Alaska Summer School Trip Will Close Bookings Soon

Regular Sessions to Start Here on June 24

Registration for Oregon's floating summer school, which will make a two-weeks' trip to Alaska in August, will close on April 1, Alfred Powers, dean, announced yesterday.

The Steamship Queen, of the Admiral line, has been chartered for the trip, and will carry a group of about 185 students and a staff of faculty members, including a number of distinguished men of other universities, Dean Powers announced. The Queen will leave Seattle August 8 with the group of students.

Regular summer sessions of the university will be held on the Eugene campus and at Portland from June 24 to August 2. The post-session to Alaska will follow, making it possible for the student to take a ten weeks' summer course, including the Alaska trip and earn a total of 15 term hours of university credit.

Courses will be given in geography, geology, Pacific coast history, anthropology, journalism, English, art, biology, and botany, on board the steamer.

Degree Team of Craftsman Club Stages Exercise

Meeting at Junction City Presided Over by Senator Bailey

Members of the degree team of the local Craftsman club exemplified the master mason degree to a group of Harrisburg and Junction City men Thursday evening at a joint meeting held in Junction City.

The banquet, at which Senator Ed Bailey was toastmaster, was given in honor of Ike Sanders, Harrisburg, who has been in masonry for 63 years.

During the term the local team will confer degrees at Springfield, Cottage Grove, Marshfield and Coquille.

Those who made the trip to Junction City were Professor A. B. Stillman, chairman of the degree team; Leland Shaw, master; Ross Glass, T. W. Hargreaves, Alex Scott, Bob Kelly, Raymond Wood, Ed Schenk, Fred Wade and John Davis.

Graduate Assistant Here Awarded Post

Beatrice Mason, graduate assistant in physics who will take her master's degree in that department this June, has been elected to an instructorship in the junior college at Marysville, California. She is majoring in physics and minoring in mathematics.

Most of her attention at Marysville will be given to teaching geometry and calculus. She was president of the campus math club here last year, and is a member of both Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi.

Late Editions Added To Library Rent Shelf

"Mr. and Mrs. Beans," by Robert L. Dickey, is one of the books most recently added by the library to its rent shelf. It is a collection of illustrated dialogues that deal chiefly with the domestic life and troubles of the Beans family, which consists of a pair of Boston bull terriers and their progeny.

Another new book is "Further Poems of Emily Dickinson." Contents of the volume were for some time withheld from publication by the poetess' sister, Lavinia. It has been recently edited by her niece, Martha Dickinson Bianchi, and Alfred Late Hampton.

Another recent addition is a romance on the life of Byron, "The Shattered Heart," by H. Gordon Page. Others on the shelf were "Stonewall Jackson, the Good Soldier," by Allen Tate; and "Lafayette," by Joseph Delteil.

The annual art number of the Italian magazine, "L'Illustrazione Italiana," arrived during spring vacation. It consists of 70 pages, 12 by 16 inches, and contains many fine illustrations, etchings, halftones and engravings.

Salem High Team To Play Oregon Basketball Five

Games to Be Scheduled With Schools for Post Schedule of Men

The Salem high school basketball team will play a team composed of men from this year's varsity and freshman squads tonight at 7:30 in McArthur court. This may be the forerunner of similar contests between Oregon and high school teams for post season training. The games have the sanction of William J. Reinhart, Oregon head basketball coach.

At forwards Oregon will have Billy Keenan, star of this year's freshman team, and Max Rubenstein, flashy varsity prospect from the 1928 freshmen. Jean Eberhart and Cliff Horner, center and guard on this year's varsity who were instrumental in Oregon's first consecutive victory over O. S. C., will fill these posts tonight. Keith Emmons or Windsor Calkins, both from the varsity squad, will fill the other guard berth.

Thursday night Oregon played the "Ducks," an independent Salem aggregation, in Salem and won 30-27. A return game will be played next Thursday in Eugene.

Schools Vote to Run Meets on Schedules

Colleges and universities in the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference recently voted on the order in which conference track events will be run off in both dual and conference meets, according to an announcement recently received by Jack Benefiel, graduate manager of the University of Oregon.

Following the desire of the participating institutions, track events will be run off in the following order: for track events—100-yard dash, mile run, 440-yard dash, high hurdles, 220-yard dash, 880-yard run, low hurdles, two-mile run, mile relay; for field events—pole vault, high jump, broad jump, shot put, discus throw and javelin throw.

Members of the conference plan to make out the 1930 schedule at a meeting set for June 13, 14 and 15 in Spokane.

Mrs. Young in Eugene

Mrs. F. G. Young, widow of the late Dr. F. G. Young, until recently a member of the university faculty, and her daughter, Frances, arrived in Eugene yesterday morning by automobile for a week-end social and business visit. Miss Young is a teacher at Grant high in Portland.

Spring Weather Puts Ginger in Tennis Players

Coach Abercrombie Looks Over His Formidable Array of Stars

First tennis practice for the Oregon varsity was held Wednesday afternoon under the supervision of Coach Edward Abercrombie. Three meets have been scheduled up to the present time by graduate manager Jack Benefiel. The conference season for the Webfoots will open against Oregon State May 4 at Corvallis. On May 11 the University of Washington tennis team meets Oregon in a dual meet at Eugene and a week later members of the two teams enter the annual coast conference championships, to be held this year at Los Angeles May 17.

Howard Shaw

Seven men are listed by Coach Abercrombie as members of the squad. They are Bradshaw Harrison, holder of the majority of amateur singles titles on the coast; Stanley Almqvist, brilliant sophomore who has been fighting nearly on a par with Harrison for leadership of the Oregon team; Henry Neer, two year letterman and winner of the Pacific coast collegiate title in 1927; Clare Hartman and Mel Cohn, lettermen; Tilman Peterson, member of the squad last year; and Chester Anderson, candidate from last year's freshman team.

A serious blow was dealt to Oregon tennis hopes when Sherman Lockwood, ranked with the top three on the varsity, was injured in an automobile accident last term. Lockwood has nearly recovered, however, and should be in fair condition for the first meets of the season. Howard Shaw, another good prospect for the varsity, did not return to school this term.

Prospects for a coast championship are much better this year than for several seasons. Harrison, Almqvist, Lockwood and Neer, rank among the foremost collegiate players in the country. Stanford, coast champions for several consecutive years, will be Oregon's strongest opponent.

Graduate Assistant Candidates Selected

Four recommendations for graduate assistant appointments have been made by the graduate council. Those recommended were John H. Truesdail, University of Redlands, Wilkinson's recommendation was that he be made a teaching fellow and Barnes' that his appointment to the position he has been holding as graduate assistant in the place of a resigned assistant be confirmed.

Frosh Take to McArthur Gym To Avoid Rain

Yearling Baseball Athletes Work on Fundamentals Inside and Out

Rain forced aspirants for the freshman baseball team to work out in McArthur court on Thursday and Friday, after training during the first portion of the week on the outside field.

Sliding, infield practice, pepper games, and playing catch were included in the activities within the Igloo. For the outdoor practice hitting and catching fly balls had been stressed. No infielding had been undertaken as the field was too wet to be worked into proper shape.

According to Spike Leslie, head frosh coach, there is an abundance of infielders, but the squad is short of outfielders and pitchers. No early games have been definitely scheduled, but it is expected that the Eugene high nine will be met in about two weeks. An average of 35 players have reported daily this week.

Thacher May Write New Eugene Pageant

Provided present plans to revive the pageant "Klatawa," given during the three day "Trail to Rail" celebration in Eugene three years ago, are approved, W. F. G. Thacher, professor of advertising, will begin work on writing a new pageant for this year's celebration.

The movement that resulted in the settlement of the Oregon country, and things of pioneer and historic interest will be commemorated in the pageant which will be held at the end of the university summer session. The city of Eugene, Lane county, and the state at large will be invited to participate in the celebration.

Hugh Rosson, part-time professor in the law school, has already accepted the position as general manager of the celebration.
