

John O'Brien Signs To Aid Spears Coach

Former Pupil of Mentor's To Handle Ends; Will Arrive Here Soon

GRID SCHEDULE OUT

Drake University Game To Draw Big in East, Is Expectation

By HARRY VAN DINE
With the signing of an end coach and the acceptance of the 1930 football schedule by the athletic committee, Coach Doc Spears, Oregon's new football mentor, is all ready to go on with his plans for the coming campaign. The acceptance of the schedule has yet to be ratified by the executive council before it can be said to be really official, according to Tom Stoddard, president of the associated students.

John O'Brien, a former pupil of Spears', was named end coach Saturday and he will arrive in Eugene in time to take over his new duties at the start of the spring term, according to Spears. O'Brien has had extensive experience along coaching lines and last year served as coach at the Western States Normal school, at Kalamazoo, Mich. He played under Spears at Minnesota in 1925 and 1926. He first played for the Gophers in 1920 but he laid out of school for five years.

Four Conference Games
The 1930 football schedule calls for the Webfoots to meet four conference teams in addition to Drake university, at Chicago, in an inter-sectional game. St. Mary's will be met in another turkey day game at San Francisco, and should prove to be the biggest attraction of the year. Pacific and Willamette will furnish the pre-conference season opposition and both games will be played in Eugene.

In addition to the two practice games, two conference teams, Idaho and U. C. L. A., will meet the Webfoots in Eugene, while the annual contest with Oregon State is booked for Corvallis.

Classic in Portland
The classic of the season in Portland will be an event of October 18, when Spears' Webfoots will clash with Phelan's Huskies. It will mark the continuance of old-time rivalry in new climates, as Spears, while at Minnesota, was very much a rival of Phelan's, while the new Washington mentor was at Purdue.

The Drake contest at Chicago is expected to draw well, as the Windy City fans will probably flock to Soldier's field to see just what kind of a team Spears has developed at Oregon. "Doc" is a well-known character around Chicago and his teams have always been popular with the populace of the midwestern city.

The complete schedule follows:
September 20—Pacific at Eugene.
September 27—Willamette at Eugene.

October 3—Drake at Chicago.
October 11—Open.
October 18—Washington at Portland.
October 25—Idaho at Eugene.
November 1—Open.
November 8—U. C. L. A. at Eugene.
November 15—Oregon State at Corvallis.
November 27—St. Mary's at San Francisco.

Twenty-two Stories Submitted in Contest

Twenty-two short stories were submitted in the Edison Marshall short story contest, it was announced yesterday by W. F. G. Thacher, professor of English. Saturday, March 1, was the closing date.

The manuscripts will now be judged, the story chosen as the best winning $50. The judges are Mrs. George Rebec, E. Palmer Hoyt, dramatic editor of the Portland Oregonian, and graduate of the University, and Stewart Holbrook of Portland, editor of the 4-L Lumber News. Mr. Holbrook has had stories published in Scribners, American Mercury, and other magazines.

The Moving Finger

NEW ANGLES . . .
ON FIFTH-YEAR, LEAGUE

By OLIVER POLITICUS
Fifth-year office holding will again come before the constitutional revision committee for approval or rejection if rumors are to be trusted. Perhaps for recognition in this column, actual reports and votes alone should be considered, but the question has had too varied a career thus far to deserve a term other than rumor.

When the committee first met it was thought proper that the extra-year men and women should be given the opportunity to gain elective office. At the next meeting it was dropped. Then it came up again in another meeting and a hinted exception was made for editors and manager of publications, all elective. No steps have been taken on that until the elective position is defined.

Just what the new move may mean is not yet clear. A committee meeting scheduled for yesterday has been postponed, and perhaps by the time it is called the movement will have again died down.

The constitution permits fifth-year membership in the student association, and fifth-year men and women now hold office in it. Whether that condition will be (Continued on Page Three)

Junior Shine Day Brings Big Sum To Class of '31

Drawing Will Give Person Holding 781 Lucky Number Prize

Four Women Are Awarded Theater Tickets

Profits from Junior Shine day amounted to $120.60, Bill Pittman, general chairman for the event, announced yesterday. This is the second largest receipt ever made on Shine day, the class of 1927 exceeding this amount by $7.

Coupled with this, the expenses were the lowest on record for this affair, coming only to $11.60. The committee had been allowed $15 expense money to take care of the event.

Tickets to the Hellig theatre were awarded to Harriet Kibbee, Gracia Haggerty, Gladys Clausen, and Thelma Kem for selling the most tickets.

At the drawing held during the campus dance Saturday afternoon, the ticket numbered 781 was selected to win the lucky number prize. The holder of this ticket will be presented with a merchandise bond from McMorran and Washburne's if he will get in touch with Bill Pittman.

"I want to thank all the people who cooperated so well with the class in putting this event over," Pittman said. "We are particularly grateful to the campus boot-backs who were so kind as to loan us supplies."

Members of the Junior Shine directorate included: Earle Miller, assistant chairman; Reba Brogdon, ticket sale; Harry Tonkon, advertising; Harriet Kibbee, speakers; Hal Johnson, materials; Alberta Rives, posters; and Hal Paddock, finances.

W.A.A. Plans Banquet For Thursday Evening

Members of the Women's Athletic association will gather for the annual banquet at the Men's dormitory Thursday, according to an announcement made by Orpha Ager, chairman of the banquet. Letters, both large and small, will be given out at that time, for the earning of 1000 and 500 points respectively. The results of the election will be announced also.

Tickets for the banquet will be 75 cents, and are on sale at the living organizations by the house representatives. The committee working with Miss Ager consists of Ella Redkey, menu; Kathryn Kjosness, decorations; Virginia Hunter, entertainment; and Evelyn Hamilton, tickets.

Bryan Picks Junior Prom Directorate

Wilbur Sohm Is Assistant Chairman; Bob Bishop Named Manager

FEW UNANNOUNCED

Dorothy Eads Will Work as Secretary; Virginia Sterling, Patrons

With the first appointments announced yesterday, the Junior Prom directorate begins planning at once for the event, which is to be held Saturday night, May 10.

Cal Bryan, junior prom chairman, announced the following appointments: Wilbur Sohm, assistant chairman; Robert Bishop, business manager; Dorothy Eads, secretary; Virginia Sterling, patrons, patronesses, and programs.

Appointments To Be Made
Appointments yet to be made are: decorations, music, features, floor, refreshments, and clean-up. The complete list of chairmen will be announced in a few days, Bryan said.

"The committees are being worked out with the idea of picking out students most capable at handling the particular phases of the preparation for the prom, and I feel that the investigations I am holding will bring forth the best talent for the conducting of the work," Bryan said.

Budget To Be Outlined
The budget will be outlined and completed by the end of this month, and by the final week in March the prom directorate will be able to work on a definite basis.

The affair will probably be held in McArthur court, where last year's prom was held. Last year a "Greenwich Village" motif was carried out. Although no plans have yet been made concerning this year's motif, Bryan has prepared inquiries into the proms of a number of other universities, and he promises the most interesting and unique motif that can be found.

Y. W. C. A. Slates Polls Tomorrow; Members To Vote

McGee, Hughes Competing For President's Post At Elections

Y. W. C. A. elections will take place tomorrow between the hours of 9 and 5 o'clock at the Y. W. bungalow. All members of the organization are eligible to vote. Mildred McGee and Daphne Hughes are nominees for president, and Helen Chaney and Lois Nelson will run for vice-president. Nominees for secretary are Jessie Judd and Lorena Wilson and for treasurer are Marjorie Swafford and Eleanor Wood.

The nominees were selected on the basis of their interviews with Miss Thomas during the past weeks at which time they gave their preference of the type of Y. W. C. A. work they were interested in.

Business Ad Students Finish Sales Program

Ten students in the sales management class of George W. Robbins, assistant professor of business administration, have completed their work as members of the sales force of the Oregon state chamber of commerce, which is now promoting the sale of poster stamps as a part of their "Build Oregon" campaign.

Neighbors To Meet in Dual Debate

When four Oregon debaters face the two teams from Oregon State in a dual debate scheduled for tomorrow night, Gordon Winks, upper left, and Cullen Elish, lower left, will uphold the affirmative in one meet for the visitors. Le Roy Swanson, upper right, and Herbert Ewing, lower right, will argue in another meet on the negative.

Men To Pay Out Dimes To Dance This Wednesday

Winter Term Crawl Slated By A.W.S.; Week Busy 'One for Co-eds

Thursday Afternoon Tea Will Feature Bridge

Winter term dime crawl on Wednesday, and a Thursday afternoon tea—both final ones of the series under the present Associated Women Students' council—will make this week one of the liveliest of the term for women students.

Florence McNeerney, head of the foreign scholar committee, has named representatives in each living organization to handle funds from the crawl, held once a term for the foreign scholar fund. Dancing will begin immediately after dinner, which will probably be set half an hour early at each house.

With bridge as a new means of entertainment, the Thursday afternoon tea, to be held at Gerlinger hall from 3 to 5 o'clock, will be a novel one. Harriet Kibbee, tea chairman, is in charge.

A large committee under the direction of Gracia Haggerty is already at work on plans for the spring vacation A. W. S. dances, to be held throughout the state for the foreign scholar fund, reports Helen Peters. Much interest has been shown in the affairs, she says.

Landsbury Like 'Clam' About Piano Recital Thursday Night

If it's on the subject of the South Sea islands or the evils of the radio, Dr. John J. Landsbury, dean of the school of music, will talk. But if the thing in question is the recital which he and Arthur Boardman will give Thursday night at the music building, he is more likely to reach for another cigar and wonder if it will rain tomorrow.

But the reporter broke through his reticence yesterday and found out two things about his concert.

First: "The best thing about it is that it won't cost anything."

Second: "It's all in the day's work." It will be an important Eugene musical event as the dean has not been heard in piano recital for about six years. The recital will be held at the music auditorium at 8 o'clock. Pictures of both Mr. Boardman and Dr. Landsbury appeared in the Oregonian Sunday, together with a story announcing their interesting dual recital.

Lois Nelson Chairman of Musical Body

To Head New Committee To Publish Concerts Among Students

TO PICK HOUSE AIDES

Stoddard Hopes Plan Will Stir Campus Interest In Music Bills

An open campaign to increase the interest of the Oregon student body in the musical events which take place on the campus was launched yesterday with the announcement of the appointment of Lois Nelson, sophomore in journalism, as chairman of a new "music co-operation committee," which is designed to include representatives of every campus living organization in its personnel.

The choice of Miss Nelson was made by Tom Stoddard, president of the student body. In announcing the appointment, Stoddard said: "There has been a lack of interest among the students as a whole in musical events of this year."

Seeks Remedies
"The student administration feels that this situation should be remedied and that steps should be taken to bring home to the students the value of the musical programs, most of them of very high caliber, which are presented periodically on the campus."

"Neither the programs arranged by the school of music nor the professional concerts sponsored by the associated students have attracted crowds worthy of the size of the student body. We feel that this is a situation which can be greatly improved by the intelligent use of publicity which will reach individual students more effectively than the usual newspaper stories."

Handles Publicity
Miss Nelson has been trained for her work in her position as publicity and public relations agent for the school of music.

Her plan of organization is to select a sub-member of her committee from every living group on the campus, whose duties will be to see that circular letters, bulletins and announcements about musical events are circulated among the members of his organization.

Finalist Competitors Picked for Song Fest By Committee Judges

Cat and Canine Make Merry in Condon Library

It was last Sunday evening in Condon hall. A yellow cat jumped from desk to desk. She was looking for the Condon rat that was said to have terrified women and petrified men a week ago that hour.

Through the door and down the aisle came the most ferocious of all dogmanity, a police pup. He saw blue eyes and black eyes, but he was used to them. Suddenly, level with his nose gleamed two yellow orbs.

Books were hastily brushed aside. Gasping students momentarily pictured a flying cat and bounding dog overturning desks and girls too, maybe. Opportunity knocked loudly at excitement's door. Suspense was intense.

But the dog failed. Perhaps the shock had been too great for him. Weak and trembling, he turned. Out of the library he stunk. Then the yellow cat put her cheek on her paw and settled down on a desk. Soon the disappointed students did likewise.

Selection on Harmony and Originality

Pi Beta Phi Donates Cup To Take Place of Prize Won

Theta Chis To Strive for Third Victory

With two of the houses judged already, the song contest has entered on the final round, which will be finished by Friday. Ten houses, five fraternities and five sororities, have been selected by five committees to take part in the finals in competition for two cups, one offered by the Pi Phi for the sorority judged the best, and one now held by the Theta Chis to go to the fraternity rated highest.

The houses entering the finals are: Kappa Kappa Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Omicron Pi, Delta Delta Delta, Theta Chi, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Gamma Delta, and Sigma Nu. Gamma Phi and Kappa Sig were judged Monday.

Basis of Judging Given
As in the semi-finals, singing will be judged on the following points: singing as a group, originality, Oregon songs, harmony, and spirit, the directors of the contest announce. Judges who will hear the various groups sing this week are Nancy Thielsen, Edward Fisher, Don Eva, and John Stark Evans, director of the glee clubs.

Pi Phi Win Cup
The Pi Phi have won the contest for the past three years, earning the right to keep the cup awarded to the sorority winning that honor. They are this year offering a new cup to take the place of the one which they now own. Theta Chis have won the men's cup for the past two years, and will retain it for good if they come out on top again.

Winners of the contest will be announced in Saturday's Emerald.

Sunday Vespers Gain Popularity

John Stark Evans Gives Organ Recital

Further evidence of the high place John Stark Evans, organist, holds among students was the large audience attending Sunday afternoon vespers at the music auditorium yesterday. It was Mr. Evans' first appearance in an organ recital this term and his program was thoroughly enjoyed. Further enjoyment was afforded in the scriptural readings given by Dr. Warren D. Smith, of the geology department.

Mr. Evans' interesting program included a beautiful symphonic poem, "Les Preludes" by Liszt, written for a reverie by the French poet, Lamartine.

Social Workers Will Interview Students

The annual visit of representatives from the Portland department of social work to interview students interested in different phases of social work, will take place tomorrow morning and afternoon.

Arlene Johnson, assistant director, and Elnora Thomson, head of the nursing division of the Portland department of social work will interview students with inclinations toward social work or those wishing any information on the five year nursing course.

These Portland workers will interview students interested in or preparing for social work training, especially along the lines of family case work and of visiting teachers. The place for the interviews has not yet been decided, but those interested may inquire in room 112 of Johnson hall, or watch the bulletin announcement.

Number of Infirmary Patients Is Lessened

Warmer weather seems to have lessened the number of cases of grippe, for the infirmary now has only five patients, and the infirmary annex has been closed up.

Those now under the care of the infirmary are: George Thompson, Dorothy MacMillan, Norma Lyons, Robert McClurg, and Orville Kingman.
