Squelching of Beavers Aim of Big Rally Tonight Noise Parade is Feature

Campus Band Begins Doings At 6 O'clock

Student Serpentine Leaves Campa Shoppe Enroute Over Town at 6:30

Pep Session Near Heilig To Finish Performance

If the famed O. S. C. Beaver should chance to stroll over to Eugene tonight between 6 and 8 o'clock he will be astonished and then entirely squelched by the greatest outburst of Oregon spirit in 52 years, and he will go skulking back into Benton county with his flat tail awkwardly between his legs, according to Jim Raley, chairman of what is predicted to be the biggest, most colorful, and noisiest rally ever staged on the University of Oregon campus.

At 6 o'clock the festivities will begin when the University band assembles in the vacant lot across from the College Side and starts playing Oregon songs. At 6:10, Vawter Parker will open fire with his 37 mm. cannon in front of the Campa Shoppe and will continue the siege until 6:30, when the parade officially starts.

Band To Take Lead
The band will be in the lead of the procession that proceeds down Alder street to Eleventh, and then down Eleventh to Willamette. Next will come the Order of the O. The letter men will wear their sweaters and will bear the traditional war drum. The third group in the parade will be the Oregon Knights, also wearing their sweaters.

The Campus Crate contest, which will form on Alder in front of the Campa Shoppe, will be the fourth in the parade line. All decrepit vehicles to be entered in the contest must be in place before 6:15 o'clock, as the judging will take place at that time. The judging will be on the basis of the most typical campus car.

Serpentine Behind Crates
The Oregon men will form in serpentine behind the Campus Crates and will proceed over town in the usual fashion. As the serpentine turns down Willamette street, the men will be furnished with sparklers to add color to the effect.

The big "O" which the freshmen are constructing on the butte will be lighted as the rally parade starts down Willamette street. When the parade reaches Seventh street, near the Heilig theater.

'Grand Old Man of Oregon' On Campus Fifty-two Years

"The biggest and best Homecoming bonfire and noise parade the university has ever had was six or seven years ago, when I was in charge of the freshman class," Dean John Straub, grand old man of Oregon, was reminiscing on past Homecoming celebrations. Dean Straub has seen Oregon noise parades, too, for today is his fifty-second anniversary of his coming to Oregon, in the second year of the university's existence.

"We had fireworks that year," the year of that biggest and best parade, he went on. I got them from the father of a Chinese boy in the class, who was a wholesale dealer in them. There was a huge noise parade that year, with thirty or forty engines, harvesters, and machines.

The old grads, both men and women, rode on these machines, shooting off Roman candles and

Homecoming Sign Judging To be Tonight

Bristow Cup To Be Given At Senior Alumni Dance Saturday Night

Plans for Registration and Luncheon Complete

The inmates of the houses and halls of the Oregon campus are hard at work on their Homecoming signs, and by dark tonight the various fraternity rows of this section of Eugene will take on a multi-colored festive appearance. The big arch across Thirteenth near Condon hall will be completed sometime this afternoon, and all will be in readiness for the Homecoming rally, the opening event of the week-end, at 6:30 o'clock.

The winner of the Bristow cup, offered annually for the most attractive sign, will be decided this evening at 9 o'clock at the Anchorage, according to Earl Miller, chairman of the Homecoming features. The judges of the signs will be W. W. Bristow, donor of the cup, Professor Nowland B. Zane, Mrs. Ottilie Seybolt, Hugh Biggs, assistant dean of men, and Mrs. Virginia Judy Easterly, dean of women. The cup will be formally awarded at the senior-alumni dance at Gerlinger hall Saturday night.

Sign Cost Limited
Each house is limited to an expense of $15 in the construction of its sign. Itemized accounts of the costs must be turned in to the A. S. U. O. office by 6 o'clock this evening. Any house failing to turn in such an account will be disqualified in the competition. It is expected that the competition will be unusually keen this year, as the O. S. C.-Oregon game is always conducive to creative work. Sigma Alpha Epsilon will be the winner of the cup last year, and Kappa Alpha Theta in 1927.

Registration of returning alumni will begin this afternoon at 1 o'clock in the lobby of Johnson hall and will continue until 5 o'clock under the direction of Miss Jeannette Calkins, alumni secretary. Miss Calkins urges that all alumni returning to the campus today register this afternoon. This will avoid congestion tomorrow morning. Alumni will be given tickets to the Homecoming luncheon and dance as they register. Registration of alumni for rooms sparklers as they went through the streets. One woman, who graduated in 1885, rode in the parade and said it was the most fun she had ever had," Dean Straub remembered with a smile.

"The bonfire that year was on Kincaid field, and was at least a hundred feet high. It was so hot that men were kept on the roofs of the buildings on Kincaid and 13th streets.

Plenty of Pep Awaits Return of Grads

YELL WITH KELLY AND GANG

ABOVE is pictured the new Oregon yell staff which will lead the huge noise parade and rally tonight and will direct yells at the battle of the century tomorrow. Meet Jimmy Glibaugh, Harold Kelley, new yell-king, and Treve Jones.

Oregon is faced with as tough a battle, when they meet the Corvallis team, as ever a Web-foot eleven was called upon to meet. The Orange and Black team is rated on a par with Cap McEwan's stalwarts. Both grid machines will be in tip-top shape for the fight.

Which one will win depends a lot upon the fighting spirit they carry into the battle with them. A cannonading rooting section tomorrow afternoon is going to inject the pep into the Lemon-Yellow and Green warriors. A successful rally tonight will give them a good send-off.

Every Oregon student will back the yell staff to the limit.

Former Student Body Presidents To Hold Banquet

Ex-prexies To Meet With Stoddard Saturday Morning at 8:30

One of the unique affairs of Homecoming week-end will be the annual student body presidents' breakfast banquet, at which Tom Stoddard, president of the A. S. U. O., will be host to past presidents of former Oregon student bodies. The breakfast banquet will be held at the Osborn hotel at 8:30 Saturday morning.

"Present problems of student government are brought up and discussed at these banquets, and general surveys of the history of former student administrations are made by each of the former presidents," Stoddard said.

Stoddard added that the banquet is always well attended, about twenty of the past presidents being expected this year. The only guest of the presidents will be Dean John Straub, who will be the guest of honor.

Following are thirty A. S. U. O. presidents, many of whom plan to be here for Homecoming and the banquet: (C. N. McArthur, 1899-1900, deceased); Condon C. McCormack, 1900-01; Dr. Fred J. Ziegler, 1901-02; Condon Bean, 1902-03; (Ray Goodrich, 1903-04, deceased); J. H. Templeton, 1904-05; Fred Steiwer, 1905-06; George Hug, 1906-07; Robert Prescott, 1907-08; Ben Williams, 1909-10; Percy Collier, 1910-11; Leon L. Ray, 1911-12; Carlton Spencer, 1912-13; Vernon Motschenbacher, 1913-14; Tom Boyle, 1914-15; Lamar Tooze, 1915-16; Nicholas Jaureguy, 1916-17; James Sheehy, 1917-18; Herald White, 1918-19; Leland Stanford Anderson, 1919-20; Carlton Savage, 1920-21; Lyle Bartholomew, 1921-22; John Macgregor, 1922-23; Claude Robinson, 1923-24; Randall Jones, 1924-25; Walter Malcolm, 1925-26; Hugh Biggs, 1926-27; Donald Beelar, 1927-28; Joseph A. McKeown, 1928-29; Thomas Stoddard, 1929-1930.

Confetti Covered Campus Crowds To Caper Cheerfully

The Journalism Jam (short for jamboree), annual all-campus, no-date dance sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, journalism honoraries, will see the largest aggregation of campus celebrities, confetti, and cider and doughnuts ever assembled at the Eugene armory, it was announced last night by T. N. T. Taylor, general chairman of the event. Below is a cut of the chief with Dorothy Thomas as they will appear at the dance. Watch for them.

Freck Calls for Workers To Aid In Building Arch

A call for workers to aid in the construction of the big arch across Thirteenth street near Condon hall was issued last night by Joe Freck, chairman of the campus decorations. The arch was started yesterday, but workers were few and progress was consequently slow. The carpenter work will be completed this morning, and the edifice will be covered with the $14 worth of paint which has been purchased for the purpose.

At noon today George Cruikshank will put on an exhibition of amateur steeple-jacking when he climbs to the top of the 120-foot steel tower at the new Fine Arts building and hangs a gigantic Oregon pennant there. This will add a highly original touch to the decorations for this year, something which will be difficult for future directorates to duplicate. The campus is invited to witness Cruikshank's spectacular ascent.

Will Cost $90
The arch is the one big feature of this year's decorations and will cost approximately $90. About half of this sum is for the Neon tubing, which will be preserved for use in future years. Next year's decorations committee will be able to construct a similar arch at a nominal cost.

Freshmen who are asked by Freck to report at Condon at 8 o'clock this morning for work on the arch are as follows: Gordon McKay, "Doc" Day, Jack Marshall, Ray Brown, Milton Mauzey, Carl Sendine, Jack Cate, Cecil Cohen, and Horace Eldridge. These men will be excused from work on the big "O" bonfire to aid Freck's committee on the arch.

RED CROSS DRIVE REPORTED SUCCESS

By 5 o'clock last night nine living organizations had already taken out their $5.00 house membership in the Red Cross drive which is being sponsored on the campus by the school of applied social science under the leadership of Dr. P. A. Parsons.

Following are the houses that have already purchased membership: Sigma Chi, Sigma Pi Tau, Alpha Xi Delta, Hendricks hall, Girl's Oregon club, Chi Psi, Gamma Phi Beta, Sigma Nu and Alpha Phi. A number of other houses have made definite promises of membership and according to all reports the drive has been a huge success, according to Dr. Parsons.

Varsity Preparations Complete for Aggies

Frosh Ready For Rooks No Chance to Alter Plans Before Game

Second Classic of Series Will be Played in Corvallis at 2 O'clock

Oregon State Team Will Be Strongest To Take Field Since Bus Crash; Both Teams Improved

At 11:30 this morning, Prink Callison will gather his Yearling football team together and take them over to Corvallis, where they are to be featured in a one-day stand co-starring with Dick Newman's Rook gridders.

The Frosh got the hook at their last performance and are determined that their Corvallis friends will not steal the show from them today. The act under the management of Callison has been considerably improved since it was put on at Medford and it is certain that there will be no miscues nor any bad acting today.

Rooks Stronger

The curtain will be rung up on the stage at Bell field, in Corvallis at 2 o'clock, and the action starts immediately. Coach Newman is expected to have his full cast of stars ready for the afternoon which by the way will be the first time these eleven first string men have played together since seven of them were hurt while returning from one of the Rooks' early season games. Their injuries, incurred in the accident, have all been patched up and the Rook cast for the second showing of the classic will be a stronger one than that presented at Medford.

Taking all advance rumors and statements as a whole Corvallis is about to witness a classic, a natural or a real game. Both teams have spent the last week in working to crack the spot that proved to be their opponents' weakest point in last Saturday's game as well as removing their own weaknesses.

No Definite Lineup

Neither coach has issued a definite lineup but it is assured that Red McDonald and Don Davis of the Oregon State team will be in at the very beginning. It was through their good efforts that the Rooks were able to overcome the Yearlings in their last encounter.

For Oregon, the lineup should be: Johnny Hare and Red Decker, ends; Bill Morgan and Sherwood Billings, tackles; Jack Hughes and Al Stoehr, guards; Bernie Hughes, center; Cliff Garnett, quarter; Don Watts and George Currie, halves; and Jack Rushlow, full-back.

Hedlund Promises Slick Floors for Saturday Dances

'New Process' To Remove Stickiness Declares Dance Chairman

Both floors for the Homecoming dances to be given Saturday night starting at 9:30 in Gerlinger hall and McArthur court will be in the best of condition for dancing this year, according to Bill Hedlund, who is in charge of the floors. Foard Smith is assisting him.

Workers for the decorations and floors of the dances will be secured by Eleanor Schroeder and Jack Howard who are in charge of the vigilance committee.

All underclassmen and juniors must go to the Igloo this year, according to Bill East, general chairman of the dances. Johnny Robinson will have his Varsity Vagabonds there, instead of at Gerlinger hall as was previously decided. Alumni and seniors will be at 'he woman's gym and an orchestra has been imported for that occasion.

KNIGHTS TO SELL SONGS OF OREGON

A limited number of "Songs of Our Oregon," the new song book published by the Co-op, will be sold at the game Saturday by the Oregon Knights, thus affording the alumni an opportunity to get a complete collection of their old favorites.

The book is bound in an attractive green and yellow cover and contains 38 pages. Every song that has ever been used by the Oregon student body is included in the publication. "Pretty Little Village," the first song composed for Oregon, was written in 1900 by President Strong and Irving Glenn.

This is the first Oregon song book to be published for five years. The Co-op has bought all copyrights and will keep the songs on the Oregon campus.

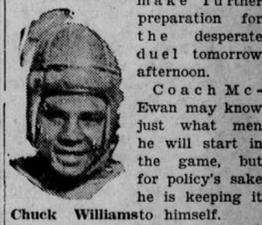

Alumns, Students To Consume Tons of 'Eats' at Luncheon

"Coffee enough to float a battleship, food enough to feed the crew," were the terms used by Mrs. Maude MacDonald, chief factotum of the campus commissary, when asked about her share in the preparation for homecoming and homecoming week.

"We've been asked to furnish 4000 cups of coffee for the homecoming luncheon at McArthur court Saturday noon and another 200 cups for the workers at Hayward field at 11. Besides that, we've been furnishing 600 cups a night for the guardians of the "O" on Skinner's Butte. Food? My, you should see the stacks of it ordered for next week-end. Southern hams by the bunch, sweet potatoes by the stack. And minced pies! But there, I'm giving away our menu, but you should see the lovely hot-house tomatoes and green lima beans. We are going to have Parker-house rolls, too, 1600 of them, piping hot.

Coach McEwan may know just what men he will start in the game, but for policy's sake he is keeping it

Chuck Williamsto himself.

When a starting lineup is made public, it goes direct to the hands of the opposing coaches, and is used by them often with telling effect. The Aggie mentors have a line on each Oregon player in their cross index of the Webfoot organization, and from any given lineup can dope out pretty accurately just what style of game to expect.

There is no such thing as an Oregon first team, coaches explain. There are probably more than 20 Webfoots who would be named by coaches for the honor. Style of attack or defense has everything to do with just who will break into the game.

Team Has Five Ends
The varsity claims five ends, all nearly equal in value to the team, but with more or less wide differences in type.

Steve Fletcher is a pass hawk. He has been slowed up until just lately with a bad charley horse. Jack Erdley is a little weak on passes, but on defense and rough play he is about as good an end as there is on the coast.

Woodie Archer is good on defense, and has crossed enemy goal lines three times already this season on long passes. Harry Wood used to play guard, but he was so fast that McEwan shifted him to end. He is a fair pass receiver, but his main value is in line work on scrimmage plays.

Browne Is Speedy
Walt Browne is the speed demon on the wing men. He is especially good at getting down under punts and long passes. It would take a mighty good half-back to sprint around Browne's end while he is still on his feet.

Aside from the quarter-ton babies, Colbert and Christensen, who are in a class by themselves, Erv Schulz, Ralph Bates, Marion Hall and Pat Lucas are the outstanding lights at tackle.

"Do they eat much around here, did you say? My, you should see the figures if you don't think so. Here they are. Look"

One could visualize the thundering herd when 5500 pounds of beef charged across the pages of figures, five robust steers closely followed by 1200 pounds of galloping, awkward veals, in turn tailed by a sturdy charge of 1200 pounds of squealing, grunting porkers. And how these college students love their rasher, 400 pounds of bacon and 500 pounds of ham.

But one mustn't get the idea that college students are entirely carnivorous—meat wasn't the half of it. There was enough milk used here last month to fill a small-sized swimming pool, 6,000 gallons, enough for 96,000 glasses.
