

Educators Seek Aids To Decide on Fitness Of Student for Work

Karl Onthank Finds Oregon Field Leader

Statistics Show Period of Ten Years Before Life Occupation Is Found

Three Months Study Made By Executive Secretary

Occupational counselling and special aids for students to enable them to ascertain what they are best fitted for is now regarded as one of the most important phases of collegiate work, and as such is receiving attention of educators throughout the country, it was declared by Karl W. Onthank, executive secretary of the University of Oregon, who has just returned to the campus after three months spent in study at Stanford university, California.

While at Stanford Mr. Onthank studied under W. M. Proctor, regarded as a national authority in the student counselling field.

Occupation Not Found

Statistics show that the average college or university student does not find the work he wishes to perform in permanently until 10 years after he has graduated, and that often students go through college without having made up their minds on this important phase. By assembling data on general fields in which students show an interest, and by giving aptitude tests and seeking to determine a student's ability in other ways, much of this loss of time can be avoided, it is stated. The university personnel bureau, under the direction of Dr. Howard R. Taylor, is already doing effective work in this field.

Studied Education Surveys

While at Stanford Mr. Onthank also took special courses in education surveys, and worked toward his doctor of philosophy degree, which he expects to receive later from the California institution.

Mr. Onthank represented the University of Oregon at the official opening ceremonies of the new University of California at Los Angeles campus. Notable educators from all over the world were present to see the new $6,500,000 campus dedicated. People of California take keen interest in their schools and universities, and now lead the United States in school expenditures, speakers at the ceremony pointed out.

Dr. Hall in East On Month's Tour

Plans To Return About the Middle of April

Visiting various educational institutions in California and the East for the purpose of renewing contacts and looking after University business, Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University, left the campus on March 19 and is expected to return about the middle of this month.

Dr. Hall visited the University of Southern California, the University of California at Los Angeles, and the University of North Carolina. He met alumni groups at Los Angeles, and while in San Francisco he helped in the organization of Oregon Mothers and Dads who live in California. Dr. Hall intends to spend some time in New York City meeting alumni and carrying on University business.

Benefiel Takes Motor Jaunt to California

Jack Benefiel, graduate manager, convalescent from a prolonged attack of influenza, left during the holidays for a motor trip to southern California, where he hopes to effect a complete recovery. He is expected to return to Eugene in about three weeks.

Registrar Aims 'Helpful Hints' at Procrastinators

"You'd better read these little items," say officials. 1. Grades for work incomplete during winter term must be turned in by 5 o'clock Monday, April 14, in order to count on house grades. Complete your incompletes! 2. Saturday, April 12, is the last day to register for spring term. It is also the last day to add a course for this term. 3. Graduate students have until Friday, April 11, to complete registration. 4. A fine of a dollar a day ($1 per diem) is charged for late registration, up to $5. Better finish immediately, if not sooner!

Nominations for Student Officers To Be Made Soon

Thursday, April 24, Set By Stoddard as Day To Nominate

Election Will Be Held on Thursday, May 1

Nominations for next year's student officers will be made at a general campus assembly to be held on Thursday, April 24, Tom Stoddard, student president, announced yesterday. The election will be held on Thursday, May 1.

Stoddard points out that the new student body constitution is to be voted upon at a special election on April 17, and that if it is passed, candidates must be careful to observe the new regulations regarding elections which it contains. A provision of the new constitution is that all candidates must file declarations of intention to run with the student body president at least 24 hours before the time of the nominating assembly.

The new constitution would give the student president the power to rule upon the eligibility of those who file declarations of intention. Stoddard urges would-be candidates to file their declarations with him well in advance of the nominating assembly in order that he may have plenty of time to go over them.

Huffaker Makes Special Survey

To Investigate Education in Two Counties

Collecting material for a comparison of Klamath and Lane counties comprises the special survey which will be conducted during the spring term by Carl L. Huffaker, professor in education. Professor Huffaker is making the bi-county survey as a part of a general state survey. Conditions of educational facilities found in the two counties will be written up in the fall for publication. Irving A. Mather, assistant in education, is helping Professor Huffaker in his work.

Research Publication Concluded by Fowler

William A. Fowler has just completed the first of a series of research investigations on "Oregon's Share in American Export Traffic to Trans-Pacific Destinations." The publication is to be distributed in the middle west in an attempt to show the advantages of shipping products through Oregon rather than through eastern ports. It is planned that when the series are finished to have the results published in printed form rather than the mimeographed form in which they are distributed at present.

Honored at Music Meet

Anne Landsbury Beck, head of public school music at the U. of O. school of music, won high honors recently when she was chosen one of eight members of the resolutions committee at the National Music Supervisors' conference, in Chicago, March 24-28. She attended as one of 14 national directors.

Essay Contest Gets 25 Entries

Warner Competition Gives Nine Prizes

A total of 25 essays will compete for prizes in the three divisions of the Murray Warner essay contest, which closed Tuesday evening, according to Dr. John R. Mez, member of the essay committee. Winners of the prizes will probably not be announced until the opening week of May. The judges of the contest are: Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University; Mrs. Murray Warner, and Dr. Mez.

Prom Queen To Be Chosen Say Directors

Plan Is New on Campus; Floris Sorenson To Handle Selection

COMMITTEES REPORT

Campus Day Will Feature 'Flivver Race' for Slowest Wreck

Plans to choose a Junior Prom Queen were launched at a meeting of the Junior Week-end directorate Wednesday afternoon, according to an announcement made by Hal Johnson, general chairman of the directorate. The plan is an innovation on the Oregon campus and final details will be worked out at a later meeting.

Cal Bryan, chairman of the prom committee, announced that the motif of the event would be a pirate setting. He has selected Floris Sorenson to handle the selection of the prom queen.

Committeemen Speak

Satisfactory progress in the work of the various committees was reported by the individual chairmen, according to Johnson. Another new stunt, planned for campus day, will be a "flivver race," for the slowest "flivver" on the campus. Neil Taylor, in charge of this committee, announced that he plans to have several other new stunts.

Work has already started on the scenery for the Junior Vodvil, with the book almost completed. Rehearsals will be resumed this week and costumes are to be selected in the near future, a report by Vinton Hall, vodvil director, disclosed.

Features to Be Given

Some excellent entertainment will be offered at the campus luncheon, Gladys Clausen stated. The lunch will not be run to show a profit, according to Miss Clausen, but the students will receive the best possible meal for their money.

Intensive work on the Canoe Fete will soon be started, Johnson stated, and pairings of the houses will be made in the near future.

Charles C. Jones To Orate at O.S.C.

Wins in Contest Over 2 Opponents Last Night

In an elimination contest held at Friendly hall at 8 o'clock last night, Charles C. Jones, sophomore major in history, was chosen from three contestants to represent the University at the state constitutional oratorical meet to be held at O. S. C. the latter part of this month. The other contestants were Wallace J. Campbell and William Cutts.

Every school in the state will be represented at this meet and the winner will meet later in Seattle for the zone championship.

The winner of this will compete for the national championship.

Census Takers to Question Only Few Oregon Students

Uncle Sam's official nose-counters, who have begun the immense task of taking a complete United States census, will not pass by the University of Oregon, although they will not question the large majority of the students. According to Joseph H. Koke, who is census chairman of the local district, University students living at their homes will be included among those to be questioned, and those who are subordinate members of no family, whether in this district or in any other, will also have to answer the census questions.

Grade Leaders Named With Official Release Of Term's Honor Roll

Oregon Club Goes Greek; Theta Omega

Group, Independent Seven Years, Votes Change To Sorority

Pallett and Shumaker Are Patronesses

Girls Oregon club voted to become Theta Omega, a Greek-letter local, in regular meeting Monday evening, March 31; the change was officially ratified by Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, dean of women, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The new sorority, Theta Omega, has—as Girls Oregon club—existed for seven years. It was founded in 1923 as an organization for town girls. By 1925 a considerable number of out-of-town students had been taken in, and Oregon club took a house and became a living organization, in which capacity it has had five years of active existence.

In explanation of Oregon club's "going sorority" Louella Fluaitte, newly elected president, said: "The girls have felt for some time that Oregon club has outlived its original purpose and has long been a sorority in all but name. Therefore we have decided to change our status in the eyes of the campus and, as Theta Omega, to work for a Greek national."

The present location of the new sorority is at 1374 Onyx, where it will remain for the rest of this year. Mrs. John Hershner will continue as house mother, and Mrs. Earl M. Pallett and Mrs. Kenneth Shumaker as patronesses.

New York Herald Journalist Will Teach at Oregon

Vacancy Left by Casey Will Be Filled by Eastern Newspaperman

Recommended by leading newspaper men and journalism instructors throughout the country, Reginald Coggeshall, sports editor of the Paris edition of the New York Herald, will come to the University as professor of journalism, it was announced by Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism. Mr. Coggeshall will take the place of Ralph D. Casey, who will become head of the department of journalism at the University of Missouri next fall.

Journalists Recommend

Mr. Coggeshall is recommended by such eminent journalists and educators as Professor Arthur N. Holcombe and Professor Bliss Perry, of Frank University; Professor Frank E. Seavey, of Tufts college; William B. Monroe, former professor at Harvard; P. B. Potter, University of Wisconsin; Jay Allen, of the Chicago Tribune European service; Leland Stowe, of the Herald in Paris.

Travels Extensively

In addition to his newspaper work Mr. Coggeshall has had stories published in the American Art Magazine, Art Digest, and has done considerable translating from French into English. He has also found time to travel, and has visited England, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, Austria, Hungary, and France.

Mr. Coggeshall is a member of the Anglo-American Press association, Maison des Journalists, the ex-American Legion, and of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Reporting, specialized press, and other courses in which he is particularly fitted to teach, will be taught by Mr. Coggeshall.

Udall's 'Coldex' To Be Off Press on Friday

"The Coldex Advertiser," an index for notebooks distributed among University students at the beginning of each term, will be released soon, according to an announcement made recently by Fletcher Udall, publisher. The material is now at the press, states Udall, and will be ready for distribution either Friday or Saturday. The idea of index advertising has been used in many other universities and has met with success on the Oregon campus.
