

Orchestra Is Highly Lauded After Concert

Crowd of 800 Hear Group Sunday in School of Music Auditorium

Underwood Wins Acclaim Of All Listeners

An audience of approximately 800 listened to the University orchestra in its first concert of this year Sunday afternoon at the vespers program at the school of music auditorium.

Playing Beethoven's overture to "Egmont" and Haydn's Third Symphony, the campus musicians showed themselves to be a group capable of giving polished, musical performances. There was nothing "amateurish" about the program. Under Rex Underwood's leadership the orchestra not only handled the difficult music excellently from the standpoint of performance but by their interpretations made the numbers rich and warm.

Esther Wicks, violinist, senior in music, and a Juilliard scholar, appeared with a string orchestra as soloist in Bach's air for the G string. Miss Wicks has been acclaimed by critics as a most promising violinist and her work Sunday was further evidence of her talent. She made the beautiful, dignified old air a thing of much beauty.

The entire playing of the afternoon showed intelligent, thorough direction and thoughtful work on the part of students.

Colleen Moore comes to the Heilig in her newest talking picture "Footlights and Fools" for the balance of this week. Now we are wondering on which side of the footlights the fools hang out, but it always does us good to exercise our gray matter once in a while.

"Black Magic" playing at the Colonial suggests the South Seas, and we have guessed correctly, for this admirably pictured version of the 'hot lands deals with a sorcerer's power to deal out death to whom he will.

The McDonald has started a new policy of showing revivals of the popular hits of the past on Monday nights. Scotchmen will find it a convenient way of seeing two shows at the price of one in addition to hearing Frank Alexander's very excellent organ performances.

The Rex is offering "Song of Kentucky" which sounds very much as though it might have a horse race in it.

"Salute" at the State is a good football picture with lots of fight, punch, humor and action thrills.

Seniors Will Discuss Idea of Joint Dance

Whether to hold a joint dance with the junior class or to have a private affair is one of the questions which will be decided by members of the senior class when they meet in Villard hall at 5 o'clock this afternoon, according to Eleanor Poorman, president of the class.

Plans for commencement and for the Senior ball, which will be given later this term, are also to be discussed at this meeting.

Igloo Is Transformed Into Dutch Scene At Frosh Glee

The annual Frosh Glee, held on Saturday evening at McArthur court, made the entire campus guests of the class of 1933. The decorations were in the Dutch motif, the orchestra being situated beside a huge windmill. Officers of the class are, Mr. Lawrence Bay, president; Miss Marguerite Tarbell, vice-president; Miss Julia Creech, secretary; and Mr. Wesley Edwards, treasurer. The committee in charge of the dance consisted of Charles Gillespie, John Finley, Marion Frost, Georgia Lou Miller, Melynn Lofton, Bob Near, Jane Stange, John McCulloch, Peggy Slauson, and Myrl Lindley.

Those invited to the affair as patrons and patronesses: Governor and Mrs. A. W. Norblad, President and Mrs. Arnold Bennett

Hall, Vice-president and Mrs. Burt Brown Barker, Dean and Mrs. J. H. Gilbert, Dean Virginia Judy Esterly, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Schering, Dean Hugh Biggs, Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Pallett, Dr. and Mrs. C. V. Boyer, Mr. Herbert C. Howe, Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Romig, Mr. Verne Blue, Mr. Edward Lesch, Mr. and Mrs. Max Adams, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howell.

Portland Symphony, University Chorus Entertain

The feature concert held last night at McArthur court with the joint appearance of the Portland Symphony orchestra and the University mixed chorus, was a dis-ting success. Willem van Hoogstraten directed both bodies, and a great amount of honor is due John Stark Evans for his training of the chorus.

Before the concert, a dinner was given by the associated students in honor of the members of the symphony. This was held in the dining hall of the dormitory and was attended by nearly 100 guests.

Instructor Speaks On 'Saint George'

"Saint George and the Rites of Mithras" was the subject on which F. S. Dunn, professor of Latin, spoke before St. Mary's chapter of the National Student Council of the University at the parish of the Episcopal church Sunday night.

FORMER SICK LIST DWINDLES TO TWO

Only two of the ten inmates confined in the infirmary last week are still there. These are Allan Scovell and Dessel Helfrich. However, the names of five new inmates have been added to this week's list. These include the names of Jesse Douglas, John Gagan, Thelma Kern, Mary Ann Musgrove, and Lawrence Mitchellmore.

Compulsory attendance is the word for co-eds at Michigan State. Every woman is required to attend the meetings of the Associated Women students. An absence is an unexcused cut.
