

Frosh Stars To Battle With O. S. C. Rooks

Chemawa Also Scheduled; Initial Game May Be Monday Afternoon

Basketball Contests With Other Schools Pending

Four games with the Oregon State Rooks and one with the Chemawa Indian school have been definitely scheduled for the Frosh basketball team, according to Doc Robnett, assistant graduate manager.

The first Frosh-Rook encounter will be staged at Corvallis January 24 with a return game here on the following afternoon. The succeeding week end the schedule will be repeated with a game at Corvallis, Friday, the 31st, and one Saturday, February 1.

Unless plans for a skirmish with Albany Saturday night are completed, the first Frosh contest will be with Chemawa here, Monday, January 13, at 4 o'clock. Chemawa usually develops good hoop teams and this year is reported to be no exception.

The Medford game for January 17 here had not received the confirmation of Merrill Hagan, Peardick coach, last night, but it was thought that the battle would go through. A game with Salem, January 21 was under similar status.

With only two scrimmages behind the Frosh, a lot of work will be required to bring them into shape for the opening game Monday. Some of the best high school material in the state is included in the squad, however, and Coach Callison should be able to polish a competent quintet out of the candidates.

The present regular lineup consists of Homer Stahl and Clarence James, forwards; Don Siegmund and Bill Morgan, guards; and George Beecher, center. Beecher and James were outstanding players in the donut race. Bill Morgan was a member of the state champion Medford team last winter and is, therefore, quite at home with the Callison system, as Prink came direct to Oregon from Medford this year.

Get Busy on Work For Warner Prize Contest, Warning

Essays Must Be in April 1; $800 Is Offered to Winning Students

"Now is the time for all students to get busy if they plan to enter the Murray Warner essay prize contest," says Dr. John R. Mez, chairman of the committee. "There are only 11 weeks until the contest closes on April 1st."

Dr. Mez believes that the $800 offered in prizes this year will bring out an even greater number of entrants than in any previous year. Prizes for the competition range from $75 to $150 and is open to freshmen, upperclassmen, Filipinos and foreign students.

The faculty committee who will judge the papers, is composed of Dr. Mez, chairman, Verne Blue, and George Godfrey.

PROFS TO TEACH AT SUMMER SESSIONS

George Williamson and Leslie Lewis, both professors of English, have already announced their plans of teaching in summer sessions of different universities this year. Williamson will teach a graduate and undergraduate course in "Seventeenth Century Literature" at the University of Washington summer school, and Lewis will teach at the University of Colorado, in Boulder, where he will have classes in "Survey of English Literature," "Background of English Literature," and "Nineteenth Century Prose."

AT THE COLONIAL—

If Casanova were only alive today he could teach many a bashful Freshman the gentle art of piggling, for he was a master in handling the fair sex, having made love personally to over six hundred women. Of course, the Colonial picture, "Loves of Casanova," cannot take up each personal instance, but it does show enough of his technique to make it thrilling.

AT THE STATE—

"The Very Idea" at the State seeks to prove the old theory of parental selection. The complications arising from the selection of a chauffeur and a maid to be the parents of a model baby make for situations of unusual merriment.

AT THE HEILIG—

Today is the last showing of "Disraeli" and those who haven't yet visited the Heilig would be letting a fine production slip by not seeing it today. It was fine for the acting of Arliss. It was fine from a directorial standpoint and fine for the historical exactness of detail in dress and customs of the Victorian era.

AT THE McDONALD—

Rudy Vallee and his famous megaphone make merry in "The Vagabond Lover" for the last time today. Although the picture is quite short, the music is the kind only Vallee can produce. It is safe to say that the beau ideal of radio has melted the hearts of Miss and Mrs. America in this crooning blues epic of the screen.

AT THE REX—

"The Racketeer" at the Rex is a dramatic underworld picture that has all the usual thrills and one or two extra. Mystery, weird situations, they are all there to puzzle the brains of campus detectives.

FEW FRATERNITIES ENTER SWIM MEET

The annual men's intramural swimming meet is only six days away and as yet no houses have made their entries.

The meet will be held next Thursday evening in the women's pool. There will be numerous events in which each house can enter two men. No man will be allowed, however, to participate in more than two events. At the end there will be a four-man relay.

The tournament held last year in January, was very exciting. The Phi Deltos won and the Sigma Nus and Phi Sigma Kappas tied for second place.

No varsity men or men out for the frosh swimming team will be eligible for the meet. Houses can make entries at the men's tank with Johnny Anderson any afternoon after 4:30 o'clock.

VANDALS DEFEAT STATERS

By Bill Simmons, Sports Editor Oregon State Barometer

CORVALLIS, Ore., Jan 10.—(Special)—Oregon State lost to the University of Idaho basketball team in the opening conference game here tonight by a score of 41 to 23.

The Vandals led 16 to 11 at half time, and started a powerful scoring attack in the second half. Shurtliff, Stowell, and McMillan led the attack for the Vandals with twelve, eleven, and ten points respectively, while Rod Ballard was the big gun for the Orangemen with 10 points. Dick Newman, former rook coach, piloted the Staters in the absence of Coach Slat's Gill who is confined in a Salem hospital with a serious attack of pneumonia. It is expected that he will not be able again to take up the coaching reins this season. The showing of Keppy Callahan, Beaver pivot man, was the shining light of the Stater team.

INFIRMARY ADDS 7 NEW INMATES

The infirmary has added several new inmates to its list. Allan Scovell is suffering from the mumps and Monte Wolf, Virginia Beck, Robert Kipp, Janet Fitch, Margaret Litscher, and Sam Itzkowitz are all afflicted with colds.

A few months ago a man was taken into a hospital for an operation on his skull. His brain was removed, and through some accident it was not replaced. He escaped, and it is rumored that he is now conducting a column in some university newspaper.—Verse and Verse.

Oregon Natators Hold First Time Trials of Season

Anderson Nearly Breaks Coast Dash Record In Tryout

Johnny Anderson, Oregon's star swimmer and utility aquatic coach, came within four-tenths of a second on equaling the Pacific coast record for the 100 yard short course dash yesterday. His time was 56.4 seconds.

The first time trials of the season were held in the men's tank and both varsity men and frosh showed their stuff.

Anderson swam against Al Edwards, varsity man, whose time was 1:00.4, and Fred Anderson, a frosh whose time was 1:04.2.

Chuck Silverman, 440-yard star and letterman, swam 220 yards in the fine time, 2:35.3. Needham, a frosh who swam against him went over the course in 2:48.4. He kept up with Silverman until the next to the last lap.

Harry Hanson, varsity, turned in the 100 yard dash in the time of 59.3.

Ron Lewis was clocked in 1:15 for the 100 yard breast stroke, and Bill McNabb made the 150 yards backstroke in 2:10.2.

Johnny Anderson did not care to give out any more time, but he seemed pleased with the results. The men are just getting into good condition, and will keep shaving their time down at every trial.

Co-op Operates Business Under Revised System

All Stock in Departments; To Check on Profits Of Student Store

In accordance with an announcement last month the university co-op was completely reorganized and divided into departments during Christmas vacation.

All the merchandise in the store is now classed in one of five departments. The departments are: textbooks, trade books, stationery, drug sundries, including jewelry, candy and tobacco; athletic goods, which includes also caps and gowns, music, laundry bags, brief cases, etc.

A complete inventory of the stock was taken before the reorganization, according to Marion McClain, manager of the store, and the books are now being audited by Spencer Collins, ex-'21.

The chief reason for the change, according to Mr. McClain, is to enable the management to ascertain which departments are making a fair profit and which are operating at a loss or at an unusually small profit.

It will also be easier to find irregularities in the business and to ascertain the margin of profit of the various divisions. Another advantage of the change is that comparison with other university stores will be simplified, according to Mr. McClain.

The books of the store are now being closed, according to Mr. Collins, the auditor, and a report will be issued soon, probably sometime in February.

Washington State college has been granted a chapter of Sigma Xi, national science honorary.

Bankrupt Students Get Break; Cash Returned

Twelve unhappy, mourning students, several Scotchmen among them, last term trod wearily the trail to the Co-op. Twelve financially embarrassed students, lighter in cash, heavier in heart, returned to their hangouts to be bemoaned the fact that they had ever signed up for Dr. John R. Mez's class in International Organization and World Politics.

Yesterday twelve happy students, faces beaming, pockets once more bulging with cash, emerged from the Co-op, for the $7 textbook on which they had been required to pay a substantial deposit could not be obtained. The money must be refunded.

Lesch To Read at First of Series of Meetings Sunday

Affair Is Continuation of Programs Originated Last Quarter

The first reading of a series to be held this term will be given by Edward C. Lesch, assistant professor of English, in the Men's lounge of the Gerlinger building from 7 to 8 o'clock Sunday evening. The reading will be from A. E. Housman, one of the best known contemporary English poets, and author of "A Shropshire Lad" and "Last Poems."

Readings were given last term by Herbert C. Howe, professor of English, and S. Stephenson Smith, associate professor of English. Several other prominent faculty members are available for readings during the remainder of the year.

This series of readings is being sponsored by a group on the campus interested in providing university students with opportunities for cultural development outside of the classroom. The meetings are open to everyone and are purely informal. If enough interest is shown it is probable that outside talent will be brought in to give the readings from time to time.

SIGMA CHI MINUS PANTS AND TICKET IS LOST

Only in one respect did the Kappa Sigma robbery fail to resemble that of the Sigma Chi house; no high school delegate reported losses, but this fact was apparently not a matter of regret among the Kappa Sigs.

Floating Schools To Visit Alaska, Hawaii This June

Summer Session Cruises Scheduled To Follow Classes Here

Make Reservations Early, Say Officials

A cruise to Hawaii and another cruise to Alaska have been authorized by the president of the university, Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, and the Board of Higher Education of the University of Oregon summer sessions.

The Hawaiian cruise has been scheduled for optional dates. One sailing is available on the Wilhelmina of the Matson line, from Portland, on June 14, to return July 22, making a 39-day trip with 22 days on the islands.

The other is on the big liner Niagara of the Canadian-Pacific fleet, sailing from Vancouver, B. C. June 25, and returning August 15, making a trip of 51 days with more than a full month on the islands. The cost will be $365 in either case, including fare, berth and meals on the boat, fees in the University of Oregon and the University of Hawaii, and board and room during the whole time in Hawaii. Arrangements have been made with Punahou college, situated near the University of Hawaii, for board and room.

The Alaskan cruise, in its arrangements, will follow the general plans of last year, with half the time spent on board ship and half the time on the campus at Eugene. Six term hours of credit may be earned and courses will be offered in art, anthropology, geology, and geography, botany, education, literature, and journalism.

Last summer the cruise preceded the work of the campus.

Next summer the order will be reversed and the students will spend from August 4 to August 13 at Eugene, then on the morning of the 15th will take a special train to Seattle, sailing the next morning and returning to Seattle, the 25th or 26th. The cost, including passage with berth and meals on the boat, railway transportation to Seattle, and post-session fee, will be $145.00.

Last summer several regular students of the University were unable to make the trip to Alaska because they put in their applications for space too late after the boat had been filled. Alfred Powders, dean of the Extension division, asks that those planning to go will make application early. Applications may be addressed to the director of the summer sessions, Extension Division, Campus.

KAPPA SIGS AND SIGMA CHIS COMPETE

(Continued from Page One) Scheiber a brown leather jacket. Another incident which classifies the robber as the world's "meanest man" is the fact that Gilbert Finley, Roseburg high school delegate and guest at the Sigma Chi house, was robbed of a suit case and nine return tickets to Roseburg, which he was keeping as the chairman of the Roseburg delegates.

There were no clues left as to the identity of the robber or robbers, except that the clothes taken belonged to the larger members of the fraternity. The robbery is concluded to have taken place between 3 and 6 a. m. Friday morning, since members were up except during those hours. Only the second floor of the fraternity house was touched by the robber.
