

Plans Ended For Finals of KORE Contest

Norton Announces Change Of Broadcast Hour From 8 to 7:30

Selection of Judges Almost Complete; Rules Given

With selection of judges almost completed, and competing houses rapidly bringing their programs to comparative perfection, all obstacles to hinder the smooth running of the final eliminations of the Emerald-KORE radio contest next Thursday evening are rapidly being cleared away, Fred Norton, director of the contest, announced last night.

In order to eliminate conflict with regular contract programs of station KORE, and to facilitate the reception of decisions from judges, the time of the broadcast has been moved forward to 7:30 p. m. Consequently, the program of each entrant will be advanced half an hour, although the relative positions on the schedule remain unchanged.

Five Houses on Program

Following are the houses which will be represented, along with the titles of their programs and the revised time of broadcasting: at 7:30, Kappa Alpha Theta, "Jungle" idea; at 8, Independents, "The Seven Ages of Man"; at 8:30, Phi Sigma Kappa, "Potpourri" idea; at 9, Sigma Chi, "Courtroom" idea; 9:30, Kappa Sigma, "School Days" idea.

Names of the seven judges who have been chosen from musical, dramatic, and radio circles of Eugene and the University will be given out at the time the winners are announced.

For the benefit of these contestants, a list of rules governing presentations is herewith presented, at the request of Fred Norton, contest director. Any deviation from these rules means forfeiture of the contest, Norton reports.

Rules Stated

1. Each program shall be of half-hour duration.
2. Theme and continuity must be identical with that of the initial contest program, and the entire presentation must be essentially the same.
3. Only persons affiliated with the competing organizations and registered in the University may participate.
4. Slight changes in personnel will be permitted, provided that the rules of eligibility are not violated.
5. No changes in the hour of presentation will be permitted after the schedule has been drawn. Places on the schedule will be drawn by lot by contest officials.
6. Programs will be judged on continuity, talent, manner of presentation and originality.

Campus Movie Poster Contest Time Extended

An extension of time in the campus movie poster contest until Wednesday noon was announced last night by Jim Raley, one of the co-directors of the movie, who is in charge. Only one poster was handed in by the original closing time of the contest last night, Raley said, and as several students are working on entries the time was extended for them.

A three-months' pass to the Colonial theatre, where "Ed's Co-ed" will have its first popular-priced run in Eugene, March 6, 7, and 8, will be awarded as first prize in the poster competition. A free airplane ride will be the second award.

Handball Matches Are Simmered Down

Matches in the handball tourney have gradually simmered down to the semi-finals in the doubles and the quarter finals in the singles. One player in the singles, Les Johnson, has entered the semi-finals by disposing of Don Neer 21-9, 21-12.

Those who are still in the running for singles honors are D. Bauman, Marshall Hopkins, Harvey Benson, H. Peterson, O. Wagner, and Anthony Woodmansee. In the doubles Jensen and Les Johnson will meet Harper and Hopkins, and Whitely and Benson will oppose Cress and Edliefsen to decide the finalists.

After investigating 10,000 graduates, a member of the University of California alumni association reports that most of the former co-eds have been married between the ages of 26 and 30.

Library Course To Be Presented

Miss Sisler Will Teach In Summer

At the next summer session, Oregon will have one of the best courses on "school libraries" in the country, according to M. H. Douglass, librarian.

Miss Della J. Sisler, of the school of librarianship of the University of California, has been engaged to teach two courses, one in "Cataloging" and the other in "Classification and Subject Headings." Miss Sisler has the reputation of being one of the best teachers of these subjects in the United States. She taught at the Oregon summer session of 1927 and last year instructed at Columbia university.

Miss Clara E. Powers, nationally prominent in library work, will also give courses. She will instruct in "Administration of High School Libraries" and "Books in School Libraries."

Harold S. Tuttle Receives Honor

Admitted to International House at New York

Harold S. Tuttle, associate professor of education, has just received word that he has been admitted to the International house at New York for the six weeks summer session scheduled next July and August.

While living at this place, occupied by students of both Columbia and New York universities, Professor Tuttle intends to study methods of conducting that house, in an effort to gain material which will be useful for the International house on the local campus. He also will take a course in sociology at Columbia university. In connection with the New York trip Professor Tuttle plans to speak at various summer session assemblies on the problem, "Character Education."

Meetings of Congress Club Open to Co-eds

THE most unusual and savory dishes that appeal to the mind rather than to the body will be served this evening when the Congress club meets at 7:30 at the College Side.

"Capitalism vs. Socialism" will be served as the principal item on the menu, by Bob Jackson. The meeting was moved ahead one day to avoid conflict with the varsity debate with Oregon State, on Wednesday night.

And women as well as men may attend the meeting, since the ruling passed last week by the club, which provides that women may become members with rights equal to those of the men. Bob Jackson and Ellsworth Plank, who are graduate students, will act as sponsors of the group under the new plan.
