

Oregon Dads And Mothers Are Organized

Mrs. W. M. Cook Pledges Support of Group To Dr. Hall

Club Membership Totals Almost 6,000

"From now on there will be a solid front of almost 6,000 organized Mothers and Dads standing back of President Hall and his policies for Oregon," said Mrs. Walter M. Cook, president of the Oregon Mothers' club, upon her return from the trip which she has been making about the state for the purpose of forming local groups of Mothers, accompanied by President Hall; Dean Powers, of the Extension division; Miss Marian Pugh, executive secretary of the Oregon Mothers; Mrs. J. F. Hill, president of Portland Mothers; and Walter M. Cook, vice-president of the Portland United States National bank and "official" chauffeur.

Mothers Interviewed

"We interviewed 250 mothers," Mrs. Cook said, "and organized 14 new groups. We also talked to Kiwanis clubs, Lions clubs, chambers of commerce, high school teachers, and large groups of interested citizens."

"The topic in the course of study which seemed to interest the mothers most," stated Mrs. Hill, "was that of the Personnel Bureau. This is the work of gathering information about the scholarship, activities, mental ability, physical health, and social adjustment of every student on the campus and the practical use of these data by deans, advisors, and major professors."

Growing Enthusiasm

Last year at the Mother's Day banquet there were 1,025 seats, and only one of them empty. "This year," said Mrs. Cook, "from present indications due to enthusiasm aroused on our trip and through personal contacts with Oregon Mothers, we expect more than twice as many."

The trip which has just been completed is only the first of a series which will be made about the state in the following months. The second trip will be made upon President Hall's return home from Chicago.

"Before next Mother's Day," said Mrs. Cook, "I hope to make a complete canvass of the state and talk to every Oregon Mother in every city, town, and community in Oregon."

Campus Talent Has Fine Chance In 'Mrs. Cheyney'

New Production To Hold Tryouts Monday And Tuesday

The chance of a lifetime is being offered to dramatically inclined men on the campus if they only would realize it. Tryouts are going to be held soon for the cast in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney" in which one of the most fascinating male characters in modern drama, that of Lord Dilling is portrayed. In the words of one of the other characters in the play Lord Dilling is described as being "A man who has kept more husbands at home than any other man of modern times." He was a typical man of the world and there is someone on the campus who is going to be just the person for the part.

There are also seven other interesting parts open for men. "One thing is certain. You never can tell just what you can do until you give yourself a good chance," Cecil Matson, drama assistant said. "There is going to be a cast of understudies for the entire cast so every one will have just that much more chance to be in the main play," Mr. Matson also announced.

The play is fascinating, the characters are fascinating and there is no reason why there shouldn't be a big crowd at the tryouts which are going to be held Monday night at 7:30 and Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Guild hall, 103 Johnson.

CAMPUS IS HOST TO DADS FOR WEEK-END

(Continued from Page One) quiet will be the awarding of prizes to the living organizations having the largest proportionate number of Dads. A. W. Norblad, state senator from Astoria, has donated a trophy for first prize, and Paul T. Shaw, prominent Portland business man, has offered a silver coffee set as the second award.

At 9 o'clock there will be a smoker for the Dads in McArthur court, boxing events and other features having been arranged for the entertainment of the fathers.

The Sunday program consists of special services in the downtown churches, dinner at the various living organizations, and a special vespers service at 4 o'clock in the Music building, following which the Murray Warner museum will be open.

Russian Film Will Be Shown For Students

Film Sponsored by Club Depicts Life in Soviet Union

A movie film entitled "The Soviet Union at Work" will be shown on the campus sometime in the next few weeks, according to Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the geology department, who recently sent to New York for the picture. The film, which is being sponsored by the International Relations club, will be of interest to all students taking courses on foreign countries and foreign relations, and should be of interest to other students as well, Dr. Smith believes.

According to advance information received from the Amporg Trading corporation, whose headquarters are at Moscow, but who maintains an office in New York, the film runs 45 minutes, and has over 100 scenes, giving a cross section of the natural resources, agriculture and industry of Russia. The film shows scenes in Moscow, Kharkov and several other important cities of the Soviet Union. It depicts fishing, hunting and logging in the frozen north, agriculture in the central regions and the raising of animals in the sub-tropical south and the far east. About two reels are devoted to industries, such as coal, oil, electrical, metal, textile, and other industries. Several important construction projects under way in the Soviet Union are shown.

Professor Sends Data on Snails From Marietta

Was Once Demonstrator in Department of Zoology

A bulletin of especial interest to those who have a hobby of collecting snails has been received in Eugene from Professor David T. Jones, of Marietta college, Ohio, a demonstrator in zoology at the university in 1927-28.

The bulletin has as its subject "A Snail-collecting Aphid-lion Larva," which, as its name implies, collects and carries on its back the remains of its victims, mostly snails and insects, in the case of this particular species of aphid-lion larva.

HOWE OPENS FALL READING PROGRAM

The reading hour, that cosy time when persons so gifted read to an audience of those who wish to listen to some of the old favorites of literature, will be resumed this year by popular request, announces the committee on Free Intellectual Activity.

Professor H. C. Howe of the English department will open the fall program, Monday, November 4, at 4 p. m., in his own lecture room, 107 Villard.

Faculty people and town people will be asked to read. Last year, one of the most popular hours was that conducted by Dugald Campbell, who read selections from Robert Burns. Dr. C. V. Boyer, Dr. George Rebec, and Mrs. Ottilie Seybolt were also readers last year.

Future reading hours will be announced from time to time. Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the geology department, Dr. Edward Lesch, of English and others have already been asked and have consented to read. There is no admission fee nor any attempt to make attendance anything but purely voluntary, the committee announced.

Women's League To Sell Quality Chrysanthemums

Only Best Blooms Will Be Offered to Students At Homecoming

Huge solid yellow chrysanthemums—the finest that bloom in "these parts," avers Gracia Haggerty—will be abundantly on hand for the annual Women's League sale this Homecoming. Money realized goes to the Foreign Scholar fund.

Miss Haggerty has been named general chairman of the sale by Helen Peters, chairman of Women's League.

Particular attention has been paid to the selection of large fine blooms this year, according to Miss Haggerty, who is elated over the quality of the flowers for which the league has contracted.

"We have been guaranteed the best—and lots of them," she declared yesterday. The flowers will have "O's" and ribbons in the Oregon colors this year.

Representatives for every living group on the campus will be named soon to handle the sale in each house.

"We, as a university organization feel that the students should purchase their flowers through us and in this way swell the foreign scholar fund. We have been fortunate enough to secure the best possible flowers this year and we feel the sale deserves campus-wide support," was Helen Peters' comment, yesterday, on the coming sale.

They will sell this year for fifty and seventy-five cents.

SEAT SALE OPENS FOR 'COCK ROBIN'

Orders for seats for "Cock Robin," production of the Very Little Theatre, Eugene amateur theatrical group, are now open at the Heilig.

This play, one of the most brilliant mystery plays ever released for amateurs, opens the theatrical season at the New Heilig on Thursday evening, November 7, at 8:20 p. m. Arthur Gray, Oregon graduate and well known in dramatic circles, is directing the play.

Hendricks Hall Holds Delightful Fall Informal

Hendricks hall women entertained last night at their fall informal. Decorations, in charge of Grace Renee Nelson, were cleverly designed trelises of bright autumn leaves and vines. A brilliantly covered lattice gate guarded the orchestra pit. Yellows, browns, oranges and russets predominated in the color scheme. Patrons and patronesses attending the dance were: Deaf Virginia Judy Esterly, Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Schwering, Miss Conuello McMillan, Mr. Mueller, and Dean David Faville.

Witches, Ghosts Rule At Pi Phi Dance

Hallowe'en pranks and jokes were played last night at the Pi Phi dance. The dance where witches and ghosts and black cats acted as decorations. Orange and black Hallowe'en novelties swung from the ceilings and added to the spirit of the dance. Patrons and patronesses were: Mrs. F. W. Benson, Dean and Mrs. Eric W. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Lynn, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Morris.

Autumn Is Featured in Chi Omega Dance

An autumn dance was given in the Chi Omega chapter house last night in honor of their freshmen. Green, orange, and yellow spotlights served as the only lighting effects over the little grill tables and dancers. Mrs. Schreff, Mr. and Mrs. McEwan, Mr. and Mrs. McClain, Mrs. Thatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Babbs, Mrs. Howell, Mrs. Riggs, and Mr. and Mrs. Gage acted as patrons and patronesses for the event.

Kappa Sigma Pledges Honored

A cabaret idea was carried out at the Kappa Sigma pledge dance

last night. All the gaiety of a night club was present with checker board tables, streamers, candles, and special features. Pledges, sophomores and house officers were present at the dance. Mr. and Mrs. Gene Shields, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Earl, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jamison were patrons and patronesses.

Theta Dance Held in Grill Style

A pledge dance was held at the Kappa Alpha Theta house last night. It was a grill dance decorated with cards, hearts, clubs, spades and diamonds. Patrons and patronesses were: Dr. and Mrs. Robert Seashore, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Walker, Mrs. Arthur Rogers, and Mrs. Hartung.

Poker Den Is Idea of Alpha Phi

Alpha Phi girls honored their pledges last night with a dance representing a poker den idea. Cards and poker chips lined the walls of their chapter house. The only lights were coal oil lamps, which were set on little grill tables with brilliant checkered covers.

Hunting Lodge Sigma Phi Epsilon Motif

Guests attending the Sigma Phi Epsilon pledge dance last night at the chapter house entered a hunting lodge which emerged into a primitive forest. Realistic animals roamed among the trees and bushes, adding to the atmosphere of primitive wildness. Patrons and patronesses were: Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hermance, Mrs. Josephine Stewart, and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gage.

Patrons and patronesses were: Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hermance, Mrs. Josephine Stewart, and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gage.

Delta Gamma Honors Pledges

A formal atmosphere pervaded the Delta Gamma chapter house last night when the initiated girls entertained in honor of their pledges at a dance. Palms and flood lights were the only decorations. Programs were made for the freshmen in the shapes of their pledge pins. Mrs. Lila Thatcher, Mrs. Gray, and Mrs. Yerex were patronesses.

SEVEN INITIATED TO FRENCH GROUP

Seven pledges were initiated into Pi Delta Phi, French honorary, yesterday afternoon, at the Alpha Chi Omega chapter house. Naomi Hohman, president, and Doris Hardy were in charge of the initiation.

Regular students who were initiated are: Hazel Miller, Hope Shelley, Ruth Jackson, Jean Smith, and Louise Wilhelm. Two faculty members, L. C. Myers, instructor in French, and C. B. Beall, assistant professor of French, were also initiated at that time.

Refreshments were served immediately following the initiation.

Boys of 14 nationalities and 16 religious sects are in attendance at the American School for Boys in the old city of Bagdad, Iraq, founded four years ago.

AT THE NEW HEILIG—

Al Jolson has scored a bigger triumph than ever in his latest effort, "Say It With Songs." Crowds have viewed it all over the country and pronounced it great. Sonny Boy appears anew as the little pal of his father's love.

AT THE McDONALD—

Today is the last appearance of John Gilbert in "His Glorious Night" and Sunday marks the opening of Metro-Goldwyn's huge musical extravaganza "The Hollywood Review." Constructed along lines similar to Ziegfeld's "Follies," it has gorgeous "ensemble spectacles" and even a master of ceremonies. A bevy of stars do their bit to make it one of the most elaborate screen offerings ever offered the critical public. Such a name as John Gilbert, Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford, Buster Keaton, Conrad Nagel, Charles King, Anita Page, and Bessie Love are prominent in its production.

AT THE REX—

Following "Big News," the current Rex offering, "Social Sinners" will make its appearance. As the first all talking Tuxedo comedy it is said to be as funny as possible. The cast includes such names

AT THE COLONIAL—

"While the City Sleeps" with Lon Chaney is receiving much praise from Colonial patrons. The great character actor assumes an entirely different type of role from his usual repertoire and does it well.

AT THE STATE—

"Father and Son" at the State is the type of picture that the women's clubs eat up. It exploits father love and child character building. It also shows the bad, bad women, that every local club is trying its best to put on the shelf.
