All In Readiness for Monster Pep Parade Preceding Idaho Tilt

Chuck Reed Urges Rooters To Wear Lids and White Shirts

TO MEET AT IMPERIAL
Participants to Get Choice Of Best Seats; Girls To Follow Line

The big Oregon pep-parade, planned to precede the Idaho game in Portland Saturday, will get under way from the Imperial hotel on its way to Multnomah field promptly at one o'clock Saturday afternoon, according to final plans outlined at a kick-off meeting of the rally directorate yesterday afternoon.

Lots of noise, pep, and fighting Oregon spirit will be the watchword of the Oregon rooters from the time the pep-parade forms until the gun ending the game is fired, declares Jim Raley, chairman of the rally committee.

"And we can't have lots of noise and spirit unless we have every Oregon man out for the parade," says Chuck Reed, yell king. "And every man who comes should bring a rooster's lid with him; and they will increase the effectiveness and the spirit of the parade immensely."

Any students who stay away from the rally in hopes of getting the best seats at the game will be disappointed, says Bill Whitely, director of the parade activities. "Nobody will be admitted to the rooters' section until the serpentine has passed through the gates. Those in the parade will have first chance at the choice seats."

Parade at 12:45
Rooters should show up at the Imperial not later than 12:45. After a couple of numbers by the band, Tom Stoddard, president of the A. S. U. O., will make a short pep talk. A corps of motorcycle policemen will then lead the way south on Broadway. The band will follow them. Stoddard is to walk at the head of the serpentine, and the rooters will fall in behind.

The line of march will be south on Broadway to Morrison, then west to the field. Before going to the rooters' section on the east side of the field, the parade will circle the field and pass before the grandstand.

Will Use Siren
Ken Hamaker, in charge of noise effects, has arranged to use a big fire siren during the parade and at the field. A number of bombs will also be sent up from the Oregon side of the field.

Oregon women attending the game will be seated in stands running from the 10 to the 40 yard lines at each end of the east side of the field, says "Doc" Robnett, assistant graduate manager, who has charge of field arrangements.

INFIRMARY AGAIN CLAIMS FALLEUR

Firman Falleur, who was discharged from the infirmary October 12, is back again suffering with a severe cold. According to advice from the infirmary he may not be able to continue going to school this term. Falleur is a senior. Another new patient, Douglas Wight, has also been admitted.

'La Casa Filipino', New Campus Home for Boys from Philippines

ONE of the most interesting, although perhaps not so well known of the houses on the campus was organized recently by a group of Filipino students here. It is La Casa Filipino, and as the name implies, is the home of the Filipino men on the campus. It was organized last spring with the intention of providing a home for all Filipinos, but the location of La Casa Filipino, at 14th and University streets, has made it purely a student organization for all Filipino students here.

Antonio Jimenez, house president of La Casa Filipino, is the nephew of the Secretary of Public Instruction in the Philippine

TICKETS FOR IDAHO GAME ON SALE AT CO-OP

Few students have purchased tickets for the Idaho game Saturday. The office of the graduate manager has announced that no student tickets will be sold in Portland, and that such tickets must be purchased in Eugene. They are on sale at the Co-op, and the price is one dollar. The student must present his student body card, which will be punched.

Sigma Delta Chi Selects Five Men For Membership

Interest in Journalism Is Basis for Election To Honorary

uates in the school of journalism. Five new members, undergraduates were elected to membership in Sigma Delta Chi, international journalism fraternity, at a business meeting of the organization Tuesday night. Those who were elected are Mack Hall of Eugene, Ralph Yergen of Newberg, Ralph Millsap of Gates, seniors, and Lester McDonald of Eugene and Ralph David of Woodburn, juniors.

These members were elected into Sigma Delta Chi on the basis of interest and accomplishment in journalism, after they had proved their abilities by work on campus publications. Mack Hall has served on the Emerald and Oregoniana staffs and is at present assistant sports editor of the Oregoniana and sport writer on the Emerald. Ralph Yergen has served as night editor and is at present sport writer on the Emerald staff.

Ralph Millsap has served on the Emerald staff and is at present assistant publicity director of the university and campus correspondent of the Oregon Journal. He is also an honor student in journalism. Lester McDonald is the new editor of the Oregoniana. He was associate editor of the book last year, and has served on the Emerald news staff. Ralph David has served as night editor of the Emerald and is now chief of the night staff.

Public initiation of the new pledges, at which time they will appear in full dress suits, will occur in a short time.

Oregon Band to Leave Eugene at 2:30 Friday

Leaving Eugene at 2:30 Friday, Oregon's band is scheduled to arrive in Portland in time to open its advertising campaign with a short broadcast over KEX at 6:45, and another over KGW at 10 the same evening. At 10 Saturday morning, the organization will resume the ballyhoo in front of the Heathman hotel, and will lead a parade through downtown streets of the city, ending up with the finish of the parade at the stadium. About forty will make the trip to the game, John H. Stehn, director, has announced. The group will stay at the Heathman.

'Dinner to Be Held'

A staff dinner, the first of the year, will be among the larger events of the week which will be climaxed with a week-end retreat for cabinet members. The night of the dinner, nor the site of the retreat has not yet been selected. Cabinet members signed up for personal interviews last night. It is anticipated that Miss Seeber will meet with a number of committees and groups.

Mildred McGee, head of world fellowship group, explained to the cabinet members her plans for Monday night meetings, to begin next week, and there was a discussion of the worship group during the session.

Workshop for Drama Group May be Made

One-Act Plays of Writing Class to be Used if Plans Mature

ROOM IN ART PLANNED

Idea Has Been Successful, in Other Schools Says Harris

Amateur playwrights, directors, and producers of the campus will soon have a place to give their talents practical application, if present plans for a theater workshop materialize, according to Fred Harris, assistant professor in design.

Mr. Harris looks forward to a reasonable degree of success for the plan, which embodies the use of one-act plays from the play-writing class for production on an experimental stage, under the direction of the class in play production.

"The plan has worked everywhere else it has been tried," Mr. Harris said, "and I see no reason why it should not work here."

Scenery for the plays will be constructed by the members of the theatre workshop class, and the laboratory will probably be used as a construction center for most of the scenery used in campus productions. The new workshop, which, when completed, will be in a room of the art building formerly used as a store-house, is expected by Harris to be more practical than the present stage in Guild hall. The laboratory is planned as a workshop and not a regular theater, Mr. Harris said, and will provide an informal gathering place for those interested in drama productions.

High School and College Y.W.C.A. May Join Forces

Women's Commission Possible Result of Today's Meeting

Numerous Officers Are to Attend Session

With the arrival in Eugene Monday evening of Marcia Seeber, of Tacoma, national Y. W. C. A. secretary of the Northwest division, one of the liveliest weeks scheduled on the 1929-30 Y. W. C. A. calendar here will be opened.

Miss Seeber's visit has become an annual highlight in Y. W. work and extensive preparations in the outlining of the week's program are now being made.

She will have suggestions and advice in every department of the organization, ranging from world fellowship groups to frosh commissions and in group discussions.

Friendship Unforgettable
"Because of the worth of her suggestions, 'Marcia' has brought in every one of her visits here, a new realization of the possibilities of the work. Her friendship alone is an unforgettable experience and her visit has much significance to our organization," commented a cabinet member last night during the regular meeting when Miss Seeber's visit was discussed.

Dinner to Be Held
A staff dinner, the first of the year, will be among the larger events of the week which will be climaxed with a week-end retreat for cabinet members. The night of the dinner, nor the site of the retreat has not yet been selected. Cabinet members signed up for personal interviews last night. It is anticipated that Miss Seeber will meet with a number of committees and groups.

Head Oregon Mothers

Here are the officers of the University of Oregon Mothers, who will tour the state, conferring with Mothers organizations, and discussing educational problems. Plans will be discussed for the annual conference to be held at the university in the spring. Left to right: Mrs. J. F. Hill, president, Portland group; Mrs. Walter M. Cook, Portland, president; and Miss Marian Phay, Eugene, executive secretary.

Oregon Mothers' Club Officers Will Meet on Oregon Campus Next Tuesday

Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall and A. Powers Represent University; State Tour Plans to be Made

Officers of the Oregon Mothers' club and Mothers of University of Oregon students from The Dalles will meet with Mrs. Walter M. Cook, president of the organization, here next Tuesday evening, it is announced by Mrs. W. J. Seuffert, who is in charge of arrangements for the session.

Accompanying Mrs. Cook will be Mrs. J. F. Hill, president of the Portland group of mothers, and Miss Marion Phay, Eugene, who is executive secretary for the state organization.

Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the university, and Alfred Powers, dean of the extension division, will accompany the officers and will take part in the meeting here, it is announced. Dr. Hall will talk on university work and policies during the session.

Both Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Hill will be speakers at the meeting. Mrs. Hill will deliver the principal address and will outline the objectives and aims of the state-wide club. Mrs. Hill is known as a brilliant public speaker and she and Mrs. Cook have hundreds of friends throughout the state.

Tour Planned
The officers and Dr. Hall and Alfred Powers are planning an extensive tour throughout the state for the purpose of assisting Mothers' clubs in organization. It is the hope of Dr. Hall that every community of any size will have an active club formed for the purpose of maintaining greater interest and closer contact with the work now being done on the campus.

From here the party will go to Arlington, and from there to Pendleton, La Grande, Baker, Burns, Bend, Klamath Falls, Ashland, Medford, Grants Pass, Roseburg and Marshfield before returning to Eugene and Portland.

Drama Class Starts On Galsworthy Play

The drama class in the technique of acting, is working on Galsworthy's play "Escape," which they hope to produce late in the quarter. The cast is undecided and each of the twenty-nine members of the class are working on two or three parts.

DEPOSIT SHOWS DEFICIT

More Than $6,000 Still Charged to Student Body; Debt Less Than Last Year

By REX TUSSING
Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of surveys by Rex Tussing, associate editor of the Emerald, briefly outlining the direction of student income and expenditure through official channels.

WHEN Richard L. Collins, university statistician, through Ronald "Doc" Robnett, assistant graduate manager, made available for me yesterday the A. S. U. O. financial report for 1928-29, even before final (though assured) approval, last week's promised survey of state and local expendi-

European Peace Subject of Mez to Theta Sigma Phi

Women Journalists Hear New Faculty Member At Open Meeting

Speaker Explains Causes Of Economic Trouble

The United States of Europe is a goal that the League of Nations and other bodies of arbitration are, and should continue to strive for, stated Dr. John R. Mez of the economics department in a talk last night at an open meeting held in Alumni hall, of Theta Sigma Phi, women's national journalism honorary.

Dr. Mez explained how the differences over tariffs, passports, visas, the various kinds of money, postal rates, railway systems, languages, immigration and emigration laws, and a strong patriotism coupled with traditional dislikes bring about poor economic conditions and general misunderstandings in Europe.

Pres. Hall and Wife To Attend Idaho Game

President and Mrs. Arnold Bennett Hall will leave Friday for Portland to attend the football game there Saturday between the University of Oregon and Idaho.

MAGAZINE ISSUED BY DEAN POWERS

"The Peripatetic Pedagogue" is the name of a little magazine which has been instituted this month over in the extension division by Alfred E. Powers, dean of the School of Social Works.

It is a house organ, rather than a magazine, and each issue, containing eight mimeographed pages, is written entirely by one member of the extension faculty. The October, and initial, issue was edited by Dean Powers. Succeeding issues will be put out by Miss Mabelle Hair, Percy M. Collier, S. G. Beattie, Alfred L. Lomax, and others in turn.

The purpose of "The Peripatetic Pedagogue," according to Dean Powers, is to circulate among the extension staff and bring to them news notes about various members and the outstanding achievements in the department.

BEWARE!

To Class of 1933:
All traces of green paint on the senior bench must be removed by 8 o'clock Friday morning or drastic measures will be adopted.
Signed
Order of the "O."

Sub-Directorates For Homecoming To be Announced

Herndon, Ex-Chairman, Is Present at Meeting For Discussion

Jeannette Calkins Speaks Before Group

Preliminary plans for the 1929 Homecoming, November 15 and 16, were discussed at the initial meeting of the directorate yesterday afternoon in the Journalism building. Roy Herndon, chairman of the 1928 Homecoming, attended the meeting and spoke to the members of the directorate on the problems that were faced last year and the ways in which they were solved. Miss Jeannette Calkins, editor of Old Oregon and official advisor of this year's directorate, made a short talk on the general subject of Homecomings. Miss Calkins has served in a like capacity on Homecoming directorates for a number of years.

E. Bates Has Post In Washington, D. C.

Dr. Ernest Sutherland Bates, former professor in philosophy of Eugene summer session, is now acting editor of literature for the Dictionary of American Biography in Washington, D. C. Dr. Bates is also on the staff of the Saturday Review of Literature.

He has resigned his position on the Dictionary staff to take up his duties as a member of the Portland staff of the extension division for the winter and spring terms. During these two terms he will teach three courses in Portland; Philosophical Background, Humanism and American Literature.

Aside from his work of teaching Dr. Bates is at the present time engaged in the writing of two books. One named "The Decline of Liberty in America, the other is to be a critical work and is unnamed as yet.

His plans for the present are to stay in Washington, D. C., until some one is trained to fill his position on the staff of the Dictionary of American Biography. While in Portland he will continue to review books for the Saturday Review of Literature.

Ten Dollar Prize Competition Open to Owners of Campus Crates

OYEZ! OYEZ! All ye who are weary and sore distraught with the trials of owning a "campus car," "heap," "boat," "can," or what-have-you, here is your big chance to get something out of the tub besides repair bills and grief.

Believe it or not, a prize of $10 in General gasoline script is to be given to the "most characteristic Oregon car" which appears in the rally parade preceding the Idaho game in Portland Saturday afternoon. And "most characteristic," you understand, means that nothing is barred. Topless bodies, sagging springs, broken windshield, paint-smear, tonneau-

World Peace Is Important, Says Speaker

Rabbi Berkowitz Pleads For International Good Will

Sees Hope in Kellogg Pact And MacDonald's Visit To America

That the destination of America lies in the hands of the men and women of the university and in the future pledges that they make to a world-wide peace is the answer given by Rabbi Henry J. Berkowitz, of the Temple Beth Israel, Portland, in his address on "Whither America" at the annual pledge day assembly held yesterday in McArthur Court.

In this assembly, the students of the University of Oregon made a pledge to their school to uphold its ideals to the best of their abilities. The pledge of the university was given to them by Governor Patterson, and they answered by singing the pledge song.

"The old isolation doctrine of the United States is dead," Rabbi Berkowitz declared in answering his question "Whither America," in connection with America and international relations. "There is no such thing as isolation. The world belongs to us and we to the world."

Isolation Gone
When Ramsey MacDonald, British prime minister, can speak, he explained, in a single night to the entire world, reaching every cosmopolitan city and each small village, it is very evident that isolation is a thing of the past.

Rabbi Berkowitz believes that a new and glorious patriotism has been sounded by the adoption of the Kellogg pact. National honor has been made true, the decency of human nature at the base has been proved, and a new loyalty to one's country that enables him to be patriotically in favor of peace has been developed through the creation of this great non-war pact among the nations of the world. The new language of the nations has been sounded to him in the words of Ramsey MacDonald "I am willing to take the risks of peace."

The rabbi considers the Kellogg pact as one of the greatest achievements of the day. "The 78 words of this pact," he said, "should be memorized by every schoolboy as the words of the Gettysburg address and those of the preamble to the Declaration of Independence are. The day that commemorates the signing of the pact should be set aside as a national holiday."

U. S. Helps Peace
United States, explained the speaker, has had a part in the developing of peace as a world wide ideal through the splendid work of both Ex-president Wilson and President Hoover. Rabbi Berkowitz was introduced to the students by President Arnold Bennett Hall.

The band played an opening number while the students assembled, after which the Rev. Mr. Frederick Jennings of St. Mary's
