

Vodvil Talent Broadcasts In Emerald Hour

Features of 'Oh Dear' Presented by Cast Over KORE

Reinhart Talks Baseball to Radio Listeners

With a program of Junior Vodvil talent and a baseball talk by Bill Reinhart, varsity baseball coach, the second Emerald hour, sponsored by the Emerald in the interests of the university, went on the air over KORE last night from 8 to 9 o'clock.

The broadcast was opened with three selections by the girls' trio from the Vodvil, composed of Jo Ralston, Marjorie Clark, and Louise Stolla. They sang "If I Had You," "I Can't Give You Anything but Love, Baby," and "Miss Annabelle Lee." George Weber and Maxine Glover followed with a piano duet "Weary River," and "You Were Meant for Me."

Reinhart Outlines Problems

Bill Reinhart outlined the problems facing a coach in rounding out his team for the season. Although Oregon got off to a bad start this year, Reinhart hopes for a good finish. Individuality in baseball is a great factor, the coach said. "The individual fails or succeeds with the group. It all depends on individual responsibility and personal aggressiveness," he added.

"One of the hardest parts of the coaching job is keeping the players on edge, and keeping up their interest in the game. Each player must be studied and the coach must know how to get the best out of each man. Mass methods in baseball coaching are ineffective. The best coach is a leader and not a driver and must build up self-confidence and ability in the players," he concluded.

Vodvil Stars Entertain

Following Reinhart's talk, the Vodvil stars came back with several numbers. Louise Clark and Maxine Glover played and sang "How About Me?" and "Plodding Along." Mac Miller and Bill Gillette, featured in a "blackout" act in the show, followed with some snappy dialogue from their number. The program was concluded by a piano solo by Maxine Glover, "Taint So, Honey, Taint So."

Bob Warner, of the Vodvil staff, outlined the plot of the musical show which will be given at the Heilig theater Mar 3 and 4.

Jack Hempstead, associate editor of the Emerald, announced the numbers and listed the program for the Emerald hour next Tuesday. The broadcast will feature Johnny Robinson's Varsity Vagabonds, Madge Normile, blues singer, and Hal Hutton, tap dancer, all stars in the Junior Vodvil.

The Emerald hour will be a feature over KORE every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday night at 8 o'clock for the rest of this term.

Apaches and Chorus Girls Dance At Colorful 'Bal Des Beaux Arts'

Dim Lights of 'Quarter' Feature Campus Hop

The Beaux Arts ball, under the auspices of the student body of the architecture and allied arts, was held at the Campa Shoppe last night and proved to be one of the outstanding dances of the year.

As one entered No. 1313 33rd street one was transported into the Apache atmosphere of the Bohemian quarter of the French dive. The doorway was dimly lighted by an antiquated street light. One immediately found himself in the Latin quarter of Paris surrounded by sewers and slums.

The stone archways, with dim street lights on either side of the hall; the scattered tables, bottles with a candle thrust in each upon the checkered table cloths, lead up to the beautiful garden scene at the extreme end of the hall.

The Latin quarter was crowded with undignified individuals dressed as Apaches, chorus girls, gypsies, college professors, Turks, shiks, and physical education majors. They sat at the rustic tables and ate and drank such unusual food as rye bread, cheese, and beer.

The surprise feature of the evening was an oriental dance by Her-odgers, and Robert Lemon. Carl Landstrom, chairman, and Norwald Nelson are on the membership committee.

Society

By LAVINA HICKS

Active and alumni members of Beta Iota chapter of Sigma Chi were hosts at a formal open house and reception at their chapter house, Friday evening at 8 o'clock. About 250 were invited.

Those receiving were Joe McKeown, president of the house, Dean and Mrs. John Straub, Mr. and Mrs. Graham B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn S. McCready.

Pouring were Mrs. Louis H. Johnson, Mrs. Lynn S. McCready, Mrs. Graham B. Smith, Mrs. John Straub, Mrs. D. B. Hendricks, Mrs. E. C. Ransom and Mrs. Charles J. Swindells of Portland.

Assisting in serving were Misses Mary Margaret Ferrall, Alberta Rives and Grace McEwan.

A musicale was given during the evening consisting of: vocal solos, Jack Dennis; piano solos, Boone Hendricks; and violin solos, Vernon Elliot.

Out of town guests present at the reception included Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Patton, Mrs. Charles J. Swindells, Robert Holman, all of Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fisher of Marshfield.

A background characteristic of any Latin quarter was the decorative motif used at the Beaux Arts masquerade ball held at the Campa Shoppe, Friday evening. Tables with checkered coverings were placed against the walls which were decorated to represent the sewer system of lower Paris.

Miss Edith Pearson and Jack Reynolds furnished the feature for the evening. Glenn Gardiner had charge of the affair which is sponsored by the schools of architecture and art.

Patrons and patronesses for the evening were President and Mrs. Arnold Bennett Hall, Vice-president and Mrs. Burt Brown Barker, Dean and Mrs. Ellis F. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Pullett, Hugh Biggs, Miss Hazel Prutsman, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Zane, Mr. and Mrs. Eyer Brown, Mr. and Mrs. George Godfrey.

Underclassmen of Delta Tau Delta entertained at the chapter house, Friday evening, with a collegiate dance. The rooms were decorated with pennants of many colleges. About 20 couples were present for the affair. Howard Pellon was in charge.

Feature numbers were furnished by Harold Moulin and Joe Hughes.

Invited as patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Carlton E. Spener, Mr. Verne Blue and Dean Hugh Biggs.

Tennis rackets and golf clubs were used as decorations to carry out the country club idea used at the Alpha Upsilon house, Friday evening, at their informal sport dance. Melvin Parker was in charge of the affair.

Serving as patrons and patronesses were Earl M. Pullett, Dean Charles Carpenter and Professor S. Stephenson Smith.

Special guests at the dance were Mr. Charles Norman, Lester Farley and John Warren of Corvallis.

Mrs. Lewis Beeson, Mrs. G. H. Godfrey and Mrs. G. A. Ross, assistant dean of women, gave a tea for Mrs. Kenneth G. Wilshire who is leaving soon for Europe. The tea was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Elliot, Friday afternoon, between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Wilshire is a graduate of the university and last year was assistant manager of the dormitories.

The Eugene hotel, Friday evening, was the scene of the Delta Gamma sport dance which was decorated to carry out a treasure hunt idea. Red and white checkered tables were placed about the room and lighted candles in bottles were used as centerpieces. The dance was given by the freshmen for the other members of the house. Miss Constance Fox was in charge.

Acting as patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Katherine Yerex, Mrs. Grace Russell, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Romig and Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Smith.

Co-op Directors To Be Nominated For Coming Year

Hubbs and Palmer Finish Terms and New Men Must Be Named

Nominations of candidates to fill the positions left vacant in the board of directors of the university Co-op will be made at a meeting to be held in room 105 of the Commerce building at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, according to Marion F. McClain, manager of the Co-op.

The terms of office of Ronald Hubbs, president of the board of directors, and Alan Palmer, sophomore member, expire at the end of the present school year, and their successors are to be chosen by the student body at large at the general election to be held May 1. Day Foster and Hal Anderson, junior members of the board of directors, will hold over for another year. All students interested are urged to attend the meeting, says McClain.

Freshmen May Wear Cords to Movie Dance

Freshmen of the Oregon campus may wear cords today without fear of the Oregon Knights or the traditions committee of the student council, provided that they do so for the purpose of attending the campus movie dance which will be held at the tennis courts on the Wilson Jewett estate this afternoon.

This announcement was made last night by Francis Mullins, dancing director of the movie, who will be in charge of the function. Fifty couples are needed for the dance, from which will be filmed one of the most important scenes of the movie.

All men who attend the dance should wear cords and dark coats, and the women sport clothes. Those attending should meet at the Administration building by 1 o'clock. Anyone interested in taking part in the scene should communicate at once with Francis Mullins at 1306. Johnnie Robinson and his orchestra will furnish the music for the dance.
