

Oregon Beats Huskies, 21-15 In Wild Game

Webfoot Sluggers Send Six Rival Hurlers To Showers

Thirty Hits Made In Course of Tilt

Bill Baker Lets Nine Hits But is Only Successful Pitcher Out of Ten

By DEB ADDISON

Oregon put on an exhibition of "how pitchers are sent to the showers" and defeated the University of Washington baseball team, 21 to 15, here yesterday afternoon. The score more nearly resembled that of a basketball game than baseball, and the casualties on pitchers were tremendous.

Tubby Graves, Husky coach, was forced to use seven hurlers, and Billy Reinhart, Webfoot mentor, worked three men. Oregon collected 16 hits and Washington was close behind with 14. The Washington pitchers in their order of entrance and departure were Davis Kirner, Miller, Calhoun, McLean, Sylvester and Nevins. The star hurlers, Ray Calhoun and "Lefty" Nevins, worked in a double-header against Idaho Thursday. Calhoun went 10 innings in the first game and Nevins finished a 14 inning one. Idaho was beaten in both meets.

Reynold "Big Train" McDonald started the slug fest and was relieved in the last of the fourth by Art Schoeni. The Husky ball busters had more trouble with Schoeni's slow curves than they did with Mac Donald's fast ones, but Schoeni had no control and his place was taken by Bill Baker in the next inning.

Baker finished the game although he was touched for six bingles, a two-bagger, a three-bagger, and a home run. He was credited with the win.

The game started out as an ordinary college contest, with Oregon in the lead. Kramer Barnes' two-base hit and Ray Edwards' homer gave Oregon two runs in the first inning. The next scores came in the third, one for Washington and two for Oregon.

In the fourth three bingles and a circuit hit by Claude Brannon, Husky captain and catcher, spelled the finish for "Big Train" Mac Donald. Six runs were scored in the first half of the inning. Oregon came back in her half and tied the score at seven all. Schoeni, Robie, Barnes and Edwards hit safely at that time.

Four more runs were made in the next frame off of Schoeni and Baker. Oregon didn't score nor did Washington in the first half of the sixth.

It wasn't until the team was so far behind that the Oregon sluggers did the most damage. They tied up the score again in their half of the sixth, and then took a six-run lead. A hit by Robie, a Washington error, a walk for Edwards, a hit by Epps, a walk for Gould, and a hit by Woodie gave the Webfoots four runs.

Four free passages to first base donated by three Washington pitchers, and two errors were largely responsible for the seven runs in the seventh. Edwards singled to right field, McCormick and Epps smacked fast grounders between short and third for safe hits, and Andrews put one straight over second for the final three tallies.

In six trips to the plate Ray Edwards reached first safely each time. He hit one homer, one two-bagger, a single and walked the other three trips. "Rabbit" Robie made three safe hits and walked once in five trips. Kramer Barnes got two doubles.

Frankie Andrews was credited with six put outs at second. Three of these were on pegs from Ira

Mother's Vespers To be Sent Over Radio Tomorrow

Special Program Will be Broadcast at 4:30 P. M.

Two Professors to Appear Before Microphone

The special vespers program for Mother's Day will be broadcast over KORE Sunday at 4:30 as a special addition to the Extension Division-Emerald radio programs over the local station. The inclusion of this feature is in line with the policy of the Extension Division and the Emerald of presenting programs really representative of the university.

Next week's regular broadcasts will feature two more appearances of professors before the microphone. Tuesday night Dr. A. E. Caswell, head of the physics department, will be heard. Dean J. H. Gilbert, of the college of literature, science, and the arts, will speak over KORE on Wednesday night's program.

News reviews of the latest campus news will be given on each broadcast by Jack Hempstead, associate editor of the Emerald, who directs the programs.

Arrangements are now being made for broadcasts for the remainder of this term. It is thought that the stars of the Campus Movie, that is now being filmed on the campus, will appear on a special program to be presented soon.

Music, drama, lectures, and special features will be presented on future programs. The tri-weekly broadcasts sponsored by the Extension Division and the Emerald at the interests of the university go over the air every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday nights from 8 to 8:30.

Women's Tennis Matches Begin Early Next Week

Schedule Will Allow Three Weeks for Playing of Interclass Meets

Women's interclass tennis matches will begin Monday, May 13, and continue for three weeks, according to Ernestine Troemel, instructor in physical education, who is acting as coach. The entire schedule has been posted on the bulletin board at the entrance of the women's building. Matches may be played before or during the week for which they are scheduled, but not after. Umpires must be secured from either Miss Troemel or Naomi Mosberger, head of tennis.

The schedule for next week is: freshman first vs. seniors; Carolyn Haberlach vs. Harriet Osborne; Alice Wingate vs. Kathryn Langenberg; Frances Haberlach vs. Esther Malkasian; and Althea Clark vs. Mildred Pike.

Sophomore first vs. juniors: Irene Greenbaum vs. Grace Vath; Naomi Mosberger vs. Daphne Hughes; Helen Detrick vs. Beth Salway; and Ione Garbe vs. Henrietta Steinke.

Freshman second vs. sophomore second: Winifred Weter vs. Kathryn Kjosness; Julia Currie vs. Virginia Sterling; and Luise Huls vs. Gladys Haberlach.

Water Events To Entertain at 10:30 Today

Sharp Promises Many Interesting and New Stunts

Swimming, Canoe Races to be Held

Hockey Game to be Held at 1:30 Today in Tennis Courts

The fraternities and sororities who missed winning the cups in the Canoe Fete last night will have another opportunity of bringing in trophies this morning at 10:45 at the water carnival, which will be one of the principal events of the second day of Junior Week-end.

The water carnival is being inaugurated this year for the first time under the direction of Jim Sharp, chairman of campus day, and will probably prove immensely popular, if the interest shown in water sports during the past swimming season is any gauge.

Three swimming races and the mixed canoe race are the principle features of the carnival. The first event is to be the women's race. Any woman on the campus is entitled to enter the contest. All entrants are to dress at the Woman's building and be ready to go at 10:30 o'clock. Pools and transportation to the Portage will be furnished. The race is scheduled to be from the Portage to the Anchorage, but will be shortened if the majority of the girls desire it. A Jantzen sunbath swimming suit is offered as first prize to the winner of the race; and the runner-up will be given free canoeing privileges for a time.

Varsity and Frosh to Vie

Ione Garbe will be in charge of the women's meet. The second and probably the most hotly contested, of the races will be between the members of the varsity and frosh swimming squads. Rivalry between the two squads has been extremely keen all year, and Sharp is expecting a fast and close race. No prizes are offered in this contest.

The third event of the water carnival will be the canoe race. Each canoe will represent one fraternity and one sorority, and will bear the colors or insignia of the organizations. Entrants should obtain their canoes early this morning, and have them at the Portage at 10:30 o'clock. Twenty-five canoes are being entered, so will be necessary to run off the race in heats. The entrants will be racing against time. A silver cup is offered to each of the houses represented in the winning canoe, and canoeing privileges are offered to the paddlers and to the runners-up.

Free for All, Last

The free-for-all men's swimming race will be the final of the important events of the meet. Any man on the campus who is not a member of either the varsity or frosh squads, is entitled to enter. The men are to be dressed and at the Anchorage by 10:30 o'clock. A Jantzen swimming suit is offered to the winner of the race, with canoeing privileges for second prize.

Between races there will be a number of features for the entertainment of the spectators. There will be canoe tilting, fancy diving, and an aquatic comedy skit by Mac Miller and Bill Gillette. The university band will play.

Hockey Game 1:30

At 1:30 o'clock will be held the much-heralded roller skate hockey game, previously scheduled for yesterday. The match will be held on the tennis court by the library between two teams of six men each, representing the underclassmen and the upperclassmen. Victor Wetzel is the captain of the upperclassmen, and John Kitzmiller of the underclassmen. The game bids fair to be fast and exciting, if somewhat rough. Hal Hatton is in charge.

A second baseball game with the University of Washington will be held at 2:30 o'clock. The Junior Prom at McArthur Court tonight at 9, will close Junior Week-end.

Thacher Closes Down As All Patients Leave

Thacher Cottage closes today when Barclay McDonald and Howard Green will be permitted to leave. The cottage was turned over for use as infirmary on February 14, and since that time it has had 109 patients for measles, mumps, and scarlet fever.

Wallace Griffith is the only new patient who has been admitted to the infirmary. Patients still confined to the hospital are Myra Jordan, Anna Keney and Rollo Patterson.

Oh Boy! What a Baseball Game

Oregon Runs Around 21 Times

By CAROL HULLBURT

It was the most exciting game! We won. Beat the University of Washington 21-15. And the Base Ball school made lots of noise.

The boys played great ball, or at least I guess they did, because every one had a good time.

The funniest thing was to see them sliding along on their tummies; you would think they were trying to reduce.

The umpire was Toby Tyler: his last name was Tyler and he looked like Toby. He wore a big bloated canvas sack on his chest. I couldn't decide at first whether he had a cold on his chest or whether he was going swimming and wanted to float, but somebody hit him square in the middle of the front. It made him lurch up, and so I decided that the sack was really a protector.

The worst thing the matter with the game was that the two teams wore suits the same color and I couldn't tell them apart. You would think that one could wear orange and the other red, or something like that, because it doesn't cost any more.

Well, Oregon started out well by making two runs in the first inning.

Prom Decorations To Feature Clever Greenwich Village

Chinese Laundries and Tenement Houses Included

Lighting Effects and Floor To be Finished Today

Decorations for the Junior Prom have been completed and a picturesque Greenwich Village awaits the college students and their mothers at McArthur Court this evening at nine o'clock.

Prom goers will find everything in the decorations from exclusive tea houses to Chinese laundries and tenement houses. The futuristic painting of the trees and buildings make you wonder for a moment if you haven't stepped into Wonderland—but the snappy music brings you back very much to the present. The Dago fruit stands from which punch will be served by Filipino boys are covered with awnings and are especially attractive.

The floor and lighting of the dance have not yet been entirely completed. Crosby Owens, general chairman of the Prom, announced last night, and every fraternity house is asked by Owens to send one junior man to the Igloo between ten and twelve this morning to complete the work on the floor. Sweeping and sprinkling of spangles on the floor will be the work done by these men. Dick Horn will be in charge.

Futuristic Effects

The lighting which will lend to the futuristic effect by having alternate dark and light flood lights will be entirely completed by this noon, Bob Eckman who is in charge, declared. No lighting of this type has ever been used on the campus before, Eckman believes, and the blue column of indirect lighting over the orchestra stand in the center of the floor will be another new feature.

Oregon mothers will be special guests at the Junior Prom this evening and a section has been reserved in the balcony of McArthur Court for them. No hunting or decorations will be in their way and they will have an excellent view of the dance. All mothers wishing to, will be urged to dance with their sons.

Presentation of the Koyl and Geringer cups will be the highlight of the evening. The former will be given to the junior man judged outstanding on the campus by a committee made up of a group of students, leaders and faculty members. The latter cup will be given to the

Present Total Indicates 260 Mothers Here

Landscape Pastel to be Awarded Group Having Most

Banquet to Mark Climax for Today

Teas, Receptions, Vespers Planned for Guests Over Week-end

More than 260 Oregon mothers had registered for Mother's Day by last evening, Eleanor Poorman, who is general chairman of Mother's Day announced. Hendricks hall leads the list of living organizations with 17 mothers to their credit and Alpha Xi Delta was second with 16.

The prize, which is an original landscape pastel of the Crooked River canyon in eastern Oregon, done by Professor N. B. Zane, of the art department, will be awarded the house having the largest percentage of mothers on the campus in comparison with the number of girls or men in the group. The decision will be announced Sunday morning.

Banquet at 5:30

The banquet, which starts at 5:30 this evening will mark the climax of the day's activities. Reservations have been made for almost 800 people and is the largest of its kind ever given in Eugene. Mrs. Eric W. Allen will be toastmistress and President Arnold Bennett Hall will be the main speaker of the evening. Others who will give short talks are Dean Hazel Prutsman, Mrs. J. F. Hill, and Mrs. W. B. Crane, both of Portland, Helen Webster and Roy Herndon, representing the students.

Election of Officers

Election of officers and a discussion of policies and plans of the mothers' federation will follow the speeches at the banquet.

Music will be furnished by Phi Beta, women's professional music honorary, and will include numbers by the girls trio, Mabel Kullander, Carolyn Cooper, and Katherine Starr, the men's quartet of Ed Fisher, Ernest McKinney, Jack Dennis, and Roy Bryson, and the university orchestra.

A formal reception will be given in the Woman's building this afternoon between the hours of 2:30 and 4:30 and a tea and exhibition of the work done by the girls' sewing classes at the household arts building.

Vespers Close Activities

Open house and vespers services will feature Sunday afternoon. Open house, in which all living organizations will participate will start at 2:30 and close in time for the vespers at 4:30. Phi Mu Alpha, men's music honorary, will provide the program which will consist of organ solos by George Barron; vocal solo by Jack Dennis, and violin solos by Kenneth Brown.

Members of the Mother's Day directorate are Eleanor Poorman, chairman; Gladys Clausen, banquet; Marjorie Chester, secretary; Katherine Talbot, teas; Milton George registration; Lawrence Parks, open house; Stanford Brooks, decoration; Elise Schroeder, publicity.

Japanese Consul Guest at Oregon, Likes Campus Day

Canoe Fete, Baseball, Soph Frosh Mix Viewed by Visitor and Wife

The canoe fete, the baseball game, and the disciplining of the frosh, as well as other Junior Week-end activities, were of great interest to Consul Inoue, Japanese representative for the district of Portland, who visited the campus yesterday.

Consul Inoue, who was accompanied by his wife, has spent years of traveling around the world. They paid the university a visit in order to get a picture of college life, and both of them compared American colleges very favorably with those of their own country.

Very serious offenses are the only sort which merit paddling for freshmen in Japan, according to the consul, but he found the disciplinary efforts of Oregon students quite amusing. Baseball is played by everyone in Japan, he declared; but he enjoyed watching the American game, especially when the "piggies" were publicly chastised.

Consul Inoue will return to Portland today.

Alpha Gamma Delta and Alpha Hall Win Oregon Canoe Fete

Theta-Kappa Sigma Take Second; Two Floats Receive Honorable Mention From Judges

Woman's House Gains Permanent Possession of Cup as Result of Third Victory

By WILFRED BROWN

Out of the darkness came Nereid, the sea nymph, in her chariot, drawn by a pair of gigantic dolphins with great green eyes, gauze-like fins, and bodies of blended blues and reds. Out of the darkness came Nereid with her maidens, into a varicolored phosphorescence and without the least difficulty captured for her creators, Alpha Gamma Delta and Alpha Hall, first place in the annual Canoe Fete held on the mill race last night.

The Last Flight Wins Second

It was a float of an entirely different type. "The Last Flight," the portrayal of a grim and spectacular tragedy of the north seas, an airplane wrecked on an iceberg, such as was the probable fate of the gallant Roald Amundsen, that took second prize. "The Last Flight" was entered by Kappa Alpha Theta and Kappa Sigma.

Campus Day Again Big Success; 2800 Attend Festivities

Mortar Board Chooses Seven; Friars Tap Same Number

Music, Luncheon, Dancing Make Joyous Time

Approximately 2800 students and visitors, streaming over a sun-bathed campus, yesterday noon participated in the annual campus luncheon, with the pledging of seven women to Mortar Board and eight men to Friar, its climaxing feature.

When the sombrely attired, gravely marching line of men filed in among the festive throng they summoned, with a tap on the shoulder, the following men to Friar membership: Paul Hunt, Portland; Harold Kelley, Portland; Arden X. Pangborn, Portland; John Anderson, Bridgeport, Connecticut; Tom Stoddard, Modoc Point; Arthur Schoeni, Medford; Keith Hall, Marshfield.

Red roses were proffered to the seven chosen women when Mortar Board members, also wearing black gowns, wound through the crowd. They were Beatrice Milligan, Eugene; Helen Peters, Portland; Florence McNeerney, Portland; Marjorie Chester, Astoria; Eldress Judd, Roseburg; Margaret Edmondson, Eugene; Betty Schmeer, Eugene.

Wending slowly among the gaily attired campus grouping the dignity of the two organizations in their traditional pledging ceremony had a memorable thrill for the crowd, many of whom were visiting mothers.

Eldress Judd was general chairman of the luncheon and directed a large crew who kept three tables piled high with sandwiches, salad, meat, pickles, and ice cream served buffet style. Members of Kwama and Oregon Knights assisted in serving.

Music by John Robinson's Varsity Vagabonds entertained the picnicing groups during the noon hour and a program, given in front of the library, followed. Renee Nelson was in charge of the entertainment. Hits from "Oh Dear" were sung by Marjorie Clark, a Russian dance drama was given by members of Orchestra and a conjno quintet, made up of Graham Conington, Howard Wall, Dave Mason, Jack Morrison and Bob Smith, played. Don Eva, John Low and Omar Palmer comprising a men's trio from "Oh Dear," sang.

Sophs Give Frosh Bath in Mill Race In Tug-o-War Tilt

Winners Catch Yearlings Off Guard; Over 100 Go Through

About 35 sophomores succeeded in giving nearly 200 freshmen a cold bath in the mill race when, upon catching them off their guard, they pulled the yearlings through the water in the annual soph-frosh tug-o-war which took place yesterday morning at 11 o'clock.

Not exactly true to form, the sophs were checked by a telephone official who prohibited them from fastening their end of the rope to one of the company's posts, which was already wabbling from the strain. At this point, Jim Sharp, chairman of campus day, ordered all but 35 freshmen from the ropes, most of them giving away. Considerable time had been lost while waiting for several campus movie scenes to be snapped, thus leaving the first year men off their guard. With a tug, the sophomores had little trouble in dragging them all through.

Mrs. Winchell to Talk On Happy Marriages

"The Elements of a Happy Marriage" will be the subject of a talk before the Wesley Club, student organization of the Methodist church, by Mrs. George P. Winchell, whose husband is a local physician. The lecture will be Sunday night at the church, Willamette street at Twelfth avenue.

The talk is the second of a pair on the subject of marriage, Dr. John H. Mueller of the school of sociology having spoken last Sunday on the complexities of modern life and the adjustments necessary for a happy marriage in it.

A half hour social time will precede the talk, beginning at 6 o'clock. Ruth Johnson is in charge.

This being a victory for the sophomores, the freshmen football men who had been painting the "O" on Skinner's butte, began to smear yellow paint on their opponents, resulting in a real soph-frosh mix. Several scenes for the campus movie were secured during the scrap, Verne Elliot, leading man, entering all events as a freshman.
