positions will be held steadily by Lockwood and Almquist. The big problem Coach Stephenson Smith is facing, he states, is building the rest of the members around these two aces. The loss of Bob Hoogs, declared a certainty for third man, and Jack Rhine will be keenly felt.

ing turnouts for the team are Don Ragan, and Jack Kaplan. A third singles player must be taken from the above unless some dark horse comes up. Kaplan has shown a great improvement since turning out for the freshman squad last year and it looks as though this position might go to him, according to the coach.

make up the first doubles team, and probably Ragan and Kaplan will constitute the second.

Oregon's hopes for another Pacific coast championship are high. However, everything is going to hinge on the third and fourth ranking players on the squad. Almquist and Lockwood should meet with no difficulties in winning their matches. But they can account for only three matches, two singles and a doubles. One of the remaining three matches must be won in order to cinch any of the meets, for a total of six matches must be played.

An interesting example of organization is the development of long distance telephone business. Men and women of the Bell System made this service worthy, and the public has recognized this by its greatly increased usage.

The Bell Laboratories improved the quality of sound transmission by modifying existing apparatus and designing new. Western Electric manufactured the necessary equipment of the highest standards. Operating telephone companies, working with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, shortened the time for completing calls and reduced the rates.

In all a coordinated work, bringing together many and varied activities, and typical of the way in which telephone service is constantly being made a better tool for the nation's needs.
