

Fijis Win, 8-1; Arnett Twirls No-hit Contest

Sigma Pi Tau Scores Six Runs to Whitewash Sherry Ross

First Intramural Baseball Games Slowed by Mud

Intramural baseball season opened yesterday afternoon with Phi Gamma Delta winning from Gamma hall, 8-1, and Sigma Pi Tau defeating Sherry Ross hall, 6-0. Both games were played on muddy fields, slowing up the playing to a great extent.

The Fijis had little trouble downing Gamma hall, piling up eight runs in the five innings while Johnny Anderson, Fiji pitcher, held the hall boys to two hits and one run.

The first no-hit, no-run game of the year was pitched by Vernon Arnett, Sigma Pi Tau twirler, when he shut out Sherry Ross hall. He got himself into several holes through his own wildness, but tightened up in the pinches. Sigma Pi Tau collected eight hits to score their six runs.

Thursday afternoon Beta Theta Pi will meet Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Sigma Nu will tangle with Phi Kappa Psi.

Oregon Golf Team Has Portland Meet Next Saturday

Webfoots Will Enter Six Best Divot Diggers In Tourney

The Oregon varsity golf team, captained by Don Moe, Oregon state champion, will meet the Alderwood country club team at Portland, Saturday, announced Jack W. Benefield, graduate manager, here yesterday. The match will be with six-man teams.

The Oregon team will be Don Moe, George Will, Francis Heitkemper, Bill Palmberg, Ike Staples, and Bob Hammond. The Alderwood team announced will be Frank Dolp, Roy Moe, A. S. McIntyre, Ben Dolp, George Sullivan, and John Robins.

Books by Fred Lockley Placed in Library

Two books have been added recently to the Oregon collection in the main library. They are "Oregon's Yesterdays" and a "History of the Columbia River Valley," both by Fred Lockley. Lockley is on the staff of the Oregon Journal, and widely known as a writer of the history and pioneer days of Oregon.

Latin Group Will Hear Blue Discuss Painting

Pi Sigma, national Latin honorary, will hold a social meeting at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow at 7:30 this evening. Verne Blue, professor of history, will speak on "Modern Painting"; and Eunice Payne will play several selections on the piano. The meeting will be open to all Latin students.

Advertising Pledges Sport New Ribbons

Five men wore the red and white pledge ribbons of the W. F. G. Thacher chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma on the campus yesterday.

They were John Nelson, Addison Brockman, Ted Hewitt, Harold Allen, and Fletcher Udall, all of whom have been more or less connected with advertising on the campus during the past year.

Nelson is the manager of this year's Oregonian. Brockman is on the advertising sales staff of the Emerald and has been connected with the paper during all of his college years. Hewitt is the circulation manager of the Emerald. Allen had experience in advertising work on several newspapers before coming to the university. Udall is publisher of the Colfax advertiser, and advertising manager of the Oregonian.

Silent Instructor Liked Movies Draw Students

The most inexpensive instructor on the campus is employed by the chemistry department, and he works as long as students are interested enough to watch. He is a silent instructor; those who learn from him use their eyes, and one arm, the arm is used pulling a cord to operate the "asbestos instructor" and the eyes to see the pictures it projects on the wall, illustrating some story related to chemistry.

It is an ordinary picture projector, or something like a lantern slide, only more advanced. Members of the chemistry staff attached a cord to it so that anyone by pulling the cord could show himself a movie.

Between classes is when this cheapest of instructors holds his sessions. Usually the hall around the alcove on the second floor of McClure hall, where it is stationed, is filled before and after classes, with a crowd of students seeing this free "campus movie."

It was installed about a year ago, and the initial cost was about $100. Three pictures are now running, "The Air Pressure in Which We Live," "Girl Pottery Makers of the Caribbean," and "Weather Prediction." These films cost from 50 cents to $3. In the year it has been here, the cord has been pulled 108,000 times, which would be 2,000 showings for a film of 54 pictures, and they run from 24 to 112 pictures to a story. Considering that from 3 to 15 students watch every performance, it seems that the silent instructor accomplished a lot in his unassuming way.

Professor Fowler Publishes New Book

"Overseas Markets for Oregon and Washington Dried Prunes" is the title of a book recently published by William Fowler, associate professor of business administration. The publication will be sent to prune growers, prune driers, prune dealers, and chambers of commerce all over the country. The department of commerce and the bureau of agricultural economics of the national government also has copies. The University of Oregon published the volume, and the mailing list has been put in the hands of M. H. Douglass, librarian.

Miss Mabel Klockars Will Return to Campus

Mabel Klockars, assistant in the reference department in the university library, will resume her duties in the library around the latter part of May, it was announced yesterday.

Miss Klockars has been teaching in North Bend high school and conducting the high school library there during a leave of absence from her work on the Oregon campus.

S. A. E. Splashers Nose Out Phi Sig Water Polo Team

Rest of Intramural Tilt Put Off; Oregon State Victims Soon

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon splashers nosed out the Phi Sigma Kappa donut league team in yesterday's only intramural water polo game. Condon was instrumental in the victory of the S. A. E.'s, shooting two field goals and a free throw to hog all the winner's scoring. Schroeder caged one field goal and Artman two free throws for Phi Sigma Kappa.

The Sigma Nu-Kappa Sigma encounter was postponed indefinitely and the Delta-Epsilon-Alpha Tau Omega battle also put off on account of the former losing the services of two players through injuries and sickness.

Intramural or hard-ball league games scheduled for Thursday are: Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Kappa Sigma, 4:30; Alpha Tau Omega vs. Sigma Nu, 5:00; Beta Theta Pi vs. Phi Gamma Delta, 7:00; Independents vs. Phi Kappa Psi, 7:30.

The varsity and freshman polo teams will be divided into two teams to play a series of games for the purpose of practice for both squads.

Home-and-home games have been arranged with Oregon State, the first one to be played here late in April. These will constitute the two big games for Webfoot water polo followers.

Jefferson high school of Portland will send up their water polo team to play the Oregon freshmen Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the pool in the men's gymnasium under intercollegiate rules. This will mark the first water polo competition with an outside institution ever staged on the Oregon campus.

'Troubadour' Magazine Has Oregonian Issue

The "Troubadour," a publication devoted entirely to poetry, restricted its last issue to contributions from poets of the state of Oregon. The magazine contains several poems from people connected with the university. Among them are Arthur Johnson, Oregon graduate and Portland artist; Margaret Skavlan, graduate; John Scheffer, member of the library staff; Serena Madsen, student; and Alice Henson Ernst, member of the faculty.

M. F. McClain Home Soon

Marion F. McClain, manager of the University Co-op, will return from San Francisco on Friday, according to the Co-op employees. McClain spent April 10, 11, and 12 in Los Angeles, where he attended a conference of western co-op managers at the University of Southern California. He is now attending a national convention of booksellers and stationers at San Francisco.

Social Ideas of Russia Stand High In Opinion

eye glasses. They have not yet come to horn rims, but they could have gotten these ideas from other countries. They have been greatly influenced by Germany, the home of efficiency.

"On the intellectual and spiritual side," he continued, Russia has offered us a good deal. Turgeniev, Tolstoy, and Dostoyevsky have written novels of the highest rank. Mendeliev, Pavlov, and others have made brilliant contributions to science and, finally, Lenin and Trotsky have put forth a whole series of political and social ideals; but it is a question of how much we will be willing to learn from Russia. "New ideals may pass by unconsidered just as the Russian novels stand unread on our library shelves."

What of Russia's influence on American markets?

"It is quite conceivable that Russia might effect us in the wheat market."

"The loss of European markets for our food products is thought by economists to be the main cause of the present troubles of the American farmer, a cause which President Hoover doesn't seem to recognize."

Phi Lambda Theta Initiates Eight Into Membership

Naomi Hohman Will Head Education Group; Install Later

Pi Lambda Theta, women's national educational honorary fraternity, formally received eight candidates into full membership at initiation exercises in the Woman's building last night. They are Olive Adams, Ella Carriek, Evelyn Dew, Barbara Hedges, Mrs. Jeanette Hermance, Thelma Ryekman, Jean Tomkins, and Margaret Turner.

A banquet preceding the initiation was held at the Anchorage. The speaker was H. R. Gould, superintendent of the Eugene schools. Bernice Rasor acted as toastmaster and welcomed the candidates. Mrs. Jeanette Hermance gave the response.

The following persons were chosen as officers for the next year and will be formally installed on May 14: Naomi Hohman, president; Jeanette Hermance, vice-president; Barbara Hedges, secretary; Kathryn Fry, treasurer; and Helen Crozier, keeper of the records.

Naomi Hohman was elected as delegate from the sorority to the national convention which is to be held in Iowa City July 5 to 8.

Art Exhibit Continues

The travel sketches by Maude Kerns, instructor in normal arts, which were made on her trip abroad at this time last year, will continue to hang in the little art gallery until next week. These sketches were made in order to depict different types of people, their costumes, manners, and customs with some note of architectural arrangement in the background.

Bryson to Give Vocal Recital Here April 25

Initial Solo Appearance of Instructor Promises to Be Excellent

Roy Bryson, instructor of voice in the music department, will give a vocal recital in the music auditorium, Thursday, April 25.

Bryson, who is adjudged to have the best male voice on the campus, is a former University of Oregon student, having graduated in 1925. He is affiliated with the Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

This will be Bryson's fifth appearance this winter but will be the first opportunity he has had to appear in a program by himself this season. So far he has made appearances as incidental soloist with the university symphonic choir, with the Eugene Gleemen, at the Saint Cecilia vespers, with the choral society. He also gave a program in Marshfield.

The date for this concert was formerly announced as being April 23, but was changed because another recital had been slated for that night.

Dean Faville to Speak Over KGW Thursday

An invitation from the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce to speak over radio station KGW was received yesterday by David E. Faville, dean of the school of business administration.

Dean Faville is scheduled to speak on foreign trade on the Pacific coast Thursday, April 25, at 4 p. m. At 6 p. m. the same day, the dean will leave for New York to attend the convention of the National Association of Intercollegiate schools of commerce. He is scheduled to take part in the conference program, leading a discussion on "Problems and methods of teaching in undergraduate schools of commerce."

April Frolic Committee Names Patronesses

A group of nine women who have been invited to act as patronesses at this year's April Frolic, April 20, annual program and fest of Women's league, was announced last night by Edna Dunbar, chairman of the patroness committee.

They are Mrs. Burt Brown Barker, Dr. Clara Smertenko, Miss

Maude Kerns, Miss Fannie McCamant, Miss Consuelo McMillan, Dean Hazel Prutsman, Mrs. Ottilie Seyboitz and Mrs. Katherine Reide Ross. The patronesses will also act as judges of the class stunts and of the costumes and will themselves come costumed, leading in the costume grand march.

The winning class will have its name engraved on the April Frolic cup. A $5 prize will be given to the girl winning in the costume contest.

Practice on all of the class stunts has begun on regular schedule, according to directors.

F. S. Dunn Honored by Education Association

F. S. Dunn, professor of Latin, has received notice of his election to the executive committee of the classical section of the Inland Empire Educational association. The organization met last week-end at Spokane, Washington.

Due to his recent illness, Professor Dunn was unable to attend the meetings of the association. However, he sent a paper "My Descent into Avernes," which was read. The article was written as a result of experiences while traveling in the country where Virgil wrote his "Aeneid."

Professor Writes Article

Emerson P. Schmidt, professor of economics, has written an article entitled "Individual Pensions and Trade Unions" for the Federationist, official organ for the labor party.

Professor Schmidt is new on the campus this year, having come from Madison, Wis., where he taught in the University of Wisconsin.

Sigma Delta Chi To Hear Address By Fred Lockley

Banquet Tonight in Honor of National and Local Anniversaries

Fred Lockley, feature writer on the Oregon Journal, and well-known in journalistic circles throughout the Pacific northwest, will address the Oregon chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism honorary, tonight at 7:30 at the Anchorage. The Founders' Day banquet will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the national fraternity and the sixteenth anniversary of the local chapter.

Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, will also talk at the banquet on "Sigma Delta Chi—Past, Present, and Future." Lockley will address some of the journalism classes early in the day on a few of his experiences in the journalistic world.

Alumni members, under the direction of Walter R. May of the Oregonian, will assemble in Portland today to celebrate Founders' Day and national recognition will be given the founding of the journalism group.
