Quintets Even Until Last Four Minutes; Keenan And Horner Play Best Basketball for Oregon

Ducks in Second Place in Conference Rating; O. S. C. Sends W.S.C. to Defeat

BULLETIN Oregon's win over Idaho last night, coupled with Oregon State's victory over the Washington State Cougars, puts the Webfoot team in second place in the Northern division of the Pacific Coast conference basketball race with the Cougars and Beavers tied for third.

Moscow, Idaho, Feb. 18.—(Special)—Oregon defeated Idaho 40 to 35 in an exciting game. It was neck and neck until the last four minutes, when Oregon forged ahead.

Idaho scored first on baskets by Howard and McMillin. The score was tied seven times during the first half, but Oregon forged ahead 30 seconds before the half when Keenan converted a free throw to make the score 17-16. After the first five minutes the teams were never separated by more than two points.

The second half playing was close but Eberhart connected for four field goals and two foul shots and cinched high point honors with 12. Stowell and McMillin made 11 each. Keenan and Horner played the best games for Oregon and Howard played good defense for Idaho. Oregon converted every free throw.

Rally for Spears Saturday Noon To Feature Noise

Stoddard Urges Students To Show New Coach Oregon Spirit. What promises to be the biggest rally in Oregon's history will greet Dr. Clarence W. Spears, new football coach, on his arrival in Eugene Saturday, according to Jim Raley, chairman of the rally directorate, in charge of plans for the welcome celebration.

Committee Selections To Be Announced

Noise will be the main feature of the rally, and those in charge hope to arouse more pep and enthusiasm among the students than has been shown at any time in the past. Committee selections for the special rally will be announced tomorrow.

Every Oregon student should be at the rally Saturday noon, to show our new coach that the University of Oregon has the school spirit and is behind him 100 percent," Tom Stoddard, president of the associated students, said yesterday in commenting on the welcome arranged for the ex-Minnesota grid coach.

Friendly Hall, Zeta Tau's on Air Program

Southern Songs Featured In Presentation of Girls' Group

SKIT GIVEN BY HALL

Alpha Gamma Theta Idea TONIGHT 8:00-8:30. Delta and Chi. Carrying on traditions of a Tau Alpha sorority last presented a program composed almost entirely of widely known southern melodies, plantation songs, and negro spirituals, called the "Southern Blues" idea, in program No. 19 of the Emerald-KORE radio contest series.

Friendly hall took possession of the microphone at 8:30, with a humorous skit entitled "This Here is Springfield," directed by Clarence Craw and Clifton Iverson. The rural atmosphere created by the rustic dialogue of Craw, Iverson, Jack Davis, Bob Maxwell, and Norman Cool, was interrupted at intervals for the insertion of piano and vocal numbers that fitted harmoniously into the continuity of the presentation.

Oregon Debating Team Wins From Idaho Last Night

Decision Awarded U. or O. By Alvin O'Konski, Critic Judge. Evans and Cutts Uphold Affirmative. The varsity men's debate squad won from the University of Idaho negative team last night, by the decision of a critic judge, Alvin O'Konski, professor of public speaking at Oregon State college.

The Oregon team, composed of Walter Evans and William Cutts, upheld the affirmative of the question, Resolved: That world peace demands the demobilization of all forces except those necessary for police protection. Orville Baird and Charles Herndon made up the opposing team.

The final decision was based upon the principle of persuasion, which fell to the affirmative. The Idaho team will debate with Oregon State college at Corvallis, this evening, on the same question.

Similar Program Tonight. Two programs very similar in nature are being planned for tonight's presentations, the Alpha Gamma Delta "Backstage" idea at 8 o'clock, and Theta Chi's "Rehearsal Night" idea, at 8:30. The Theta Chi group, according to Myron Griffin, program director, is attempting a departure from the regular run of radio entertainment by featuring a chorus of nine voices singing Oregon and fraternal songs.

Ruth Newman Directs. The Zeta Tau Alpha program, script for which was prepared by Eleanor Jane Ballantyne, was planned by Ruth Newman. Gwendolyn Caverhill supplied the descriptive monologue between negro numbers in negro dialect. The complete program follows:

Program Listed. Vocal trio—"Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," Mabel Kullander, Juanita Kilbourne, Esther Saager. Vocal solo—"Dreaming Alone in the Twilight," Esther Saager; violin accompaniment by Mabel Kullander. Vocal solo—"Mighty Lak" a Rose," Esther Saager. Plantation songs and reading—Juanita Hannah. Duet—"Ol' Man River," Esther Saager and Mabel Kullander. Vocal quartet—"Swing Low Sweet Chariot," Esther Saager, Mabel Kullander, Eleanor Jane Ballantyne, and Juanita Kilbourne. Piano solo—"Way Down Upon the Suwanee River," Nellie Mae Hadfield. Vocal solo—"Sweetheart of Zeta Tau Alpha," Esther Saager; violin accompaniment by Mabel Kullander.

Two houses, Sigma Alpha Mu and Pi Beta Phi, have announced their intention of withdrawing from the contest. Unless some contestant is able to take the place left by Sigma Alpha Mu on Thursday's program, Alpha Phi will go on alone at 8 o'clock.

Relation of Science to Daily Life Explained by Dr. Harrison E. Howe, Authority, in Lecture Last Night

"Science, in one form or another, is with you from the time your chemically made alarm clock wakes you in the morning till you crawl between your chemically made sheets at night," said Dr. Harrison E. Howe, nationally known scientist of Washington, D. C., in his talk, "Science, the Creator of Industry," last night at Commerce hall.

Dr. Howe pointed out that chemical industries rank about third in size in the United States at the present time. "Industry," he said, "is becoming more and more impressed with the importance of science and research in its promotion. Many a business has failed because it failed to have sufficient background of scientific investigation." He declared that many important industries, while not chemical in themselves, have been founded on some discovery of chemistry. How explained how science has discovered substitutes, and even improvements on natural products. Sugars of smaller food content than common sucrose he suggested for those threatened with "curvature of the vest." He described the process involved in making rayon, the widely used artificial silk, from cellulose, which he termed as something which might be made into anything from "literature to lingerie." He showed materials to demonstrate the high quality of the work being done with paper and cloth.

In many industries, he said, valuable uses have been found for waste products. Sometimes these (Continued on Page Two)

Emerald Plans Survey to Find Readers' Ideas

Questionnaires To Be Sent To 1,000 Students and Faculty on Campus

PUBOLS TO MANAGE Cooperation and Support From All Is Asked by Daily Publication

A vent for student opinion and an opportunity for persons to express themselves about the Oregon Daily Emerald will be offered to one out of every three persons on the campus in a survey which will be started today by the University publication to determine its advertising and news efficiency.

After several weeks of preparation, Edwin Pubols, of the statistical department of the paper, has completed the questionnaire and will start its distribution this afternoon. The list of questions, 1,000 of which will be submitted to students and faculty of the University, includes material designed to inform officials of the attitude of its readers toward their paper. It is also to determine the bearing the advertising has upon student buying from Eugene merchants.

To Use Data Gained. This data will be used in all future activities of the Emerald and whole-hearted support for success of the survey is solicited. As a paper of the associated students, it is thought that the results will be of vital benefit to all. Edwin Pubols, who will manage the survey, played a large part in handling a survey of the same sort for the Morning Oregonian only a short time ago. Pubols is a student in the school of business administration and has very carefully prepared the questionnaire for submission to those chosen.

Questions Given. The questions to appear in the survey are: 1. Class — Major — Home Town — 2. Place of residence. 3. How many persons other than Oregon students living there? 4. If your parents do not live in Eugene, do you send them the Emerald? 5. Do you read the Emerald every day? 6. Do you read it thoroughly? 7. On what day do you read the Emerald least? 8. Do you read the advertisements in the Emerald? 9. Which do you read most? Display or classified ads? 10. Do you read the institutional ads such as Bell Telephone, etc.? 11. Do you read any other local newspaper publication? 12. Which of the Portland papers do you read most? 13. Number in order of interest the parts of the Emerald you like best.

On Editorial Policy. 14. What do you think of the Emerald's editorial policy? 15. Do you think the Emerald has shown improvement or deterioration? 16. How do you like the front page typography of the Emerald? 17. Do you see chances for news on the campus which the Emerald misses? 18. Do you think the Emerald is partial to certain departments of the school in its news sources? 19. Do you make purchases because of ads in the Emerald? 20. Do you think prices are as reasonable and selections as good in Eugene as in your home town? 21. Do you buy from Emerald advertisers because of their interest in the school or because of your personal choice? 22. Do bargain sales induce you to buy?

Each of the judging committees, according to Fisher, will visit ten houses, and will select the five best groups to enter the finals the following week. Originality will be the basis of the judging. The schedule, which is being worked out by Don Eva and Nancy Thielsen, will be announced very soon. Members of the five judging committees who will select the five best houses for the final contest are: 1. Ed Fisher, Don Eva, and Nancy Thielsen. 2. George Barron, Marabel Braden, Doris Helen Patterson. 3. Agnes Petzold, Hugh Miller, John Finley. 4. Thelma Kem, Maxine Glover, Fletcher Udall. 5. Sally Addleman, Bill McNabb, Marjorie Clark.

Spears' Banquet Tickets Released For Campus-Sale

University Allotment 25; Football Lettermen To Be Guests

With the University allotment of tickets for the big stag banquet in honor of Dr. C. W. Spears next Saturday night set at 25, the office of the graduate manager announces release for immediate sale. Reports show that very few have been purchased.

The affair is being sponsored by the Eugene chamber of commerce and will accommodate 250 guests. Various Eugene organizations have already purchased their allotment, signifying that representation will be near the 100 percent mark. Many state officials are making plans to attend, according to word from banquet directors.

Each letterman on the University of Oregon football team has been invited as the guest of several down-town business men. Officials state that all students of the University are welcome to attend. The banquet will not conflict in any way with the Senior ball as those who will attend are also making plans for the dance.

Sigma Kappa Captures Honors for Second; Three Halls in New Dorm Follow Leaders

Fall Term Points Released By Registrar; Co-eds Are Showing Highest Average

Kappa Kappa Gamma, with an average of 55.714 points, leads the grade list for the fall term. Sigma Alpha Mu was first among the men, with an average of 44.800 points.

The long-awaited list giving the comparative ratings of living organizations and independent groups for the fall term was finally released yesterday at 1 o'clock by the statistician's office, which has been working on the averages ever since the opening of the present quarter. In figuring the ratings, the regular system of counting five points for every hour of I, four for every hour of II, etc., has been used. Graduate students, law students, and fifth-year architecture students have not been included in making the computations.

Sigma Kappa Second. Sigma Kappa, whose rating was 53.250, and Alpha Chi Omega, with 52.360, are second and third respectively. Second and third places in the men's group are held by Omega hall, 44.714, and Alpha hall, 44.386.

The all-University rating is 42.419 points. That made by sorority women only is 49.0118; non-sorority women's average is 44.803. The all-women scoring is 47.246, while the all-men's is 38.404. Fraternity men averaged 37.209, and non-fraternity men rated 39.732. Spring term of last year Chi Delta, local sorority, led the list with an average of 55.294. Alpha hall was first in the men's division, averaging 48.093.

List Given
