

Oregon Emerald

University of Oregon, Eugene

Arthur L. Schoeni Editor
 William H. Hammond Business Manager
 Wilson Hall Managing Editor

Associate Editors

Ron Hubbs Rex Tusing
 Ruth Newman Wilford Brown
 Secretary—Ann Hathaway

Upper News Staff

Mary Klemm Asst. Mng. Editor Victor Kaufman P. I. P. Editor
 Harry Van Dine Sports Editor Osborne Holland Feature Editor
 Phyllis Van Kimmel Society Editor Ralph David Chief Night Editor
 Myron Griffin Literary Editor Clarence Craw Makeup Editor

Business Staff

George Weber, Jr. Assoc. Mgr. Larry Jackson Cir. Mgr.
 Tony Peterson Adv. Mgr. Harold Kester Office Mgr.
 Addison Brockman Betty Hagen Women's Spec. Adv.
 Foreign Adv. Mgr. Ina Tremblay Asst. Adv. Mgr.
 Jean Patrick Mgr. Copy Dept. Louise Guernsey Exec. Sec.

Day Editor Barney Miller

Night Editor This Issue Rufus Kimball

Assistant Night Editors Carl Monroe
 Elinor Henry

When to Wear Cords?

SIMPLICITY in dress habits of students at the university has often been commended by outsiders. Expensive everyday attire is a thing unknown on the campus, both for men and co-eds.

Corduroy pants have been the heritage of upperclassmen for many years and have saved hundreds of dollars in cleaners and pressers bills.

Sweaters and inexpensive shoes are also items which help the college student from running into too many expenses which will make college prohibitive.

The action of the sophomores in selecting whitecord trousers and the freshmen in choosing "fin pants" as their official class garb is another step in the direction of keeping college from becoming a formal dress affair.

But while all this array of cords, whitecords, sweaters and fin pants is an admirable way to get around the clothing bill and commendable in itself, one item is to be considered—appropriateness of dress.

There is a time and place for everything, but the time and place for campus clothes is not at the more formal functions of the university. College students have a great lesson to learn when it comes to synchronizing their dress habits with the fitness of the occasion. This does not mean the knowledge of when to wear tan gloves and when to don grey. It means the realization that a suit and necktie are "a la mode" certain times and at others that informal togs are the thing to wear.

At times when the university is putting on a show of a formal nature for the outside world to see and when people from Eugene and other cities in the state are present, then it is the cue of the students to dress up a bit for the occasion and not give them the impression that college is the place where students wear out their old clothes.

That Freshman Ceremonial

"FRESHMAN Inaugural Will Be Substitute for Parade" read a headline in yesterday morning's Emerald, thus marking the passing of the traditional old parade up Skinner's butte and the birth of a new tradition.

This afternoon between the halves of the Willamette football game, the freshmen will march across the gridiron, led by the university band and accompanied by the Oregon Knights and Order of the "O."

At the foot of the president's box they will gather for the ceremony of officially placing on their heads the verdant lid of an Oregon frosh.

The former custom of initiating the yearlings into the ranks of the college man by liberal paddling is being replaced with a serious ceremonial, which, sponsors hope, will be much more impressive and have a more lasting effect on the freshmen than the session on the butte.

Just how this ceremony will be taken remains to be seen. The Emerald makes no predictions as to the success of the venture. It hopes for the best, but it feels college students are too blasé and a bit too sophisticated to enter into the spirit of the occasion as might younger people or adults.

The ceremony will go off all right. There is no doubt of that. The Knights and Order of the "O" will see to that. But whether the purpose of it all—instilling respect into the freshmen—is put over, cannot be foretold. It is but an experiment, and as experiments go, a good one. The Emerald hopes for its ultimate success.

A young lady professor at an eastern university says handshakes carry disease. She is speaking generally, of course. Specifically, there are handshakes that don't carry anything—even conviction. We will have more to say about these after open house this week-end.

Now that the world-moving question of whitecords or no whitecords for the sophomore men is decided it will be good to settle back in our seats and relax a bit. The second-year men will probably all "dye" at the end of fall term.

"Hoover's son lives at college like any other student," says a news item. Which all goes to prove he may be human after all.

Open house—open mouth. (By one who has been through four.)

Employment Bureau Secures Jobs for 127

A total of 127 men have been placed in regular jobs through Mrs. Charlotte Donnelly, secretary of housing and employment for men. These jobs will net a term total of $13,454. The odd jobs for the students will aggregate a sum of approximately $1,000.

Definite figures on employment and housing are not available at this time, says Mrs. Donnelly, for the statistical record will not be made until the end of the term.

Willamette Will Have Standard Law School

Willamette University.—(PIP)—That the Willamette University college of law will be accepted in the near future as a standard law school by the Association of American Law Schools is now practically assured, according to Roy R. Hewitt, dean of the law school. With the exception of the library, which lacks some 1,500 volumes now practically available, all departments of the school have met the requirements for standardization and full national recognition.

LEMON TODAY
 With the Bunion Derby so near at hand we have received a petition from the Delta Epsilons that A D P I please refrain from playing "My Wild Irish Rose" at open house during their stay.
 The A D P I proxy wants to know if "The Campbells Are Coming" will be all right instead.

At a meeting last night the sophomores decided to wear orange and blue spotted shorts instead of pants this year but the order of the "O" frowned upon such action due to their striking resemblance to cords (in a dense fog).

This is Mary. The boys call her "stream-line" because she's so fast.

When Brigham Young's first mother-in-law died he placed a three-ton granite slab over her grave. That's what we call keeping a woman down.

The wise old bird has observed that this is the first open house at which it will not be considered an insult to ask a freshman to SIT DOWN between dances.

Mr. Morris (in econ.)—Now give me an example of uneven distribution.

Dumb frosh—A bald-headed man with two hairs.

TODAY'S PUTRID PUN
 Give a sentence with the word BIGAMY.
 O. K., I let my room mate borrow my tax, now wasn't that big a me?

LEMON TODDY LITERARY SECTION

LOVE

If you had me and I had you
 And if I knew my love was true,
 Then you'd have me and I'd have you
 And I'd be sure your love was true.

SELF DEFENSE

Oh, where art thou, Hortensio?
 Under the davenport, fairest flower,
 me thinks thou art a bit too heavy for this slender frame.

INFAMOUS EPITAPHS

Here lie the remains of Sylvester Grouse
 Whose arches broke down during open house.

THE SODA JERKER.

A soccer game played last week between Worcester, Mass., and Worcester, England, for the purpose of developing friendship between the two communities, ended in a tie match of six goals each. Both teams were made up of amateurs.

CLASSIFIED ADS

LOST—Pair of shell-rimmed glasses Wednesday evening between Music building and the men's gym. Finder please call 2492-J.

LOST—A Munro "Governments of Europe." Finder please return to S. G. Wolke, 2028 University.

FOR SALE or exchange enhancing colonial floor covering and five shelf book case suitable for Harvard Classics. Phone 1319.

Them Days Are Gone Forever

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ORDER OF THE "O" men are requested to wear their sweaters today, and to sit in a special section of the stands, which will be reserved for them.

SOPHOMORES interested in track managerial work meet at Bill Hayward's office in McArthur court at 1:15 today.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS are requested to meet at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow Sunday evening at 5:30 for refreshments, a social hour, and the reorganization of the Lutheran Student club.

VESPERS will be held Sunday evening at 4:30 o'clock. Reverend Clay E. Palmer, John R. Mez, and John Stark Evans are on the program. From 5 until 5:30 the Murray Warner Museum will be open.

WOMAN AND HER SPHERE, HOBBY GROUP meet at the Chi Delta house, 15th and Alder streets, Sunday from 5 to 6 o'clock. All old members are asked to bring a friend, and all girls who are interested are urged to attend.

GIRLS' OREGON CLUB will be at its new home in Thacher Cottage, 1374 Onyx street, for open house.

NEWMAN CLUB will breakfast tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's hall, 11th and Lincoln streets.

DRAMA GROUP OF PHILOMETTE will meet in the woman's room of the Gerlinger building at 5 o'clock Sunday.

Five Chinese youths, all in their teens, were arrested, tried, and shot within two hours at Shanghai recently when they were apprehended while distributing Communist literature. The youths were arrested in the International Settlement, and turned over to the police.

take the Cash

By MIKE GRIFFIN

SOLILOQUY OF A DISGUSTED BEDBUG

Ah, sighed the little bedbug
 As he slipped down in the springs
 The more I stay in this damn bed
 The more trouble to me it brings.
 I've been here now for one long week
 And not a soul has come to rest
 I'm so hungry that my bones all squeak
 I'm not equal to the test.
 And if soon I'm not rewarded
 By hearing some sweet noice
 I'll beat it back to the Theta shack
 And never roam no more. —R. H.

GOAT'S HOOF

By ALGERNON CROFTON
 "But all that which shineth as the gold is not gold, as I have heard it told." "Goat's Hoof" certainly is not gold, although it has a glamour and a shine all of its own. As a clever and amusing comment on modern convention it is well worth one's time, but as a textbook on philosophy it would be misleading, to say the least.

The mythical Silenus, in a series of letters to his friend Clio, points out in entertaining fashion the whys and wherefores of this game of love. The result is a series of highly amusing and satirical episodes dealing with people who couldn't be real. But that is beside the point. Of course there couldn't be a wife as patient and persevering as Penelope, a temptress as alluring as Lavinia, or a husband as susceptible or lovable as Louis. But that doesn't matter, for the flavor of this novel lies not in its plot, but in the sophisticated philosophy of Silenus. Mr. Crofton's little book sparkles with a brilliance of wit that is animated and invigorating. It may be, as said, "a guide to husbands, wives, and lovers," but—
 At any rate, read it. You'll enjoy it. —R. G.

PIGSKIN

By CHARLES W. FERGUSON
 Charles W. Ferguson, who last year wrote "The Confusion of Tongues," a brilliant and fearless study of the various religious sects in America which won high praise from critics both in this country and in England, has written in "Pigskin," his first novel—a satire of the American college president—which Doubleday Doran will publish on October 31st. Ever since the appearance of "Babbitt," the critics have been asking that the portrait of the college president be done. And now Mr. Ferguson has done it with grace, good humor, and gusto in this history of Horace Ethelmore Dickey, his deeds and misdeeds. The story concerns itself with administrative intrigue, the pathetic scramble for funds, the quest for more students and more buildings, and with the decisive importance that football has come to play in the administration of a modern university, where pigskin seems to have replaced sheepskin as the eventual goal.

Dr. Morton Prince, one of the country's most prominent neurologists, died recently at his home in Boston.

Correcting a Fallacy
 Laundries do not ruin nice things, if the utmost care is given to them. Here, you may be sure, your finestest lingerie will receive all the care that you would give them yourself. Our aim is to give you the best service possible, and at reasonable rates.

Eugene Steam Laundry
 Phone 123

HORSE FEATHERS
 "How did you come out in the blindfold test?"
 "I chose my girl's lipstick four times out of five."
 —Reserve Red Cat.

Customer: I want to see the cheapest dress you have.
 Clerk: Something a little better than what you're wearing?
 U. of S. Calif. Wampus.

"Gotta chew?"
 "Naw. Do it of my own accord."
 —Cajoler.

"My daughter went to college for four years and was never kissed."
 "That was no college. That was a convent."
 —Okla. Whirlwind.

(Heard in the day-coach) "Will you please tell me, conductor, when we are coming to the next tunnel? I want to change my dress."
 —Pitt, Panther.

? EVOLUTION ?
 No such thing. Greatest hoax in history. Romanes, successor to Darwin, died in faith in Christ as his Savior. So did Virchow and many others.
 Hear the Shady Side of Evolution at
GRACE LUTHERAN CHURCH
 11TH AND FERRY
 "A Church With a Message"
 Sunday, 11 A. M. Near the U.

Why not be Chirographic?
 Old man Webster says that means "writing in a particular way"—or words to that effect.
 And no matter how particular you are about writing—you can find the point that writes like you and have it fitted, instantly, to the holder of your choice, when you get the new
WAHL-EVERSHARP Personal-Point FOUNTAIN PEN
 It's the "tailor made" fountain pen—any point—any holder—any color—any style—assembled as you wish. Made possible by a new invention, the Interchangeable Nib.
 See how it works—at any Wahl-Eversharp dealer's—and while you're there, see the Wahl-Eversharp Pencils that go with these handsome pens.

The World's Tallest Building
THE new Chrysler Building in New York will be the tallest building in the world. It will be equipped with thirty Otis Signal Control Elevators.
 Here is additional evidence in support of the statement that "most of the world's famous buildings are Otis-equipped."
 The world's first safe elevator was an Otis—and today the marvelous Signal Control elevator is an exclusive Otis development.

One of the early phases of Vertical Transportation

OTIS ELEVATOR COMPANY
 OFFICES IN ALL PRINCIPAL CITIES OF THE WORLD