

Subscribe to the Emerald for Your
Folks at Home

Oregon Emerald

THE WEATHER
Oregon: Fair tonight and Tuesday; colder east portion tonight; moderate northerly winds on the coast, becoming variable.
Maximum .....57
Minimum .....38

VOLUME XXXI UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1929 NUMBER 20

French Music Listed On Second Program Faculty Series Tonight

Rex Underwood, Aurora Potter Underwood To be Featured
PROGRAM CLASSICAL
Next Faculty Series Is Not Scheduled; Recital Planned

Another in the university faculty series of concerts is to be given tonight at 8:15, in the school of music auditorium, with Professor Rex Underwood and Aurora Potter Underwood co-featured in an evening of French music. This is the second of the series, the first, an evening of chamber music, having been presented last Thursday evening.

Classical Featured
The program is entirely classical, Saint-Saens, Rameau, Rovet, and Cesar Franck being the composers represented. Saint-Saens was on the program of last week's well-attended and enjoyable presentation, but the others are new. Professor and Mrs. Underwood were also featured in last week's concert, with Dr. John Mez.

The next of the faculty series is as yet unscheduled, but an interesting student recital is to be presented on next Thursday evening featuring two students of the violin. The university is fortunate in having many excellent concerts and recitals that have been scheduled for this year. Attendance exceeded all expectations in the first, a deeply appreciative audience expressing a keen desire to attend others of the various groups of musical presentations.

Program Listed
Tonight's program:
I—Sonata, Opus 75 — Saint-Saens.
II—(a) Gavotte and Variations, Rameau; (b) Sonatine, Rovet; Sonata, Cesar Franck.

Many Seats Sold For Homecoming Gridiron Battle

Tickets for Game with U.C.L.A. Dad's Day Also Selling

Twenty-five hundred seats have been sold for the Homecoming game with O. A. C., it was announced last night from the office of the graduate manager. The seat supply in the west grandstand has all been exhausted, and it is expected that by the end of the week all $2.50 seats will be gone. The advance sales indicate a complete sell-out long before the game, since applications have been arriving at a rate of about 200 a day.

Seats for the Dad's Day game with U. C. L. A. are also selling rapidly, it was announced, although there are many good locations left. Tickets are still on sale at the Co-op, at the graduate manager's office at the north end of Friendly hall, at Hendershot's sporting goods store, and at Luckey's and Obak's cigar stores.

Huskies Raid Oregon Bleachers; Gain Fog Horn by Forward Pass

WASHINGTON lost Saturday and added a tackle, Westweller, to the all American "Unconscious" eleven, but the Husky rooting section managed to kidnap the noisiest and most bull-throated of the Oregon supporters before the game had ended.

The Washington rooters had a siren, but its plaintive, doleful wails and shrieks were mere whisps compared to the raucous, blood-thirsty howls that were emitted by a fog horn operated on the Webfoot side of the big stadium.

Indeed, the voice of this horn was so powerful that it seriously and successfully contested with musical strains from the University of Washington's fifty-piece

Plans for Annual Journalism Jam Now Under Way

Gregory, Gen. Chairman, Announces Directorate; To be Big Event

Colorful Dance to be Held In Armory Nov. 15

Plans for the annual Journalism Jamboree, one of the biggest and most colorful, all-campus dances of the year, began to take definite shape yesterday with the announcement of the directorate to take charge of the event by Carl Gregory, of Wallowa, general chairman.

The members of the directorate are Clarence Craw, Portland, advertising; Lawrence Mitchelmore, of Ashland, refreshments; Harry Van Dine, Portland, tickets; Leonard Hagstrom, Portland, orchestra and prizes; Neil Taylor, Portland, patrons and patronesses; and Wilfred Brown, Camas Valley, publicity.

The Jamboree, which is sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism fraternity, will be held this year in the Eugene armory on the night of November 15, immediately following the annual Homecoming rally and noise parade.

Until this year the dance was held in the Men's gymnasium, but last year that floor was crowded to the point of being uncomfortable; so it was decided to find a larger place this year.

All students attending the Jamboree are supposed to be attired in costumes, although in past years those in campus togs have not been barred. Prizes will be awarded for the cleverest costumes. The dance is a no-date affair with tickets selling at fifty cents each. The members of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary, will handle concessions at the Jamboree.

Zane Lectures About Alaskan Adventures

N. B. Zane, associate professor of design, has given three lectures lately on art and his summer travels. On October 23 he spoke to the Goshen local grange on "Two Weeks in Alaska."

On October 24 he lectured to the Eugene Delphian Study club on "Realism and Impressionism," and on October 28 he spoke to the Eugene Kiwanis club on "An Artist in Alaska."

Melville B. Anderson, professor-emeritus of Stanford university, has presented to Cornell university a set of the new limited edition of his four-volume translation of the Divine Comedy, thus adding to the great Dante collection at Cornell.

Appointment of Business Staff Made

William Hammond Names 44 for Year's Work On Emerald

NEW POSITIONS ADDED Last Year's Staff Forms Nucleus for New Organization

The complete Emerald business staff of 44 members was announced yesterday by William Hammond, business manager. Hammond, who was an associate business manager last year, has worked on the Emerald since he was a freshman. He is a member of Alpha Delta Sigma, honorary advertising fraternity, and last summer won an advertising scholarship with the Earl Bunting association.

George Weber, Portland, who was foreign advertising manager last year, will have the position of associate business manager. He is president of Alpha Delta Sigma and this summer won the advertising scholarship to Crossley-Failing company.

Peterson Named
Anton Peterson, of Astoria, who handled the advertising for Old Oregon for over a year, has been named advertising manager. He is also a member of Alpha Delta Sigma, and was for nine years connected with the advertising department of the Astoria Budget.

Lawrence Jackson, of Portland, who was assistant circulation manager last year, has been chosen circulation manager this year. He is a sophomore in business administration.

The position of foreign advertising manager will be held by Addison Brockman, Portland, who was the assistant last year. He too is a member of Alpha Delta Sigma.

New Jobs Created
The rest of Hammond's staff is as follows:
Harold Kester, Pilot Rock, holds the newly created position of office manager. He was assistant advertising manager last year.

Betty Hagan, Portland, has charge of women's specialty advertising, also a new department. She is a member of Gamma Alpha Chi and holds one of the best records of last year's advertising staff, according to Hammond.

Ina Tremblay, Marshfield, has been named assistant advertising manager and will handle the business directory. She is also a member of Gamma Alpha Chi. According to Hammond, she won an enviable record as an advertising solicitor last year.

Jean Patrick, Portland, will head a new field, the copy department. She is a member of Gamma Alpha Chi and held an advertising scholarship this summer at Lipman and Wolfe's.

Her assistant manager, Betty Carpenter, is a freshman from Boise, Idaho, who worked last year as a copy writer in an advertising agency.

Gurney Secretary
Louise Gurney, of Baker, was appointed executive secretary on the basis of her efficiency as office assistant last year.

Working under the foreign advertising department, Bernadine Carrie heads the service department, making market surveys for the foreign advertising department.

Helen Sullivan, Portland, will head the checking department.

Fred Reid, Burns, was appointed assistant circulation manager. He is a sophomore and was an office assistant last year.

Y. W. C. A. to Begin Discussion Groups

Many Topics in Line for Evening Talks

Y. W. C. A. discussion groups in which students have shown lively interest will begin on the campus tomorrow, according to Betty Hughes, chairman, who announced yesterday that girls wishing to sign up may still do so at the bungalow.

A wide range of subjects for discussion has been made possible this year by the directors.

What the Oregon women's attitude should be will be treated in a group of which Dean Virginia Judy Esterly will be leader. She will take into consideration the traditions and spirit of the campus. Her group will meet at 4:15 o'clock at the Y. W. bungalow.

"What is the Relation of Sociology and Psychology to Religion," will be the Rev. Clay Palmer's subject in his group, meeting at four o'clock Wednesday at the bungalow. He will lead the group in the discussion of whether religion, in this modern world, still has its vital place, taking up such questions as "Is religion a superstition?"

"The Life of Jesus, with Special Reference to the Attitudes He Developed," will be Miss Dorothy Thomas' topic. Her group meets at three o'clock Wednesday. Another group will be led by Daphne Hughes, dealing with industrial religion.

Freshmen in Good Condition After Saturday's Fray

Centralia Normal School
Next Barrier; Game
November 1

With perhaps the toughest of their five scheduled games behind them and a comparatively easy one slated for Friday, the freshmen football squad last night indulged in a well-earned light workout.

Both of the teams in last Saturday's freshmen encounter lived up to expectations and a good game was the result. The Oregon Frosh came out on top of a 19 to 0 score but were not in any sense of the word 19 points better than the Washington Babes. All three of their scores came as a result of long runs and one was handed to them on a silver platter. Both teams seemed to be able to make gains from the center of the field to the 30-yard line but there they stopped.

The conflict was productive of a few injuries, none of them serious, however. Sherwood Billings, tackle, received a kick in the spine which will keep him out of a suit for a few days but he will in all probability be able to play against Centralia on Friday. Dan Sheehy had the fingers on his right hand sprained and may be a bit clumsy handling the ball for a few days but should be able to get along. Bill Morgan, the other tackle, was kicked in the face early in the contest but remained in the game. He will have to protect his face for a while but his injury is not a serious one.

On Friday, November 1, Coach Prink Callison will start his charges against the Centralia Normal school eleven. Though this game will not be as hard nor as important as the Washington contest they are not to be considered too lightly as they held the Purple and Gold Babes to a 6 to 0 score on October 12.

PI DELTA PHI TO INITIATE SEVEN

Pi Delta Phi, French honorary, will initiate seven pledges Nov. 1 at the Alpha Chi Omega chapter house, it was announced by Naomi Hohman, president.

The pledges who were elected at the last meeting are: Louise Wilhelm, Jean Smith, Hope Shelley, Ruth Jackson, Hazel Miller, who are students, and Mr. L. C. Myers, instructor in French, and C. B. Beall, assistant French professor.

The initiation will be held at 4:30 Friday afternoon and will be followed by refreshments.

Sign up Early Biggs Advises for Dad's Day

Registration Head Names 46 Students to Aid This Week-end

CONTEST RULES GIVEN Prizes to be Awarded at Banquet for Fathers Saturday Evening

Forty-six students were appointed yesterday by Betty Fairchild, chairman of the registration committee for the third annual Dad's Day, to assist with registration Friday and Saturday.

"I want to urge all members of organizations whose fathers are coming down, to register their Dads as soon as possible," said Hugh Biggs, acting dean of men. Registration will begin Friday afternoon and will end just before the game Saturday. Those who will register the Dads are:

Stuart McDonald, Tyrell Lowery, Omar Palmer, Fred Shultz, Don Ragan, Jack Sammons, Don Carver, Tom Shwobe, Denzil Page, Art Adams, Gwen Panton, Alice Morrow, Elizabeth Strain, Edra Ann Seufert, Ty Smith, A. L. Russell, Naomi Hohman, Josephine Potts, Martha Stevens, Frances Humphrey, Dorothy Kirk, Constance Baker, Betty Cook, Mary Jean Warner, Julianne Benton, Maxine Myers.

Katherine Perigo, Bella Reed, Margaret Hurley, Marie Daly, Lois Riggs, Ruth Beckett, Jean Whitney, Elizabeth Pennock, Avis Selnes, Leone Swengel.

Aides Named
Freda Stadter, Helen Dunham, Madolyn Snider, Gracia Haggerty, Ione Garbe, Marjorie Clark, Bea Milligan, Lou Ann Chase, Kathryn Bell, and Kathryn Feldman.

Paul Ager, assistant controller, will audit the figures, so that there will be no partiality in awarding the prizes to the houses having the largest proportionate numbers of fathers attending Dad's Day. It will be awarded strictly on a membership basis.

The first prize consists of a cup donated by Senator A. W. Norblad, of Astoria; and the second prize is a coffee urn, creamer and sugar bowl on a tray, donated by Mr. Paul T. Shaw, of Portland.

Rules of Contest Given
Following are the rules governing the Dad's Day prizes:

1. The base membership of an organization from which will be computed the percentage of dads returning is that submitted by the organization October 1, 1929, less those members officially withdrawn as of October 25, 1929.

2. Only members actually living in the organization's residence are counted. (a) Fraternity men or women living in halls of residence are to be considered members of such halls for purposes of this competition. (b) Fraternity men and women living with parents or relatives in Eugene and not actually living in their respective fraternity houses are not included in the house membership for purposes of this competition.

3. Only such Dads as are officially registered at 2:00 p. m. Saturday, November 2, will be credited to organizations for purposes of this competition.

4. Dads having both a son and a daughter or sons and daughters in competing living organizations will be credited to each such organization.

5. Legal guardians will be considered Dads for purposes of this competition.

6. The prizes will be annually awarded and will rotate from year to year until won three times by the same living organization, whereupon they become the permanent property of such organization.

7. Prizes will be awarded Saturday, November 2, at the annual Dad's Day banquet.

Welcoming Plans for Homecoming Ready

Teams for Community Chest Work On Oregon Camqus Appointed by Chairman Dean David E. Faville

Twenty-four teams have been appointed to conduct the Community Chest campaign among faculty and university employees by David E. Faville, dean of the school of business administration, who is in charge of this phase of the Eugene Community Chest drive to be held October 30. The quota for the faculty has been set at $3,000.

The drive this year is to last but one day, according to Dean Faville, and the solicitation is to be handled by departments in order to make this possible. In previous years several days have been devoted to the campaign. Those appointed by Dean Faville to handle the drive in the various departments are:

John F. Bovard, Physical Education; Ralph Casey, Journalism; Charles G. Howard, Law; John J. Landsbury, Music; Karl W. Ontank, General Administration; Victoria Avakian, Art and Household Arts; Marion F. McClain, Co-op employees; H. S. Tuttle, Education; Warren D. Smith, Psychology and Geology; A. R. Sweetser, Plant and Animal Biology and Physics; Orin F. Stafford, Chemistry; Victor P. Morris, Economics, Political Science, Sociology and History; C. V. Boyer, English; L. O. Wright, Romance Languages, Germanic Languages, and Greek; E. E. DeCou, Mathematics; Major F. A. Barker, Military; George Rebec, Philosophy; Maud H. McDonald, dormitories; Ronald Robnett, student body employees; A. P. McKinzie, post office and university employees; Mabel E. McClain, library; W. G. Beattie, extension; Paul W. Ager, office help.

Religious Groups Planning Three- Day Conference

Catholics, Protestants, and Jews to Have Leaders Here for Discussions

Conference Is to Promote Better Understanding of Religious Faiths

In an effort to bring greater understanding of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths, the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. will hold a three day conference, Nov. 21, 22 and 23, when leaders of the three beliefs will be on the campus to lead discussions.

They will be Rabbi Berkowitz, of the Beth Israel temple, of Portland; Dr. Harold Bowman, of the First Presbyterian church, of Portland, and Father Leipsiz, of the St. Mary's Catholic church of Eugene.

"There will be no controversial spirit in the conference. Its aim is to gain an understanding of the beliefs. Our decision to hold the conference has been made following many requests for it and we feel that a wide student interest will be shown," commented Dorothy Thomas, executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A. yesterday.

Dr. Bowman Talks To Freshman on Sincerity in Life

Presbyterian Pastor Urges Wise Adjustment In Religion

"Sincerity and Spirituality in Life" was the subject of a short talk by Dr. Leonard Bowman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Portland, presented last night to the freshman class.

Dr. Bowman's theme was a plea to the incoming freshman to endeavor to adjust his ideas of religion to the knowledge to be gained in college—a plea to make a wise adjustment to college life.

"Science does not clash with religion," Dr. Bowman said. "Science discovers facts—religion tries to interpret them."

The assembly, one of the best attended of the three thus far held, was opened with two cello solos by Dr. John Mez, of the school of music. After Dr. Bowman had completed his address, Professor Roy Bryson, also of the school of music, led the first-year students in a rendition of "Mighty Oregon" and the "Pledge Song." It was the consensus of opinion that the class had made a definite improvement over last week's rendition of the same songs.

Alumni Will Be Located By Committee

Alberta Rives Will Head Group in Charge of Accommodations

Rooms Afforded at Halls, Houses and Hotels

Preparations for the welcoming to the University of Oregon campus of some thousand alumni on their return for the 1929 Homecoming and the big football classic with the Oregon Aggies are starting under the direction of Alberta Rives of Portland, director of welcoming and accommodations of the Homecoming directorate.

Miss Rives last night announced the appointment of a directorate to assist her in taking care of the former Oregon students during the week-end of November 15-17. The members are Bess Templeton and Irma Logan, rooms; Dorothy Eberhard, registration; Charles Laird, printing; and Clothiel Woodard, designing.

Accommodation Offered
A certain number of the returning alumni will stay at the living organizations of which they are members. The halls will accommodate others, and the remainder will be stationed at the Eugene hotels and in the private homes of the town. The rooms committee will advertise in the Eugene papers for available rooms for the alumni. From one to six people will be assigned to each house. All alumni who know ahead of time that they are to be on the campus are expected to make their reservations by writing to the Alumni office. During Homecoming week-end a special office will be maintained in Johnson hall to locate rooms for alumni who have not made reservations.

Registration Simplified
The registration committee under Miss Eberhard will attempt to institute a simplified system this year, so that congestion in registering, a complaint of former years, will be removed. Special forms will be printed.

Charles Laird will have charge of all the printing needed for the registration of the Oregon alumni. Attractive windshield stickers featuring the Oregon Homecoming will be designed by Clothiel Woodard. Stickers will be sent to each alumnus in the next issue of Old Oregon so that they may be used on the trips to Eugene. Miss Woodard will also design the identification tags to be worn by each alumnus, the programs for the various events of Homecoming, and the posters to direct the campus visitors.

The hulk of an unidentified sailing vessel, dating back to Revolutionary War times was recently found buried 25 feet underground near West and King streets in New York City. Cannon balls also were found in the ship.

Power Plant and Barrels Become Bit of New York Factory Scenery

"The Home of Industrialism," "The Spirit of the Power of Man," "Product of the Future," are good titles to apply to a drawing of what appears to be a bit of New York's fantastic factory scenery, but is really no more nor less than a corner of the power plant, with the base of the tall brick chimney, a steep roof angle, and a colorful group of brightly painted oil barrels sprawling near a shed. This picture is one of the projects of Maude Kerns's Design I class, which met Monday from 1 to 4, and accomplished its work.

The press assisted the class by furnishing a prop for their backs as they surveyed the scene from near the end of the press building. Gallantly surmounting such hardships as freezing weather and a lack of chairs, the class produced tone drawings, in shades of black and grey, which lent a weird "Metropolis" appearance to the subject. At their last meeting, they had done gay sketches in color, of the same group of objects, with pink, red, or orange chimneys, according to their different views, and blue sky as a background to the shed, near which were the black oil barrels, banded in green and orange and red. The second drawing seemed to represent the power plant on a gloomy day; the skies varied from black to light grey in the different schemes, and the chimney could have been either the last vestige of a dismal Greek ruin, or a memorial shaft raised in honor of the departed box-cars.