Webfoots Travel in Comfort...
Real Rally Sends Team Off...
Game Drawing Much Publicity

By Harry Van Dine

IT was a very jubilant group of young men who boarded the Sunset Limited at San Francisco last Thursday night, to travel across the country to Miami to meet the University of Florida 'Gators on the gridiron. Coach John J. McEwan and Graduate Manager Jack Benefiel finally rounded up all the stragglers, and when those present were counted it was found that there were twenty-eight Webfoot football players on the train, together with the faculty representatives and trainers making the party of almost forty members. The Oregon team traveled south in a special train, as the second section of the crack flyer, and the squad had every comfort of a modern hotel, with two Pullmans, a club car, and an observation car in which to live.

THE members of the team had an enjoyable time while in San Francisco, and they celebrated Thanksgiving with a big dinner after the St. Mary's game. Several former Oregon students reside in the Bay City, and they were on hand to show the boys the town. Members of the team are anxiously awaiting their arrival at Miami, as Captain John J. McEwan, varsity coach, received a telegram from the mayor of the southern city stating that forty beautiful Junior League girls would be awaiting the team's arrival and that they would serve as hostesses to the team while the Webfoots at Miami. After due consideration Coach McEwan wired back to the mayor that it would be nice if he would select twenty blondes and twenty brunettes as the boys were about even up in their preferences. Which all means that they should have a good time.

ONE of the year's best rallies was staged in the Southern Pacific station in San Francisco to start the team on its journey to the sunny south. True there were not a couple of thousand rooters there to cheer the team on, but about a dozen loyal Oregonians did their best to show the team that the school was behind them. Just to show the stuff they were made of, Austin Colbert, Irvin Schulz, and Chuck Spear, who were declared ineligible to accompany the team to Florida, were the ring leaders of the rally Thursday night. The boys did everything that is supposed to be done at a real rally, broke several Oregon yells and sang Oregon songs. The gang made so much noise that it could be heard outside of the station. Two former Oregonians, the Misses Baxter and Gimbishop, were also very much in evidence as was Ed Crowley, former athletic star here. It was a great rally, and it showed good sportsmanship on the part of Colbert, Schulz, and Spear.

AS the time draws near for the Webfoots to take the field against Florida, it is interesting to note the widespread publicity that the game is drawing. The game will be but one of a series of notable events to be held on December 7. Chosen as the vehicle to dedicate Miami's new Madison Square Garden stadium, it will take on the aspect of an international fete with dignitaries from the two states involved heading a cast of notable visitors that probably will include President Machado of Cuba; His Excellency Charles William Orr, C. M. G., governor of the Bahama Islands; and President Portes Gil, of Mexico. The 600 millionaire stockholders of the Gardens corporation will take part in a general exodus from New York to Miami on a special train.

THE traveling Webfoots arrived in Atlanta, Georgia, this morning and will stop over all day. The squad will leave the Georgia city tonight and will arrive in Jacksonville tomorrow morning. The Webfoots will work out at Jacksonville and will stay there Wednesday night and all day Thursday. They will leave Jacksonville Thursday night and will arrive in Miami Friday morning, for a final workout before the game. Captain McEwan will have his hands full playing the game with a hole at one tackle, as Colbert and Schulz play the same position and they are back in Eugene attending classes after being declared ineligible to make the Florida trip.

DR. WRIGHT READS PAPER AT MEETING

Dr. Leavitt O. Wright, associate professor of romance languages, returned Sunday evening from Berkeley, California, where he represented the romance language department of the University at the 31st annual meeting of the Philological Association of the Pacific Coast.

Dr. Wright read a paper at the meeting on the teaching of the Spanish simple -r-, in which he stated that the Castilian pronunciation of the simple -r-, rarely acquired by North American teachers of Spanish, inadequately explained in most U. S. grammars of Spanish, can be taught through O. G. Russell's suggestion that Spanish simple -r- equals the English -d-, and its pronunciation can be aided through comparison with that of English intervocalic -t- in rapid pronunciation of auto, bottom, and put it.

Varsity Basketball Quintet to Meet DeNeffe's Five

Coach Works Team During Thanksgiving

Barnstorming Schedule Is Being Arranged for Winter Term

Reinhart Gives More Time To Smoothing Play

While the majority of their fellow students were enjoying themselves in their various homes, during the recent holidays, the varsity basketball squad underwent a strenuous practice program.

Starting Friday morning, the candidates were put through their paces twice daily with the exception of Sunday when they were allowed a rest, there being but one session scheduled for that day.

Things are going more smoothly these days in the Igloo, and Billy Reinhart is making rapid progress with his men now that he is able to give them his undivided attention.

With a two-game practice series with De Neffe's quintet, scheduled to be played Friday and Saturday of this week, it begins to look as if the season had really arrived. These two games are purely practice encounters but should provide Reinhart an opportunity to get a line on how his men stack up against real competition.

Two other games are tentatively scheduled for the near future, being a two-game series with the Multnomah Athletic five of Portland. Both these tilts will be played on the club court at Portland. The actual dates of these encounters will be set by Jack Benefiel when he returns from San Francisco.

Plans for the annual varsity barnstorming trip are being drawn up and will be released some time this week. No definite dates nor opponents for this trip have been agreed upon, but it is assured that an interesting program will be drawn up.

WOMEN'S TENNIS MATCHES LISTED

Five second-round matches remain to be played in the women's annual fall tennis tournament, and these must be completed this week, according to Beth Salway, who is in charge of the tournament.

Several first-round matches have not been completed and these players have been dropped from the tournament. The following still have second-round matches to play, and their phone numbers are listed here: Adele Wedemeyer, 851, vs. Irene Greenbaum, 1910; Naomi Moshberger, 1317, vs. Lois Smith, 1770; Carolyn Haberlach, 851, vs. Augusta Godfrey, 2682-W; and Mrs. Schwegler, 2130, vs. Aileen Monahan, 1780.

Third-round matches that can be played now are as follows: Grace Vath, 1307, vs. Adelaide Church, 1885; and Eleanor Cobb, 1317, vs. Georgia Lou Miller, 2340.

FAST TEAM, SAYS SPORTS WRITER; FLIES TO GAME

and we were over the stately Siskiyou and 15 minutes later we landed for lunch at Montague. After a half-hour stop we took off for Oakland and arrived there in a little over an hour and a half.

When we alighted in Oakland, we found out a little about the flying history of this fellow Case. He was a flying instructor in the war and later served in connection with the English fleet in the North Sea. He was cited by General Pershing and was officially credited with bringing down four German planes, although he accounted for six others unofficially. He has a total of more than 2,800 hours in the air and is considered one of the best pilots on the coast. Smith is the youngest co-pilot on a big passenger plane on the coast.

A West Coast limousine took us over to San Francisco, and the Oregon football team was found at the Cliff hotel. After dinner the whole gang attended the new Fox theater and then retired for the evening. All were up early the morning of the game, and all were in fine shape. At 10 o'clock the players were taken out to Kezar stadium.

St. Mary's presented a big, well-balanced team, with probably the fastest set of backs in the country. They are reputed to have four men who are capable of running the hundred in a little more than ten seconds and we believe them. After Oregon kicked off and St. Mary's failed to gain, the breaks started to go against the Webfoots. After Londahl had got away for a pretty 18-yard run, the play was called back and Oregon was penalized 15 yards for holding. Londahl attempted to punt out, but his kick was blocked and Epting recovered for a touchdown for the Gaels. The Saints shoved two more touchdowns across during the first period, and the Webfoots seemed dazzled by the attack.

The Gaels scored again in the second quarter and Oregon was unable to do anything when the Webfoots had the ball. The half ended 25 to 0. The second half was a different story with the inspired Webfoots carrying the battle to the Gaels and finally shoving across the first touchdown to be scored against the Saints this year, when Robinson tossed a perfect pass to Al Browne, who scampered five yards across the heretofore uncrossed Gael goal line. St. Mary's shoved across another touchdown in the final canto to make the score 31 to 6.

We boarded another West Coast plane Friday morning at Oakland and arrived back in Portland shortly after noon, making the trip up in a little over four hours.

A.T.O. HANDBALL TEAM VICTORIOUS

Alpha Tau Omega gained the right to meet the Fijis in the second semi-final match of the donut handball tournament with a victory over the Delta Epsilon pair 21-8, 21-4 yesterday. Harry Benson and Bill Whitley upheld A. T. O. colors over the Delta Epsilon team, composed of Harry Policar and Sol Director.

Tomorrow the Fiji-A. T. O. match will be played. The Phi Sigis played their semi-final contest last week, defeating Sigma Phi Epsilon, and are ready for the pair that wins tomorrow.

JUNIOR WOMEN WIN FAST GAME

In an exciting and close game, the juniors came from behind to win from the seniors in the speed-ball game last night, in the field behind Gerlinger hall, the score being 8 to 7.

At the end of the first half, the score was 4-0 in the favor of the seniors. It was a revamped junior team that went back on the field when the whistle blew. The ball was almost continuously in the senior territory. In the kicking duels several girls fell at different times, one trying to get the ball into the goal while the other was trying to kick it into the middle of the field.

The seniors and sophomores meet tomorrow to decide the championship.

List of 22 Books Announced for Reading Circle

Extension Division Names Works for Study by State Teachers

Must Have Certificate or No Salary Given

The University extension division has just finished publishing the State Teachers' Reading Circle book list of 22 books. This is in connection with the Reading Circle work which the University, in compliance with the request of the state superintendent of public instruction, carries on every year.

This year, however, stated W. G. Beattie, assistant director of the extension division, additional duties have fallen upon his department. At the request of the Oregon State college, which formerly handled half of the reading circle work, the University has taken over supervision of all of it.

Work Required

Under the law, every teacher in the state must each year either read and take an open book examination on one of these, or earn college credit through correspondence, extension classes, or actual residence at a standard college or normal school.

Every public elementary or high school teacher in the state must have a reading circle certificate or its equivalent before he can draw any salary, it has been announced.

Reading Important

"This ought to be important to all students planning to teach next year," said Mr. Beattie, "because their attendance at the University will entitle them to the equivalent of a reading circle certificate for their first year of teaching."

Supervision of this work will involve the reading by the University extension of between 3000 and 4000 book reports this coming year.

Tariff Is Subject For Congress Club

The United States tariff will be the subject which the Congress club will discuss tomorrow evening, and are ready for the pair that wins tomorrow.

journalism, will uphold the tariff as it exists today, and Tim Booth, freshman in mathematics, will argue for the abolishment of all tariffs. Freshmen are particularly welcome at this meeting, says Roger Pfaff, president, since two freshmen have been chosen to lead the discussion.

EDWARD MILLER STOPS IN EUGENE

Edward M. Miller, former Emerald editor, and his wife, stopped in Eugene Friday on their way to Portland. They have just returned from their honeymoon in Europe and Mr. Miller will now resume his position on the staff of the Oregonian, after a ten months' leave. The wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Miller took place this summer in North Carolina. They have just completed the trip across the continent in their car, having made a stop at the home of Mrs. Miller's parents. Mr. Miller was editor of the Emerald in 1925-26.

Between four and five thousand books are listed in the new Index of Prohibited books published recently by the pope.

Russian women are now to be admitted to officers' training colleges, and are to receive instruction in rifle and artillery fire, aviation, photography, communications, and medical service.

H. S. Conference Directorate Holds First Meet Tonite

Foster To Outline Work Of Committees for Annual Conclave

The first business meeting of the tenth annual high school conference directorate has been called for tonight at 7:15 at Bachelordown fraternity, by Day Foster, general chairman. The committee will also meet at 12 o'clock in front of George Godfrey's office to have a group picture taken.

Foster expects to outline the work of the various committee chairmen and formulate the general plans for the conference, which will be held on the campus January 10 and 11. It is of vital importance that all persons on the directorate be at Godfrey's office behind Johnson hall at the appointed time, he said.

Members of the directorate include: Day Foster, chairman; Eleanor Flanagan, assistant chairman; Phyllis Van Kimmell, secretary.
