Oregon Best for Summer Study

VOLUME XXX

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, FRIDAY, MAY 10, 1929

NUMBER 126

22 On Faculty Of Education Summer Term

Specialists from Oregon And Other Universities Will Give Courses

The staff of the school of education, of which the personnel is larger than that of any other school or department of the summer sessions at Eugene and Portland, is comprised of 22 teachers from Oregon and other universities and schools, working under the direction of Dr. Henry D. Sheldon, dean.

Dean Sheldon

Dr. Grace Fernald, associate professor of psychology at the University of California at Los Angeles, will have two Eugene classes in the teaching of backward children. Dr. Fernald is well known here for the splendid work she did at the summer sessions last year.

Dr. Omen Bishop, professor of psychology at Whitman college, is scheduled to teach a class which will study the aims, curriculum, organization and methods of the junior high school. Dr. Bishop, who received his doctor's degree from the University of Iowa in 1924, has been a professor at Whitman since 1928.

Teaching-Method Courses

Dr. Melvin T. Solve, associate professor of English at the University of Arizona, will give a course in the teaching of English in secondary schools. Dr. Solve, who was a member of the Oregon faculty

Dr. Hall Tells Advantages of Summer Study

Chance Seen for Regular Session Student to Develop Himself

"The University of Oregon Summer Sessions offer unusual opportunity for study to students who regularly attend during the year," said Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University of Oregon. "Here, freed from all obligations outside of activities, with only enough social activity to provide recreation, intense work in a variety of fields to be pursued.

"Contacts of the highest type, both with regular professors from the university, and with distinguished visitors are afforded in summer sessions. A more personal relationship with authorities in the student's chosen educational field is possible, due to smaller classes and more frequent class meetings.

"For the student who takes his studies most seriously, I can think of nothing that would be better training and nothing that would make for more rapid development than attendance here in Eugene or in Portland this summer.

"Work will be offered in practically all schools and departments, to both undergraduate and graduate students.

"The campus teaching staff will be composed of 49 of the University of Oregon faculty members, and a large number of distinguished visiting instructors. The students will have an opportunity to hear many interesting lecturers at the daily assemblies, which is but one of the attractive features of the session.

"Those wishing to earn extra credit will find the post-session here on the campus a splendid time

1928 Attendance Highest Mark in Summer Sessions

UNIVERSITY of Oregon Summer Sessions are becoming more popular every year. Last year's enrollment showed a total of 1,270 for the regular session, 685 at the extension in Portland and 585 enrolled here on the campus, the high mark since the Summer Session started in 1902 with a total enrollment of nineteen under the guidance of seven professors. In 1917 the enrollment increased nearly three-fold with the opening of the extension center in Portland, a jump from slightly over 200 who attended the previous summer in Eugene to a total enrollment of 604. In 1920 there was a slight decrease in enrollment. Registration last year showed an increase of nearly fifty over the 1927 enrollment. Early indications point to another increase this year.

Platoon School Demonstration is Summer Feature

Work of Five Grades Will Be Shown by Unusually Fit Instructors

The University of Oregon and the Portland public schools have formally cooperated to establish a platoon demonstration school as a feature of the Portland Summer Session of the University of Oregon, for the six weeks period from June 24 to August 2.

This demonstration course will be held in the Shattuck elementary school building and will make possible for the first time on the Pacific Coast the opportunity to see and to study a platoon school in regular operation. The program of the school will be the work of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grades. A representative attendance of pupils will be drawn from the various elementary schools of Portland.

This demonstration school will have a ten-teacher, ten-section program. The work will be in two divisions—the special activities and the home room. The demonstration teachers will consist of the regular teachers of the Holladay platoon demonstration school and of other conspicuously successful teachers from the staff of the Portland public schools, supplemented by specialists on the faculty of the Portland Summer Session of the University of Oregon.

Courses have been arranged for students doing formal work in connection with the platoon demonstration school at the Portland session.

Session to Deal With Economics

Conference to be Held on Campus June 28

Dr. William Trufant Foster, former president of Reed College, will be the principal speaker at the economic conference to be held on best known authority in the field

Dean Gilbert Foster is probably the most prominent of the economists in the field of business booms and depressions. He has written many volumes on these subjects. Isaac Leon Candell, professor of education at Columbia university, also will take a principal part in the conference.

Dean J. H. Gilbert has complete charge of the conference. No definite plans or program has been made. Dean Gilbert is working toward the completion of all the details. He will be prepared to make a report on all the features and program of the conference soon.

Mountain and Sea Will Call, This Summer

Outdoor Trips to Feature Session for Oregon Student Group

Every week-end of the 1929 Summer Session will be the occasion of one or two organized excursions. Marion F. McClain, manager of the University Co-op, who is in charge of these trips, has outlined a tentative program.

On the first week-end, July 29 and 30, there will be a "soft trip" and a "hard trip." For those in school who do not care about hiking long distances, a trip to the Coburg hills is planned for July 29. On Sunday, the next day, the students will go with the Eugene Obsidians to Mary's Peak, near Corvallis, on a joint climb with the Trails club of Portland.

A trip to Crescent lake in the Cascades will be made on the following week-end, July 6 and 7. The plans are to leave Eugene on Saturday, taking advantage of a special round-trip rate of approximately $2 offered by the Southern Pacific. It is 95 miles to the lake.

To Climb Lakeview Peak

The group making this excursion will hike over the top of the 7000-foot Lakeview mountain, camping Saturday night near the summit, and completing the rest of the 14-mile jaunt to Odell lake in the morning. Sunday evening the train will stop for the students at Odell lake.

The annual Spencer's butte trip is booked for July 13 and 14. As is the summer school tradition, Prof. E. E. DeCou will lead the group.

On the same week-end there will

Mr. May is repeating this year a most successful course in newswriting, given in Portland Summer Session in 1928. Mr. Nilsson is of the Yale faculty. Mr. Rand, author of The Signet, at Amherst, is noted author of plays, pageants, and verses. Dr. Solve, who did his undergraduate work in the University of Oregon and later became a member of the Oregon faculty, comes from the University of Arizona, where he is associate professor of English.

Lincoln High to House Portland Center Work

Lincoln high school, as in the past, will be the center of activities of the University of Oregon Summer Session in Portland this summer. All the classes, except three or four to be arranged, will be held in the morning.

Alaska Cruise Assured With 180 Signed Up

Seven States Supply Full Load for Excursion on Steamship Queen

A total of 180 students, drawn from the seven states of Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho, Montana, Utah, and Wisconsin, have signed up to take the university cruise to Alaska on the S. S. Queen, which leaves Seattle August 8 for a two weeks' trip.

Including the dean of men and the dean of women there will be 15 faculty members on the trip.

The S. S. Queen, which has a speed of 14 knots, has a length of 348 feet, a breadth of 38 feet, and a gross tonnage of 2,727.
