

Moe and Will Lead In Golf Conference

Hunter Places Third in Seattle Meet; Moe Leads All

Tournament Half Finished Remainder to be Played Today

Don Moe and George Will, who compose the two-man golf team of the University of Oregon, lead the field for the 36 holes of the first day of the Pacific coast conference championship now being played at Seattle by seventeen stokers, according to a telegram received last night from Don Moe. The total score for Oregon was 293, and Washington, in second place, was checked in with a 310.

Don Moe was individual low scorer, with Will three strokes behind him. For the first round Moe turned in 36 and 39 for 75, and the second round 34 and 36 for 70. His total score was 145. George Will's scores were as follows: 36, 39 for 75, and 34, 39 for 73. His total was 148.

Chuck Hunter, Washington's defending coast champion, placed third with 151. Gishon Duulap, of the University of California at Los Angeles, was fourth with 156.

The team scores were as follows: Oregon 293, Washington 310, Stanford 314, U. C. L. A. 317, U. S. C. 323, California 324, Montana 389, O. S. C. disqualified.

For the morning round of 18 holes Moe, Will and Hunter were in a tie for first with scores of 75 each. The tournament is half finished. The final 36 holes will be played today.

Relations Club Library Gets Three Volumes

Three new volumes have recently been added to the International Relations Club library. These books are the gift of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace with which organization this club is associated. The volumes deal with three very important phases of the problem of international peace.

"The League of Nations," by John Spencer Bassett, is a description of the development and accomplishments of the League of Nations up to date. "Political Myths and Economic Realities," by Francis Delaisi emphasizes the "conflict between political formulas and economic facts." The third book, "War as an Instrument of National Policy and Its Renunciation in the Pact of Paris," by J. T. Shotwell, deals with the Kellogg-Briand Treaty to outlaw war.

These books may be found in the case set aside for the International Relations club in the main reading room of the library.

Theta Sigma Phi Sale To be Held Tuesday

The date for the auction book sale which was to be held today on the library steps was changed to next Tuesday, because of a conflict with the weekly assembly. Theta Sigma Phi will sponsor the sale.

Dorothy Baker will act as chairman of the auction. Books will be offered for sale at the students' own prices. Last year a rent shelf was maintained by the members and these and others donated by the alumnae will be up for sale.

Scenes From the Campus Movie

Kappa Sigs Win Water Polo Tilt From Betas, 4-2

First Half Features Good Defense Work by Both Teams

The Kappa Sigma hardball league water polo team walked away with their game with Beta Theta Pi last evening, 4 to 2. The Betas held a 1 to 0 lead at half time. Phi Sigma Kappa was awarded the scheduled Fiji encounter when the Fijis failed to appear.

Especially good defense work featured the first half of the tussle. The Betas had the ball most of the time but could not break through the Kappa Sig line, consisting of Pittman, Beltz, Howard and Jean Eberhart, to plant the apple in the net. Once near the end of the half Pratt hurled one that eluded Howard Eberhart, goaltender, for the only score in the initial period. The Kappa Sigs scarcely came near scoring.

Coming out in the final period the Kappa Sigs shot four straight. The Beta team appeared to be tired. Pittman and Beltz annexed one point each while Jean Eberhart

Dr. K. Reinhardt Talks Before German Club

A talk on "Benedictine Art in the Valley of the Danube" was given by Dr. K. Reinhardt, assistant professor of German, at a meeting of the German club, which was held Tuesday evening at the Oregon building. An unusual collection of slides showing scenic views of the Danube, the Benedictine monasteries, the monks, and the beautiful works of art created by them were used to illustrate the talk.

Award of the Albert prize which is given annually by Joseph Albert of Salem to the senior man or woman who has progressed furthest in character, service and wholesome influence will be made Tuesday at the senior meeting. Candidates who have been nominated are Helen Webster, Ronald Hubbs, and Francis McKenna.

Alpha Delta Sigma Initiates Five Men

Five men were initiated into Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising honorary, Sunday afternoon. Those taken into full membership were Addison Brockman, Ted Hewitt, Fletcher Udall, John Nelson, and Harold Allen.

After they were pledged to the organization, they appeared on the campus for a day with large signs hanging from their shoulders and rang bells as they walked along between classes.

Women's All-Star Baseball Teams Chosen Thursday

Last Game Scheduled for Next Monday; Players To go to Corvallis

All-star teams for women's intramural baseball were announced last night by May Moore, head of that sport. A game to be played Monday afternoon between the first and second all-star teams will end the season.

All members of these teams who can go to Corvallis for the Oregon-O. S. C. Play Day should sign up on the bulletin board in the Gerlinger building, May stated.

May Issue of Alumni Magazine Extra Big

The May issue of "Old Oregon" campus alumni magazine, which will be out Saturday, May 18, is to be a big edition, featuring the Fine Arts building.

President A. B. Hall has written an article on "Putting New Life into the Gift Campaign." Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the university has also written a story of the Fine Arts Building which is "one of the best I have ever read," says Jeanette Calkins, editor-in-chief. "It gives an inspirational glimpse of the building," she continued, "and goes into detail more than any other description."

Another feature of the issue is to be a lot of pictures. There will be a page of successful alums among whom are: Dr. Melvin T. Solve, professor in the University of Arizona; Dr. Norma Dobie Solve, author of a recent book and teacher in summer school; Miss Virginia Cleaver Bacon, state librarian; Dr. Miriam Van Waters, referee of juvenile court in Los Angeles and Dr. Ben H. Williams, professor in the University of Pittsburgh.

An interesting article in the edition is "Factors considered in a Student Hospital" by Dean John F. Boyard. The commencement programs and announcements will also be printed.

Senior Woman Holds Record as Pitcher

The pitcher for the senior women's baseball team, Jeannette Hermance, holds the enviable distinction of having allowed only five runs to be made by other teams during the whole season. The senior team, having been defeated only once, leads all the other class teams.
