

Landsbury To Give Recital; Date Withheld

School of Music Dean Lists First Public Concert In Five Years

Request of Friends Bring Musician To Perform

"John Landsbury, pianist," is a term regularly overshadowed by "Dr. John J. Landsbury, dean," but it will have a chance for revival within a few weeks when the head of the school of music will appear in recital.

Dean Landsbury announced the program, for which the exact date has not yet been set, yesterday afternoon. It will be his first recital appearance in at least five years, though he assisted with a piano group on a program four years ago. He has been repeatedly urged by Eugene residents who have previously heard him to play again here and announcement of the recital is expected to hold much interest both on the campus and among Eugene citizens.

Arthur Boardman, head of the voice department, will appear with the dean in the joint recital, the tentative date for which is February 20.

Mr. Boardman appeared in a successful concert here January 7 at McArthur court when a large audience heard him.

HOOP VICTORY OVER BEAVERS RAISES HOPES

Keenan Stars
Billy Keenan had the sympathy and support of the crowd from the outset, a consideration his playing merited. He was closely guarded throughout the game, almost too closely for his own comfort as evidenced by the resounding smack his head made, when Mose Lyman had him down under the south goal. His long dribbling assaults on the Beaver basket won the crowd over, and the majority of times added to the Webfoot total.

Although handicapped by a recent, weakening, illness Henry Levoff outdid himself. At one stage of the game when he took to the air to intercept a Beaver pass he came down on top of the ball and for a moment it looked as if he was through for the evening.

Torson Good
For Oregon State, the usual outstanding men failed to show their capabilities and Mush Torson more or less stole the show from the great Callahan and greater Buck Grayson, the latter, however, giving the crowd an oc-

Boardman's Polyphonic Chior Will Make First Appearance February 23; Musicians Appreciated at Vespers

The new school of music polyphonic choir, directed by Arthur Boardman, will make its first appearance this term on February 23 with a Sunday afternoon vespers program.

The choir, which has had but one previous appearance, December 15, at vespers, was organized on the campus in the fall by Mr. Boardman, who is head of the voice department.

Regarded as one of the few amateur organizations of its kind, the polyphonic choir has aroused much interest on the Pacific coast.

Vespers on Sunday were well attended and of particular interest because the program included a number by the new 'cello trio, casual thrill with a lefthand shot. With two series slated for this week anything can happen. Washington, at present leading the league takes on Idaho with the possibility of the latter going into a tie for first, if they take both games.

Of more importance to Oregon, however, is the continuation of the series begun so auspiciously here last Saturday night. Should the Webfoots continue their winning streak and come out ahead in both starts they would pass up the Washington State Cougars, to take possession of second place and would become a threat for the title.

WEEK'S SCHEDULE

McDONALD—Tuesday, Wednesday, "Sunny Side Up"; Thursday to Saturday, "Love Comes Along."

REX—Tuesday, "The Great Gabbo"; Wednesday, Thursday, "Broadway Scandals"; Friday, Saturday, "Night Ride."

HEILIG—Tuesday to Thursday, "Their Own Desire"; Friday and Saturday, "Thunder."

STATE—Tuesday, "The Lost Zeppelin"; Wednesday, Thursday, "Big News"; Friday, Saturday, "The Three Passions."

COLONIAL—Tuesday, Wednesday, "Ned McCobb's Daughter"; Thursday to Saturday, "Q Ships"; Talks on the Talkies

If you want to see the fastest thaw there ever was, just witness the "Turn on the Heat" number from Sunny Side Up." This is one of the cleverest little shows we have seen for a long time. Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell certainly have that "something" which makes our spinal column feel all thrilled.

Clever Norma Shearer makes "Their Own Desire" at the Heilig of more than usual interest. Her versatility of characterization is indeed marvelous.

Today is the only chance to see "The Great Gabbo" at the Rex theatre which has won so many laurels from hard boiled theatre critics.

The State is offering "The Lost

Zeppelin," a real thriller of the Antarctic regions.

And—peeking into the future we see some big hits coming for Eugene screen fans—"Love Comes Along," "Young Nowheres," "Big News," and that phenomenal offering of Warner Brothers, "The Show of Shows."

The management of the Colonial wishes to announce that the heating system is back in working order again and the Colonial will resume its regular shows again. Today they are offering "McCobb's Daughter," a bootlegging plot with a real moral.

dent executive power, a corollary naturally follows that if the constitution is to define all the executive agencies, either those two organizations must be designated in order that the power be given them or else the present status will continue.

And if it does continue, there would yet remain the proposed judiciary which could hardly maintain that the enforcement power would be delegated to any organization by common consent. Continued protest in the Emerald Forum column and elsewhere would be sufficient proof that common consent is lacking.

It would appear then, that students will be able to vote on the question at the constitutional referendum. If the constitutional committee does not decide the matter, and if the proposed judicial measures are approved, there will be still a council before which freshmen may bring their grievances.

Formal dances were in vogue last Saturday, taking up the entire part of the University social programs. Those organizations entertaining Saturday evening were Hendricks hall, Alpha Delta Pi, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Gamma Phi Beta.

Hendricks Hall

Hendricks hall entertained with a formal dance at the Eugene hotel, with Miss Consuelo McMillan, Dr. Wilmoth Osborne, Dean David Faville, Mr. and Mrs. Marion McClain, and Mr. and Mrs. Carlton E. Spencer.

Alpha Delta Pi

Alpha Delta Pi held its formal dance at the Eugene hotel also. Those invited to attend as patrons and patronesses were: Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Packard, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Jewett, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hobi, and Mrs. Lillian Seaton.

Gamma Phi Beta

Gamma Phi Beta held its formal dance at the Osburn hotel. Those invited as patrons and patronesses were Dr. and Mrs. Charles Leslie Schwering, Mrs. Ottilie Turnbull Seybolt, Mrs. Bogard, and Mrs. Stewart.

Kappa Alpha Theta

The Kappa Alpha Theta chapter house was the scene of a formal dance, also held on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Dean Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapman, Miss Cornelia Pipes, and Mrs. Lewis Meyers, attended as patrons and patronesses of the affair.

Their Own Desire

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer ALL TALKING PICTURE

Is it the parents of today who are the problem, instead of the younger generation? An unusual and interesting picture of elders with youthful ideas, and what happens when young blood takes a hand. Norma Shearer's talking successor to "The Last of Mrs. Cheyne"—with all the class and charm of that screen sensation.

UNDERNOURISHMENT and a pleasant disposition don't mix. The "best natured man" of the senior class isn't the one who spends his time smiling through a series of minor ills.

Shredded Wheat is the natural breakfast for good-natured college men. It supplies all the vital food elements that keep their spirits high. It's easy to digest and provides the bran to keep the system clear.

If you want to start the day with a cheerful outlook eat two Shredded Wheat biscuits every morning with good rich milk and plenty of fruit. It clears away those dark mental clouds in a hurry.
