Bears and Trojans Ready... Texas Has Peculiar Problem... Bruin Team Likes Weather...

By Harry Van Dine

COAST football attention will be centered on the University of California-Southern California game at Los Angeles today...

Van Dine to stay in the running for the coast and national football honors. The Trojans proved themselves a great team with their win over Stanford last week...

NIBS PRICE has a pet grievance to take out on the Trojans—the Bears haven't even scored on the men of Troy for three years. At the same time Southern California is out for revenge for the scoreless tie the Bears held them to last year...

OREGON State will have its hands full to down the Washington Cougars, as Coach Babe Hollingberry has a powerful eleven on the field this year. The aggies have been coming fast and are primed to turn the trick and then repeat against the Webfoots...

THE University of California at Los Angeles football team arrived in Eugene yesterday, ready to meet Coach McEwan's fighting Webfoots. The southerners worked out on Hayward field and displayed plenty of speed. Coach Bill Spaulding has a big, rangy squad with plenty of potential power...

ATHLETIC officials of the University of Texas have their hands full trying to settle a peculiar problem at their football games. It seems that apples and peanuts have long been considered necessities to the students attending the contests and everything has gone along smoothly until recently...

OREGON Dads will be treated to a first class wrestling match tonight, after the annual banquet, when Wildcat Pete, former worlds junior middleweight champion, and Harry Elliott, varsity mat coach, put on a twenty minute exhibition...

THIS 'N THAT

(Continued from Page One) in our own column, so shall we respect it in others whose views might be contrary to our own. That's that, and... we welcome communications not only for their viewpoint, but it flatters us into believing someone is reading this column!

We have an earnest apology to make. In yesterday's column the words "noise committee" appeared in place of the writer's intended "music committee." We are not aware that the words are used interchangeably, nor did we intend them to be so. What was meant to be an honest approval of the music committee action almost appeared to be feebly sarcastic. How the mistake occurred, we don't know. However, we reiterate our stand that the contest is worthwhile and purposeful... if that will rectify the error.

Frosh Open Padlock To Centralia's Store Of Defense

Visitors Lose To Yearlings; Score 27-13

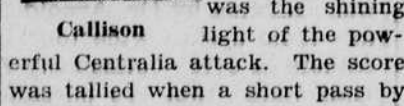

Invaders Tally First in Early Part of Game Yesterday

Watts Runs True to Form During Battle

By JACK BURKE

Playing consistently throughout a hard-fought contest the freshman football team last night defeated the Centralia Junior college eleven 27 to 13.

The invaders scored first, early in the opening period after a series of spectacular runs by Al Maloney, who was the shining light of the powerful Centralia attack. The score was tallied when a short pass by Maloney was batted into the arms of Dave Nesbit, end for the junior collegians, by a Yearling back.

Frosh Rally After this brief setback the Frosh got under way and soon after the opening of the second quarter started a series of marches on the enemy which accounted for four touchdowns. It was during this period that all the Frosh scoring was done. Don Watts, who ran true to form and made many dazzling runs throughout the tilt, scored the first after a sustained march of 70 yards.

As a result of a short kick by George Schwalm, Centralia end, the Babes received their second opportunity to score, taking the ball on the invaders' 23-yard line. After a few line plunges Jack Rushlow packed it over. The third Frosh score came after a long pass which Rushlow sent right into the arms of Red Decker. This play accounted for 35 yards and made it possible for Len Rands to cover the remaining 12 yards for a score. Decker tallied the last touchdown, also after a long pass, which he caught on the seven-yard line and fought his way over for the score.

Second String In At the start of the second half the second string was put in and they took care of their opponents in great style though they were scored on by another passing attack. Outstanding in the work of the second lineup were Steve Detmer, who replaced Rushlow, and Les King at end. The latter showed to be as strong on the defense as Decker and only lacks a finish to his offensive play to put him on top. In the opening lineup there was one new face, that of Carson Mathews, who took Bill Morgan's place. He held up his end of the work in fine shape and was especially strong offensively. Bernie Hughes, center, who was acting field captain for the game, was consistently powerful on both the offense and defense and broke up a lot of plays out of his territory.

Men in Form In the backfield the usual men were outstanding. Don Watts was up to his usual game and showed the boys from Washington a lot of tricks. On one particular play, Rushlow to Decker to Watts, he left the pack way behind and was dragged down by the safety after a good gain.

Rushlow and Detmer were outstanding in line plunging, cracking the center of the line for consistent gains. The quarterbacks, Dan Sheehy and Cliff Garnett, showed excellent judgment and the latter made some good gains on double reverses at the close of the game.

Debate Catalogue For High School League Issued

Championship Meet Held At University; DeCou Founder in 1907

After intensive work on the part of Percy M. Collier, of the university extension division and secretary of the High School Debating League, the debating catalogue was issued Thursday. Copies have been mailed to high schools all over the state to enable members of the league to begin work immediately.

The league was begun in 1907 by Prof. E. E. DeCou of the university and has been growing in numbers and popularity ever since, more high schools competing each successive year.

Questions for debate are stated in the catalogue each year, a different question being given to each of the eleven districts into which the state has been divided. District winners compete among themselves on the state question for debate, and the two winners determine who shall hold the championship in a final debate at the University of Oregon.

This year the final debate will be held here about May 10. The question for the debate will be: Resolved: That Oregon should adopt the cabinet form of government proposed in Senate Joint resolution No. 16 passed by the 35th Legislative Assembly of Oregon.

Three cups have already been won by debating teams, and three more were offered in 1929 which, when won three times by one school, will become that school's permanent property. These are the Oregon Cup and the two Barker cups.

U. C. L. A. BATTLE TO ATTRACT BIG CROWD

Harry Wood, for the past two years a big shot at both guard and end, will probably get plenty of work to do this afternoon at one of the wing positions. Steve Fletcher, also, will get a chance to do some more of his brilliant pass receiving.

Reserves To See Action Ralph Bates and Ervin Schulz are very much in line for tackle assignments, and may get into the game before the first half is up.

Bill Anater, center, and Gilbert French and Ted Park, guards, are also due to rub shoulders much of the time. The starting lineups are as follows:

Bill Reinhart Drills His Men In Fundamentals

Drill in Floor Work Is Only Task of Early Practices

Basketball practice was inaugurated this week by Coach Bill Reinhart who has started the men right off with hard workouts.

The drills have been devoted entirely to stressing the fundamentals of floorwork, until the movements of the players have become almost voluntary. Coach Reinhart has made up starting and stopping signals that rush the men from one side of the floor to the other. Other work has included pivoting, reversing the floor, and the combination of the two. The fundamentals of handling the ball with a man guarding have been introduced, with the pivot being used to avoid the guard.

Men who have been turning out for the initial practices, and who will probably continue to be at practice every evening at 8 o'clock are: Roy Hughes, Reed Clark, Jean Eberhart, Fletcher Pyle, Max Rubenstein, Charles Teague, Jim Brandhall, Don Ragen, Claude

GRAVITY IS CALLED POWER POSSIBILITY

Pullman, Wash. (P.I.P.) — Gravity is the greatest unused power yet to be thoroughly harnessed by industry according to Dr. A. B. Crane, extension specialist of Washington State college here.

"Every stone," he says, "falling down a hillside, every vehicle rolling down a grade, every pound of water finding its way from the mountain top back to the sea exerts its power and never stops until it reaches its final resting place. Catch this power of gravity, harness it, control it and direct it, and it will turn all the wheels of industry in the world."

R.O.T.C. SUBJECT FOR CLUB CONFAB

"Is the R. O. T. C. antagonistic to modern world diplomacy?" is the question to be discussed next week by the Congress club, campus public speaking organization. Next week's meeting will be held on Wednesday night, instead of on Thursday, according to Roger Pfaff, president. Merlin Blais, sophomore in journalism, will introduce the subject, and the meeting will then be thrown open to discussion.

At a warmly contested meeting held last night, the subject, "Should the United States enforce a more restricted immigration?" introduced by Arthur Potwin, a sophomore, was discussed, mem-
