

Oregon Knight Pledges To Remove Classmates Night Work

Student Head Disapproves of Pranksters

Painting of Senior Bench Is Wearing on Fresh Cleaning Squad

Freshmen Declare War on Offenders

Tom Stoddard, president of the A. S. U. O., yesterday issued this statement from his office:

"I wish to make a direct appeal to the few students who are apparently getting a 'collegiate thrill' out of smearing the senior bench with paint every other day. The rule established by precedent has been that the freshmen should clean this bench once or twice a year, but when it happens two or three times a week, the joke is going too far. I am sure that if the small group of students who have been indulging in this juvenile diversion will consider the sense of maturity which college is supposed to confer upon a person, they will discontinue their childlike practice."

Lawrence Bay, president of the freshman class, said yesterday that at the request of the Order of the O, the Oregon Knight pledges will today remove paint from the senior bench for the second time within a week.

Smears of green paint were removed from the bench by freshmen on Tuesday of last week. On Thursday morning a fresh coat of yellow paint was discovered where the green had been. According to the night watchman of the campus, the vandalism occurred sometime between 1:30 and 2:00 Thursday morning.

Bay declares that the freshmen are losing patience, and says that if the bench should be painted a third time, steps will be taken to apprehend the offenders.

In this he is backed by Stoddard, who says that an example will be made of the pranksters if their identity is learned.

THETA SIGMA PHI ALUMNAE ARE ACTIVE

Edison Marshall short story contest two years ago, is also working in California on the paper in Vallejo.

Miriam Sheppard, editor of the Oregonian last year, is working on the Hillsboro Argus.

Frances Cherry, '28, is telegraph editor of the Nampa, Idaho, Free Press.

Dorothy Baker, president of Theta Sigma Phi last year, is working on a suburban paper in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Others are doing reporting on the Eugene papers, in Medford, Salem, Cottage Grove, Portland, Astoria, Klamath Falls, Seattle, Oakland, Denver, and other places scattered about the west.

"For a long time one of our most envied members was Lucile Saunders McDonald," said Miss Lester. "She has worked in Alaska, in Washington, D. C., South America, and now she is in Turkey with her husband, writing special articles for the Oregonian and magazines."

Others go into advertising work. Frances Bourhill, '27, who was a member of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, is working in the Botsford-Constantine advertising agency in Portland. Alice Kraft, '27, is assistant to the advertising manager of the Charles F. Berg store in Portland. Another alumna is doing advertising work on the New York American; another is in the advertising department of the Cosmopolitan magazine; several others do advertising on newspapers in connection with reporting.

Ruth Hansen and Edith Dodge, president of the Women's League last year, are proofreading on the Eugene Register.

Luella Markley, '29, is editing Child Health, a monthly magazine issued in Portland by the Anti-Tuberculosis association.

Jeannette Calkins is well known on the campus as the editor of the alumni magazine, Old Oregon. Several alumnae of Theta Sigma Phi are doing independent literary work, as short story writers. Among these are Nancy Wilson Ross, '25; Dorothy Cox Hesse, who is now living in Eugene; Mary Lou Turnbull, wife of Professor George Turnbull of the school of journalism; and Sally Elliott Allen, wife of Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism.

Decorations for Soph Informal To be Fireproof

False Ceiling for Igloo Is Planned by Head of Committee

One feature of the elaborate decorations for the Sophomore Informal will be the use of a fireproof fabric which may be used to construct a false ceiling in McCurtain court, where the dance is to be held November 9. Max Williams, chairman of the decorations committee, told members in charge of the dance at a meeting held last evening.

Chet Knowlton, business manager for the dance, presented a budget of expenses at last night's meeting, which was accepted by the committee heads. Jack Stipe, president of the class, warned against purchase of any supplies for the dance without a requisition issued by the class treasurer.

Tom Handley, general chairman for the informal, has called another meeting of the committee members to be held in the assembly room of Villard hall Thursday evening at 7:00, immediately following the send-off rally for the football team to be held at 6:45.

DR. BARNES TO READ PAPER AT MEETING

"China and Russia in Manchuria" is the title of a paper that will be read by Dr. Walter Barnes, of the history department, at a meeting of the International Relations club tonight at 7:15 in the Gerlinger building.

The organization requests that all those interested in membership attend.

Crime Commission Will Be Discussed by Club

"Hoover's Crime Commission—Is It Practical?" will be the subject for discussion at the Congress club meeting to be held Thursday evening at 7:30 at the College Side Inn. The topic will be introduced by Wallace Campbell, sophomore.

The club will meet every Thursday evening this year, instead of on Wednesday evening, as has been done up to the present time. Roger Pfaff, president, announced. The president explained the change as one that would allow more students to attend the meetings.

November 6 is to be the end of the world, according to three persons who are awaiting the Judgment day atop a hill overlooking the little town of Masfield, Saskatchewan.

Society -

Phyllis Van Kimmell, Editor Mrs. Sheldon and Mrs. Boyer Make Plans For Tea

The home of Mrs. C. V. Boyer will be the scene of a tea given tomorrow afternoon in honor of Mrs. Ralph D. Casey and Mrs. Donald Barnes, who have been absent from the campus for a year. The tea is being given by Mrs. Boyer and Mrs. Henry D. Sheldon. Hours will be from three-thirty to six o'clock.

Mrs. Barnes has been in Europe during the past year, and Mrs. Casey has been in the Midwest.

Delta Zeta Mother's Club Gives Bridge

The Delta Zeta Mother's club entertained with a benefit bridge tea in the grill room of the Eugene hotel Saturday afternoon. There was a large attendance, and prizes were won by Mrs. T. M. Gerow, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Paul Kelly, and Mrs. L. W. Rowling, all of Eugene.

The musical program given during the afternoon was under the direction of Madame Rose McGrew, who was assisted by students from the school of music—Maud Engstrom, piano; Esther Wicks, violin; and Grace Burnett, voice.

Date Set for Wedding Of Bragg-Carson

Of interest to the campus is the approaching marriage of Miss Edith Bragg and Wallace Carson, both of Salem. The ceremony will be solemnized November 9 at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Salem. Mrs. James King of Eugene is to be an attendant.

Miss Bragg is a graduate of the university and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta and Mr. Carson of Kappa Sigma.

Phi Beta Entertains

The associate members of Phi Beta, national professional fraternity of Music and Dramatic Art, entertained the active members and students of music and drama of the university at the home of Mrs. John Rogers last week. Flowers decorated the house and a beautifully appointed table at which Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Bryant DeBar, Mrs. Powell-Plant, and Mrs. Rogers poured. Musical numbers were given by members of the fraternity.

More than $5,000,000 worth of new structures and improvements are under way at Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y.

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN ROTARIANS' GUEST

Dave Mason, captain of the varsity football team and Leland Fryer, president of the International house, were guests of the Eugene Rotary club at its weekly luncheon, yesterday. The two students were invited in accordance with this year's plan of the civic group to have as guests at each of its meetings some outstanding university students, according to Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the geology department, who is vice-president of the club and one of its directors. The guests are chosen by a fellowship committee. Tom Stoddard, A. S. U. O. president, was the first of the club student guests.

One member of the International house, an organization sponsored by the Rotary club, will be chosen each week by Dr. Smith to attend the meetings.

Meeting of Oregon Mothers Under Way

Mothers of University of Oregon students from The Dalles met with officers of the Oregon Mother's Club and with President Arnold Bennett Hall and Alfred Powers, dean of the extension division, in The Dalles yesterday.

The meetings are being held throughout the state in an attempt to organize Mother's clubs in the various cities of Oregon. These clubs are formed for the purpose of developing greater interest and closer contact with the work being done on the campus.

Architecture Group Holds Get-Together

The group of architecture students who went to Portland over the week-end and attended the "Get-acquainted fest" given by the Atelier club in the Oregon building, report a very pleasant hour together.

The extension students are working on the same problems that the campus students are doing and many interesting points in common were discussed. Dean Ellis Lawrence and Professor Percy Adams were present to direct discussion and settle technicalities.

Movies -

Evelyn Shaner, Editor

AT THE COLONIAL

"The Man and the Moment" at the Colonial is a fast moving story, even more so than the inimitable Glynn's "Three Weeks." This advance notice should be enough in itself to insure a record breaking crowd.

AT THE STATE

"Conquest" is the alluring title of the State attraction. Really when such names speak for themselves it is quite unnecessary for the reviewer to waste breath in complimentary adjectives. Monte Blue can also speak for himself so bon soir, home and to bed.

AT THE McDONALD

All the trials and tribulations of a much married man who really should have wedded another girl are shown in the stirring cinema "Drag" now playing at the McDonald theatre featuring Richard Barthelmess and Dorothy Gish.

AT THE REX

"Hold Your Man" now playing at the Rex contains lots of good advice on just the proper technique a girl should use to make her secret sorrow interested and then keep him that way.

Seven New Members Elected by Honorary

Election of seven new members to Pi Delta Phi, French honorary, was announced yesterday by Naomi Holman, president. Regular members who were selected from the students, are: Louise Wilhelm, Jean Smith, Hope Shelley, Ruth Jackson, and Hazel Miller. Special members chosen, who are teachers in the romance language department include: Louise Meyers and Juan Beall. Initiation for the pledges will be held on November 1 at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

Newman Club Holds Meeting at Anchorage

Newman club officers met yesterday at a luncheon at the Anchorage with Rev. Francis P. Leipzig, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church of this city, to discuss plans for the coming year. Officers of the club are: Richard Burke, president; Josephine Howard, vice-president; Florence Mc-Nerney, secretary; James Gilbaugh, treasurer; Merlin Blais, publicity director.

Dan McDonald, Eleanor Touhey, and Helen Sullivan were named at the luncheon to act as a social committee, with McDonald as chairman. Two dances a term will be held this year, according to present plans, the president of the group stated after the meeting.
