

Senior Ball Scheduled for February 22

Foster Named Chairman of Committee; Speaks at Class Meeting
'KID' DANCE IS SLATED
Motions for Memorial and Invitations Passed by Four Year Group

A quorum of the senior class, meeting yesterday at Villard hall, decided that the Senior Ball, scheduled for February 22nd, should be held in Gerlinger hall. Day Foster, chairman of the dance committee pointed out the advantages of the large lounge in the Gerlinger hall for the holding of the reception which traditionally precedes the ball.

January 29 Dance Denied
Eleanor Poorman, class president, read a letter signed by Virginia Esterly, dean of women, telling of the denial by the student affairs committee of a petition to hold a senior dance on Wednesday, January 29.

Tom Stoddard spoke against having a joint dance with the junior class, and on the motion of James Raley, it was voted to have a senior "kid" dance on January 31, Saturday.

Motions Are Passed
Dick Horn's motion that a committee be appointed to take care of commencement invitations, and Keith Hall's motion that another committee be appointed to suggest a suitable memorial for the class to give to the University before commencement were both accepted.

HONORARY PICKS EIGHT NEW MEN

Winter term election to Asklepiads, medical honorary, include the eight men in the sophomore pre-medicine class who rank highest in scholarship and personal attainments since in school. They are Robert Boals, Harry Hanson, Louis Feves, John Hart, William Ice, Arthur Aine, Robert F. Miller, and Robert Quinn.

Membership in Asklepiads is limited to 20 men. At present there are ten active members in the junior and senior classes. Initiation will take place on the 28th of this month, to be followed by a banquet on January 30. Galtner Everett and Bruce Titus are in charge of this affair, at which Dr. R. R. Huestis of the animal biology department will be the principal speaker. Russell Baker is president of Asklepiads; Dan Trullinger, vice-president, and Allan Palmer, secretary-treasurer.

ERICKSON ABSENT THROUGH ILLNESS

Martin E. Erickson, graduate assistant in the romance language department, has been ill and confined to his home since Sunday. His classes are being taken care of by other Spanish instructors of the department.

LITERARY BUTCHERS STORM EDITOR WITH NEW 'COLYUM'

By J. B.
The University of Oregon Daily except Sunday and Monday Emerald editor went into a shudder. "Yeah," said the human being who had hustled into his office, "we want to start a humor column. Put a lot of funny stuff in it. See?"
"I been expecting something like this," said the editor wearily. "Well, what've you got?"
"Got!" said the human being. "Why, man, look at this."
And that was the auspicious start of OREGANIZED DEMENTIA. The title, of course, may not be all it could be, but it will have to do until somebody gets inflicted with a better idea. It's a little better, anyway, than something

Dr. Hall Honored

President Arnold Bennett Hall has been one of three selected to serve in Social Science Research Council of America. He has been chosen to represent the American Political Science Association.

New Zone System Lowers Taxi Fares On Campus Rides

Thirty-five Cent Minimum Charge to McArthur From Now on

Students' Complaints Start Several Investigations

Students wishing to employ the use of a taxi to or from McArthur court on any occasion may henceforth be assured that they will not be "held up" for an exorbitant transportation charge, due to the change of zoning system just announced by the Eugene Taxi Cab companies. The Igloo is now included in the same zone with fraternities and sorority houses, meaning a reduction in rates from a 50-cent to a 35-cent minimum.

Day Foster, prominent in campus activities, laid a complaint before Tom Stoddard, president of the associated students, Tuesday, resulting from charges of alleged excessive rates paid by students attending the Frosh Glee, Saturday night.

Rates Said Outrageous
"I am not speaking for any official group," said Foster, "but I do represent a number of students who believe they have honest grievance against the cab drivers. I have signed papers, which indicate that students have been charged taxi fares as high as $2.50 for as short a distance as four blocks. This is for a load of six people, but it is obvious that such a rate is outrageous."
"It is our intention to discuss the matter with the taxi managers and see if something can't be done about it. Under existing conditions, students are, almost afraid to ride in taxis for the simple reason that they have no way of knowing whether they

Hall Selected For Council Membership

President Again Honored By Group He Helped Organize
ONLY THREE CHOSEN
Will Represent Political Science Association

The honor of being selected for membership in the Social Science Research Council of America has again come to Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University. With Dr. Robert T. Crane, of the University of Michigan, and Dr. Charles E. Merriam, of the University of Chicago, both outstanding authorities, Dr. Hall has been chosen to represent the American Political Science Association. The Oregon president is one of the organizers of the council a number of years ago.

Hall Former Chairman
The Social Science Research Council, now regarded as the most outstanding social science group in the United States, was organized in 1921, and holds a yearly conference at Hanover, New Hampshire. President Hall was chairman of the committee on problems and policies until his duties here forced him to resign this place in 1927. As chairman he had charge of the Hanover meeting and was influential in much of the work of the council.

Only three members from each of the seven outstanding societies in the United States are chosen for membership in the council, and selection is regarded as a recognition of authority in their field. Dr. Hall is now internationally known for his work in social science, and in addition to other activities, is author of books and articles on this subject.
Council Sponsors Activities
The council sponsors activities and projects in research and in the social sciences through establishing fellowships and grants-in-aid. Remarkable progress in phases of this field has been made since the establishment of the council. The organization is heavily endowed by prominent foundations, and has the sanction of educational and research leaders in all parts of the country.

Oregon Editors Offered Place In News Group

Sigma Delta Chi Picks 10 Men Active in State Journalism

Ten Oregon newspaper men, eight of them editors of state papers and the other two city editors, were elected to associate membership in Sigma Delta Chi, international professional journalism fraternity, at a meeting yesterday evening.

Douglass Mullarky, editor of the Burns Times-Herald, is a former Oregon student. Alton Baker is well known to people of Eugene as editor of the Guard. Vawter Crawford was elected for his work as editor of the Heppner Gazette-Times. Medford and its well-known peers came to the attention of the journalism group with the election of Lee Tuttle, editor of the Medford News.
Another former Oregon student is Pete Laurs, city editor of the Oregon City Enterprise and mentioned as one of the future outstanding journalists in Oregon. Pendleton, the round-up city received its share of recognition by the election of Ed Aldrich, editor of the Pendleton East Oregonian.

The brother of the secretary of agriculture, Ira B. Hyde Jr., was one of the men offered membership. He is editor of the St. Helens Mist. The Salem Capital Journal will be asked to contribute its editor, George Putnam, to the cause of the chapter.
Last, but of course, not least, are two men from Portland, the first, well known on the campus as a former member of the board of regents, and to the state as editor of the Oregon Voter, being C. C. Chapman and the second being John L. Travis, city editor of the Morning Oregonian.

Slab-wood Keeps Furnaces Going; Classes Will Continue as Usual

Rumors rampant on the arctic waste which used to be the campus that the University was to be shut down for several days on account of shortage of fuel at the central heating plant were smashed yesterday by Paul W. Ager, assistant controller.
"I take pleasure in announcing that classes will continue as usual," Ager smiled. "It is true that the heating plant's usual supply of hog fuel has been cut off by cold weather complications, but our versatile furnace is getting along very nicely on a slab-wood substitute, thank you."

Paul Ager

The University official explained that the Booth-Kelly Lumber Co. has a contract to supply the University with hog fuel, the normal winter consumption being two carloads per diem. The cold weather has caused the Booth-Kelly plant at Wendling to shut down, and a frozen mill-pond has suspended operation at Springfield plant.
With no hog fuel available, the Booth-Kelly company is now supplying the school furnaces with slab-wood, consumption being around fifty cords a day. Mr. Ager explained that a car of hog fuel has the caloric equivalent of 18 cords of slab-wood.

Big Sister Work Undergoing All Campus Survey

Margaret Cummings Gives New Questionnaires For Freshmen

Captains To Meet Next Tuesday Afternoon

In an effort to make a check on the present effectiveness and weakness of Big Sister work, with a view to finding means of strengthening the present system, Margaret Cummings, junior, chairman of the Big Sister committee for the Associated Women Students this year, has instituted a campus-wide survey.

Survey Planned
Plans for the survey which is the first of its kind to be made here were outlined by Miss Cummings at a meeting of Big Sister captains held Tuesday afternoon at Gerlinger building.
Questionnaires prepared by her will be given to all captains and to all freshman women in living organizations in a thorough effort to find out just how effective the system has proved in the past, how thoroughly the Big Sisters have performed their duties, and what improvements to the work can be made.

Remedies Sought
Remedies for the problem of locating "little sisters" during the summer vacation are to be sought and methods of selecting big sisters will be discussed on the questionnaires. Frosh will be asked to answer directly what faults they find in the present system.

Miss Cummings is communicating with heads of big sister work in the larger colleges of Washington, Oregon and California in an effort to find the most effective possible means of handling the work. When Miss Alice Hoyt, associate dean of women at the University of California, visited the campus during high school conference, January 10 and 11, Miss Cummings discussed the "big sister" work with her.
Plans are now being made for the Big Sisters to take their little sisters to a vespers program later this term.

ELEVEN ARE UNDER INFIRMARY'S CARE

Eight of the inmates confined in the infirmary since last week are still there. The list includes the names of John Gagan, Thelma Kern, Margaret Litscher, Mary Ann Musgrove, Jesse S. Douglas, Lawrence Mitchelmore, Allan Scavell, and Dessel Helfrich.
The names of the new inmates are those of Weston Hayden, Leonard Donaldson, and Eldon Strom.

MISS LOWRY WILL ADDRESS CLASSES

Miss Marian Lowry, '27, society editor of the Eugene Guard, will give two informal lectures today in the school of journalism. She will address the 8 o'clock and 1 o'clock classes in reporting on the handling of club news and the duties of the society editor on a daily paper.
A graduate of the school of journalism, Miss Lowry is a member of Phi Mu and of Theta Sigma Phi, national women's journalistic honorary.

Public Speaking Contest Planned By Congress Club

Vice-presidential Award Is Offered to Students in Contests

Blais Appoints Campbell Head of Committee

The Vice-president Public Speaking award, a sum offered by Burt Brown Barker to further public speaking on the campus, will be offered as prizes in a contest to be held early in the spring term, Merlin Blais, president of the Congress club, announced yesterday. The award which consists of $25, has been known formerly as the Burt Brown Barker award, but at the University vice-president's request the name was changed.

Two Sections Named
The contest will be divided into two sections, according to the club president; the first will be an extempore contest open to all freshman men, and the subjects will be picked from those discussed by the club during the winter term. The second will be an oratorical contest open to all men on the campus excepting members of the varsity debate and oratory squads.

Wallace Campbell, sophomore in sociology, was appointed general chairman of the contest, with Roger Pfaff, sophomore in law, chairman of the freshman contest, and Arthur Potwin, sophomore in business ad, chairman of the oratory event. Vice-president Barker will act as chairman at the two contests.

Barker Offers Award
Mr. Barker, who is offering the award, is a charter member of Delta Sigma Rho, national forensic honorary, and was a member of the University of Chicago debate teams in 1897. For a time he assisted in the coaching of debate teams at that university following his graduation.

Oregon Students To Portray Scene Of Famous Opera

Class To Present 'Faust'; Madame McGrew Is Director

The famous roles of Faust, Marguerite and Mephistopheles in the Faust story as it has been told in both drama and music will be played by University of Oregon students Thursday night when Madame Rose McGrew will present her opera class in a scene from Gounod's opera.

Cecile Coss, senior in music, will play Marguerite and Kenneth Roduner will take the title role of Faust. Herbert Pate is to be Mephistopheles.
The second scene in act three is to be presented.

Rose Simons, as Siebel, and Pauline Guthrie, as Martha, complete the cast which has been rehearsing for a long period.
Madame McGrew is particularly equipped to train her students in operatic work because of the years of experience which she has had singing opera roles in Germany. Much interest has attended the work of her opera classes in previous years and a large audience is anticipated for Thursday night.

Idea Sought To Replace Junior Vodvil

Hope for Faculty Consent; Ken Curry Appointed As Chairman

DESIRE GOOD FEATURE
Letters Sent Other Schools Seeking for Adequate Substitute

Ken Curry has been appointed by Bill Whitley, president of the junior class, to be chairman of the vodvil revision committee, according to an announcement made yesterday. Members of the junior class who will assist Curry in attempting to find a suitable substitute for the show of former years are Lavina Hicks, secretary, Hal Johnson, Virginia Moore, Mike Griffin, Maxine Glover, Ray Martin, and Francis Mullins.

Good Feature Wanted
"I consider the committee very efficient and capable to handle this important assignment, Whitley said yesterday. "It is my sincere hope that a substitute that will meet with the favor of the faculty, the class, and the rest of the student body will be devised. We want to overcome the objections raised to previous shows and yet have a feature of a high class nature."

The committee has been working for the past few days and letters have been written to other schools on the coast for suggestions concerning their shows. It is planned to find an entirely adequate substitute for the vodvil according to Whitley, and unless that can be done nothing in the nature of the vodvil will be produced. The class desires to have a feature which will be more than an extra-curricular activity and which will still meet with the approval of all concerned.

To Decide Today
The committee will meet at 4 p. m. today in 110 Johnson hall, and at that time plans and suggestions will be thoroughly discussed. Several ideas have been already submitted and are being worked over. It is hoped by Chairman Curry that a definite plan can be decided upon at today's meeting which may be sent to the faculty for its approval, and following this, for the sanction of the class in the near future. Curry urges that each member of the committee be at the meeting.

FROSH RECEPTION TONIGHT AT MANSE

With Presbyterian freshman students and their friends as guests, an informal reception is scheduled for this evening at the Westminster house, according to Max Adams, Presbyterian student pastor.

The house will be open for students wishing to attend, from 9 until 10:30, it is announced. Virginia Judy Esterly, dean of women, has approved the affair, and it is asked that house presidents cooperate by excusing freshmen desiring to attend the reception.

A musical program for the evening has been arranged for the evening by Evelyn Hollis, musical chairman of the Westminster cabinet, which is in charge of the affair.
The program includes vocal numbers by the S. A. E. quartet, Agnes Petzold, and Pauline Guthrie, and piano numbers by Edith Grim.

As an added attraction hot refreshments will be served to those attending, according to Max Adams.
Westminster house is located at the corner of 14th and Kincaid streets.

GRADUATE SPEAKS MONDAY EVENING

Miss Minnie Fisher, '27, a graduate in the school of journalism, spoke before Dr. Ralph D. Casey's extension class in journalistic writing in Portland Monday evening.
Miss Fisher explained her work as a writer of technical material for various trade journals. She is a correspondent for Women's Wear, Men's Wear, and other magazines in the textile field.

Humble Frosh Subject of Shot Winning Contest

A touching little picture of "Frosh Painting the O," taken by Glenn Gardner, freshman in art, is the winner of the Oregon Photo Contest, it was announced yesterday by Les McDonald, Oregon editor.
Many interesting photographs were turned in to the contest, according to McDonald, and a number of them will be used in the Oregonian. Those that are not used will be returned later.

Fees Are Payable Today Till First February, Report

Laboratory or Syllabus Are Dues To Be Paid at Cashier's Window

Late Payment To Cause Fine of $3

Now is the time for all good college students to rally to the cashier's office and pay their lab and class fees, for after the first of February fines will be levied. Fees are payable between today and that date.

The little green slip handed out at registration time says: "Special Notice—The registration fee paid at time of term registration does not include laboratory or syllabus fees, class fees or special assessments. These fees must be paid at the cashier's office in Johnson hall between the dates of January 22 and February 1. After February 1 a late payment fee of $3 for the first day late with an additional 25 cents for each subsequent day will be added to the amount of the unpaid fees."
Remember the words of the wise and pay your fees early.

Raley Appointed Senior Manager For Swimming

Junior and Sophomore Assistants Are Named

Appointment of swimming managers for this year has been officially made, with Jim Raley as senior manager heading the list. Raley has had three years' experience in swimming and minor sports and is well qualified to handle the job.

Junior managers are Bill Hedlund, Harold Fraundorf, and Ken Moore, while the sophomore assistant selections consist of John Edjefsen, John Long, Bob O'Melvey, Earl Wymore, Roy Brown, and Malvin McCarthy.
Besides his swimming activities, Raley has taken part in various campus activities. He is chairman of the rally, the Greater Oregon, and the Homecoming committees; a member of Friars, and Scabbard and Blade; and was co-director of the campus movie, "Ed's Co-ed."

DR. SHINN SAYS FELLOWSHIPS ARE AID TO STRUGGLING GRADS

AN INTERESTING phase of American education, according to Dr. F. L. Shinn, head of the chemistry department, is the large number of graduate fellowships offered by American colleges. "They enable so many students who have struggled through their college work and exhausted their resources, to go on with their careers," said Dr. Shinn.
Especially is this aid given in the field of science; many announcements of graduate assistantships are sent to the departments of chemistry, biology and physics. At least two chemistry majors are planning to go farther afield and accept one of these opportunities, while other seniors plan to do graduate work here. Many students from other schools and even from outside the state come to Oregon to do further work in science, Dr. Shinn stated.

Wide Acclaim Greeted First Air Program

Oregon Bachelors' Dance Orchestra Is Feature Of Entertainment

NORTON TELLS RULES

Competent Judges Chosen; Programs To Start at 8 P. M. Sharp

By STERLING GREEN

TODAY'S BROADCAST
Hendricks Hall, Starting at 8 P. M.

A flood of telephone calls and congratulatory messages received at station KORE last night after the first of the Emerald-KORE interfraternity radio contest programs attested to the excellence of the entertainment provided by the musicians of the Bachelordon group, and to the interest which the contest has aroused on the campus and in the city of Eugene. The programs will be presented every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 8 o'clock.

The Oregon Bachelors' dance orchestra, featuring Wallace Palmer, a trumpeter, who almost "stole" the program, and two splendid pianists, Chuck James and Del Richmond, set a standard of quality for talent and entertainment value that will be hard to equal.

Ability Top-notch
What the Bachelors lacked in variety and originality they more than made up in musical ability. In the opinion of Fred Norton, contest director, the showing made by Bachelordon was well calculated to cause other groups on the campus to get down to serious work if they hope to carry off the beautiful seven-tube Majestic cabinet radio which has been posted by McMorrin and Washburne as the grand prize.

The number of calls was taken by Frank Hill, KORE program director, as a confirmation of his previous statement that the Emerald contest would prove to be one of the most popular radio features ever attempted by the station.

Norton Opens Program
Norton opened the program with a short talk, in which he explained the nature of the contest, named the prizes, and introduced the Bachelordon chairman, Day Foster.

Chuck James, in a vocal solo, "Blue Lover," gave the program a good start, and was followed by the orchestra playing two jazz numbers, "When My Dreams Come True," and "San."

Wallace Palmer played two exceptionally well-rendered trumpet solos, "Deep Henderson," and "When Day Is Done." These called forth a third number later in the program, "Dream of Love." The half hour was rounded out by a piano number, "Sally of My Dreams," played by Del Richmond, and a vocal trio singing the Bachelordon sweetheart song.
The contest is being decided by
