west, but still Student wrote, as in a frenzy, until it grew too dark for him to see the pages of the great book.

PLEDGING ANNOUNCEMENT

Sigma Phi Epsilon announces the pledging of Lester Hanks of Eugene.

Drop in and get a hair cut from Mr. Knight, who has served students for the past 3 years.

Grey Bell Barber Shop

STUDENT: O woe is me. Why did I ever set out on so arduous a journey? I have climbed the steep mountain to the pass, and here I find this great book, which must needs be filled out before I may enter into the Happy Land of Collegia. He arose and would have turned back, but before his eyes arose the vision of the dank Valley of Mediocrity, together with the City of Illiteracy and the Morons and the Submerged Tenth, the dwellers therein. Whereupon he sat himself down

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

STUDENT'S PROGRESS

By Wilfred Brown
(Continued from Page One)

side toward the faraway pass. At length he turned and sayeth to the hoary-headed Sage: STUDENT: Sire, I shall set out on the pilgrimage to the Golden City of Education, situated in the Happy Land of Collegia. Pleasant as is this pathway which I now travel, and difficult as seems the other, nevertheless will I follow it, that I may escape the River of Forgetfulness, the dank Valley of Mediocrity, and the City of Illiteracy, where dwell the Morons and the Submerged Tenth. AMBITION: Fare thee well, sweet youth. Forget not the stout staff which is called Credentials, the change of raiment, and least of

--For Easter--

To appropriately convey your Easter sentiments and thrill the heart of the one you wish to remember at this joyous season—we suggest an attractively packed box of Walora's delicious chocolates. Chocolate eggs or bunnies in individual box or basket. These, too, are made in our own shop with our delicious coating. Place your orders early—names on eggs FREE.

We wrap for mailing

Walora Candies

851 13th Ave. East

Opportunity Sale

Every item cut in Price --

For the clever things that you have seen and perhaps couldn't afford.

Here you can find just the right thing to add charm and color to the dull study room. You'll appreciate a new picture, vase, or any other decorative novelty that will bring brightness and a new object at which to look in your room.

It is easier to study in an attractive room—and of course study to some extent is inevitable.

And don't forget this week is your last chance to buy at reduced prices—for the sale will last until Saturday.

"Here the World Greet's You"

Aladdin Gift Shop

NEXT TO Y. M. C. A.

Wire by "Florist Telegraph Delivery" for Easter

Mother is as much a pal as your girl, fellows—she loves flowers and would appreciate a beautiful plant the same