A Homecoming Saturnalia?

TEN YEARS ago today Oregon's mighty football eleven trotted out on their new gridiron, which was dedicated that day to Bill Hayward, and led by Bill Steers and "Skeet" Manerud carried the fight to the Aggies from Corvallis, winning 9-0 on a touchdown by Hollis Huntington and a place kick by Manerud.

That same Homecoming was lighted by a 3-1 victory over the Aggies in soccer and a triumph in the cross-country run. Today marks the opening of another Homecoming week-end. The 12,000 spectators at the "civil war" in 1919 will be replaced by 25,000 in 1929. Changes have come over the campus. But the spirit of Homecoming remains the same. The thrill of the "big game" with the traditional antagonists will always be the song of the sirens which brings back the old grads, to see their Alma Mater in athletic strife.

They do the same things today as ten years ago to celebrate this Homecoming. There is the frosh bonfire, the cross-country meet, Homecoming dances, the jazz parade, the reunions of the athletic stars and student leaders of yesterday.

The saturnalia of college reunions and homecomings has been the target of caustic censure, especially in the east and in the more metropolitan centers where alcoholism is more rampant.

But before jaundiced eyes are cast upon the practice, the seer must also take into account the fact that today the liquor problem of college is simply the liquor problem of the nation. Drunken alumni are as much out of place on the campus as they would be in any self-respecting home. Drunken undergraduates are a rare sight.

The spirit of Homecoming is over it all. The noise and confusion, the rush for tickets, the campus luncheon, the rallies, old friend meeting old friend, the "big game." Such angles of a commendable Homecoming completely submerge and minimize the small, personal side of the celebration which is represented in alcoholism and which is raised to disproportionate size and importance by publicity.

Being a University's President

ALL THAT the president of the University has to do is to produce, at short intervals, a learned paper to dazzle the countryside, manage the machinery of his million-dollar industry, keep his horde of temperamental, absent-minded professors on their toes, understand the progress of the University's various gift campaigns, deliver occasional uplifting talks before student groups, attend the athletic contests, lunch with the rich alumni who might dedicate new buildings for some distant relative, keep in touch with the legislators down at Salem and with the board of higher education, help solve problems of the student body, lecture occasionally to the Parent-Teacher associations, the Dads and Mothers clubs, Kiwanis, Rotary and Lion clubs, the State Chamber of Commerce and city chambers, the Conference on Cause and Cure of War, the Educational Committee of B'nai B'rith, the Oregon Building Congress, the Portland Executive association, the Medical School Alumni, and high school commencements, pointing out to each and all of them how the University acts as an aid to every citizen of Oregon and assists them in their particular problems and everyday work.

Despite all the fuss in the neighborhood of Corvallis as to the proper designation of our sister institution of higher learning, nothing has as yet been done about the radio station. It still remains KOAC.

We note that Cap McEwan has his third string trained as O. S. C. for practice, and that over at Corvallis Paul Schissler has a squad using the Oregon plays. Our idea of a real football game would be to have a match between these two teams.

PHILOLOGISTS TO MEET NOV. 29, 30

The Philological Association of the Pacific coast will hold its annual meeting November 29 and 30, according to word received by Dr. Leavitt O. Wright, of the romance language department, who is planning to attend the convention. Professor Wright will read a paper on "The Teaching of the Pronunciation of Spanish Simple R."

which sponsors the publications of the Modern Language association. C. V. Boyer, head of the English department and Prof. S. Stephenson Smith, also of the English department, may attend and present papers, but have not definitely decided yet.

Dr. Huffaker Returns From Research Trip

Dr. Carl L. Huffaker, of the school of education, was in Oak Grove, near Portland yesterday doing some research work. Dr. Huffaker has been engaged in this work for some time visiting various county schools. He expected to return last night.

WE WISH TO ANNOUNCE THAT TONIGHT BEING FRIDAY NIGHT, THE THEA SIGS WILL SERVE FISH SANDWICHES AT THE JOURNALISM YAM.

And for the fastidious, Oscar will vend Listerine at the next counter at five cents a gargle. (He also picks the bones out of dried herring free of charge.)

Which reminds us of the time Clarence took two Salmon to the Jan and one Smell.

Since Dr. Parsons has organized the School of Applied Social Science for a membership drive at five bucks a crack, the Business Ad. boys are wondering why they never thought of it before. Next time they ask the houses to hand out five somebuns they ought to include the poorhouse.

TODAY'S PUN

Use Diana in a sentence. The doctor says I'm going to Diana don't want to.

PHI DELTA JACK HEMPESTEAD

Phi Del—Jack Hempstead throwing the ball from Raley's baby blue (chicken) coupe.

PI PHI—FORTY BABIES FROM THE MATERNITY HOME

Yes, she always comes in "onyx"-pectedly.

TO MAKE THE GRADS FEEL AT HOME JUST START IN MAKING "TOUCHES" RIGHT AWAY. IT ISN'T HARD AND YOU MIGHT GET SOMETHING

FANCIFUL FANNY

She calls the boy friend "tat-loc" because he always has designs on her.

According to the "jam" officials, the price of admission is four bits a head but we maintain the buyer will be four bits behind (and we hear the Theta Sigs are masquerading as the "Phoney" chorus).

Exclusive Lemon Toddy snapshot of the R. O. T. C. gunman imported to fire the Homecoming guns tonight. U. Killum is reported to be the only man west of Chicago capable of handling cannon.

Our old friend, the Sheriff of Lane county, declares he will arrest a Homecoming grad for disorderly conduct as quickly as he would a college man.

He's one of those "Top" boys, Myrtle.

Yeh? Yeh, he always wants to take ya for a spin.

Carlous Casper says, "Who will come home for the Chi Delt homecoming?"

And if in need of a date tonight, just call the Salvation Army—they always help those in need.

LET OSCAR AND GIDDEON WHIRL YOU OVER THE PINE KNOTS FOR A WILD WALZ AT THE JOURNALISM JAM.

And before we forget it, R. W. wins this week's McDONALD THEATER tickets and will receive them by making the proper identification procedure at the shack.

Call 158 "DEPENDABLE"

When Winter Comes

Most co-eds have found that a new chapeau is a wonderful cure for those "Out-of-Style Blues." Come in to Leticia Abrams, next to the First National Bank, and pick out one of those adorable off-the-face models.

Don't Be Just a Memory

The Green and Yellow Parrot insists that there's nothing like a good-looking picture to prove the old adage that "absence makes the heart grow fonder." Come in to Romane's, over J. C. Penney's, and order some of those life-like pictures that everyone has been talking about. They make wonderful Christmas presents, and it's not a bit too early to start thinking about that.

To Be Modern

The fair co-ed has to keep going! Competition demands that she look her best at all times. Come in to the L & R Beauty Parlor, next to Kennell-Ellis, and try some of the beauty work specials.

PICTURE-WRITING PHOTOS DONATED

Mr. Ray Conway, of the public relations department, Oregon State Motor association, presented the library with nine photographs of petroglyphs, all of which are located just across the Columbia river from Arlington, Oregon, near Roosevelt, Washington. These pictures will be placed in the reference department.

Included was an interpretation of each of the Indian writings, which, Mr. Conway says, was purely imaginative but which had been gleaned from bureau of ethnology reports.

The pictures were interpreted as depicting stories of a hunting party, a marine group showing water gods and fishes, a collection of characters and symbols, and a close-up of a carving showing a tree-like form.

WELCOME OREGON GRADS Sez Sue

Our Green and Yellow Parrot has had an exciting week keeping up with all the "dope" that he knows is floating around the campus—not only football inside information, but the things that the co-eds in their tours of the town have found out. With all the gala times that the Homecoming week-end promises, a lot of new things are going to appear—so let's listen in on the Parrot.

Something for a Man

That ogre of a Christmas problem is growing in the distance. Why not come to Laraway's Jewelry Store and buy one of those clever new Rumors? We have them in leather and metal, and they're plenty good-looking. You know, of course, that they have pure solidified rum in the top to keep the tobacco fresh.

For Campus Wear

Most of our campus maidens find it rather hard to always have something to wear to classes, and so according to the Varsity Parrot the thing to do is to find an inexpensive dress that will fill in. At Kafoury's Department Store, 61 East Broadway, there are clever informal dresses for only $6.95—a sale of month-end stocks of more expensive apparel.

To Enhance Your Frock

Dainty lacy bits of jewelry—sparkling necklaces that have a charm all their own and with a frock that you are just a little tired of—it's like a breath of elixir to revive them. At Densmore and Leonard, next to the McDonald theatre, there are some of the prettiest pieces of costume jewelry that you can find.

Christmas Tips

One of the most exciting things that the Parrot has discovered is that a great many have already ordered their Christmas cards, and so he is going to Coe's Stationery Store for his, for he knows that the kind that he likes—different and unusual ones—may be found there. And he feels that his most important tip this week is to order your Christmas cards while there is still a good selection.

Sophisticated Touches

May be added by the Louis Philippe lipsticks. . . Louis Philippe is a French artist who began in America by making his lipsticks in a sauce pan in his mother's kitchen and is now the leading lipstick manufacturer in the United States. Kuykendahl Drug Store on Willamette has a complete line of these lipsticks at the popular prices of $1 and $1.50.

Formal Pumps

Many a problem has been solved by a bit of dye—and here is a case where it will again be effective. For the frock of an unusual color why not buy white crepe pumps and have them dyed the same color? Buster Brown's Shoe Store on Willamette has some very smart white pumps.

Concerning Gifts

The Alladin Gift Shop, at 41 West 10th, has something to please even the most particular. Here you'll find the unusual, the clever, the dainty. Come in and browse around. You're bound to be pleased.

National Book Week

McMorran & Washburne is co-operating with all the other book stores throughout the country in sponsoring National Book Week. The idea of the week, which begins November 17, is to encourage more reading of the better class of books.

Christmas Tips

One of the most exciting things that the Parrot has discovered is that a great many have already ordered their Christmas cards, and so he is going to Coe's Stationery Store for his, for he knows that the kind that he likes—different and unusual ones—may be found there.
