The conference race is half run and Washington leads the league with Oregon in a triple tie for second, which is also next to last. The teams in the north are more evenly matched this season than they have been for some years. Never has the championship been a walk away, but there have always been outstanding teams both good and bad. This year no teams stand out as being either highly superior or inferior.

Washington leads the rest by virtue of the game won from Oregon. Had Oregon taken both of these Webfoots would have been in a tie with the Huskies. This last game was lost because of poor playing of the Webfoots while on the field. In the two games with Washington every man on the Oregon pitching staff had a chance on the mound and but two were sent back to the bench. Bill Baker went into the first game in the fifth inning with one away and two men on bases. He had the most success of the day and finished with only nine hits and seven runs against him. Oregon won the game by getting 14 runs while Baker was in the box, and he was scored as the winning pitcher.

Bloom Does Well
Dave Bloom, who pitched for the fresh last season, had his first chance Saturday, and came out as the only pitcher with a clean record in the series. He went in at the first of the seventh with Oregon 12 runs behind. With perfect support from his team, Bloom gave the Huskies only one hit and no runs. The fault was not entirely with the pitchers. Curly Fuller pitched the last out of the fifth inning and all of the sixth. He was touched for only one hit and gave two walks, yet six runs were scored on him. The runs were made because of one-headed plays of the rest of the Oregon team.

The whole team played faultless ball the last three innings of the

NOW that college suicides are no longer fashionable, and gin drinking orgies of the garterless and bohemian intellects scarcely receive honorable mention in the day's news, Administration vs. Student has its inning. Washington with its interesting legal tangle with the coaches has been eclipsed by a melodramatic egg throwing contest staged at Des Moines university. It all goes to prove that an egg in the eye is worth more to intellectual progress than ten suicides in the day's news.

SPEAKING OF CONTESTS, The Oregon student body is staging one of its own: Student vs. Speaker. Assembly hour has become a substitute for the closed library, and often filled only because of compulsory attendance. It is a marvel the remarkable resistance displayed by the students toward visiting speakers. Aided by rattling chairs, noisy papers, and clattering notebooks, students, all of whom are undoubtedly burning with an in-

Frosh Councillors To be Named Soon Says Lois Nelson

Advisory Committee Urges All Upperclass Women To Apply for Posts

Junior and senior women interested in acting as freshman commission councillors for next year under the new organization of the first year group should leave their names at the Y. W. bungalow this week, according to Miss Dorothy Thomas, Y. W. secretary here. Those who will be sophomores next year may apply, although preference will be given the juniors and seniors when the committee of Dorothy Hallin, freshman commission adviser, and Lois Nelson, commission president, select the girls to guide the group next year. The 4 o'clock hour on Mondays must be kept open to those applying, Miss Thomas said.
The commission next year will be divided into several sections of 15 or 20 girls, each group having an upperclass girl in charge. The groups will meet regularly every Tuesday at 4 o'clock, the leader conducting the instruction and discussion along lines of general freshman orientation. Some of the subjects to be considered are campus popularity, friendship, college life, customs, and traditions, the relations between men and women, honesty in examinations, and vocations. The councillors will meet with the Y. W. secretary and with the chief counselor, Dorothy Hallin, every Monday at 4 o'clock to plan the work and to receive instruction in group leadership.
This year the freshman commission has been meeting twice a month in a large group to hear a prepared program of music and a lecture.

Organization For Mothers Begins Work

Dinner Largest in State Outside of Portland; Many Speakers

Mrs. Walter Cook Named New Prexy

Committees to Cooperate in University Tasks Are Chosen

"Oregon Mothers," not to be outdone by the "Oregon Dads," united in a state wide organization similar to that of the "Dads" which started a year and a half ago. The mothers took the opportunity to organize at the mothers' banquet held at the Gerlinger building.

The first annual banquet of Oregon Mothers was held Saturday evening, climaxing a day of numerous field and social functions. More than 500 mothers were present at the banquet and with their sons and daughters made a total of more than 1000 served.

President Chosen

Mrs. Walter Cook of Portland was named president of the organization. Mrs. John Ruyman of Roseburg was elected vice-president and Mrs. Wilson Jewett of Eugene was elected secretary. An executive committee is composed of Mrs. J. F. Hill, Mrs. C. D. Bodine, Mrs. Herman Schade, Mrs. Wallace Shearer, Mrs. Treve Jones, Mrs. Frank Heitkemper, Mrs. W. B. Crane, Mrs. George Peters, and Mrs. Phil Metsehan, all of Portland; Mrs. W. J. Seufert, The Dalles; Mrs. Emil E. Judd, Roseburg; Mrs. Charles Hall, Marshfield; Mrs. Colin Eberhard, La Grande; and Mrs. Ray Logan, Seaside.

Largest Eugene Banquet

Mrs. Eric W. Allen, wife of the dean of journalism, presided at the banquet. It is said that this was the largest dinner ever held in the state outside of Portland. The banquet room was filled and the gathering listened to speakers representing the mothers, the students, and the university.

Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the university gave the welcoming address to the mothers. He stressed cooperation and a sympathetic understanding in the important task of developing the children of the state.

Dr. Hall cited the example of the "dads" organization and the close bonds of understanding between the home and the university as a result. With the addition of a mothers' organization more power is added to those forces already in operation.

Mothers Welcomed

Mrs. J. F. Hill, Portland, in response to the welcome of the mothers, spoke of their interest in the university. Her topic was "Mighty Mothers of Oregon."

Helen Webster, secretary of the student body, spoke for the students, her topic being "Mothers of Ours." Miss Hazel Prutsman, dean of women, talked on "In Charge of Your Charges." Mrs. W. B. Crane, of Portland, spoke on "Matching Money for a Matchless Purpose," describing the drive for $50,000 to match the state appropriation for a new infirmary.

A state wide general committee was announced. The mothers on this committee are Mrs. Eric W. Allen, Mrs. Frank Carr, Mrs. F. M. Carter, Mrs. Joseph Coke, Mrs. J. B. Patterson, Mrs. A. Rogers, and Mrs. Claude Rorer.

Miss Helen Williams Pleases in Piano Work

Miss Helen Williams presented an interesting recital at the music building last night. The Beethoven she did nicely and here and there we were pleased with an unusual piece of interpretation, and a thoughtfulness over individual tones and phrases, although we might have asked for more firmness and roundness. The Chopin group was composed all of old familiar to us, two preludes, the Polonaise, and the Fantaisie Impromptu, which, by the way, was very well liked. Miss Williams' last group consisted of four modern selections, one of Leschetizky, two of Debussy, and of Friedmann-Gartner. The "L'etsehtizky Arabesque en forme d'Etude" was good, but the Debussy takes a great deal of imagination and sureness to make it come alive.

Miss Williams was assisted in her program by Miss Katherine Blood, contralto. Her four numbers were unusual in selection.

Class Nominations To Be Held Today

Villard, Guild Halls Are Meeting Places

Nominations for class elections will be made today at the class meetings which are scheduled to be held, according to the various class presidents.

The juniors will meet in the assembly in Villard at 5 o'clock, according to Mardina Medler, vice-president. Frances Hill, sophomore president, has called a meeting at 7:30 to be held in room 107 of Villard. The freshmen are scheduled to make their nominations at 7:30 in the meeting in Guild hall, said Brian Minnaugh, yesterday.

Political meetings have been held during the past few days and lineups made in preparation for the formal announcement of them. The complete lists will be printed in Wednesday's Emerald.

Captain Hook and Peter Pan Play in 'Thar She Blows'

Good Little Boys Saved By Crocodile in Performance

Diving, Swimming, and Clogging are Features

Alas! Captain Hook has captured the boys, They are doomed to a watery grave;

When lo! Peter Pan and the Crocodile come And save all from this terrible knave.

Peter Pan, the boys from Never Land, the pirates, and the crocodile will live again in "Thar She Blows," the annual demonstration which Amphibian, women's swimming honorary, will present tonight and tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Gerlinger building.

Afton Marinelle takes the part of Peter Pan; Irene Buckley is the crocodile; and Ione Garbe is the cruel Captain Hook. He captures the boys and threatens to make them walk the plank, but the crocodile comes to the rescue.

Stunt dives, formation swimming, clogging, and dancing will feature the program. This is the first time that the club has ever attempted such a diversified demonstration.

Tickets for the exhibition, which are twenty-five cents, will be sold at all living organizations and at the Gerlinger building.

Those taking part in the performances are: Olive Banks, Eunice Daniels, Ione Garbe, Eleanor Cobb, Elizabeth Summers, Margaret Cummings, Alberta Rives, Alice Heesler, Lois Murfin, Mildred Gibson, Naomi Moshberg, Elizabeth Shipley, Thelma Kern, Julia Currie, Barbara Mann, Mary Steinhilber, Fay Helm, Genevieve Hellivell, Anne Stange, Elise Sunbaum, Afton Marinelle, and Irene Buckley.

Spanish Journal Prints Articles by L. O. Wright

The May issue of HISPANIA, official journal of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish, contains three articles on "The Indicative Function of the -RA Verb Form in Spanish" by Professor Leovigildo O. Wright of the Romance language department.

These studies were prepared by Dr. Wright last fall for presentation respectively at the annual meetings of the Philological Association of the Pacific coast at Palo Alto in November; the American Association of Teachers of Spanish at Detroit in December; and the Modern Language Association at Toronto. They present partial results of his findings in his doctoral dissertation, presented at the University of California last September, and serve to prove that, contrary to previous supposition of most scholars, the indicative function of the verb form studies was practically non-existent in the literature of the Spanish Golden Age. This discovery will serve to aid in the interpretation hereafter of Spanish masterpieces of that period, such as Cervantes' Don Quixote de la Mancha, and the plays of Lope de Vega.

Round Table to Hear Talk by John Mueller

Dr. John H. Mueller, assistant professor of sociology, will deliver a lecture before the Round Table, Eugene town-and-gown club, tonight at the Osburn hotel on "Feminism and its Social, Economic, and Political Implications."

Three Oregon Tracksters

Much of the success of the Oregon track team depends on the performance of these three athletes. They all placed in the Washington meet and are expected to do even better in the O. S. C. meet, May 25.

Wednesday Last Day to Sign for Breakfast Guests

Junior-Senior Affair Will Be Held May 25, Says Gracia Haggerty

Junior women will have until Wednesday to sign up for their guests at the annual junior-senior breakfast sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. for May 25 at 8:15 o'clock, Gracia Haggerty, in charge of the affair, announced yesterday. After Wednesday, juniors will be arbitrarily assigned to seniors to take to the breakfast. Those who have signed up but have not yet bought tickets are asked to do so at once, she said. Girls who at the last moment find that they cannot go must secure their own substitutes. Tickets will be placed on sale in the living organizations Wednesday.

Ann Baum was yesterday placed in complete charge of the dining room for the breakfast, and members of the freshman commission will serve. Dorothy Anne Warnick is in charge of the ticket sale; Daphne Hughes will arrange the program; Florence Jones will do the decorating; Helen Prang is in charge of publicity; Eldress Judd will act as toastmistress, calling upon a junior and a senior to speak. Music will supplement the program.

"We are expecting this breakfast to be the largest one ever given on the campus," Miss Haggerty said, and explained that there are 241 seniors who will attend the affair. The theme is being withheld as a surprise.

Phi Psi Polo Quintet Beat Kappa Sigma

The Phi Psi hardball league water polo team kept its slate clean yesterday by taking the Kappa Sig splashers down, 3 to 1. The Phi Psis have taken four straight without a setback.

Fred Smith and Jim Raley scored for Phi Psi in the first half, with a Kappa Sig tally by Jean Eberhard sandwiched in between. Kappa Sig shooting was weak and erratic thereafter, several good chances being thrown away. Ford Smith gathered in the third Phi Psi point.

Softball league games tonight send the Phi Deltas against S. A. B. at 7, and Kappa Sigma against Delta Epsilon at 7:30. Delta Epsilon shares league leadership with Alpha Tau Omega.

Women Organize Club For Tennis Players

The Eugene Women's Tennis club was organized last Wednesday when a group of 12 women tennis enthusiasts met at the Gerlinger building.

Miss Mary Perkins, professor of English, was named president; Mrs. David M. Graham, secretary; and Miss Hazel Prutsman, acting dean of women, treasurer. A committee was appointed to draw up a constitution to be read at the next meeting.

A ladder tournament will be the first activity of the club, whose general purpose is to play tennis and to sponsor it as a sport. All women who are interested in tennis are invited to join the club, according to the president. The next meeting will be held Friday, May 17.

Water Stunts Big Attraction Junior Week

First Aquatic Carnival Draws Many Entries For Competition

Hockey on Roller Skates Hard Game

Alpha Chi Omega Receives Pastel for Having Most Visiting Mothers

That swimming is an increasingly popular sport on the University of Oregon campus was definitely proved Saturday at the water carnival held here under the direction of Jim Sharp, as one of the features of Junior Week-end. The bleachers were crowded with spectators who heartily enjoyed the first event of its kind ever held here. Thirty-four swimmers and twenty-five canoes came splashing down the race from the portage to the Anchorage. Many of the contests were close enough to draw the spectators to their feet.

Lois Murphin Wins

When it all was over it was discovered that the canoe race was won by Stew Ralston, Beta Theta Pi, and Betty Beam, Kappa Kappa Gamma, who made the course down the mill race in just a trifle over nine minutes. Each of the two houses was awarded a silver cup for entering the winning canoe. Lois Murphin, Alpha Chi Omega, won the women's swimming race and incidentally at Jantzen swimming suit by coming down the race in slightly more than 19 minutes. The men's swimming contest was won by Palmer McKim, A. T. O.

A number of special events were presented in addition to the three main races of the day. The comedy team of Mae Miller and Bill Gillette presented an aquatic vaudeville skit. Bess Abercrombie, Ione Garbe, Don Neer, and Tom Thompson demonstrated fancy diving, and there was a comedy swimming race presented by some members of the varsity and fresh swimming squads.

Hockey Brings Ambulance

At 1:30 Saturday was held the roller skate hockey game originally scheduled for Friday. Two teams of six men each, captained by John Kitzmiller and Jenn Eberthar competed on the library tennis courts. The game was fast and tough, and falls were hard and numerous. At the end of the game the score stood 4 to 3 in favor of Kitzmiller's aggregation. Shortly before the game began an ambulance came shrieking up the street, and the undergraduates flocked to the tennis courts from all parts of the campus. However, it was discovered that the ambulance was merely an advertising stunt of Sharp's, but those who came did not regret staying for the meet.

Nearly 500 mothers came to the campus for the second annual Mother's Day held here co-incidental with Junior Week-end. A postcard of the Crooked river canyon in eastern Oregon by Nowland B. Zane, professor of art, which was offered to the house on the campus having the largest number of mothers to its credit, was awarded to Alpha Chi Omega house, where 27 mothers spent the week-end.

YW and YM Cabinets To Hold Joint Meeting

A joint dinner and meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. cabinets will be held tonight at the home of Mr. H. W. Davis, secretary of United Christian work on the campus. Betty Hughes and Eldress Judd are in charge of food, while members of the Y. M. cabinet will arrange for the transportation to Mr. Davis' home on College Crest, The Horizons.

Class Visits Hospital

Members of Dr. Edmond S. Conklin's class in abnormal psychology spent yesterday afternoon in Salem, where they attended a special clinic at the state hospital. This annual visit, which is made possible through the courtesy of Dr. Griffith of the hospital, includes an inspection of the institution and a clinic of cases studied by the class earlier in the term.

Mary Perkins Talks

Mary Perkins, professor of English, talked to the "Woman in Her Sphere" group of Philomelot at its meeting Sunday at 5 o'clock in the Gerlinger building on the subject of "Medieval Woman." She also exhibited some medieval prints.
