

Snappy Wrestling Match Marks Close of Interesting Tourney

Champions Picked in All But Heavyweight Division

Pat Lucas and Joe Jansa To Contend for Title at Later Date; Averill Provides Only Upset in Tourney

THE few who turned out yesterday afternoon to see the wind-up of the wrestling tournament were rewarded with as sparkling a galaxy of bouts as has ever been offered at the University in previous years. The only dissatisfaction that could be found with the card was the uneven scheduling that forced Tom Mountain and Dick Averill to engage in two bouts with a very short rest period between.

Averill, who has only been turning out for practice the last few nights, proved to be the sensation of the tourney. He and Marshall Shields provided the best fireworks of the day when they hurled each other around the mat to the accompaniment of vociferous cheers. Shields had Averill in distress several times in the first period, but fell victim to one of Averill's headlocks after two and a half minutes of sensational grappling. Averill appeared to tire in the second round, but when Shields became too careless, Dick clamped on another headlock that decided the match.

Averill Comes Back
With a scant five minutes' rest, Averill again returned to the mat, this time with Arne Pompel. Pompel secured an easy fall, but 15 minutes later was tossed all around the mat by his refreshed opponent. Dick nearly pinned Pompel's shoulders on one occasion, but they slid over the mat's edge and Referee Jud Swingert sent them to the center.

Stocky Tom Mountain was another victim of too much wrestling in too short a time. After tumbling Charley Bateman, he forced Louis Feves to extend himself for welterweight honors. Both Mountain and Averill have a good chance to see action in the Northwest Minor Sports Carnival.

The heavyweight duel was another "big" disappointment to the fans, but a revelation to Coach Elliott. Although outwrestled by thirty pounds, Pat Lucas completely outwrestled bulky Jerome McKy, and threw him for the final fall. Lucas, though not a sensational grappler, is a good one and will bear watching in future bouts.

Riehl Throws DeWilde
Byron DeWilde proved himself an able beginner by giving Art Riehl a terrific struggle in both rounds before being pinned. DeWilde's wrestling was of excellent caliber, because Riehl is recognized as one of the best amateurs on the coast.

Jerry Van Dervlugt and Art Markewitz opened up their match with a burst of furious wrestling, but they soon slowed down. Van Dervlugt took the decision.

The promised heavyweight brawl between Joe Jansa and Pat Lucas has been postponed until a later date due to an injured rib received by Lucas when McKy clamped on a body scissors. The fans were also denied the privilege of seeing Carl Klemm wrestle. An injury to his side forced Klemm to the sidelines.

Champs Listed
The complete list of tournament champions is as follows:
Light-heavyweight—Arne Pompel.
Welterweight—Louis Feves.
Lightweight—Art Riehl.
128-pound class—Spencer Raynor.
118-pound class—Jerry Van Dervlugt.
112-pound class—Harry Otte.
The heavyweight championship will be decided when Pat Lucas tangles with Joe Jansa.

INJURIES HIT BOTH TEAMS BEFORE GAME
The unofficial starting lineup, issued yesterday includes, Bill Keenan and Kermit Stevens, forwards; Steve Fletcher, center and Harold Olinger and Cliff Horner, guards.
Against this team, Slats Gill, Oregon State coach, will in all probability have Rod Bullard and Hal Merrill at forwards, Whitlock at center and the great Buck Grayson teamed with Drager at guard.

Although both teams are somewhat weakened by injuries a keen hard fought game is assured due to the rivalry of the two schools involved. Webfoot, Beaver contests are almost always good no matter how much one team is favored over the other.

Love is said to be a disease. Somebody ought to concoct a vaccine for the plague.

Rifle Team Shines Guns in Practice For Eleven Meets

Bragg Expects Webfoots to Walk Away With Higher Honors Than Before

The University of Oregon rifle team will line its sights on the targets beginning Monday and continuing through the week till Saturday in its first competition of the season. Oregon will be matched in this contest with eleven other schools and colleges.

Each man is to shoot from four positions: prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing, ten shots for record and two for sighting. Distance, 50 feet; target, standard N. R. A.; bulls-eye, 15-100 of an inch; rifle, Springfield 22 equipped with Lyman peep; ammunition 22-long.

Matches Are Monday
The matches will be run off on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, 2 to 5; Tuesday and Thursday all day and Saturday 8 to 12.

The first ten scores will be chosen for record with the next five high to decide possible ties.

Because of the large percentage of veterans on the team this year Captain Bragg expects Oregon to come off with high scores and is looking for Harvey Wright, Phil Livesly, Early Nelson, Phil Smith, Verne Shoemaker and Lawrence Parks to put Oregon at the top of the ladder in the coming shoots.

Many Signed Up
Other men signed up for the matches but who have not yet been under competitive fire on the local range are: Bud Martin, Lynne Downs, Jack Kaplan, J. S. Smith, L. E. Smith, Hale Judkins, Claude Conder, Benito Artaue, Arlan McCarty, Robert Relling, C. F. Shimanek.

The complete schedule lined up for next week is as follows:
University of Cincinnati.
Montana State college.
University of Alabama.
Rose Polytechnic institute.
North Carolina State college.
Mississippi A. & M. college.
Connecticut Agricultural college.
University of Wyoming.
Louisiana State college.
Washington university.
Lafayette college.

Alpha Kappa Psi Plans Research

Wilkinson Outlines Idea For Reading List

At a meeting of Alpha Kappa Psi, national professional commerce fraternity, held Wednesday noon at the Anchorage, Roy Wilkinson explained the research project of the fraternity for the current year.

This research is to be in the form of a survey of study of books for the business man. It has for its purpose the preparation and publication of lists made up on the basis of recommendations of instructors in the different business subjects.

The fraternity has recently initiated the following men: Ernest Aine, Paul Waigren, Douglas DeCou, Anton Peterson, Gordon Gardner, Orville Lindstrom, and Daniel Gage, associate professor in the school of business administration.

Oregon State Clashes With Webfoots Tonight

The up and coming Oregon State Beavers will furnish the opposition for Coach Bill Reinhart's aspiring Webfoots in the first game of the annual series at McArthur court. We said the Webfoots were aspiring—not necessarily for the league championship, as they are about out of the running, but they are aspiring to make a real comeback at the expense of the supposedly crippled Orangemen.

It is the usual thing to make public a list of injuries about a mile long just before a big game and we are inclined to believe that the supposed injured players on the Beaver team will see plenty of action against the Webfoots. Coach Reinhart has had more than his share of hard luck with his squad, injuries and sickness have hampered the operations of the Webfoots also, but he is not offering any pre-game alibis.

One thing is certain—the Webfoots will be playing harder tonight than at any time this season because a win over the Staters is always relished. A victory now would be better than ever, as Oregon State recently upset the dope and handed the Washington Huskies a two-game trimming. Fagen and Callahan, two of the leading lights on the Beaver team, are supposed to be crippled up, while Merv Chastain has again been in bed with sinus trouble to give Reinhart some worries. It should be interesting to watch the efforts of Buck Grayson, stellar State guard, to keep up his defensive record by holding the Webfoot forwards in check.

National Intercollegiate Meet Coming to Coast

NATIONAL intercollegiate track and field championships will be held in the new University of California Bowl at Berkeley expected to meet with official approval of the I. C. 4-A at the annual meeting of that body in March, the eyes of the track world are sure to be shifted even more intently on the Pacific coast. The meet will really amount to a sectional tryout for the American Olympic team and a large number of winners are expected to win places on that team.

Moving the national meet to the Pacific coast will enable a greater number of Northwest track stars to compete and Oregon should have several point winners entered. The I. C. 4-A games will be held just a week before the final Olympic tryouts in Los Angeles, and the collegiate athletes will be enabled to compete in both meets. With these two major meets in the offing, track stars next year should work extra hard to be enabled to compete in them.

As a preliminary to the varsity-Oregon State game tonight, the Frosh will tangle with the Rooks in the last of the little big games of the year. Coach Prink Callison has built up a real team, with plenty of scoring punch and defensive strength. Several of the first year men have made records that indicate they should be considered of varsity calibre, and next year Coach Bill Reinhart should welcome them to his squad. Chief among the supposedly future greats are Clarence James, Don Siegmund, Bill Morgan, and Cap Roberts. Several others have played just below these men.

Library Started With 500 Books

Donations by Lit Societies Furnishes Nucleus

The University of Oregon was without library facilities of any kind the first year of its existence in 1876, according to M. H. Douglass, librarian. The nucleus of the 207,000 volumes in the University was 500 books donated by two literary societies of the campus. These books were purchased from the Eugene Library association and paid for with money raised locally by means of entertainments.

In 1882 Henry Villard gave $1,000 to the University library for the purchase of reference books. In 1883 he gave $50,000 to the University, the interest to be used as a perpetual fund. Mr. Villard stipulated that $400 of this be spent each year on library books. In 1901 the regents voted to give the library the entire income from the Villard fund.

erts followed with two free throws and a moment later came back with a field goal. The Frosh could not be stopped then, and James and Siegmund each scored a brace of field goals to bring the total up to 25 points. Rust and McDonald tallied three points for the Rooks.

Bill Morgan and Clarence James were the leading lights for the Frosh. Morgan gave a great exhibition of defensive play, cutting off many Rook points. James was high point man with 9 points. Lewis showed well for the Rooks, unfurling some nice passes.

Coach Will Have Warm Welcome From Portland

Prominent Oregonians To Participate in Big Reception

With plans for two dinners in his honor already under way in Portland, a royal reception is assured Dr. Clarence Wilce Spears when he reaches the Pacific coast to take up his new duties.

A committee of 12 members of the University of Oregon Mothers, Dads, and Portland alumni associations met in Portland yesterday to make plans for a dinner. Arrangements for this function are in charge of Mrs. Walter M. Cook, president of Oregon Mothers; Lamar Tooze, president of the Portland alumni and Paul T. Shaw, president of Oregon Dads.

Plans for a civic dinner in honor of the Minnesota doctor are being handled by Governor A. W. Norblad, and Mayor George M. Baker, of Portland, honorary members with Edgar W. Smith, active chairman. Mrs. Josephine Forney will act as executive secretary for the event.

Participation of all civic and fraternal orders of the city is anticipated and the offer of the newly organized Junior Chamber of Commerce to take an active part was accepted.

Aaron M. Frank, a member of the executive committee arranging the reception, announced that all members of the Oregon football squad who come to Portland for the event would be his guests at the dinner. A large delegation from Eugene is expected, headed by President Arnold Bennett Hall.

THE MOVING FINGER

executive council. Under present circumstances the reasoning is sound.

Seemingly the only function of classes is to give dances. If they have any others which the student government could not properly administer, the revision committee should study them fully, and even though the action is dormant, attempt to revive them rather than destroy them.

In other organizations there is no need for the knife because the students recognize that the administration could not so well perform its functions. Yet it is proposed that class offices be abolished only if they have no work which the student body could not do. If they have the work, class offices should be retained.

Getting down to business, the revision committee could discover if there are any duties which the student body COULD NOT perform which the class officers ARE NOT performing. If there are any such, the best plan would be graphically, to put a pin under them instead of an axe on their necks.

Summer Session Catalogue in Feb.

Tells of Hawaiian Cruise Next Summer

Complete information on the Hawaiian and Alaskan cruises, says Dean Powers of the University extension, will be available to all students by February. This data will be contained in the summer session catalogue which will be out two months earlier than usual this year.

Regular summer sessions in Portland and Eugene will be held this year from June 23 to August 1, and the post session in Eugene from August 4 to August 29, Dean Powers stated yesterday.

Detailed announcements regarding the faculty and courses of the regular and post summer sessions will be contained in the new catalogue, which is now ready for the press, as well as academic announcements about the two cruises.

Smaller Enrollments Lauded by Educator

In his annual report, President Thomas S. Baker, of Pittsburgh university, greets with satisfaction the report that the percentage of increase in the total enrolment in American colleges is less now than in recent years.

"The rapid expansion of the American universities after the war has not been an unmixed blessing to the intellectual life of our country," President Baker said.

"It has not been possible to secure a sufficient number of well-trained and inspiring teachers to direct the flood of young people who have been pressing for admission to college."

Hammond Names Assistant Advertising Manager

Jack Gregg, sophomore in the school of journalism, has received the appointment of assistant advertising manager of the Oregon Emerald, it was announced last night by William Hammond, business manager.

Hammond expressed his approval and appreciation of Gregg's services on the advertising staff, where he has been employed for the past year and a half. "Gregg's appointment," said Hammond, "is in the nature of a reward for meritorious services as advertising solicitor in the business department of the Emerald."

Gregg was recently initiated into Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising honorary for men.

Schoeni Defeated In Handball Game

But Two Matches Staged This Week in Tourney

Only two games were staged in the free-lance handball tourney this week, but Coach Polcar reports that next week all contestants will see action. He encourages any new entrants and promises if they leave their phone number, they will be notified when their matches are due.

In the matches played, Sol Director emerged victor over Dick Jennings by the score of 21-16, 21-19, while Sing Harper and Marshall Hopkins disposed of Art Schoeni and Phil Cogswell 21-13 and 21-11.

With black mortar boards perched determinedly on the heads of one team and presidents' gavels swinging in the hands of the other team, members of Mortar Board and Heads of Houses will go on the basketball floor of the women's gym today at 2 o'clock.

Speculation has been running rife, for the odds seem to be even. Mortar Board players are depending upon quality to win the game, and the House mentors are hoping to win by quantity, which will be supplied by their second string. The coach, referee, doctor, rooters and water boys have all been appointed so that there can be no slip up on technicalities when the game gets under way.

Tickets have been printed and distributed among the Thespians of the various organizations so that all women intending to see the game may buy them before the tip off. Admission will be 10 cents.
