Press Conference Banquet Sponsored by Eugene Commerce Group

Turnbull Supervises Sale of Postboards

Members of Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism honoraries, will handle the sale of tickets for the welcoming banquet to be given next Friday evening in honor of the delegates to the twelfth annual Oregon press conference. It was announced last night by Prof. George S. Turnbull of the school of journalism, who is supervising the sale.

Many Guests Expected

Editors and publishers from all parts of the state will gather on the University campus for the conference Thursday, Friday, and Saturday; and the banquet, at which they and their wives will be guests of the Eugene chamber of commerce, will be the high point of the week-end's entertainment program.

Dr. John Henry Nash of San Francisco, whose work in artistic printing is known all over the world, will be the guest of honor. The banquet will be held in the main dining room of the Osburn hotel, starting at 6 o'clock. It is open to the public; tickets went on sale yesterday.

Ticket Salesmen

Students canvassing the campus are:

Theta Sigma Phi — Dorothy Thomas, Dorothy Kirk, Phyllis Van Kimmel.

Sigma Delta Chi—Vinton Hall, Lester McDonald, T. Neil Taylor. Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, will be toastmaster. Arrangements to accommodate between 250 and 300 people are being made by a chamber of commerce committee, headed by W. F. Gilstrap, chairman. R. Roy Booth, president of the organization, will give the welcoming address.

Hall To Speak

Among the other speakers will be Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University, who will talk on "Leadership in the Press." Margaret Clark, a senior in the school of journalism, has been chosen to give the annual address on behalf of the women students of the University. "Girls in the Game" will be her topic.

Lester Adams, of the Portland Telegram, is to discuss editorials and the extent to which they are read. "Interest in the Page" being his subject. Robert M. Mouna, of the Advertising Club of Portland, will talk on "Confidence in the Ads."

Music by the Eugene Gleemen, which has been a feature of the banquet for several years, has again been provided for, according to Professor Turnbull.

The Ancient Mysteries To Be Lecture Subject

"The Ancient Mysteries" will be discussed by Professor F. S. Dunn, Latin instructor, before Columbia lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Portland tonight.

The ancient mysteries, according to Professor Dunn, are a system of philosophy or religion that inculcated some high ethical principle such as immortality by means of ceremonies and pageants. An example of this is the Eleusinian pageants of Athens or the Mithraism of Roman Britain.

This address will begin a series of open lectures to be given before the lodge by speakers of the state.

Reception Is Held for National Officer by Sigma Kappa

Sigma Kappa is holding formal reception tonight in honor of Mrs. Jennie Burrows, housemother, and Mrs. Bertha Whillock, grand treasurer of the fraternity. The reception rooms will be decorated with pink sweet peas and palms and other greenery. Those in the receiving line are Mrs. Burrows, Mrs. Whillock, Mrs. Lewis Bean, of Salem, Dean Virginia Judy Estery, Dean Hazel Prutsman Schwing, and Miss Lucile Larson.

Seniors and Frosh Will Entertain Tonight

Two class dances are on the schedule for this evening's entertainment. The freshmen are holding their dance at Gerlinger hall to the tune of George Weber's orchestra, while the seniors are having a "kid party" at the Campa Shoppe, with music by the Varsity Vagabonds.

Miss Bramwell Wed to Ned Davis

News has come to the campus of the marriage of Miss Ruth Bramwell to Ned Davis. The wedding took place in La Grande on the fourth of January and the couple are now residing in Vancouver, Washington. Mrs. Davis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Bramwell. She was an Alpha Chi Omega here last year. Mr. Davis was a student at the University of Washington.

A. W. S. Waffle Dance Informal Affair

The Associated Women Students held their waffle dance yesterday afternoon at the Craftsmen's club from 2 until 5:30 o'clock. The affair was entirely informal and waffles were served continuously during the afternoon while the dancing music was furnished by George Weber's orchestra.

AT THE McDONALD—

Ramon Navarro's voice is a real treat after the brawlings of the hard-boiled gangsters and chorus girls that are so prominent these days on transition from silent to talking pictures. It has the golden tones of the Latin that blend so well with moonlight nights and pretty bare shoulders. Navarro's acting, too, is very subtle and he is an excellent comedian as well as heavy on the job stuff.

AT THE HEILIG—

"The Great Divide," at the Heilig has many tense moments. Imagine two good looking women actually scolding over a mere man. And does he let 'em? Well, that's another story. Dorothy Mackall is always a good drawing card and this time she turns out to be a whole pack of them.

AT THE REX—

Starting today the Rex presents the ever popular Ken Maynard in "Parade of the West." With so many good westerns in town and everything we have visions of cowboys and turkey ranches all night long.

AT THE STATE—

"Hurricane," at the State, is a sea picture. It seems especially appropriate for Eugene now that the thaw has begun.

Sigma Delta Pi Announces New Members

Antonio Rafael Vejai, 29, consul for Spain, Mexico, and Ecuador at Portland; was among the pledges selected by Sigma Delta Pi, national Spanish honorary, at its last meeting.

Other pledges are Naomi Hohman, Hazel Miller, Isabel McCoolough, Thelma Chappell, Lulu McLoughlin, Mrs. Edna Landros, a graduate student; and Laura C. Johnson, teacher at Eugene high school. Chandler B. Beall, assistant professor of romance languages, was elected to become an associate member, and Dr. John R. Mez, associate professor of economics and political science, was elected an honorary member.

Formal initiation will take place about the middle of February, according to Willmadeene Richolson, president of the society and student assistant in the romance language department.

MOVING FINGER

Honoraries, debating societies, discussion groups, fraternities and sororities, handball teams, and every semi-permanent group on the campus would become an integral part of the student government. That, it is commonly accepted, is not to be desired.

But the question cannot be decided by a blanket vote of yes or no. If the control is to be centralized, then all the groups named would be a part of the student government and subject to its control. If the administration is to deal with only campus-wide interests, then the classes and the Women's league will have separate

The committee will have to work out the problem for itself, and for every type of organization which comes before it. At present, the classes as organizations are not recognized by the constitution. The Women's league is not only recognized by its name, but its methods of procedure are specified. Yet paternalism toward the classes far exceeds, from an outside view, the control over the Women's league.

The question does not extend only to the outer fringes where the school becomes separated from the school in many of its interests, but right in the heart of present procedure. Should class officers still be elected or should they instead be appointed and their slight powers turn to the student government?

Library Has Five New Biographies on Shelf

New books on the seven day shelf at the main library consist almost entirely of biographies. The books listed below are all recent additions. "Sails and Swords" by Arthur Strawn, being the glorious adventures of Balboa and his intrepid company, freebooters and discoverers of the Pacific.

"Franklin" by Bernard Fay, a new biography with material never used before by biographers. "Sherman" by B. H. Leddell Hart, a study of life, the books touch only lightly on the warrior's battles.

"The Life and Letters of Joseph Pennell" by Elizabeth Robins Pennell, a Quaker and an artist. The book is an analytical study of the life of a famous illustrator, and "Grandmother Brown's 100 Years" by E. M. Stamm, completes the list.

Dr. Smith Talks On Independence

Filipinos Present Case To Justify Cause

Independence for the Philippine islands, desired by many Filipinos and denied by the United States, was the burning question discussed at a meeting of the International Relations club last night.

Dr. Warren D. Smith, official advisor to the club, opened the discussion by stating that it was his opinion that the Philippines are not yet ready for complete autonomy, advancing ten reasons for his view, as follows:

The general world situation, which is unsettled; the lack of economic preparedness of the islands; the lack of wide diffusion of democratic principles; the lack of literacy; the prevalence of grafting native bosses; the danger of sacrificing the present prosperity; the faults of the theory of the right of self-determination; the independence is a figurative slogan used by some leaders there to keep themselves in office; need of Philippine raw materials by other countries, the production of which necessitates foreign control at present; necessity for control of tropical diseases.

Dr. Smith regards the statement that "No Anglo-Saxon can understand the Malay people sufficiently to guide them," as the only valid

'The Madcap Princess' To Play Next Week

Publicity for "The Madcap Princess," a musical comedy to be presented in the armory next week by the Business and Professional Women's club of Eugene, is being handled entirely by Gamma Alpha Chi, women's national advertising honorary on the campus, according to Elaine Henderson, president, and Betty Hagen, treasurer, who are working on the project.

Hand-made posters in several different designs have been completed and distributed among the downtown stores.

The production is scheduled for two evening performances, February 4 and 5. Madame Rose McGrew, instructor of voice in the
